RAY FARABEE

Farabee to Campaign In Valley Area

Ray Farabee, Democratic candidate for the 30th District State Senate Seat being vacated by Jack Hightower, will campaign in Quitaque and Turkey today. The Wichita Falls businessman and attorney will arrive in Quitaque from Silverton.

While in Silverton, Farabee was to speak to the Lion's Club on the subject of "Rural Development." The noon meeting was to be at the City Cafe. As a practicing attorney, Farabee has worked with several industrial development organizations and a number of industries interested in locating plants in northwest Texas.

Farabee will talk with citizens of Quitaque, pass out information and answer questions from voters. He has spent the past month traveling in the 29 county senatorial district. He observed recently that most voters were concerned about (1) shortages of fuel and fertilizer and other agricultural inputs, (2) inflation, (3) honesty in government, and (4) taxes.

After a brief visit in Turkey, Farabee will travel to Floyd County to attend the Lockney Chamber of Commerce Banquet. He will go from Lockney to Plainview where he will meet his wife and campaign on Friday.

Pre-School Children Target For Immunizations

A probability of epidemics increases as fewer pre-school children are immunized against preventable communicable diseases, one authority warns.

"In Texas, vaccines have reduced cases of communicable diseases, but the proportion of adequately immunized pre-schoolers is declining—causing great concern," Dr. Barbara A. Sears notes.

The health education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, cited figures from a recent American Medical Association report.

"In 1964, the U. S. Immunization Survey revealed that 88 percent of pre-school children, ages one to four, had received three or more doses of polio vaccine.

"By 1972, this figure dropped to 63 percent—the lowest in 15 years.

"Far too many parents—including those in higher income brackets—wait until their children start school to 'get their shots,'" she continued.

"If all children—including pre-schoolers—received complete immunizations, diphtheria, polio, measles, rubella (German measles), tetanus and pertussis (whooping cough) could be virtually eliminated."

Texas school children, Dr. Sears pointed out, have excellent protection against these diseases—largely because of mandatory school immunization laws.

"Since the U. S. has been relatively free of preventable communicable diseases for the last decade, some families aren't as prompt about getting their children vaccinated.

"Yet, because of lower immunization levels in Mexico and the frequency of border crossings, Texas always faces the possibility of outbreaks.

"And the pre-school population represents the most susceptible age group at present."

The specialist, therefore, urges parents to start their children's immunizations early in life.

"Also, keep a personal immunization record on each child—showing dates and kinds of immunizations received.

"All must be validated by a physician or health clinic when a child starts to school," she added.

The Texas State Department of Health suggests the following immunization schedule, which can be changed as necessary by a private physician.

Problems... Problems

People chuckle when they see a baby who seems to have the weight of the world on his shoulders. What can he possibly be thinking about that makes him seem so pensive?

His thoughts probably aren't very serious, for babies often strike delightful and comical poses that enliven the family photo album.

But babies grow up and become adults, with real problems and difficult decisions to make.

Don't forget, as your baby matures, to emphasize those things that will enable him to cope with his future. Don't forget love, discipline, understanding—and especially, don't forget the Church!

Weed Control Recommendations Given For Area

Prevention is the only way to go when it comes to weed control in sorghum, says Dr. James Supak, area agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cultural practices such as crop rotation, good bed preparation and early season cultivation go a long way toward keeping weeds out of the fields, he says.

"Johnson grass and volunteer off-type sorghum infestations are extremely difficult to control in grain sorghum. Fields known to be infested with these weeds should be rotated to other crops such as soybeans, cotton or wheat," Supak advises. "Also, thorough seedbed preparation speeds crop seed germination for uniform stands that best compete with early germinating weeds.

"Herbicide treatments and early season cultivation also are effective in well prepared fields. Shallow working of seedbeds after pre-watering to destroy early germinating weeds effectively gets rid of the first weed crop without excessive losses of soil moisture."

Supak explains that Miloguard may be applied preplant for broad-leaf and grass weed control by spraying land already bedded and incorporating with a rolling cultivator. "This treatment can be applied up to four weeks before pre-plant application than for a pre-emergence treatment because some of the chemical decomposes before planting.

