RAY MORRISON DIES THURSDAY IN DALLAS

Word came late Thursday that Ray Morrison of Dallas had been found dead, presumably at his home.

Murry Morrison, cousin of Ray, who relayed the information to The Tribune, said that he knew no particulars but he supposed that Ray's wife found him when she returned home from work. He had been in failing health for several years.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 in Denton.

He was about 53, and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morrison, and grew up in the Gasline community.

OUTSTANDING YOUNG FARMER

DWAIN HENDERSON

Dwain Henderson was named Outstanding Young Farmer at the Silverton Young Farmers and Young Homemakers Awards Banquet held at Silverton last Saturday night.

He was also installed as President of the chapter for the coming year.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Owens.

Mrs. Judson Watson spent 17 days in the Lockney General Hospital recently suffering with two spells with a heart condition. She reports she is feeling good, but still weak.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Wassom, Joey, Lori and Angela of Plainview spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Bailey. They had to remain until Monday before they could get out.

Scott Hedrick, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hedrick of Moline, Illinois, was visiting his grandparents, the Ralph Carters, last week and he asked his grandmother to "call that news woman and tell her about my dog." His grandmother told him that was not newsworthy, but having had two boys and knowing what a dog means to a boy, I am passing the story along to our readers. It seems that Scott took his dog to visit his Grandmother Hedrick at Levelland and he got into a fight with his Grandmother's dog. The eye was badly damaged and he had to be taken to a veterinarian and the eye removed and sewed up. We know how tragic this must be to a small boy. Sorry, Scott!

Mr. and Mrs. James Kimbell and Mr. and Mrs. James Lynn Kimbell and boys spent Friday night in Amarillo visiting Mrs. N. G. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mc-Bee.

Mr. and Mrs. George Scott and family spent the weekend in Tulsa with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Mouser visited relatives in Lubbock over the weekend.

County ASCS Officials Return From Conference

Briscoe County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service officials have returned after a two day State ASCS Conference in Galveston where they received a first-hand briefing on the new farm programs and President Nixon's proposed new executive reorganization plan.

County ASC Committee Members Wayne Whittington and Robert McPherson and the County Executive Director James E. Griffin attended. Over 800 state, county and federal ASCS officials participated in the conference proceedings held on February 9-10.

The two principal opening day speakers were E. F. (Fritz) Behrens, executive assistant to Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin, and Charles M. Cox, assistant deputy administrator, state and county operations, ASCS, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Behrens spoke about the "complete overhaul" of the executive branch needed to make government "more responsive to the public."

The Washington official said that "national social and economic goals have been seriously impeded by vagueness or inconsistency in the definition of agency missions, jurisdictional rivalry between agencies, fragmentation, inflexibility and difficulty in affixing responsibility."

According to Behrens, the President's plan calls for organizing the executive branch among the "major purposes of government" and involves reducing the number of departments to four—departments of human resources, community development, economic development and natural resources. However, he assured the audience that the major agencies involved with farm income and marketing will continue to be associated in a single department.

Assistant Deputy Administrator Cox gave the group details of the recently passed farm legislation.

Mr. Cox indicated Texas farmers will get better incomes from the marketplace and will become less dependent upon government programs under the new farm programs. Cox stressed: Farmers are now provided with greater freedom of choice in determining which crops they can grow to best advantage. They will be able to cut production costs, improve their incomes and compete for market position. He said Cox described the greater freedom farmers have to make their own cropping decisions under the set-aside provisions as the "key" to success of the new farm programs.

Featured speakers on the second day of the conference were George V. Hansen, deputy administrator for state and county operations, and J. P. Jones, ASCS southwest area director of 10 southwest states.

Mr. Hansen emphasized that the new Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP), formerly known as the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), will be used to preserve the environment, demonstrate good environmental enhancement practices and return more public benefit at less public cost.

Hansen explained: "We're going to take the strong base of ACP, keeping those practices and procedures that contribute to our national goals for improving the environment. We are going to put major emphasis on agriculture-related pollution prevention and abatement measures."

Hansen said that REAP will focus on community-sponsored projects for flood prevention and small watershed protection, pollution abatement, and the safeguarding of lakes and streams, according to those attending.

