New Litter Law Now In Effect

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has a special message for you: "Don't mess with Texas." And if you are a male, between the ages of 19 and 22, a major consumer of fast foods, drink beer and/or soda pop and drive a motor vehicle, probably a pickup, the state is zeroing in on you as a special target. Studies have found that this is the description of the typical habitual litterbug in Texas, and picking up after you and other litterers is costing the state more than $20 million a year. The campaign is being launched in Texas with fines as high as $1,000 possible for wanton and indiscriminate trashing of state highways and other public properties. This time the program has teeth in it, and before year-end every community in Texas is expected to be enrolled in the program.

Already signs are appearing in neighboring towns. In Floydada, Ralls, Lorenzo, Idalou, Leveland, Plainview and others are signs that read, "Don't Mess With Texas, Up to $400.00 Fine

Caprock Camera Club Meets Tonight

Caprock Camera Club will be holding its monthly meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the First National Bank Community Room. Ribbons will be awarded to the winners of the monthly photograph contest and slides will be viewed from the recent Scavenger Hunt.

for Littering," and this time the law has the combined efforts of all city, county and state law enforcement personnel behind it.

Texans will be hearing much more about this state-wide campaign from Johnny Rodriguez and other celebrities who have donated their service to provide anti-litter messages in newspapers, radio, television and other advertising media.

It is hoped that by year-end all Texans will be more aware and will do their part in making Texas a cleaner and more beautiful state.

City Council Passes Litter Resolution

At the regular meeting of the Quitaque City Council a few days ago, it was voted to pass a resolution to enroll the City of Quitaque in the anti-litter campaign that is being sponsored by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation across Texas.

A formal resolution will be forthcoming in the next few days and then Quitaque will join hundreds of other communities

Statewide publicity is being given this concentrated anti-litter effort and stiff fines will be imposed on those who carelessly litter towns and highways across the state.

Turkey Lions Set Day For Broom Sale

Boss Lion Melvin Clinton called the meeting of the Turkey Lions Club to order Tuesday, March 11, in the Bob Wills Cafeteria.

Some items of business discussed and voted on were a tentative date for the annual broom sale, which was set for the first Saturday in May. Lion J. T. Mullin is in charge of this sale. The Lions also voted to get firewood for the Wagon Train the last weekend in May, and to give $100.00 to the Cub Scouts in appreciation of the fine work they and their den leader, Margie Pinkerton, are doing.

The District Lions Convention to be held on April 4 was announced. The sweetheart, Karen Clinton, will be a candidate in the Queen's Contest on that day.

It was also voted to help in the cemetery clean-up day Saturday.

There were eleven Lions present, along with the sweetheart and her guest, Edna Reyna.

Older Worker Week
 Being Observed

Focusing attention on the importance of meaningful employment for senior Texans, Governor Mark White proclaimed March 9 through 15, as Older Worker Week in Texas.

Older Worker Week is an annual event designed to spotlight the valuable contributions of older Texans as productive members of the State's work force. Representatives of the Senior Community Service Employment Programs, Texas Department on Aging and the Department of Labor joined the Governor in acknowledging that senior workers are among our most important resources.

Senior Community Service Employment Programs employ over 3,000 seniors, 55 years of age or older, who provide needed services to non-profit organizations, such as senior centers, local school districts, public libraries and municipalities.

"Older workers possess unique skills and capabilities acquired through years of experience and hard work," said Joe Rankin, president, Texas Farmers Union, "and we support both private and public efforts to provide older Texans with gainful employment opportunities." Texas Farmers Union sponsors the State's two largest older worker programs, Green Thumb and the Senior Texans Employment Program.

Death rates from rheumatic heart disease have declined nearly 76 percent since 1950, according to an American Heart Association estimate. In 1950, more than 22,000 Americans died of rheumatic heart disease. Today, rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease kill about 6,700 people each year, according to American Heart Association statistics.

Farming requires multi-skills

Today, successful farming requires immense knowledge and management skill from American agribusinessmen and women. The three basic "inputs" agricultural production are land, labor and capital. Land is no longer the major production tool. The productivity of the land now depends upon the skill and knowledge with which capital is applied — the use of mechanical power and machinery, fertilizer, lime, better seed, pest control chemicals, and the technology applied to conserve and enhance the land while in productive use.

