Have you told a child lately, like for instance your own child, how much you love and care for him? Heaping love and care and praise upon a child is powerful. Everyone needs it and children need it most of all. The need for praise or a show that someone cares is just as basic a need as food, housing or other basic needs of life.

Children crave and enjoy attention, even when it brings negative responses from others. Most have a number of inventive ways of gaining attention, even to the extreme of being unruly at home or school and making failing grades. Who can tell what the effect a little show of love and praise will bring. All parents have experienced moments when it is easier to ridicule or punish than trying to discover the real cause of the child's problems. Just asking "WHY" with imminent threat, is often our way of avoiding the real issue and certainly does not consider the feelings of the child. An element of love and understanding must accompany discipline.

It doesn't seem fair for children to grow through the formative period of life while experiencing little, if any, success. We realize that children do a lot of things right but we often fail to recognize their achievements by giving praise when praise is deserved. The cycle of low self-esteem is perpetuating and will likely carry from one generation to the next until someone breaks the pattern. At any stage of life, love and praise received or given can change our lives and the lives of those around us. With a child, the turn-around can be amazing.

It is sad, almost to the point of heartbreaking, to see children suffer because there is an absence of caring people around them. The abuse is not usually intended but it is sometimes there nevertheless. Children should not suffer because of the insensibility of those who should be looking after their needs. Growth in self-esteem coincides with the increase in approval a child is getting. The child should be given a chance to fail, but we should be there when they try to pick themselves up again. Being wrong or failing is not the end of the world but children sometimes feel frustrated and want to quit when things don't go their way. In dealing with kids' problems, we should be loving, caring, understanding, encouraging, and patient while at the same time using discipline when discipline is called for.

Know something trivial? A group of Valley students sponsored by Celia Johnson is publishing an interesting article each week in the Valley Tribune dealing with trivia questions. The response to the questions relating to our geographical area has been great and we hope everyone will participate.

It sounds like fun and is an opportunity to learn something we didn't know before.

Congratulations to the Valley ag boys who won in the district leadership competition and good luck to them this Saturday in the area contests. All first and second place winners in area will earn a trip to the state contest. These boys have worked and have the talent to go all the way. Mr. Braune, the Valley agriculture teacher, has done an excellent job of preparing his students for the contests. Valley is rapidly gaining the reputation of being a top contest school.

A common question asked by visitors to Valley School is, "How old is this school?" When we respond that we have been in this building nearly 12 years, the next comment is usually, "It certainly doesn't look that old" or "It has been well cared for." We are proud of our campus and appreciate all the favorable comments. Credit for a nice campus goes to a lot of people, but most of the everyday hard work and caring is done by our custodial and maintenance people. Buster Chadwick, Wanda Payne and Augustine Ruiz do a super job.

The Patriots defeated a very fine Aspermont football team last Friday night and won the West Zone Championship. This Friday Valley will play Archer City at Quanah in an 8:00 p.m. game to determine a share in the District Championship and to proceed to Bi-District playoffs. The game promises to be an exciting one, and all fan support will be appreciated by the team. Inside parking will be provided at a cost of $1.00 per car.

Friday night of last week, Homer and Dorothy Dobbins of Durango, Colorado visited in the Wendell Farley home. They were guests for dinner that night and others joining them were Euna Lee Barrett, Danny and Judy, Jana Boyles, A. B. and Marie Ramsey, Jack and Debbie Wellman and children, Jamie, Rich-

There's More To Life Than Football

(Ed. Note: In honor of the friendship that Coach Ted Giddens had for the late editor, Gaston Owens, and the help he has given to both of us over the years, the article which ran in the Amarillo Globe-News is being re-printed in full. Those readers across the nation will be able to share with us in the area, the great little fellow and his continued fight.)

Tuesday we finally get to vote. Thank God, the time has finally arrived to pull the lever. We, the people, are tired of yet another paid for political advertisement. In this election year, my vote goes to Tory Don Giddens.

Haven't heard of him? That's OK, the only party Tory Don will care about Tuesday is his fourth birthday.

Tory Don Giddens is like many at four—he owns a whiffle ball bat, enjoys messing around with the remote control on his dad's television set, and has an older brother, Toby Jack, and a little sister, Tristi.