"Preplant application necessitates bed planting to minimize the movement of herbicide-treated soil from the top of the bed," he continues. "On clay loam soils, a preplant application of three lbs./A Milogard (incorporated with rolling cultivator) just prior to pre-plant irrigation has been the most effective treatment for watergrass control. If watergrass emerges after this treatment, AATrex can be applied at two lbs./A and incorporated with a rolling cultivator when sorghum is about six inches tall."

The specialist also says that Milogard applied pre-emergence will also provide season-long control of most annual grasses and broad-leaf weeds. Treatments must be applied during or immediately after planting but before a rain since Milogard must be absorbed by germinating seedlings to be effective, he adds. Milogard applied after a rain will not kill weeds because the chemical is not in contact with germinating weed seed. Also, Milogard will not control seedlings that emerge when sorghum is watered up with furrow irrigation, because weed roots are below the herbicide. Sprinkler irrigation, on the other hand, provides adequate herbicide movement into the soil to insure weed control.

"Milogard is a good preplant or pre-emergence herbicide, but it does have its limitations," he cautions. "This herbicide will not control perennial weeds such as bindweed, Johnsongrass and white-weed. Also, control of goatheads and devil's claw is usually poor if treatment rates are below two lbs./A. Deep germinating weeds such as pig melon, volunteer castor and annual morning glory are frequently not controlled because they germinate below the treated zone.

Milogard also is a stable compound which persists in soils for long periods, Supak notes. If more

West Texas State Has New Look

For an institution approaching its 75th anniversary, West Texas State University looks mighty new these days.

The new masonry and spirit invigorating the campus at Canyon belie the age of the oldest state-assisted institution of higher learning in the West Texas region.

Just this spring, WTSU opened a $3 million library, capable of housing a million volumes, and a three-story University Science Center, constructed at the same cost.

The buildings, which provide much needed enlargements of the university's science and library facilities, also symbolize the progressive attitude that WTSU supporters feel has emerged more strongly than ever in the past year. Two important events in 1973 ushered in the new spirit at WTSU. The school marked its 10th year with university status, and Dr. Lloyd Watkins arrived to take over the reins as university president.

Almost as soon as he arrived on campus, the new president began stirring up a new excitement among all segments of the University and its supporters.

Watkins has been associated with a number of fine universities in the Midwest, so everyone respected him as something of an authority in such matters. His enthusiasm for this part of the country, its people and especially WT was contagious. Soon everybody concerned began thinking about the future and seeing WTSU, not as a good university for this area as it has been for many years, but as a significant university... significant beyond this part of Texas or even beyond the Southwest... a significant university... one that will attract outstanding faculty and students from all over the country, even the world.

The new enthusiasm has already begun to show itself in a number of areas such as the concept that the university is operating to serve students. That concept is manifested in a broad range of practical applications, from simplified registration procedures that have shortened those traditional lines at the start of each semester to a faculty-student ratio of 1-20, which than 1.5 lbs./A are applied, corn and sorghum are the only summer crops that can be grown the next year but plantings of wheat, sugar beets, soybeans and vegetables should be delayed for at least 18 months following application. The use of Milogard also is restricted to fine sandy loams and heavier textured soils. Use of this herbicide on sandy or loamy sand soils can result in serious crop injury.

Residue problems associated with this chemical can be reduced by combining Milogard with short residual herbicides such as Lorox or Ramrod. The Lorox - Milogard combination (marketed under the tradenames of LOP-64 and Prolin) give good pigweed control but annual grass control has not been as effective with this mixture as Milogard alone. The Ramrod Milogard mixture also gives good pigweed control and has been very effective against watergrass if rainfall or a sprinkler irrigation occurs within five days after application, according to the agronomist.

"Use of this mixture also is limited to the sandy loam and heavier textured soils," he adds. "Producers should pay close attention to suggested application rates for sandy loam and loam soil because this mixture is more prone to cause crop injury than Milogard alone. These mixtures were formulated to reduce Milogard residues, not crop injury problems. Company literature should be checked for proper rates and for the crops that can be grown in rotation."