The total volume of all resources used in agriculture — land, labor, machinery, and supplies — has changed little since 1955.

The composition of inputs, however, has changed drastically as farmers have struggled to be more productive and more efficient. Farm labor inputs have declined rapidly, farm real estate has remained relatively constant. All other inputs, chiefly purchased, have increased rapidly. Purchased inputs are nearly 64 percent greater than in 1955; nonpurchased inputs have declined 40 percent.

The management of these inputs and resources demands increasing skill and knowledge from U.S. farmers. Farming today is a very complex business.

Ag industry big employer

American agriculture employs more workers than any manufacturing industry. Only government and the construction, trade, finance and service industries employ more people than agriculture, and agriculture's role as a purchaser of inputs or supplier of its output looms large in several of those.

Food processing, of course, is highly related to agriculture, as are textiles, transportation and trade — all users or marketers of agriculture's output. Also, agriculture is an important customer of the chemical, machinery, finance, real estate, and service industries.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradley of Dalhart spent Tuesday and that night visiting his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Taylor. On Wednesday, they all drove to Lockney to visit Mrs. Taylor and Mr. Bradley's mother, Mrs. J. T. Bradley. They were met there by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Moss of Anson and Mrs. Leslie Beard of San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hamner and children of Granite, Colorado spent several days visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamner, and with her parents in Petersburg. They returned home on Tuesday.

AGRICULTURE America's Heartbeat
Vital to Us All

U.S. agriculture

Heartbeat of America's economy

At the time of the American Revolution the United States was almost totally agrarian. Ninety percent of our population was engaged in farming and 60 percent of income went for food. Almost all our exports were agricultural products, and the basic structure of society depended on the agrarian economy.

Through time the U.S. agricultural system has produced an increasing abundance of food and fiber, using relatively fewer resources. The unparalleled productivity gains in American agriculture have resulted in a broader choice of nutritious food available for a declining portion of income.

Today Americans spend less than 17 percent of family income on food. Only 3 percent of our labor force is engaged directly in farming. And agricultural products now account for only about 20 percent of total exports. The importance of farming seems to have diminished. But it would be erroneous to conclude that agriculture is no longer vitally important to our economy. The food and agricultural sector — as a source of productivity gains, a user of resources, and a source of employment — remains large and important by any standard.

Increased agricultural productivity, the rise in output per unit of input, has been a major contributor to improved living standards for Americans. Where just 10 years ago one farm worker supplied food and fiber for 47 people, he now supplies enough for 78, up from a mere seven persons at the beginning of this century. Total agricultural output has more than doubled in the past 50 years, though the agricultural land base has not substantially changed.

These increases in agricultural productivity have contributed to the domestic economy by enabling consumers to upgrade their diets at lower cost while simultaneously expanding their consumption of non-food items. At the same time increased productivity has facilitated the transfer of production workers from agriculture into industrial and service industries, expanding the supply of nonfood goods and services, and enabling our economy to meet the new demands of consumers.

The great strides in productivity have been accompanied by major changes in the input mix. From the earliest periods of American history hand power gave way to horsepower then to mechanical power, and ultimately to "science power." New technologies introduced over the past 50 years have resulted in a nearly fifteenfold increase in fertilizer use, a fivefold increase in tractor numbers, and a tenfold increase in tractor horsepower used in farming. Purchased inputs are 2.6 times their 1930 levels and farm labor input only 30 percent of 1930 levels. Farms are larger and significantly more dependent on capital and purchases from the nonfarm economy.

As farming has come to rely more on purchased inputs and less on inputs supplied on the farm, the sector has become more fully integrated with the general economy. Consequently, farming is influenced by and has an influence on the same factors that determine conditions in the general economy.

Annual Ag Day salutes farmers

Thursday, March 20, is AGRICULTURE Day in the United States. Each year, the Agriculture Council Of American Education Committee designates the first day of Spring as a special day to salute the nation's producers of food and fiber.

American farmers and stockmen deserve this special recognition for they make an immense contribution to our country's economic prosperity and the high standard of living enjoyed by Americans.