Tory Don is blond. He hasn't started school yet. His daddy, Ted, is the football coach at Valley High School. He has a pretty mommy named Terri. His smile blows away Webster's definition of cute.

Tory Don loves sports and has strong arms for his age. That's because of his left leg. Since he was a babe of nine weeks, Tory Don Giddens has been in and out of body casts battling pseudarthrosis—a disease which simply means false joint.

Without sounding like a doctor, the tibia—the big bone in the lower leg—of Tory Don's left leg was barely attached in the middle when he was born. Soon the bone would break and grow apart, thus the false joint in the middle of his leg. At best what happens to a youngster with pseudarthrosis is surgery, at worst amputation.

Like any loving parents, Ted and Terri sought advice and found a knowledgeable doctor in Fort Worth—the decision was to put the 11-month-old Tory Don on electrical treatment.

"A guy in New Jersey, one of the only guys in the world researching this disease, had started electrical treatment," said Ted Giddens. "They found that if they could put a bone in that electrical charge, positive or negative I don't know which, it could start healing. They started using this to treat pseudarthrosis. So they tried it on Tory."

Today, Tory Don has crawled most of his life, had a bone graft, and now wears a brace. This, after his brother fell on him and broke his femur. The little guy already has overcome more obstacles than most encounter in a lifetime. But Tory Don still hasn't won the battle—although his eyes will tell you different.

Remember, just to walk is a chore for Tory Don. But in his own special way, the battler has touched the hearts of many.

"One of the things we were told by the doctors was that they couldn't guarantee anything," said Ted Giddens. "But he said with a whole lot of prayer and a little bit of electricity things could possibly work out."

Things have worked out for Ted Giddens on the football field.

He has won 33 of the 37 district football games since arriving at Valley seven years ago. That's what I call a winning coach. He is respected by his fellow coaches and knows his stuff on the football field.

Winning is important to him. Winning is important to everybody. But he has learned to put a perspective on life and football. And now, thanks to Tory Don, his parents—"I could leave, but mamma was always fightin' the battle at home"—know about the love of people.

"My daily walk with God is not as strong or as good as it should be," said Ted. "All my Christian life I've been told to give my hardships to God—let Him take care of them. All my problems until now were problems I could give to Him for half a day, then take them back in the afternoon. My problem with Tory Don, was a problem when I gave it to Him, then tried to take it back, I couldn't solve it myself."

Enter the towns of Quitaque and Turkey. Giddens said, "We were really, really blessed by being in this community when this came up. I will always stand by the people of Quitaque and Turkey. They were here financially and spiritually when we needed it. I will never know how to repay, or even thank, each of them

"You know that's one thing this whole deal has taught me. People are too good in their heart to let any one person bear a hardship by themselves—in our case our family. They weren't going to let us take that thing on by ourselves. No way. I don't know how God would calculate it, but it would be very, very high the number of prayers shot up for Tory Don."

Coaches' kids are supposed to grow up and be athletes, the star of the team, after all their dad is a coach. Tory Don Giddens may never step on a football field with his dad, but he has given him much more than a touchdown ever could.

"I used to not be able to sleep after a loss," said Giddens. "But what is a football season compared to the loss of a leg? It ain't nothing. It's nothing. Tory Don has been a blessing to me and his mother."

Director Of Eye Bank Is Guest Of Turkey Lions Club

Lion Marvin Clifton of the Evening Lions Club in Dumas and a director of the Hi-Plains Eye Bank in Amarillo, was a guest of the Turkey Lions Club at their regular meeting Tuesday of this week in the Bob Wills Cafeteria.

Boss Lion Keith Green called the meeting to order and asked Lion Wayne Lousy to lead the Pledge to the Flag, and Lion Melvin Clinton to give the invocation.

Following a delicious meal served by Faye Armstrong, the club viewed a film concerning the work of the Eye Bank. In October, the speaker said, they received 13 eyes and ten transplants were given. The Eye Bank was opened in 1961 and they have given eyes to 736 persons. They have on file 13,128 donor cards. Their budget had to be raised this year, mostly due to inflation to $18,269.

The film brought out the fact that the gift of sight was the greatest gift in the world. The first successful transplant was done in 1911. The first eye bank was opened in New York in 1924 and there are now 150 throughout the world, sponsored mostly by Lions Clubs.