Southwest area director Jones, formerly a Kress farmer, emphasized the importance of making sure that farmers fully under-

Sunday's storm was the most paralyzing to hit this area in a number of years—perhaps since the big one of 1940.

More snow has fallen several times but the high winds that accompanied the snow, and it lasted all day long and into the night, just about brought all traffic to a standstill.

There was no reliable way to estimate how much snow fell locally since the greater part of it wound up in drifts but most guesses were that probably 6 to 8 inches fell here in the Valley.

Monday was very cold and because of the difficulty in getting around, most places of business opened for business late Monday morning or not at all. Schools were closed Monday and Tuesday at Flomot, Turkey and Quitaque. Here at The Tribune we have not heard of very much damage from the storm.

In Quitaque the metal awning across the front of Morrison Drug & Gifts collapsed Sunday morning under the weight of the snow.

By Tuesday it was pretty much business as usual for most, however. Tuesday afternoon in Quitaque James Grunson and Ross Herrington and Tommy Beck took their small tractors with blades, pulled the snow away from the curbs up and down Main Street, and then moved the snow back and forth until it was reduced to water and ran off and by nightfall the streets were almost completely dry.

Sunday was a real blizzard, though.

Several college students were home over the weekend and were stranded.

Mr. and Mrs. John King returned home Saturday night from a week's fishing trip. They went to a lake at Belton first and were not having any luck, so they moved to Lake Buchanan. They report catching some nice crappie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. White were in Plainview Saturday to visit her cousin, Miss Jo Smith, who had surgery on her back recently. They report she is doing good. She had to stay in bed a month, and was scheduled to get up Tuesday of this week for the first time and go back to her doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fletcher of Lubbock spent Saturday night, Sunday and until afternoon Monday with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Harmon. They planned to return home Sunday evening but were stranded by the snowstorm.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Wayne Barbee of Clarendon visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barbee, Monday night of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barbee were in Childress Wednesday of last week on business.

Roy Gregg and Mrs. Annie Gregg of Phoenix, Arizona, spent from Friday until Tuesday morning with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jameson of Plainview and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Ramsey of Floydada spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ramsey.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton and family of Amarillo spent the weekend before last with his mother, Mrs. Ruby Hamilton.

Mrs. Bill Helms went to the doctor in Lockney Thursday of last week and he told her she was suffering with bronchitis. He told her to go to bed. She reported Tuesday morning she is feeling better.

Quitaque won the round robin portion of the schedule undefeated, Hedley is in second place. Turkey won third place and Estelline is in the fourth spot. Lakeview wound up in last place and will not compete in the tournament.

Since Quitaque won the round robin they will have to be beaten twice to be eliminated from the

SARAH ELIZABETH SEAY PASSES AWAY THIS WEEK

Funeral services for Sarah Elizabeth Seay, 92, mother of Mrs. J. T. Persons of Quitaque, were held at 2:00 p. m. Wednesday, February 24 at the United Methodist Church in Matador. The Rev. John Fitzgerald, pastor, officiated. Burial was in East Mound Cemetery at Matador with Quitaque Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Seay died Monday, February 22 at 6:30 a. m. in Lockney Nursing Home, where she had lived for the past year and a half.

She was a member of the Quitaque United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Seay was born January 1, 1879 in the Chickasaw Nation. She was married to the late Richard Seay at Childress on August 26, 1894. Mr. Seay died in April, 1953.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Josephine Persons of Quitaque; a step-daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lilly Segy of Matador; eight grandchildren, 24 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by two sons, Robert and Watson Seay.

Palbearers were O. R. Stark, Jr., Bob Ham, Jimmy Davidson, Tad Persons, George Kaether and Raymond Hewett.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kellum visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kellum, at Silverton Friday night and enjoyed birthday cake with his brother, David. They went to the basketball game at Plainview between Quitaque and Three-Way. David Kellum and Brit Parker accompanied them to the ball game.

Ed Thomas of Vallejo, California and a friend, Joe Drennon of San Jose, California, spent Sunday with Josie Johnston and David. Ed Thomas is a cousin of Josie.