Any way you cut it, farmers are important to the U.S. and its citizens. Here are a few reasons why:

- Agriculture employs more workers than any manufacturing industry. The flow of farm products — in addition to related dollar purchases and expenditures — requires the services of nearly 23 million people, a full 20 percent of the labor force throughout the U.S. economy.
- Annually, farm operators spend about $131 billion for goods and services to produce crops and livestock. Hence, farmers are important consumers as well as producers.
- American farmers today produce over 76 percent more crop output on the same number of acres than did their fathers. One farmworker now supplies enough food and fiber for 78 people. Only 10 years ago, the farmworker was producing enough for 47.
- The increased productivity and efficiency of American agriculture has contributed largely to a higher standard of living. Today Americans spend less than 17 percent of family income for food compared to 28 percent in 1930.
- Agricultural exports totalled $38 billion in 1984 and generated $80 billion of economic activity in the U.S. economy.

Consumers benefit from farm efficiency

American farmers are efficient producers, a key fact that translates into more buying power for the consumer.

American farmers today produce over 76 percent more crop output on the same number of acres than did their fathers. Today, one hour of farm labor produces 14 times as much food and other crops as it did in the 1919-21 period.

One farmworker now supplies enough food and fiber for 78 people. Only 10 years ago, the farmworker was producing enough for 47.

Because of the farmer's efficient output, we can enjoy a satisfying quantity and variety of food.

And despite recent rises in food prices, family income buys considerably more food today than 30 years ago, partly because agriculture has become much more efficient and partly because consumer incomes have risen faster than food prices.

The tremendous productivity and efficiency in the U.S. food and fiber system also equates to lower food prices for American consumers than others throughout the world.

Farmers are consumers, too

Like everyone else, the American farmer is a consumer as well as a producer. And farmer purchases to support production agriculture alone significantly impact the nation's economy.

Annually, farm operators spend about $131 billion for goods and services to produce crops and livestock.

Farmer's annual purchases include:

- $13.2 billion for farm tractors and other motor vehicles, machinery and equipment. About 150,000 employees are required to produce farm equipment alone.
- $16.4 billion for fuel, lubricants, and maintenance for machinery and motor vehicles used in the farm business. Farming uses more petroleum than any other single industry.
- $22.4 billion for feed and seed.
- $8.9 billion for fertilizer and lime.
- Products containing 360 million pounds of rubber — about 5 percent of the total used in the United States, or enough to put tires on nearly 7 million automobiles.

Floyd County Arts Festival Slated For March 21-22

Floyd County Arts Association's 1986 Spring Arts Festival will be held Friday and Saturday, March 21-22, at Lockney Elementary Cafetorium. Included will be a juried Art Show and two Dinner-Theatre performances of "A Wind Between the Houses," a three-act comedy-drama by Maurice J. Hill.

Adult art entries will be accepted in nine categories: easel work, work under glass, drawing, sculpture, photography, other art forms, Sesquicentennial theme, classwork and designer crafts. The youth division includes elementary ages, junior high and high school in three categories each: two-dimensional art, three-dimensional art, and photography. The public is invited to enter.

All entries will be accepted Thursday, March 20, from 1-8 p.m. without prior registration. Entry fees are $4.00 per adult entry and $2.00 per youth entry. Judges for the event are Candice Keller of Plainview, Judy Kracke of Amarillo and Jack Robertson of Floydada.

A preview showing of entries will be held from 6-9 p.m. Friday for that evening's Dinner-Theatre patrons. The exhibit will be open to the public (free of charge) from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday, when various visual and performing artists will give demonstrations throughout the day. Awards totaling $550.00 will be presented at 5:30 p.m., followed by a second Dinner-Theatre performance at 7:00.

Tickets for the Dinner-Theatre are $10 for adults, $7.50 for students (grades 1-12). Dinner reservations are required by Tuesday, March 18. Tickets will be available at the door for the play only (no dinner) at $6.00 for adults, $3.00 for students.

This event is made possible in part by a grant from the Texas Commission on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts.

For tickets or information, or a copy of the rules governing entries, call 983-3834.

Protection is against polio, diphtheria, lock jaw (tetanus), whooping cough (pertussis). There will be no charge to adults or children needing immunization.

Kentucky was the 15th state to enter the Union.

Texas Farmers Union Opposed to Cuts in Rural Spending

Texas farmers will have to tighten their belts another notch if Reagan's proposed 18 percent cut in the Agriculture Department's budget is approved in his national budget proposals for 1987.