There were 12 Lions present and guests were D'Anna Smith and Robin Myers, guests of Sweetheart Kaylene Green, Mrs. Roy Patterson, J. C. Woody and Tony Smith of Clarendon, guests of J. T. Mullin.

Mark will be fourteen years old this month. He is very thoughtful these days. Many an hour is spent on the back lawn with watercolors and pad, mostly thinking or dreaming.

Boundless curiosity is his, and "why," a certain response to every answer he receives. Besides painting, he likes to hunt, swim, golf, read, and putter in the basement with test tubes. Only recently, girls have been included with rifles and missile shots as a favored topic of conversation.

He talks about God, too. In his pursuit of answers to the universe, he instigates family discussions that range from ethics to eternity, from atoms to apple cores.

It's small wonder that I thank God daily for His Church and its teachings. Its truths help me answer with assurance the questions Mark asks in his search for understanding.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Den I Scouts Attend "History Day at the Ranch"

On October 27, 1984, Den I made a field trip to the Cottonwood Mott Line Camp for a "History Day at the Ranch."

Henry, Lee Roy, Manuel and Joe Wayne met at the Pinkerton home at 7:30 a.m. Chad was a guest of Miss Jones for the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Pinkerton, Vera Ruth, Tommy and the boys traveled by car to the Ranch Line Camp.

On arrival, the group watched as some burros were hitched to a wagon and then they were witnesses to a runaway by the burros. The driver and wagon were nearly turned over at one point in the runaway.

At the ranch house, the group heard the story of one of the shoot-outs that took place there. The group were then seated in the back of a pickup and were driven to the "half dugout ruins." Traveling to the dugout with them was Jack Robertson, a photographer who was reared in Silverton. Robertson had been asked to the ranch to take pictures of the day's activities. He took a picture of the local Scouts down in the dugout ruins.

From the dugout, we were taken back to near the ranch house to a Comanche Campsite to hear a tale told by Wayne Parker and to see some of his Indian artifacts. Tommy was taken and dressed in an Indian costume to show the Indian dress and various headdresses.

A group of Black Powder Club members from Lubbock had their powder guns and gave an interesting demonstration which the boys enjoyed. The group had an authentic teepee set up which everyone was able to go into.

At the chuck wagon, everyone sampled the food. The boys were not too fond of the son-of-a-gun stew, but they loved the jerky.

We had carried a sack lunch and went to a roadside park near the ranch entrance to eat. The wind was blowing so hard we could hardly eat.

On our way home, we drove through Matador so that the ones who had not seen the damage done by the tornado, might get a glimpse of it.

We had hoped to have our picture back from Jack to accompany this story in the newspaper, but will let everyone see it as soon as we get it back.

NOVEMBER SCOUT NEWS

November 6, 1984, Den I met in the Scout Room. Those present were Chad, Tommy and Lee Roy. These boys are working in four areas of the Webelos book. These are Art, Citizen, Music and Religion.

The boys made a mobil mini Pterosaur from construction paper. Each boy is to make a notebook and write a paper on "What It Means To Be Created Equal." We discussed our National Anthem and as we were getting ready to sing it, Sandy Fuston dropped in to visit. We gladly let her be our leader for the song.

New Denner for this group is Joe Wayne Fuston.

Those who have aluminum cans or green stamps need to get them to me this week so that I can take them to Plainview.

November 11, 1984, Den II met from 2-4 p.m. Those present were Danny, Kyle, Jason, Bobby and David. The boys met at the Pinkerton home and completed their "Our American Heritage" activity.

We discussed the important people of different nationalities and races and the things they did to help improve our American way of living. We discussed old homes in and near Turkey and places of historical interest near Turkey. We drove out to the Memphis cut-off and visited the marker there and walked around the remains of the old country store. The boys have visited other historical markers at other times and they had already learned their state bird, tree and flower.