Sandy Richmond, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Richmond of Anson, spent a week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mayfield. Mr. and Mrs. Mayfield took her to Spur where they met her parents Saturday afternoon, and she returned to her home. The Richmonds had spent the weekend here the week before.

Mrs. S. O. McFall called her son, Billy Joe McFall, at Pampa Tuesday morning to see how they had weathered the snowstorm. He has a big feedlot there. He said he lives three miles from the feedlot and he went on a big tractor Monday morning to see about the cattle. It took him three hours to go the three miles. He reported there were about 2000 cattle out. The snow drifts were so high the cattle just walked over the fences on them. He has no way of estimating the loss at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Pinkerton and family of Hereford visited his mother, Mrs. Vera Pinkerton, over the weekend.

championship race. Thus, if someone other than the Panthers wins the district tournament, the winner must play the Panthers a play-off game Saturday night. This situation came about in the girls tournament.

The Panthers have won the district championship the past ten years and are seeking their eleventh in a row.

The champion will play Quail for bi-district next Monday or Tuesday at a site to be determined later.

The Panthers drove up to Plainview last Friday night and played Three-Way High, champions of 6-B, in a practice game.

The Panthers won 68-55 but the 6-B champs have a fine team and it was not until the final minutes that Quitaque was able to build anything like a fairly comfortable margin. Three-Way scored first and led all the first period and were in front 15-10 at the first stop.

The Panthers caught up two minutes deep in the second period but couldn't pull away and at half time the Panthers were ahead 26-25.

The third quarter was more of the same with Quitaque leading by 3, 44-41 at the end of the quarter.

Stanley Price, who was the steadiest of the lot that night socked the game away with free shooting in the last period, scoring the last six points on free shots. He wound up with a perfect night at the foul line, hitting 11, along with 5 field goals for a 21 point total.

Gary Chandler scored 23 points for scoring honors. Perry Brunson hit for 11 points, Jones, 7, Johnny Griffin, 4, and Larry Price 2.

The Panthers now are sporting a nifty 28-2 record for the year.

LIONS SUPPORT EYE BANK

The current issue of Reader's Digest carries an article that is of vital interest to members of the Lions Club of District 2T-1. The article goes into great detail to explain the operation of an eye bank in a distant city.

This is of interest to local people because there is an eye bank in Amarillo, the High Plains Eye Bank, that is supported by your local Lions Clubs.

Anyone who reads the article and is interested in donating their eyes to the eye bank is urged to contact secretary of the local Lions Club or Mr. George Satliff, who is a director of the High Plains Eye Bank.

In September the Area I Convention was held at Hereford. The Silverton Young Farmers won first place in the publicity awards. A donation of $25.00 was given to Boys Ranch for a suit to be given to a boy at Christmas. In November the Young Farmers made sixty-five land markers for the plants at Camp Haynes Boy Scout Camp. January and February were spent cleaning up and repairing the Silverton Clinic. Mullin Motor Company

MULLINS FORD CO.—This modern automobile sales and service center serves a wide territory around Turkey—From Memphis west to Tulsa. It's well stocked display of new and used cars and pickups, comfortable offices and showroom, parts department and repair and service shop, is a business that Turkey can well be proud of.

With our lives more or less geared to the clock, a reliable automobile or pickup is essential today in order for us to keep pace with a fast moving world. Helping us fulfill this essential need are automobile sales and service centers, such as the Mullins Ford Co. of Turkey. This firm, owned by J. T. Mullins, provides this service to a wide area—from Memphis to Tulsa. Their service center, one that Turkey can well be proud of, consists of a large metal building providing display room, lounge, offices, parts department and a well equipped and well staffed service department. An outside display area is kept well filled with a wide choice of both new and used pickups and cars.

The name, Mullins, is not a new one to the business world of Turkey. More than sixty years ago, Mr. I. D. Mullins, J. T.'s father, was one of the early day merchants, operating the Wolf Flat Mercantile Store and Gin for many years. He came to this area in 1901 and began his business career in 1910. Since this time until just a few years ago he has farmed and operated gins and businesses in the Turkey area.

Brought up in a business world as they were, it is not unexpected to find three of the sons in business here. Rudy and Woodrow operate the Turkey Butane and J. T., who with his father and Woodrow, purchased the Ford Motor Co. in 1952, is now the full owner.

