Story Behind Early Farm Program Payments Is Told

The story behind the fact that some three million farmers are receiving payments earned under the feed grain and cotton programs earlier than in previous years is one of those wonders of the computer age, interlaced with good old-fashioned cooperation, ingenuity, and hard work.

Not only are payments beginning earlier, but most of the payments will be issued over a shorter period of time. Most should be in farmers' hands by mid-August—just six weeks from the first day checks were distributed. This would cut in half the three-month period usually needed in past years to make payments. Even the wheat program payments, which, by law, must wait for a July 1 announcement of parity ratio, will be in the hands of farmers earlier than in previous years because of the stepped-up payment schedule.

Cooperation by farmers has been a key element to success, because no individual payment could be released until the farmer had certified that he had complied with rules for planting and diverting acres and other program requirements. But a good share of credit also is due farmer committees, county and state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation staffs, and a variety of specialists in ASCS field and national offices.

On January 16, USDA made a commitment to farmers that farm program payments would begin as soon as possible after July 1. Budget restraints made advance partial payments impossible. The announcement triggered action at the Washington offices of USDA that touched off a chain reaction through state and county levels of ASCS focused on meeting the July 1 kickoff date for starting payments.

Old schedules and routines were tossed out of the window and new ones developed for stepped-up handling of the vast amount of data on farm program records without sacrifice of accuracy. The forms, reports and data sheets were redesigned or revised, and printing and delivery deadlines were updated. Needed supplies were procured early and distributed to state and county ASCS offices. The printing of some four million sight drafts (checks) was rescheduled so that delivery could be started in June. State ASCS offices conducted training sessions to pass along new instructions and procedures to county personnel.

Immediately after the period for program sign-up ended in late March, county ASCS personnel, with the cooperation of press, radio and television, began urging farmers to certify their compliance with program requirements as early as possible. As farmers planted, then certified, ASCS personnel carried out a concurrent spot-checking system to help assure accuracy in compliance.

Data sheets on individual farm operations were prepared in county offices with what later proved to be a high degree of accuracy. Only about 1½ percent of the data sheets have been rejected and reprocessed due to improper preparation or invalid original data. Sheets began to arrive in early May at the New Orleans Data Processing Center, where information on the sheets is scanned electronically, computations are made and sight drafts for individual payments are prepared and returned to county offices for review. The pace of their arrival stepped up to 40 to 50 mailbags-full per day in mid-June. By June 14, more than 720,000 farm program checks had been returned to county offices. A total of more than 900,000 data sheets providing information about individual farms had been scanned or "read" by the center's processing equipment.

Farm program officials had foreseen the need for stepping up the data processing capacity of the New Orleans Center. The new payment schedule called for a capability of handling some 350,000 farm data sheets per week. This capability was reached on June 1, with the leasing and early delivery of four important and complex "scanners," each capable of reading some 750 data sheets per hour. By mid-June, the weekly receipt of data sheets reached over 330,000.

Teamwork and planning have brought gratifying results. Farm program officials are confident that by July 1, sight drafts will be ready for around 1½ million farmers. By mid-July, they expect

PUBLIC NOTICE Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (HJR30) General Election Nov. 3, 1970

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Subsections (5), (6), (7), (8), (9), (11), (12), and (13), Section 1-a, Article V, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows:

"(5) The Commission may hold its meetings, hearings and other proceedings at such times and places as it shall determine but shall meet at Austin at least once each year. It shall annually select one of its members as Chairman. A quorum shall consist of five (5) members. Proceedings shall be by majority vote of those present, except that recommendations for retirement, censure, or removal of any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section shall be by affirmative vote of at least five (5) members.

"(6) A. Any Justice or Judge of the Appellate Courts and District and Criminal District Courts, any County Judge, and any Judge of a County Court at Law, a Court of Domestic Relations, a Juvenile Court, a Probate Court, or a Corporation or Municipal Court, and any Justice of the Peace, and any Judge or presiding officer of any special court created by the Legislature as provided in Section 1, Article V, of this Constitution, may, subject to the other provisions hereof, be removed from office for willful or persistent conduct, which is clearly inconsistent with the proper performance of his said duties or casts public discredit upon the judiciary or administration of justice; or any person holding such office may be censured, in lieu of removal from office, under procedures provided for by the Legislature.

"B. Any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of this subsection who is eligible for retirement benefits under the laws of this state providing for judicial retirement may be involuntarily retired, and any person holding an office named in that paragraph who is not eligible for retirement benefits under such laws may be removed from office, for disability seriously interfering with the performance of his duties, which is, or is likely to become, permanent in nature.

"(7) The Commission shall keep itself informed as fully as may be of circumstances relating to the misconduct or disability of particular persons holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, receive complaints or reports, formal or informal, from any source in this behalf and make such preliminary investigations as it may determine. Its orders for the attendance or testimony of witnesses or for the production of documents at any hearing or investigation shall be enforceable by contempt proceedings in the District Court.