The final part of this activity was a discussion on our national holidays. As this was Veterans Day, we all told of veterans that we know, then we each took small bouquets of mums and other flowers from my flower bed and drove to the cemetery. There Kyle led us in the Pledge of Allegiance, and Jason led the Scout Promise. Each boy chose the grave of someone who had been a veteran and placed flowers there. Jason—Roger Arnold; Kyle—Leottis Montgomery; David—Lt. Dennis Coker; Danny—Jack Hutton; Margie—Mick Cotten; Bobby—Eugene Gibson. We walked around the cemetery and found other markers of veterans. We discussed how grateful we are that men and women have served in time of war so that we can have the freedom we enjoy today and hope always to enjoy.

feet high. The baptistry is used for a huge planter box. Mrs. Meacham said that her daughter had toured the home and it was fantastic. Her granddaughter wrote a research theme about the home and this was what Mrs. Meacham used for her talk at the club.

The hostess served finger sandwiches, potato chips and pumpkin pie with whipped cream along with hot chocolate and coffee to Mmes. John Adamson, George Gafford, R. C. Green, Nadine Baisden, Roy Patterson, Paul Robertson, Mayme Blume, Lurline Walker and Ella Colvin.

The next meeting will be the Christmas meeting on December 13 at the home of Mrs. George Gafford.

Mrs. Ella Colvin and Mrs. Otho Stubbs of Turkey attended the meeting of "We the Women" in Quitaque Monday.

Mrs. Paul A. (Jan) Ramsey drove to Sweetwater Saturday and attended the twenty-fifth reunion of her graduating class of Roby High School. She also visited her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Stone and daughter, Amber. She returned home Sunday evening.

Guests in the home of Mrs.

Una Lee Barrett and children, Danny and Judy, from Saturday morning through Sunday were Miller and Eloise Walker of Roscoe, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hatfield and family, and a friend, Tonya Turner, of Amarillo.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Lottie,

Thank you for your gift in memory of Homer.

I started an endowment fund at Pan American University which will provide a scholarship each year in his name.

I added your gift to that fund. Since Homer was an educator, I thought this was a fitting way to honor him.

The article in the paper was nice and the picture was better than the one in McAllen. They plan to run an article and picture about the scholarship this week.

Thank you for caring!

Love, Ruth

(Ed. Note: Several from Quitaque sent memorials at Homer Morris death to his wife, Ruth. I am sure each one received a personal letter, but we thought there might be friends and relatives across the U. S. who take our newspaper who might want to contribute occasionally to the scholarship. This is a nice memorial.)

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hunter, pictured on Sunday before Labor Day 1984. Mr. Hunter was born here in 1922.

Hunters Observe 65th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hunter of Quitaque were honored Saturday, November 3, with a reception from 7:00 until 9:30 p.m. at the Community Center in Flomot in observance of their 65th wedding anniversary. Hosts for the occasion were their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hunter of Flomot. Their granddaughter, Anita Hunter of Garland, presided at the punch service. The table was covered with a golden cloth with a lace edging and was centered with a beautiful autumn floral arrangement of large chrysanthemums in shades of gold and brown. Assorted cookies were served with fruit punch. A lace cloth over green covered the table which was centered with the coffee service.

Granddaughter Susan Hunter of El Paso registered the guests. The registration table with a mauve colored candle surrounded by autumn colored foliage also displayed a photograph in a wooden frame of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter at Galena, Arkansas, the homesite where their only child, Wayne, was born. In a gold colored frame the Hunters' names and marriage date (November 2, 1919) was written in calligraphy by Janette Moss of Decatur, Texas, completing the lovely decor.

Their grandson, David Hunter,

his wife and two great-grandsons, Ross and Gregory, of Midland were unable to attend.

Hunter and Adaline Young were married at her home in Galena, Howard County, Arkansas on November 2, 1919. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Joe Jacobs. Hunter rode 10 miles on horseback to Gillham, Arkansas where he boarded a train and rode about 10 more miles to DeQueen, Arkansas to get the marriage license. About a year after their marriage they moved to Oklahoma, catching a train at Gillham and eventually disembarking at Wapanucka, Oklahoma. About a year later, in November 1921, they returned to Galena, Arkansas in a covered wagon. Their son, Wayne, was born at Galena on November 25, 1922. In the fall of 1923 they boarded a train at Gillham, Arkansas for Estelline, Texas where they were met by Adaline's father, John R. Young, and rode on to Turkey on a flat-bed model-T truck, arriving there October 8, 1923. In the spring of 1924 they moved onto the U. F. Coker farm 2 1/2 miles west of Turkey where Horace farmed with horse and mule-drawn equipment. Adaline helped with some of the farming chores, raised chickens and turkeys, kept house and did all of the cooking. Horace started working at a cotton gin in Turkey during the fall and winter of 1925. He worked at that same gin (later in the '30's called the Gregory Gin) for 18 years. In the spring of 1930, Horace, Adaline and Wayne moved to the Buck Crump farm in Motley County on the south side of the North Pease River and east of the Barton schoolhouse, farming there for three years.