Proof of just how successfully the business has carried its service to the area can be seen from the award certificates on the wall of J. T.'s office. Mullins Ford has won the distinguished achievement award for eleven straight years.

J. T. and his wife, Francis

(Tootsie) who helps her husband in the business, are no strangers to the people of the Turkey area. Prior to his entrance into the automobile sales business, J. T. operated the Panhandle Oil Company from 1944 until 1952.

J. T. is a 1938 graduate of the Turkey schools. He attended the Plainview Business School before entering army service. He served with the 32nd division and was wounded in New Guinea.

He returned to Turkey soon after his discharge to engage in business. He and his wife, the former Francis Case, have three children. Bunky is a law student at Tech; Gleena is a graduate of Texas Tech, and Rod is a senior at Texas Tech.

J. T. is a member of the Lions Club and the Masonic Lodge of Turkey.

TURKEY F.H.A. HOLDS ANNUAL SWEETHEART BANQUET

The Turkey FFA Chapter held its annual FFA Sweetheart Banquet, Friday, February 19, in the school cafeteria. Theme of the banquet was based on "Valentine's Day." The cafeteria was decorated with red and white. Red and white streamers hung from each light fixture on the ceiling. A big white heart with the letters FFA on it was hung behind the head table where the candidates were seated. A big red heart with the names of all the candidates on it hung from the light fixture in the middle of the cafeteria. The highlight of the banquet was the choosing of the 1971 FFA Sweetheart. The candidates were Hal Fuston, Dan Davis, Kenny Settiff, Neil Guest, Rex Adamson and Dennis Irby. Diana Johnson played a selection on the piano as the FFA members were electing their new sweetheart.

Neil Guest was chosen as the new sweetheart. The Chapter gave him a white gold identification bracelet with the words "FHA Sweetheart" engraved on it.

The program included a very meaningful speech by Jay Eudy. All FFA members, faculty and parents of the candidates enjoyed a delicious meal served by members of the eighth grade class.

We would like to thank everyone for making this banquet a success. All the beautiful decorations were made by Mrs. Billy Joe Mullin, and the FFA Chapter would like to thank her for all the help and cooperation she gave us in preparation for the banquet.

Shirttail Sermon

"O Lord, revive their work."
Habakkuk 3:2

All true religion is the work of God. We are in need today of a revival of true religion in both ourselves and the church.

We too often are critical of the church when we should be examining our own souls. We drag the church to the altar like a hardened sinner who has refused to repent his sins. We find fault with her where there is no fault. We magnify her errors while forgetting our own. We are a part of the church and so if the church is at fault we must bear a part of the blame. For this reason I say that there is a need for revival in our souls.

If we need proof we have only to consider a few facts that are glaringly evident. Consider, for example, the conduct and language of professing Christians. It is one of the paradoxes of this age that while more people are professing religion, there are more murders, robberies, more rapes, more fraud, more of every type of crime than ever before. Have you listened to the conversation of some of the professing Christians of our community? It is extremely difficult to separate the Christian from the non-Christian simply by watching him and listening to his conversation. For many of them, the name of Jesus Christ never passes their lips except as an oath. They would never allow a stranger to speak before their family members as they speak in public places.

The lack of prayer in the homes is another mark of the lack of a true religion. There are few homes with a family altar; there are some homes in which the Bible rests on the coffee table but it shows little wear and tear from regular use.

Attendance in the services on Sunday is a vivid indication of a lack of interest in spiritual matters. It is no wonder that the leaders of the church are alarmed and disheartened. In former days, Easter and Christmas were the favorite seasons for church attendance. Now the only attraction is a wedding or a funeral.

In the church at large there is a decline of the vitality of godliness. We are too much concerned with the form of religion, with statistics rather than the condition of the individual soul, with the treasury than with the joy that comes from having given. In other words, the world has infiltrated our thinking processes. We tend to think of the church as a form of business rather than a divine institution.

It has been many years since any minister dared to preach or teach sound doctrine. He might offend one of the leaders of his local church. The permissive attitude that we condemn in parents is approved in our pulpits.

Spiritual revival is the need of our age but "they" cannot bring it about. Only we can do that.