Igran is a short residual pre-emergence sorghum herbicide that can be used in many crop rotations, he says. This herbicide can be used on sandy soils for pigweed control and on finer textured soils for annual grass and pigweed control without crop injury. When used in furrow planted sorghum on sandy land, only a 10-inch band of the chemical should be applied.

Concludes Supak, "A good weed control program must be based on management practices that combine the use of herbicides with sound cultural practices. Such things as destroying weed seed resources near waterways, tailwater pits and turnrows along with crop rotation, good seedbed preparation and timely cultivation and knifing operations go far in helping grain sorghum producers achieve good weed control year after year."

West Texas State's six schools—the School of Agriculture, the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Business, the College of Education, the School of Fine Arts and the Graduate School—offer a total of 16 different bachelor's and master's degrees with over a hundred majors and areas of emphasis.

Expansions of the curriculum in recent years have taken diverse form. Five new degree programs and courses in social work and criminal justice administration have appeared, Latin has reappeared, and horsemanship is now offered for either physical education or agriculture credit. WTSU students within the past year have found themselves engaged in projects ranging from digging for archeological material threatened by a new dam to mapping Mars from photos gathered by the Mariner spacecraft.

Just as WTSU recognizes that all students cannot attend classes at the same hours, the university also knows that all students have time when they are not attending classes. There are 61 organizations on the WTSU campus, from fraternities and sororities to societies for special interests, to provide for those hours not spent in classes.

The hub of the cultural and social scene at WTSU is the Activities Center, a complex of bowling alleys, pool tables, handball and paddleball courts, a weight training room, four basketball courts, an Olympic-size swimming pool and rooms for reading, music and films.

Students arriving at WTSU now can take advantage of a remarkable growth program of the past five years, which added eight new buildings and a 2,400 acre ranch to the university's facilities.

The unique spirit of WTSU is also captured in its efforts to help students with the financial aspects of attending college. In addition to the conventional loan, scholarship and student employment programs, WTSU has the special Opportunity Plan, Inc., a non-profit organization which offers individualized financial assistance and counseling along with part-time job opportunities.

WTSU is in a land of contrasts. Because it is in the Amarillo metropolitan area, students have easy access to the cultural activities in Texas' seventh largest city, yet it still has a good bit of the romance of the old West. Spectacular, rugged Palo Duro Canyon state park is West Texas State University's backyard.

Dallas Cowboy All-Pro defensive tackle Bob Lilly, pictured with Bradley Meyer, is serving as State Chairman of the 1974 Texas High School Football Boy's Lily Day for Crippled Children, an annual event to raise funds for the treatment and service program of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

COLLEGE COURSES NOW AVAILABLE TO SOME TALENTED HIGH SCHOOLERS

The challenge of college freshman courses is now available to academically talented high school students the summer before their senior year at West Texas State University.

"We want to give the student a chance to do a little more with his summers," said Don Cates, WTSU registrar. "Those with proven academic ability and recommendations from their principals will be selected to take freshman level courses here at WT during the summer or whenever it does not conflict with their high school obligations."

While the final grade is immediately put on record, Cates said, "the student will not have his credit apply to his degree until he shows proof of high school graduation." A feature of the WT program is that once the student graduates, his WT credit can be transferred to the institution of his choice.

Cates also described the new WT program as one "designed to preserve a close working relationship with secondary schools."

"The University insists that students participating in this program complete the curricular and extra-curricular programs of their high school," Cates noted.

The students will be treated as entering freshmen, he stated, with special provision for academic advising and counseling.

Selection of the students will be by committee, with emphasis on high school academic record, scores on the American College Test or other standardized tests, a recommendation from the high school principal and the student's stated reason for wishing to participate in the program.

Other items needing to be submitted for consideration are: the regular freshman admission application, the high school transcript, parental acknowledgement and approval, and proof of immunization.

For additional admission information, contact Dean of Admissions, West Texas State University, Canyon, Texas 79016.

Jerry Merrell of Canyon and Warren Merrell of Wheeler visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Merrell, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Spier of Clarendon visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murry Morrison, and Joe over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rice were in Dallas attending Fall Market over the weekend.