In the summer of 1933 Hunter began learning to blacksmith at a salary of $1.00 per day. He worked eight summers for Guy Smith in the blacksmith shop. He never earned more than 40c per hour until he went to Odessa in 1936 and worked for Sunshine Iron Works slinging a 16-pound sledge hammer helping the blacksmith dress cable tool oil-well drilling bits. Here he earned 60c per hour.

In January 1943, Hunter was inducted into the U. S. Army and in February 1943 Horace and Adaline moved onto the Adamson farm northwest of Turkey where they farmed, ranched, milked seven or eight cows and sold cream and butter. For recreation during World War II days, Hunter spent many nights in the breaks country near the farm listening to his fine pack of wolf-hounds chase coyotes. In the summer of 1947, Hunter was hired as manager of Farmers Co-op Gin in Quitaque. He managed the gin for 12 years during which time he was able to pay off much of the Co-op's preferred stock and much of the long-overdue dividends. He also got a new gin built as well as a delinting plant and some labor housing. Then he bought into a gin at Dimmitt and operated it for one season. In the spring of 1961 he sold his interest in the Dimmitt gin and bought the Spears Gin at Flomot, operating it for 11 years. In 1973, Horace and Adaline moved from Flomot back to Quitaque where they still garden, keep a beautiful yard and he commutes to Flomot to work on his little ranch.

Through the years, Adaline has been a true helpmate, working in the fields, helping with the cattle or working in the gin office while gardening, canning, cooking and keeping an immaculate house wherever they lived.

Those attending from out of town were grandson Randy Hunter and a friend, Margaret Grennell, both of Canyon, Joe Terry of Garland, Lee Seymour of Turkey, Mr. and Mrs. John Speer of Floydada, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Hardgrove of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. John King, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Price, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wilson of Quitaque, and many friends from Flomot.

The couple wants to thank all their friends and relatives for all that was done to help make their anniversary complete. They especially thank their children and grandchildren.

Where the Fish Are

Granddad loves to fish. Secretly, I think he likes to talk about it equally as well. He spends hours with his friends arguing the pros and cons of "angling." The other day I overheard a lengthy controversy about the best place to fish. Granddad ended the whole matter with these words of wit and wisdom, "If you ask me, the best spot to fish is out there where the fish are—so let's get going!"

This special brand of humor greatly appealed to all of his friends and it remained in my mind long after they had left. It seemed to answer those nature lovers who claim that they can worship God out of doors as well as in church. For certainly, the best spot to worship God is where God is.

Worship means not only moments of adoration and praise but also thoughts channeled toward God. The Church has the living presence of the Lord and inspires spiritual thoughts through hymn, prayer and litany.

Yes, the best place to lift up the heart is in the house of God.

Little Miss Ham Takes First Airplane Ride

Mrs. Ross Herrington and granddaughter, Traci Ham, flew to Austin Friday, November 2, to visit Patsy's children and Traci's aunts and uncles, Lisa Herrington, Lex Herrington, Kim and Ron Eudy. This was a long promised and much anticipated trip for Traci, 3 1/2, and also her first plane ride. They were met at the airport by Lex Herrington, who is a senior at The University of Texas this year. Soon joining them at his apartment were Lisa, Kim and Ron. Ron had learned only the day before that he had passed his bar exam, so this was indeed a time of celebration!

Friday night all went out to eat at The Magic Time Machine, a restaurant where all the waiters and waitresses dress as animal characters with decor to match, much to Traci's amazement. That night they stayed with Lisa at her apartment. Lisa lives with her cousin, Traci Mayfield, formerly of Silverton, and is employed by Bill Clayton of Austin, former speaker of the House of Representatives.