New bonus interest rate on U.S. Savings Bonds

Now all U. S. Savings Bonds pay 5% interest, PLUS a ½% bonus when held to maturity. This overall 5½% interest payment means that now you get a little bit more money for your money.

Technically, here's how the bonus works:

1. The bonus interest rate applies to all new Bonds purchased since June 1, 1970, raising their rate from 5% to 5½% when held to maturity. Series E Bonds, whose maturity remains at 5 years 10 months, with a first-year rate of 4%, will have the ½% increase added as a bonus at maturity. Series H Bonds, with a 10-year maturity and first-year rate of 4½%, will receive the bonus in the form of increased semiannual interest checks for their last 5 years, to yield an average 5½% for the 10-year period.

2. There is no reason to cash in Bonds you now hold. Yields on outstanding Bonds, prior to maturity, will be increased by ½% for semiannual interest periods beginning on or after June 1, 1970. For E Bonds, the increase will be payable at maturity; for H Bonds, through larger semiannual interest checks for their last 5 years.

3. For Bonds now in their extension period, yields will be increased by approximately ½% to next maturity, whenever redeemed.

4. Finally, all Bonds maturing on or after June 1, 1970 while the bonus is in effect, will receive a 5½% yield until next maturity.

Now, more than ever, it's to your advantage to buy U. S. Savings Bonds and hold them to maturity or beyond.

Sign up for Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank.

U. S. Savings Bonds. Now they pay a bonus to longer-term holders.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.

CAROL ANN PERKINS IS BRIDE OF JAMES CLAY WOODS

Carol Ann Perkins of Big Spring and James Clay Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claud L. Woods of Stanton, were married at 7 p.m. January 30 in the Marcey Drive Church of Christ in Big Spring.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Arthur G. Perkins of Big Spring and the late M. Perkins.

Paul Keele, assisted by the bridegroom's father, performed the ceremony. Wedding selections were sung by Ranelle Miller, Mary Dirks, Connie Gary, Lydia Hayworth, John Weeks, Keith Graumann, George Huskey and Robbie Lloyd.

The bride, given in marriage by Jesse Hall of Ralls, wore an empire style gown of white bonded crepe. It had bishop sleeves and the skirt extended into a train. The bodice and hem were trimmed with rose lace applique and pearls. Her elbow-length veil of bridal illusion fell from a headpiece trimmed with rose lace applique and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white glamelias atop a white Bible.

Pamela White of Big Spring and Mrs. Harold L. Cagle of Lubbock were the maid and matron of honor. They wore identical Bahama blue A-line gowns of bonded crepe. Their headpieces were multi-shaded blue organza flowers. They carried nosegays of blue carnations.

Harold L. Cagle of Lubbock was the best man. Kevin Keele was the groomsmen and Laddie Woods, brother of the bride, and Johnnie Hobbs, cousin of the bride, were the ushers.

A reception was held in the community room of First Federal Savings and Loan.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will reside at 909 N. Graham St. Apartment 106-G, in Odessa. The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School. The bridegroom attended Howard County Junior College and now is a student at Odessa College.

The bridegroom's parents entertained with the rehearsal dinner in their home in Stanton.

MISS BARTON IS BRIDAL SHOWER HONOREE

Miss Joan Barton, bride-elect of Roy Gene Stephens, was honored with a prenuptial shower on Thursday, February 18, 1971, at the home of Mrs. Willis Walker from 3:30 until 5:00 in the afternoon. Mrs. Walker greeted the guests and introduced them to the bride-elect and the others in the receiving line.

Mrs. Virgil Blakney registered the guests.

Mrs. Smith Guest presided at the refreshment table. The serving table was laid with a red cloth with pink napkins featuring the names of the bridal pair, Roy and Joan. Refreshments of pink punch and white cake squares decorated with pink were served with crystal and silver appointments. The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink and red flowers.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Alfred Barton of Matador, mother of the bride-elect; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Stephens and Kirk of Grand Prairie; Miss Cheryl Stephens of WTSU, Canyon; Mrs. Eva Wright of Farmington, New Mexico, and her daughter-in-law from Pampa.