"(8) After such investigation as it deems necessary, the Commission may in its discretion issue a private reprimand, or if the Commission determines that the situation merits such action, it may order a hearing to be held before it concerning the removal, or retirement of a person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, or it may in its discretion request the Supreme Court to appoint an active or retired District Judge or Justice of a Court of Civil Appeals as a Master to hear and take evidence in any such matter, and to report thereon to the Commission. If, after hearing, or after considering the record and report of a Master, the Commission finds good cause therefor, it shall issue an order of public censure or it shall recommend to the Supreme Court the removal, or retirement, as the case may be, of the person in question holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section and shall thereupon file with the Clerk of the Supreme Court the entire record before the Commission.

"(9) The Supreme Court shall review the record of the proceedings on the law and facts and in its discretion may, for good cause shown, permit the introduction of additional evidence and shall order public censure, retirement or removal, as it finds just and proper, or wholly reject the recommendation. Upon an order for involuntary retirement for disability or an order for removal, the office in question shall become vacant. The rights of an incumbent so retired to retirement benefits shall be the same as if his retirement had been voluntary."

"(11) The Supreme Court shall by rule provide for the procedure before the Commission, Masters and the Supreme Court. Such rule shall afford to any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, against whom a proceeding is instituted to cause his retirement or removal, due process of law for the procedure before the Commission, Masters and the Supreme Court in the same manner that any person whose property rights are in jeopardy in an adjudicatory proceeding is entitled to due process of law, regardless of whether or not the interest of the person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section in active status is considered to be a right or a privilege. Due process shall include the right to notice, counsel, hearing, confrontation of his accusers, and all such other incidents of due process as are ordinarily available in proceedings whether or not misfeasance is charged, upon proof of which a penalty may be imposed.

"(12) No person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section shall sit as a member of the Commission or Supreme Court in any proceeding involving his own retirement or removal.

"(13) This Section 1-a is alternative to and cumulative of, the methods of removal of persons holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section provided elsewhere in this Constitution."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1970, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment relating to the removal, retirement, or censure of Justices, Judges, and Justices of Peace under prescribed circumstances."

MAIZE DWARF MOSAIC VIRUS IS SERIOUS

Heavy infestation of MDMV in sorghum has been found from Lubbock north to the southwestern corner of Kansas. The symptoms of this disease are characterized by a mottling (light and dark green patches between the veins of the leaves) of the young leaves in the whorl, and later, in susceptible hybrids, by a red streaking which occurs on the upper leaves. The red streaking is usually associated with the final stages and will probably result in yield reduction in heavily infested fields. Malformed heads, reduction in head size, partial sterility, and failure to head are some of the late-appearing symptoms. This disease is transmitted by greenbugs and/or corn leaf aphids with Johnsongrass acting as the host plant.

Nothing can be done to control or stop the spread of the disease for this year. However, producers are advised to observe test plots, demonstrations, and neighbors' fields for evidence of MDMV. Observations now will help determine the wise selection of tolerant hybrids for next year.

This fall, Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board will make available to its members a list of tolerant hybrids.

OCEAN'S EDGE
OCEAN'S EDGE
OCEAN'S EDGE

Yesterday I saw the ocean for the first time. Jim and I had been invited to a house party at a cottage on the shore. Having recently moved East from the Midwest, I had anticipated nothing more on the drive down than a week-end of fun and games, swimming and dancing.

But I wasn't prepared for the ocean. Its grandeur and beauty stirred me. Today I walked along the beach for long hours watching the waves or searching the shore for shells, listening to the wonderful roar of the sea as white-caps splashed around me.

Tonight as I stood at ocean's edge, the stars seemed near. Breakers crashing rhythmically sprinkled phosphorescence on the sand. For an instant I was caught within infinity. Sky, beach and tides contained me—in that moment I saw God.

I may never again achieve the clarity of that second on the beach, but someday I may. For this experience has awakened in me a longing to know more about God and the Truths the beauty of His world reveal.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES RETURN FROM AMARILLO CONVENTION

"With attacks being made from every quarter on belief in God and the Bible, some of these from religious leaders themselves, it was spiritually refreshing to listen to discourses and see Bible dramas enacted that upheld God's Word," reports Von Tiffin, presiding minister of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. Tiffin was referring to the District Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses just concluded in Amarillo. Local delegates returning home this week report that 10,023 persons from over 25 states attended.

Several hundred new ones were added to the Witness organization. They were ordained at a baptismal ceremony. According to Tiffin "The decision of these persons to undergo baptism was not the result of some emotional experience but rather an intellectual experience after a concentrated program of Bible study."

"Much information was given for the benefit of the young people," Tiffin said. "We are now living in the 'age of rebellion', with these 'last days' producing a bumper crop of rebellious ones as foretold in the Bible. Our youth enjoyed several frank and pointed discussions that enables them to recognize and eliminate rebellious tendencies."

Tiffin announced that meetings this week will be held at the regularly scheduled time at the local Kingdom Hall.