Pete Rice had a cyst removed from his right cheek in Plainview Central Plains Hospital Tuesday of last week.

Word was received here Sunday evening that Layne Cushenberry of Amarillo, son of Mrs. Ruby Cushenberry and the late Reg Cushenberry, had suffered a severe

EASTER EGG-CITEMENT!

NEW YORK (ED)—Looking for an unusual party favor or an interesting centerpiece for your Easter table? Here are a few easy-to-make and economical decorations. Dyeing and decorating Easter eggs is fun and easy—a custom brought to this country by the Pennsylvania Dutch to celebrate Paas, the Pennsylvania Dutch word for Easter.

The baby chicks are made from half-shells—just save a few when fixing eggs for breakfast. Rinse the shells and let dry. Now color them with vivid Easter egg dyes. If you use PAAS cold-water fizz tablets, even the youngest toddlers can help. Spoon dye bath over shells to color them inside and out.

To make the chicks, you'll need pastel cosmetic balls in two sizes—small for the chicks and large ones for nests—and felt-tipped pens in black and red.

Press out the center of a small yellow cotton cosmetic ball, forming it into cone. Shape the top of the cone into a rounded head. Then make a beak by pinching the cotton into a point at the front of the head. Use a black felt-tipped pen to "paint" on the chick's eyes and color the beak with a red pen. Make cotton "nests" from large cosmetic balls. Nestle cotton chick in the dyed eggshell—then place the shell in one of the nests.

To complete your decoration, fill a shallow tray (a Styrofoam or plastic meat tray will do nicely) with colored jelly beans and arrange the baby chicks in the tray.

Egg Elephant: Use a blown eggshell (just pierce the egg at both ends with an ice pick or skewer, enlarge the holes to the size of a small pea, and blow out the contents) dyed a bright color. The legs are made from pipestem cleaners, coiled tightly around a pencil then glued to the egg. The elephant's face is made by tracing around slightly opened manure scissors and the facial features are drawn on with a pen.

Egg Vase: Dye half-shells pretty spring colors and glue a gumdrop to the bottom of each for the stand. Florist's clay holds tiny sprigs of artificial flowers in place.

Egg Wheelbarrow: With your manicure scissors, cut a blown eggshell in half lengthwise. Be sure to use tiny snips. (If the edge is ragged just glue a bit of rickrack or ribbon around the shell.) Shape pipestem cleaners into an oval to fit around the egg and bend to form handles and legs. Pinch the cleaners together at the front and glue on a circle of construction paper for the wheel. Then glue the oval to the half-shell and fill with jelly beans.

Different Sets for Different Styles

NEW YORK (ED)—When television was first invented, the family set had a prominent place in the living room. It was a dominant piece of furniture. Today, many families have a second or third television set for the kitchen, bedroom or den. A television set need not look out of place. It can be integrated into any room's decor. A big help is the wide range of designs to choose from.

For families who like to watch the evening news while they eat dinner, a television in the dining room makes sense. This TV cabinet with grained Pecan-finish blends beautifully with the mellow wood tones of the room's paneling and the oval dining table. It is inconspicuously placed in a shuttered alcove along with fine china and bibelots. Easy to hang wall shelves or a cupboard would also make good spots for a television in a period-style room.

The stereo components and color television create a sight-and-sound wall sculpture in this way-out room.

with the television cabinet and the Early American decor. The rule of thumb here is similar style and wood grains. Remember, carpeting enhances the acoustics for background or dinner music. Audio buffs often operate on the "If You've Got It—Flaunt It" theory. They display their stereo equipment with pride. Here the Magnavox color television set (built into the wall) becomes part of the graphic design adding its own special dimensions to the total design. The room's decor is conducive to relaxed listening: floor pillows, rug covered banquettes, wall-to-wall carpeting, and restful colors. And all of the soft surfaces serve to improve the acoustics as well. The stereo, tape deck, speakers, and tuner/amplifier add a sculptural dimension to the sight-and-sound wall design.

Audio - visual equipment need not be an eyesore to be hidden away in the closet. There is a stereo console component system to complement every lifestyle. And to fit in with every period of furniture, be it Early American, traditional or modular futuristic.