Make ordinary dishes sparkle by adding an extra dash of just the right spice or herb.

Spices and herbs not only add flavor but also color and aroma to mild foods.

Spices are the roots, stems, bark, leaves, seeds, fruits or buds or aromatic plants. Normally, "spice" means seeds and herbs which are either dried, whole or ground.

Herbs are the leaves of plants. They may be fresh or dried, whole, ground or crushed.

Effective use of spices and herbs is an art acquired through practice. Begin by experimenting with a few at a time.

Some spices and herbs seem to belong with certain foods. Sage is associated with pork dishes, dressings and stuffings. Basil is used for most vegetables, especially tomatoes. Chervil and parsley go well in salads, stews and sauces. Cayenne and paprika are used in stuffed eggs, vegetables and salad dressings. Dill suggests pickles, and mint is good with tea, ice cream and candy.

To be sure your cooking has all the appetizing flavor you want, check the storage shelf occasionally. Certain spices and herbs may be down to mere tagends; others may need replacing because they have been mistakenly stored near heat or in direct sunlight. Even with the most careful storage, spices and herbs, especially in ground form, lose their vitality after a time. That's the time to throw out and replace with a fresh and potent supply.

HOW BRUSH CONTROL CAN BE DONE TO HAVE A FAVORABLE AFFECT ON WILDLIFE

David Seitz, soil conservationist, reported that the new booklet on "Grass Restoration and Wildlife" gives the following suggestions to how brush control can be done to have a favorable affect on deer, turkey, quail numbers in Hall County.

Excessive shading and sapping of soil moisture by thick stands of cedar, mesquite, oak or other kinds of brush, prevent growth of legumes and grasses which are good food plants for wildlife and livestock.

Most game birds and animals are "edge" creatures; they exist in greatest numbers at the edge of wooded and open areas. They prefer to feed in the open where food plants are more plentiful and more nutritious, yet they want wooded areas nearby for escape cover. Clearing strips, blocks or patterns in dense brush increases the edge preferred by wildlife.

Nature had a way of putting trees and other browse plants on certain soils while leaving others open. Brush can be controlled in strips to benefit wildlife and livestock. Wooded areas should also be left along rivers, creeks, and other natural drainageways since these are preferred wildlife areas.

Opening up dense brush also improves hunting and makes it easier for sportsmen to harvest surplus game. This is an often overlooked but important factor in game management.

Solid blocks of wooded areas are improved for wildlife by creating openings. This increases the growth of legumes, grasses and other choice food plants.

MORE THAN ONE-THIRD OF NATION IS IN RANGES, WOODS AND PASTURES

According to David Seitz of the Soil Conservation Service, more than a third of the nation's area is privately owned rangeland, grazable woodland and native pasture. This land is used to produce livestock, wildlife and for recreation. It is also extensively used for recreation, including hunting and fishing.

The conservation objectives of SCS on rangeland and other grazing land are to help land users to:

1. Obtain resource information by conducting an inventory of their soil, water, plant and animal resources.
 2. Appraise the present and potential value of their land for alternative and multiple uses, including livestock and wildlife production and recreation enterprises.
 3. Develop conservation plans that meet their objectives and needs in a manner consistent with the capability and potential of their land.
 4. Apply the conservation measures in their conservation plans, including revisions brought on by changing conditions.
- SCS has a staff of range conservationists who, through local SCS offices, help land users to develop and apply conservation plans and practices for rangeland and other grazing land.

SCS pioneered the use of range-inventory methods that incorporate ecological principles and concepts and practical range-management techniques. It has coordinated the range inventory with the national cooperative soil survey so that basic range-resource information can be effectively interpreted from soil survey maps and reports.

WHAT IS THE FFA?

FFA — the Future Farmers of America—is more than just an organization of boys studying vocational agriculture in high school.

The FFA is a producer of men. Men of character, men with an understanding and appreciation of the dignity of work and pride in a job well done.

There is story after story all over this country of the little country boy who, when he got in high school, enrolled in vo. ag. and the FFA and in later years excelled at public speaking, livestock judging or became a successful farmer or agri-businessman.

What is there about the FFA that brings out the best in most boys and changes the worst to good in some?

In the first place, it is a unique organization as school organizations go.

