THEN & NOW!

by Eunice McFall

Do we care for our fellow man? I have always been under the impression that we do care for others but recently I have begun to wonder how much we really care--Do we only care when it is convenient? Do we only care when it is to our advantage? Do we only care when we can be benefitted as well as the person we show caring to?

Recently on the radio I heard two heart breaking stories--One lady who lived in an apartment had gone out on her balcony to watch a parade go by. It was cool, so being rather elderly she put on her scarf and coat, probably so as to not catch cold and to be comfortable enough to enjoy the parade.

Several days later a neighbor noticed she was sitting in the same place, same position, with the same clothing on. Upon investigation, it was discovered the elderly lady was dead!

Now if her caring neighbors had been a bit more observant they would have noticed something wrong sooner.

That same day I also heard a newscaster telling about a man who had cancer and had died. Months later they (really his wife, but addressed to him) were still receiving letters from a "preacher" telling them that their prayers were being answered--the man would be cured! Now this is months after the man had died--can you imagine the anguish this caused his wife?

Yes, assurance is needed, caring is needed, but a person really should know what the situation is before acting.

In our area we feel we know everyone and feel we are a caring group as a whole! Are we really? Do we really know everyone? That neighbor down the street may be struggling with all sorts of problems we know nothing about. How can we show we care without being "nosey"? For starters, we can give them a smile, an uplifting word, a pat on the back and just let them know we are there for them if they need us! Let's try to be a bit more sensitive to each other's feelings this week.

Onale Grundy has been in Radcliff, Kentucky visiting this winter. While there she had to have surgery. She is still under a doctors care. She, at this time, has received two of the five treatments she is to take. Her address is Onale Grundy, 111 N Deep Wood Drive, Radcliff, Kentucky 40160. I'm sure she would enjoy hearing some news from home along with a card wishing her the best.

Zona Lane has been hospitalized in Silver City, New Mexico since going to visit her son and family. She is now home and doing much better. She would love to hear from her friends here at home. Her address is Zona Lane, % James C. Lane, 25 Lane Rd #9, Silver City, NM 88061-2009.

Pioneer Story

By: Gabby
 In the year 1801, I was riding on wagons with my dad. After supper one day my dad went outside to cut some wood for the fireplace. My dad had lots of wood for the fireplace. I went out to help him with some more. Me and my dad decided to go hunting for more food. We were going on a Friday. The next day we went. I got my gun and my bullets and we went out. We came back home and I had a big deer. And we were very happy.

NEW THINGS TO SEE

Take advantage of one of these beautiful afternoons we have been blessed with, and drive around town to see what is new going on.

Perhaps your first stop should be Lacy's Department Store. The store has a beautiful new facelift. Ceilings, walls, shelves, and post supports have all been repainted in lovely colors. The whole effect is beautiful. Artists were Hubert and Deloris Price, Lacy Shannon, Susie House, and Lisa Price. Great Job!

After leaving Lacy's, swing around by the historic Hotel Turkey. Scott and Jane Johnson have made giant strides in constructing a duck pond. From my observation, this pond will soon be filled with water fowl.

Last, but certainly no least, drive by the Valley Peanut Growers Association. A new storage building is being constructed across the street east from the original buildings.

Be prepared to listen to some big fish stories when Bety House, Mable Morris, Sue Proctor, Beth Mills, and Freida Fuston return from Junction. They have been practicing their angling skills at the House's cabin on the Llano River near Junction. They were also ing a little sight-seeing.

Valley supporters seen at the Jayton Junior High tract meet last Thursday March 26, were Joy Turner, Joanie and Jamie Pigg, Elote Price and son, Teresa Clinton, Donna and Micah Stark, and Rita Guest. The members of the tract team appreciated the support of these spectators.

Caprock Library Notes

By Arlene Hinkle

We continue to receive donations of books and this week, the Guaranty Abstract Office in Silverton presented us with "Caprock Canyon Lands" by Dan Flores.

Mr. Flores is a historical environmentalist whose beautiful photographs capture the serenity of the area, while his thought provoking words jab our collective consciousness. There is quite a bit of information on Valley of Tears, Los Lingos Falls and other local sites. Now available for check-out.

"Texas Trails of the Red River War" by Bob Izzard is available for purchase in the Library. A wonderful opportunity to see these historic sites is available through Carson County Square House Museum on April 11. Bob Izzard will conduct a day long tour--Call 1-806-537-3524 for more information.

Be aware--soon our new library directional signs, which were purchased by the Texas Panhandle Library System (TPLS), will be adorning main street. Hopefully, they will not only point the way for tourists, but also act as memory joggers for local residents.