Will You Keep The Door Open

Rev. 3:20—Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and sup with him, and he with me.

Before a christian life can begin, a person has to open the door to his soul. When a person does this, he begins to gain understanding through the Holy Spirit. We begin to understand that we were in sin and doomed for a devil's Hell. When someone becomes convicted of this, he or she has to come to the Lord confessing his

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION HOLDING HEARINGS IN STATE

Governor Dolph Briscoe has announced that three members of the Texas Industrial Commission will travel across rural Texas during the first two weeks of April conducting 26 hearings to determine the needs of rural Texas and possible programs which can help revitalize the rural areas.

Governor Briscoe said the 26 hearings are the result of the passage of the Texas Rural Development Act during the 63rd Legislature, which authorized special attention to the rural economy and added three more members to the Texas Industrial Commission all from rural areas.

sins and accepting the Lord as his personal Saviour.

After you have accepted Jesus into your life, He is there always. Jesus said that he would leave us a comforter. This is Jesus with us through the Holy Spirit. He is here to help us to know and understand the will of God. The thing that few know or even want to understand, is that we have to want this help. In other words we try to shut this door and push the Lord out. No, you cannot push him completely out, because once we are saved he will never take it away.

Every person that is a christian has to have the help of the Holy Spirit to live a life that is pleasing unto God. This is what I mean when I ask, will you keep the door open? We all have to have help of some kind. The best help that is known to man is the tender loving help that God has to offer. Think about it, and may God bless you all.

Bill Green
Pastor of the Fairmont Missionary
Baptist Church

Appointed by Governor Briscoe as the rural representatives on the Commission are James Bond of Navasota, William Porter of Terrell and James Hunt of Sonora.

These new rural commissioners will hold hearings in separate sections of the state to feel the pulse of the rural residents and gather facts for implementing a program to stimulate the rural economy.

"The three commissioners want to hear from everyone in rural Texas," Governor Briscoe said. "They will meet with civic leaders, business leaders and elected officials to determine the best program possible to give rural Texas an economic shot-in-the-arm."

The West Texas hearings will be held in San Angelo, Monahans and Lamesa on April 9; Plainview, Pampa and Weatherford on April 10; and Brownwood, Fredericksburg and Uvalde on April 11.

After the hearings, the three commissioners will report their findings to the entire Texas Industrial Commission membership and the Governor. The data will be used to prepare the recommendations on the rural development program to be presented to the Legislature in 1975.

Talk Turkey With an Italian Accent

Top turkey breasts with cheese and a savory sauce. It's the Italian way to enjoy the all-American bird. Serve with salad.

NEW YORK (ED) — Homemakers who relegate turkey to the special occasion shopping list are making a big mistake. Turkey is actually a versatile delicacy — as continental cooks have long known. The all-American bird isn't stuffed and roasted in cost-conscious European homes. Instead turkey parts are prepared in a variety of ways — none of them more delicious than Italian-style turkey breasts, enriched with cheese and a luscious sauce.

It's "Filetti di Tacchino alla Bolognese" in Italian; in any language, that spells delicious. TURKEY BREAST BOLOGNESE
3 whole small turkey breasts; split, skinned, boned and slightly flattened

6 thin slices boiled ham or prosciutto ham
1/2 cup Progresso spaghetti sauce with meat flavor

Season breasts lightly with salt and pepper, dust with flour, dip in egg, dredge generously in bread crumbs. Heat butter in large skillet; brown breasts over medium-high heat 3-4 minutes on each side. Reduce heat to low, add broth or wine, cover, simmer 25 minutes or until breasts are fork tender. Remove cover. Place slice of ham then slice of cheese on each breast; broil 1-2 minutes, until cheese melts. Heat sauce right from jar. Arrange turkey breasts on platter; top with spaghetti sauce with meat flavor. Serves 6.

DOUBLE BUCCANEER STAMPS WEDNESDAY ON ALL PURCHASES

New higher interest rate on U.S. Savings Bonds.

Now U.S. Savings Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity.