The combination of the school work in the vocational agriculture classroom and the practical experiences outside the school is conducive to a closer and much different teacher-student relationship than is found in most other courses of study. Athletics may approach this relationship but not quite. And, basketball isn't supposed to be a course of study, although sometimes we wonder.

The first line of the FFA's motto "learning to do" sets the stage for their whole program.

They get the "how to" in the classroom and then outside school they know "what to" and the extension of the book learning we spoke of above is translated into reality on the scene—on the farm, in the greenhouse or in the tractor garage.

Whoever dreamed up the FFA emblem knew what the FFA was destined to become. Have you ever looked at it closely?

The symbol melds together the owl, the plow and the rising sun within the cross section of an ear of corn, topped by the American Eagle.

The interpretation they put on it sounds appropriate:

"The owl is symbolic of wisdom and knowledge.

"The plow is the symbol of labor and tillage of the soil.

"The rising sun is emblematic of progress and the new day that will dawn when all farmers are trained and have learned to cooperate.

"The cross section of the ear of corn is native to America and is grown in every state.

"The eagle is indicative of the national scope of the organization."

What's in it for the boys? How do they benefit from studying vocational agriculture and belonging to the local FFA Chapter?

First of all the boys are identified and recognized as members of a strong school organization in which they can express themselves, learn to be leaders and take part in worthwhile projects.

It gives them a chance to advance at the speed and degree that their accomplishments—their ability to perform—warrant.

Many an opportunity arises for the boy to express himself—maybe stumbling and clumsy at first but skilled and articulate later on. Accomplishments are recognized as the boy progresses from Green Hand (first-year student) to state or American Farmer degree his senior year.

How does all this concern farmers?

We happen to believe there may be a large, and largely untapped reservoir of talent for integration into actual farming or the supply forces for agriculture in the vocational agriculture department and FFA Chapter in Quitaque.

The new programs of cooperative part-time training and pre-employment laboratory training, which are working effectively in several chapters in Texas, are worthy of consideration in our locale. Visit with your vocational agriculture department. See if here isn't a source of future workers in the agricultural industry.

And, in the meantime, we urge each reader to support their local FFA Chapter and vocational agriculture department.

TIFFIN FAMILY TO ATTEND THREE-DAY CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Tiffin and their family will be among the 800 delegates attending a 3-day convention in Wichita Falls this weekend along with several others from this area who will assemble in the Hirschi High School auditorium.

V. D. Tiffin described the sessions as Bible oriented and sponsored by the Watchtower Society who arrange three conventions every year. "These are a valuable aid in helping parents and their children to solve the problems they face. Being a good parent is a big job, especially in these days," Mr. Tiffin said.

"Stress is placed on the Bible as an aid to help parents cope with the conditions faced by parents and their children alike and the sessions in Wichita Falls will offer encouragement in how to deal with family matters," he said. "There is an urgent need to go to the best source of encouragement available today. Namely, the Bible which provides all the answers for modern living even though it was written nearly two thousand years ago."

Commenting on the practical aspects of the assembly in Wichita Falls, Mr. Tiffin said that sound counsel will be provided in an effort to help parents cope with the pressure cooker atmosphere that exists today. "After all the Creator of man and woman originated marriage and he initiated the producing of children by giving men and women the ability to have offspring, so who, then, knows more about how to handle the job of being a good parent?"

"This is why many parents today feel it makes good sense to go directly to the Originator of the family for the best advice," Mr. Tiffin added. "This advice is contained in His inspired Word, the Bible, and one of the best scriptures that prove this can be found at 2 Timothy 3:16."

Pointing to the program to be featured on the opening night of the assembly in Wichita Falls, Mr. Tiffin said that one of the talks to be presented by a Lubbock minister is entitled, "Children Need Parents' Help." Other talks Friday night will follow the theme, "Helping Others To Do God's Will."

According to Mr. Tiffin, the convention highlight will come Sunday afternoon when Mr. L. M. Dugan, traveling minister from New York, will present the Bible lecture, "What Is Behind the Spirit of Rebellion?" Other family groups from this area who will attend the convention in Wichita Falls are Mrs. Bettie McDowell and the A. D. Moseleys.