Saturday morning was spent shopping at a mall with Lex, Kim and Lisa. They also went to see Kim and Ron's new home which they are expecting to move into shortly. That afternoon the girls all went to see Alvin and the Chipmunks at the Erwin Civic Center. This was a live musical extravaganza, and Kim, Lisa and Patsy enjoyed it almost as much as Traci. That night they spent the night and all had dinner with Kim and Ron. Lex also brought along his friend and roommate, Walt Simmons.

They returned home Sunday, November 4, and were met at the airport by Ross Herrington. They both report a wonderful time, and Traci was elated!

Mrs. Chlorene Melton watched her grandson, Danny Trout, play football in the game between Childress and River Road Friday night. Danny, a senior in Childress High School, was among the seniors recognized at the game.

HALL COMMISSIONERS MEET, BUY GRADER, SET FEES

Bids were opened by the Hall County Commissioners Court last week for the purchase of a motor grader during a special called meeting of the Commissioners Court.

The Hall County Commissioners accepted the bid from Catepillar which was $48,000 based on the quality of the product, longevity and resale value. Other bids were from Champion for $45,350 and Fiat Allis for $39,300.

According to County Judge James Chappell, the Commissioners in other business adopted a new schedule of fees for the District, County and J. P. courts in the county. Judge Chappell said court fees have not been raised since 1976.

In County and District courts the fee charged has been raised to $40.00 for the following: citations, citation by publication, citation by posting, citation seire facias, all writs and order of sales, all restraining orders, show cause and notice of hearing, delinquent tax suit, trustee sale, subpoena-civil or juvenile, subpoena duces tecum and forcible detainer.

Fees for Justice of the Peace and Small Claims courts include: citation, $30.00, citation seire facias, $30.00; distress and peace bond warrants, $40.00; forcible detainer, $30.00, all injunctions, $40.00, subpoena-civil, $30.00, subpoena duces tecum, $30.00, all writs and order of sales, $40.00, temporary restraining order, $40.00.

The new fees will take effect on January 1, 1985 and will remain in effect until further orders of the County Commissioners Court.

MIXED DRINK TAXES RETURNED TO CITIES, COUNTIES

State Comptroller Bob Bolger recently sent checks for $11.6 million to 221 counties and 425 cities as their third share of the state's 10 percent mixed drink tax collected through October 1, 1984.

The Texas Legislature has approved the rate to 12 percent, effective October 2.

Bullock said the state collected $40.4 million in taxes on mixed drinks during the quarter, up 8.5 percent from the same period in 1983.

In Briscoe County, the county tax revenue was $2,990.40, with the county's 15 percent remittance amounting to $448.56.

Silverton's total city tax revenue was $1,474.12, with the city's 15 percent remittance amounting to $221.12. Quitague's tax revenue total was $1,516.28, with the city's 15 percent remittance being $227.44.

Senator Sarpalius To Hold Education Forum Saturday

Senator Bill Sarpalius announced today the scheduling of an "Education Forum" to discuss the recently passed Education Reform Act and other education issues in preparation for the upcoming regular session of the legislature.

"With the recent implementation of House Bill 72, the school reform law, and House Bill 246, the curriculum reform law, we are keenly aware of the various problems and misconceptions that have arisen throughout the educational community with respect to these two comprehensive Acts," the Senator said.

Prior to the recent special session, Sarpalius met with a number of teachers and administrators to discuss the recommendations of the Select Committee on Education. Additionally, he invited all teachers and administrators to a forum to discuss these proposals. Unfortunately, attendance was poor when this forum was held.

"We understand that the Education Reform Act is not a perfect document; in fact, there are certain provisions in the Act that we opposed, specifically with respect to competency testing and inadequate funding of the proposed career ladder program. It is our intent to rectify these and certain other issues in the upcoming regular session of the legislature," the Senator added.

"With a goal of the best possible education for the children of Texas, we are again seeking input from the educational community so that we may work together to fine tune the Education Reform Act," the Senator remarked. Sarpalius said that he and his staff have traveled throughout the Panhandle in order to solicit the advice and opinions of experienced teachers and administrators. He added, "Sadly, it is impossible to meet with all ninety school districts of the Panhandle in the short time remaining before the next regular session."

Senator Sarpalius said he plans to hold a forum at 3:00 p.m. Saturday, November 17, at Caprock High School in Amarillo.

All concerned parents, teachers and educators, as well as the general public, are invited to attend.
