METHODIST YOUTH TO HAVE BAKE SALE

The Quitaque United Methodist Youth would like to announce that they are having another BAKE SALE. It will be Wednesday, September 30, at Merrell Food, beginning at 9:00 o'clock. The money from the sale will be used to help pay for the new sign they are building. All funds received will be truly appreciated.

Supt. Conner was the speaker of the evening, bringing a very informative address concerning the welfare of the school. His greatest concern is the enrollment of the school and the attendance of each pupil. There are 183 enrolled and to keep the teachers now authorized for the year 1971-72, 181 must have perfect attendance. The CTU (Classroom Teachers Unit) pays about 13 of our teachers' salaries and the rest is paid by the local taxes.

This presents a great challenge to parents, to keep our schools operating at the very best possible level unless provisionally hindered.

Mr. Conner said some new decisions have been made to create a better atmosphere in the school system. First: there will be nine week tests instead of each six weeks. Two: There will be exemptions from the 9-week tests, provided, a. the student has perfect attendance, not even a tardy; b. Daily work averages 85 and above; and c. Good conduct.

This P-TA president is for this decision whole heartedly, not only as P-TA President, but as a mother of school children.

Mrs. Jack Hutton left Monday to join her husband at the bedside of his father in California. Word was received shortly after she had left that Mr. Hutton had died. Funeral services were to be held Wednesday.

SOME PASTURES DEADLY THIS TIME OF YEAR

Hybrid sorghum-sudan pastures, fast growing and excellent forage, can also be deadly, especially during the late summer and fall, reminds Briscoe County agricultural agent, Jackie Johnson.

The breakdown of the sorghum's plant material by its own enzymes results in prussic acid poisoning for the animals which eat the plant material. The actual agent causing death is a hydrogen cyanide, the same chemical used in state gas chambers for executions.

There are two times during which poisoning occurs. After frost, where there is damage to the plants, high levels of hydrogen cyanide are very common in the plants.

The second case is when plants perk up and begin fast growth after a very dry period during which the plants have been burned up.

The hydrogen cyanide is very volatile and therefore stays in the plants for only a very short time, but while it is present, animals must be kept off the pasture.

Hay that is improperly cured can also present prussic acid poisoning problems for a short time. The blood of poisoned animals will be cherry red.

Farmers should also be on the lookout for nitrate poisoning that may occur during the late fall on winter pastures when there is a lot of cloudy weather.

The plants, instead of growing and changing nitrates into protein, just accumulate the nitrate. Animals must also be taken off these pastures until the plants have had a chance to grow and convert the nitrates to protein.

The blood of animals that have died from nitrate poisoning will be chocolate brown, just the opposite from those dying from prussic acid poisoning.

Turks Gobble Up Longhorns; Lefors Pirates Here Friday

Jolting the Hart Longhorns with an alert play for a touchdown on the opening kickoff, the Turks romped to a 32-6 victory Friday night. The kickoff by David McKay rolled into the end zone where two Hart players stood and watched, not attempting a return. Jerry Green alertly pounced on the ball for a touchdown, giving the Turks a 6-0 lead with only a few seconds elapsed. This seemed to set the tempo for the night, as the Turks, while making many costly errors themselves, cashed in numerous miscues by the Longhorns to thoroughly defeat the Class A Hart team.

The Turks drove for another score in the first quarter after recovering a fumble on the Hart 5-yard line, Dennis Irby, getting the touchdown from two yards out. Again the try for point failed, bringing the score to 12-0 at the end of the first quarter. The only score in the second quarter came after an attempted lateral pass by Turkey was recovered by Hart on the Turk's 38-yard line. From there the Longhorns drove in to score on a five-yard run by Stanley Dyer. An attempted pass for the extra points failed and the Turks led at halftime, 12-6.