Here's how it works: The higher interest rate applies to all new Bonds purchased since December 1, 1973, raising their rate from 5½% to 6% when held to maturity. And the maturity period on Series E Bonds is shorter, too. Now E Bonds mature in 5 years, with a first-year rate of 4½%.

Series H Bonds, with a 10-year maturity, will earn 5% the first year; 5.8% for the next four years; and 6½% for the last five years. This gives you an average 6% yield over the 10-year period.

It works for Bonds you now hold, too. There's no reason to redeem your older Bonds to buy new ones.

Their yield has improved, too.

All outstanding E Bonds will receive a ½% increase in yield for each semiannual interest period beginning on or after December 1, 1973, payable upon redemption. This also applies to any Freedom Shares you may still hold.

All outstanding H Bonds will receive a ½% yield increase for each semiannual interest period beginning on or after December 1, 1973. This is payable in the form of increased semiannual interest payments.

It all works to your advantage. Now, more than ever, it makes sense to buy higher-paying U.S. Savings Bonds and hold them to maturity or beyond.

ONE FRIDAY

When we become mired in the routine of life, one day is like any other. This was just another working-day for most of the people in Jerusalem.

Three men died on Calvary Hill. One of them was the Galilean!

Business as usual in Jerusalem. Unless we understand the whole significance of what is happening we pay little attention . . .

Do you understand what happened that Friday? Do you realize WHO hung on that central Cross? Do you know WHY He died? And FOR WHOM?

There is nothing more necessary in our lives than the deep, personal knowledge of what happened that Friday . . . and the Sunday following.

Time To Get Horses Vaccinated

Warmer weather means the appearance of the mosquito and its threat as a disease carrier, especially as far as horse sleeping sickness is concerned. So, all horse owners should take steps now to protect their animals, urges Jimmy Vanstary, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

All horses, mules, asses and ponies should be vaccinated for the three types of equine encephalomyelitis (horse sleeping sickness)—Eastern, Western and Venezuelan. The Venezuelan strain (VEE) caused the deaths of thousands of horses in Texas and Mexico when it first appeared in 1971.

A combined vaccine is available for the Eastern and Western strains of the disease and annual booster shots should be given after the initial vaccination. A separate vaccine must be administered to protect animals from VEE. The vaccine provides protection for about 18 months. Colts vaccinated last year while under six months of age should be revaccinated, points out Vanstary.

Vaccines are available through veterinarians and should be administered only by them, notes Vanstary.

The Texas Animal Health Commission requires that all horses moving to shows or out-of-state be vaccinated for VEE.

Symptoms of the three diseases include depression, lack of appetite and drowsiness. Animals may frequently grind their teeth and stagger when moving. They may also lunge uncontrollably and assume a "sawhorse" stance.

Although there have been no horse deaths from VEE in the past two years in the U. S., a number of animals were lost last year to the Eastern and Western strains of the disease in some 25 states.

So, plan to vaccinate your horses

Visitors in the Ralph Carter home over the weekend were her sisters and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs Rucker, Broadview, New Mexico, who came Thursday and stayed through Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Broxson and Mrs. Viola Broxson, Fort Worth, who came Saturday and remained until Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hedrick and children, Amarillo, and Byron Young joined them Sunday. Mrs. Clyde Monk of Lubbock also visited them Sunday. She spent the night with the Boone McCrackens. Mr. and Mrs. McCracken and Mrs. Monk left Monday morning to visit their aunt, Mrs. Stella Wells in Ada, Oklahoma, who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Tyler and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blair attended the funeral service for Mrs. Lois Moore in Clarendon Thursday of last week. She was the mother of Mrs. Dwight Blair of Lubbock.

as soon as possible to give them the protection they need, advises Vanstary.

Screwworm Warning Issued from USDA

Livestock owners of the southwestern United States should redouble their efforts this spring to find, treat and prevent screwworm cases, since the livestock parasite is expected to reach record numbers due to the unusually mild winter just ended.

This warning comes from Dr. M. E. (Colton) Meadows, jr., director of the Mission-based screw worm eradication program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Meadows also cautioned producers to refrain from livestock surgery or other manmade wounds to prevent screwworm infestations.