"The administration is going to try to pay for their defense increase by taking funds from agriculture programs that are already at the bottom of the priority barrel," Joe Rankin, president of Texas Farmers Union, said recently.

The budget calls for the 1986 food and farm program, estimated at $4.1 billion to be reduced in fiscal year 1987 to $4.6 billion.

The budget calls for the 1986 food and farm program, estimated at $5.1 billion, to be reduced in fiscal year 1987 to $4.6 billion.

The budget trimming includes commodity price and income supports, farm lending, crop insurance and agriculture extension funding.

"While many rural Texans are struggling to stay above water, the budget proposes to eliminate federal involvement in rural areas by cutting most of the rural development programs," Rankin said. "The Extension Service, which provides education in agriculture, home economics and community development, could lose about 60 employees in Texas alone.

"The national deficit needs to be dealt with, but not to the point of pushing thousands of small farmers off their land," Rankin said.

Briscoe County wheat producers should check their fields now for greenbugs. Recent wheat surveys on the South Plains have shown an increase in these insects with the warm weather of the past few weeks. Generally speaking, greenbug numbers are higher at this time in fields which have not been grazed.

The weather plays an important role in greenbug activity. Mild weather brings about increased greenbug numbers, as they can reproduce readily at temperatures down to 55 degrees. However, below 65 degrees such beneficial insects as lady beetles reproduce slowly, and this situation can result in a greenbug build-up.

Greenbugs damage plants by injecting a toxin into the leaf as they feed. The toxin kills the leaf around the area where the aphid inserts its mouthparts. Repeated feedings can cause the whole leaf to die. Infested fields may have yellow spots appearing where the greenbugs are more concentrated.

These yellow spots can also be caused by moisture stress or nitrogen deficiency. Wheat growers are encouraged to spend some time examining plants and scouting their fields for green-

It's Such a Big World

Some folks say that as we grow older the world grows smaller. Is that because of the wonders of modern communication and transportation? Or is it because when some folks grow older they become preoccupied with their own little orbit of life?

Junior certainly enters life completely preoccupied with himself. But once he begins to walk and talk—gosh how his world balloons!

That's why he needs the religious training our churches provide. His faith must keep pace with his burgeoning world.

And as grown-ups, in worship and Christian devotion, we need likewise the spiritual gifts our churches offer.

For it really is a big world. Full of challenges, opportunities, and promising tomorrows. It always looks that way to a growing soul.

It's easy—when you know the answers

All of life is not far removed from the classroom. There are truths to be learned every day. And there are questions to be answered.

But some people don't have the answer when they need it. And some people do...

Any teacher will tell you it's a question of preparation. And any preacher will tell you the same.

The people who go to church on Sunday have no more problems than those who stay home. Nor do they expect as a result to have any fewer.

They believe simply in preparation—preparation of the mind, conscience, heart and soul... faith.

This is the preparation God offers men... for the questions that will confront us all tomorrow!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to thank everyone for the many ways you remembered me when I had surgery recently. Everything was appreciated.
Mary Jo Barnhill

We would like to thank each one for the help during the illness and death of our loved one. Thank you for the food that was brought to our homes, for the delicious meal prepared and served at the church, and thanks to the ladies who prepared and served it. Thanks to Bro. Jess and the church for the service, to each one in the choir and to Bro. Elgin for leading the music. Thanks to Dorothy and June Johnson for the special in song and to the instrumentalists, Patsy and Cora. Thanks for the flowers, all the memorials, sympathy cards, phone calls, and, also, the ones who helped us out at the hospital, especially Alma Monk, for looking in on Mary Ellen when we could not get up there. Thanks to our granddaughter, Linda, for the same help. Thanks to the ones who bought my meals, and the ones who kept me overnight, but most of all, thanks for your prayers. Thanks to the ones who brought me home when I rode to Lubbock in the ambulance. We love all of you, and may God bless each of you.

We want to thank our friends and neighbors for their visits, calls, cards and prayers since Horace's heart attack and his brief stay in the hospital, and for the helpful deeds and acts of kindness and care since his return home. A special thanks to David and Dianne Brunson for checking on him so carefully, and also to John and Joyce Speer for accompanying Adaline to the hospital and staying with her while he had the Angiogram.