Turkey received to start the third quarter and continued to score. Starting a drive on their own 40-yard line, the Turks used sharp blocking on the line and a spectacular run by Dan Davis, who cut over his right tackle and raced 40 yards to the Hart-10 before being knocked out of bounds. The score came on a fine pass reception by Neil Guest from Dennis Irby from 13 yards out. Again the try for point failed, and the Turks led 18-6. Although there was no further scoring in the third quarter, the Turks showed very good blocking and crisp tackling to hold Hart in their own territory. The Turks missed two scoring opportunities late in the third period when they lost the ball on fumbles.

In the fourth quarter with the Turk linemen opening large holes in the Longhorn defense, the Turkey backs began to find daylight and made some very fine runs.

The Turks scored again midway of the fourth period after blocking a Hart punt, and recovering the ball on the Longhorn 25-yard line. Jerry Green took the ball in from the 15, behind sharp blocking by the Turk linemen. A run by Dan Davis was good for two points and the Turks led at this point, 26-6.

The final score of the night came late in the fourth quarter when Billy Vivens showed good power and balance, taking the ball in from the Hart-20. The try for point failed. The final score was Turkey 32, Hart 6.

The Turks take on the Lefors Pirates tonight (Friday) at 8:00 p.m. at Vardy Field. The Pirates are winless, but have played two very good Class A teams, and will be a strong test for the improving Turks.

If you haven't seen the Turks play, come on out and enjoy the game tonight. The enthusiasm generated by the Turks, the Pep Squad and the students is tremendous. Come to the Pep Rally at the school house at 3:30.

SPoon FISHING...and other tips

BY TOM ANDREWS

"SILVER" LURES TRAVEL BEST

Some fishermen, like me, travel a lot. Others, and you may be one of them, can only fish new waters once a year at vacation time. Yet both of us have felt the need for a lure that would work well anytime, anywhere.

When I started analyzing this problem some time ago, I discovered that it came in two parts. It wasn't enough just to settle on a particular type of lure, I learned. You also had to be concerned with the color of that lure.

Fortunately, it didn't take me long to nail down the kinds of lures that would serve well no matter where they were used, the season, or the weather. The spoon and the jig won hands down.

Why? Well, if either lure has the weight and shape of a Johnson Silver Minnow or "Lucky" Lujon, for example, it can be cast or trolled, fished slow or fast. It will work well in fresh or salt water, swift rivers or sluggish backwaters, deep glacier lakes or shallow farm ponds.

The problems I had in appreciating the importance of color are still kind of embarrassing, but they were finally solved in just one exciting week several years ago. I was out with friends on a San Diego party boat. I had given each of them a "Lucky" Lujon and we were anxious to see how this jigging-type lure would work on yellowtails. Because we intended to cast and retrieve, we were put on the bow apart from the cut-bait fisherman. Well, we weren't apart for long! Within an hour, we were arm-weary from hauling in 15- and 20-lb. yellowtails — and tongue-weary from identifying our "bait," the "Lucky" Lujon.

Two days later, I was in St. Louis on business, and on Thursday morning was flown out to Bagnell Dam at Lake of the Ozarks for a few hours of bass fishing. There were three Lujons left in my tackle box and I shared them with my companion and the guide. The guide had told us not to expect too much; heavy rains had been providing free meals for the fish.

It didn't take us quite half an hour to speed the pace of the action. We had the guide hooting with glee as he netted bass after bass. We just cast our Lujons as far as possible, let them sink for several seconds, then started retrieving with steady reel speed and constant raising and lowering of the rod tip.

The same routine was faithfully duplicated the following Saturday when, with my wife and son, we ran the long swells due east of Jacksonville, Fla., and filled the transom of our 20-footer with Spanish mackerel.

And while filleting those mackerel I realized that, in two oceans and a body of fresh water, I had enjoyed great luck with a jig — one with a silvery finish (the Lujon is nickel-plated).

Since that time, I've never seen a lure that could "travel" better than a silver or silvery-finished spoon or jig.

Sportscar Racing Driver Says Drive Defensively

By Bob Tullius

The drivers nervously gun their engines, crouch tautly behind the wheel, glance left and right at their competition. Then, suddenly, the signal turns green. Accelerator to the floor. Tires screaming in protest. Out in front! Sports cars at Le Mans? The Indie 500? Hardly. A typical, anywhere U. S. A. street corner. The people behind the wheel, so-called "good" drivers.