"Thirty percent of all laboratory confirmed cases so far in 1974 have been collected from manmade wounds (dehorning, branding, docking and the like), and every effort should be made to prevent wounding animals during the screwworm season," Meadows said.

The USDA veterinarian emphasized that the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association also solicits the cooperation of all farm to eliminate the screwworm livestock owners in an all-out effort. In a special resolution approved by the industry organization at its recent annual meeting in Dallas, all livestock owners of the Southwest were urged to support the eradication effort by:

1. Inspecting their animals frequently.
2. Treating all wounds with an approved product.
3. Collecting and submitting worm specimens to the Screwworm Laboratory at Mission, Texas, for identification. Positive cases then can be given sterile fly treatment, officials reminded.

Screwworm cases are off to a fast start this spring, with 23 new Texas cases confirmed last week from counties as far north as Brown and Haskell. Others reporting first 1974 cases last week were Atascosa, Brooks, Frio, Jim Hogg, Willacy and Zavala.

Total case tally for Texas thus far in 1974 is 78, while only 59 were recorded through the end of March a year ago. The U. S. total for 1974 now stands at 90, with California reporting eight and Arizona, four.

CARD OF THANKS!
I wish I had the words to actually let you know how much I appreciate all that was done for me and to help my family while I was in the hospital and since I have been home.

Thanks to all of our dear friends who stood by so early in the morning with my family during the long and trying hours of the surgery, those who visited me, sent cards, flowers and gifts, and for the phone calls and for those who took turns with the family sitting with me both day and night, and all the prayers that I'm sure must have been said.

The lady who brought my mail each day said one morning that I must have a lot of friends, I got so much mail. I told her that I felt like I did but for her to understand why she would just have to live in Quitaque. I also received a lot of cards, visits, gifts, and phone calls from other places and I appreciate every one of them very much.

Thanks to all of you who have been by to see me since I have been home and for all of the good food you have brought. Sooner or later most all of us have to go through times like these and I just hope I can be as thoughtful of each of you as you were of me.

Thank you and may God richly bless each and every one of you. Jeane Woods and family

IN APPRECIATION
I want to thank our relatives and friends for their presence, the flowers, cards, telephone calls, visits and gifts while I was in the hospital and for the visits and food since I have been home. Love to all, Grace Mullin

FARMERS NEED TO FOLLOW PRODUCTION GUIDELINES FOR RAISING PINTO BEANS

Pinto bean production on the High Plains is a distinct possibility if farmers are careful to follow guidelines for production as outlined in the 1973 Annual Research Report from the High Plains Research Foundation.

A pinto bean production study was established at the Foundation in 1972 to determine the feasibility of pinto bean production in the Texas High Plains. The study is in cooperation with Womack Brokerage.

Jim Valliant, Foundation research director, said there were several major reasons for conducting the study. First, the Texas High Plains is located closer to the area of major consumption than Idaho, the present major production area. Also the growing season for pinto beans is shorter than crops being grown presently in the High Plains and should make greater use for the rainfall since the greatest percent of rain occurs just prior to the blooming period for pintos.

Then, too, pinto beans can be harvested early enough to allow the same area to be planted to small grains for grazing or for harvest.

Valliant adds that if favorable yields are obtained, returns per acre would be competitive with crops grown in the area.

He noted that the short growing season is another plus factor. "Pinto beans can be used for replanting weather or disease damaged summer crops," he said.

Following results from two years of testing at High Plains Research Foundation, Valliant said that rust-resistant varieties should be planted. He advised that pinto beans are extremely susceptible to damage by propazine and should not follow a crop produced on land treated with propazine. "Proper herbicides that have been tested for pinto beans can be used for weed control," Valliant said.

He also said that seeding rate between 35 and 70 pounds per acre should be planted. The 35-pound rate is desirable under limited irrigation while the 70 pounds are more desirable under a program of high fertility and adequate irrigation.

Fertilizer is recommended at a rate of 80 to 120 pounds of nitrogen per acre with planting from May 20 until July 5.

When harvesting, Valliant added, the beans should be undercut and windrowed when approximately 80 percent mature in early September.

Full details of the two year study are available in the 1973 report or by contacting High Plains Research Foundation scientists.