DRIVE DEFENSIVELY
But a good driver is a safe driver, and professionals have learned that the key to safe driving is a defensive attitude. Be so humble it hurts. If someone cuts you off, let him. If you see a car weaving in and out of traffic, speeding, acting crazy, get over to the right. You wouldn't argue with a drunk in your living room. Why do it on the highway?
NATURAL SIGNS
Another thing the pros have learned, is that there is one natural sign you'd better not miss while you're driving, if you want to live to a ripe old age. That sign is an obstructed view — a building, a signboard, a fence, a hedge, or almost anything. The professional drivers watch for this tip-off like a hawk. When they see it, they don't just ease up on the accelerator; they take their right foot off completely and let it rest on the brake, where it stays until they're safely into the intersection. Why? Because it takes precious time to move the foot across. Suppose you do save only half a second — it means 14 feet at 20 m.p.h., enough to make the difference between a collision and a safe stop.
SPEEDING
As a competition driver I've been asked many times about

One of the country's most successful and popular sportscar racing drivers, Robert (Bob) Tullius, of Falls Church, Va., poses here with the car he drives for pleasure — the new Rover 3500S. Mr. Tullius is the head of the Triumph sports car racing team called Group 44, and in competitive events he drives the Triumph TR6.

speed, something I live with almost every day on the track. One day, another car pulled along side my Rover 3500S at a stop light on a Virginia street corner. He waved hello as though he had recognized me and made all the signs of offering to race me. In spite of my trying to signal my negative feelings he burned rubber as the light turned green, and broke all the traffic rules trying to beat me. I drove the same route, obeying all the traffic and speed regulations. Twelve miles later I pulled in for gas and found out that my speeding friend had arrived only three minutes ahead of me. A savings of only 15 seconds a mile. Was it worth it? Obey your speed laws. Don't race for the green light, or

What can all this conglomeration have in common?

Nothing, you may say — no two people in the world are exactly alike!

But they do have something in common, you know — something very important — they are all human beings. No matter how different, the point is they have the same hopes and ambitions and frustrations as you and I.

You and I like to think we are a little different, of course. But you and I share something with all other human beings — something very precious. We are all loved by God, and we should all return a little of that love to Him every Sunday — in the church of our choice.

Shirttail Sermon

"I must abide at thy house." Luke 19:5.

There are some houses into which no one would ever think of inviting himself. There are others to which the most sensitive person would feel free to do so. So it is with Christ. He will not invite himself to a heart that is proud and self-sufficient; to one that is neek and humble. He will say: "Today I must abide at thy house."

Those who refuse to admit this gentle guest give various excuses:

First, there is the excuse of occupation. "The guest room is already occupied." "I have already given my promise to another cause." "I have already pledged my time and my energy to other things." Excuses are easy to make when a person is not really receptive.

Second, there is the excuse of preparation. "Wait, Lord, until my heart is fit to receive thee." "I am not good enough to go to church." "I am not fit to be a church member." Such strange ideas people have about the church and its mission! No man is fit to receive Christ. No man is fit to call himself a Christian. But he can become fit: Christ will make him fit.

Third, there is the excuse of procrastination. "Come again later—not today." "I will worship Him—Someday." "I will accept Him as Savior—some day." "I am having too good a time now but some day I will change." Some day often comes after it is too late!

Several members of the WMU of First Baptist Church in Quitaque attended a School of Training at Lubbock Monday from 9:00 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. It was taught by State Officers to acquaint the local officers with a new program of work in their individual churches for the new year which begins October 1. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Harmon, Gladys Stroup, Mrs. Cora Gragson, Mrs. Phyllis Cheatham, Mrs. Jo Patrick and Mrs. Janell Smith.

Mrs. C. H. Hamner accompanied her brother-in-law, Charlie Drake of Childress, on a trip to visit relatives recently. They left here September 10, and drove to Surveys done by consumer magazines estimate that as an average a bride will spend about $3,000 for home furnishings alone. All told, including gifts to the bride, there is an annual expenditure of 3½ billion dollars during the period of engagement and into the first year of marriage.

A Guaranteed Helpful Hint for the New Bride

These figures are up approximately 50% from 1964 and can best be attributed to the two-paycheck families with now almost 90% of the brides working.

Luxury items today play an even more prominent role in the brides' purchases than ever before. Years ago, something like wall-to-wall carpeting would have been out of the question, except for a few. Now, however, nine out of 10 brides prefer it. Unfortunately, all too many of these brides are unaware of how quickly carpeting can be ruined by caster damage.

A real lifesaver for carpeting is the Beauti-Glide bed frame, equipped with Super Glides or Rug Rollers, that is actually guaranteed not to damage carpeting or any other floor surface. Be a smart young bride and lengthen the life of your carpeting or other floor surfaces by insisting that your bedroom furniture has the Beauti-Glide guarantee tag.

Urges United Way Support

PLEA — James R. Kerr, left, and Charles D. Peebler, Jr., ask media to support United Way Campaigns as never before.

Television and radio networks and magazines contributed more than $57 million in time and space to United Way of America Campaigns last year. The support is the greatest given by media for any seasonal campaign approved by the Advertising Council.

The report was given by James R. Kerr, national chairman for United Way of America Campaigns and chief executive officer of Avco Corporation, coupled with a plea to the media that they contribute even more during the campaign period this fall.

Kerr said that mass media helped immeasurably last year to raise $817 million for the support of 36,000 health, welfare and character-building agencies in 2,260 communities throughout the nation.

This year, he said, the need is greater than ever to support United Way agencies seeking solutions to such divisive problems as crime, delinquency, drug addiction, alcoholism and the breaking of the poverty cycle.

There is no question, he said, that campaigning will be more difficult this year because of increasing social polarization, inflation, rising unemployment, falling profits and a buffeted stock market.

The help of the national media is needed more than ever before, Kerr said. The bulk of community campaigns are conducted Sept. 1 through Thanksgiving.

Charles D. Peebler, Jr., chairman of the United Way Public Relations Advisory Committee and president of Bozell & Jacobs, Inc., in breaking down broadcast public service spot contributions said that network television tallied 2.6 billion United Way home impressions and radio networks contributed 1.9 billion. Some 470 nationally circulated magazines with an audited circulation of more than a half-billion contributed public service advertising, he said.

News of a Handy New Product

Scientists and laboratory researchers of the Kendall Company's Curity division this month introduced the newest—and perhaps one of the most welcome—convenience for mothers of small babies.

Fathers also will undoubtedly be happy to hear of the new product. It is a package of pre-moistened and pre-medicated wash cloths particularly suitable for use while changing baby's diapers—especially away from home.

Called "Baby Tidy-Ups," the wash cloths are sealed in foil and are also most useful in cleaning up tiny hands and faces. When soap, water, creams, and towels are not available, the new wash cloths are the perfect answer to meet baby's needs. A self-contained antiseptic aids in preventing diaper rash.

Already in national distribution, the handy tidy-ups can be obtained in drug departments anywhere.

Tried chilled applesauce for breakfast? You'll find it perks the appetite and offers a pleasing contrast to hot breakfast foods. Applesauce is also delicious when used as a spread for buttered toast.

Applesauce fits into your dessert schedule, too. You can chill it and serve with gingerbread or fresh, crisp cookies. Vary the flavor with additions of lemon juice or spices such as cinnamon, nutmeg or cloves.

Cheer up plain applesauce by warming it with a few red hot candies, until the candies melt. This is a delicious side dish with meat.

If you have fresh apples, now is a good time to can some applesauce for later use. Wash and quarter apples, remove core and any bad spots. Cook with small amount of water until apples are tender. Run through a sieve, or use your blender to make the sauce. Sweeten if desired.

Heat applesauce to simmering, pack into sterile jars leaving 1/4-inch head space. Seal, process in boiling water bath 10 minutes for pints or quarts.
