CAPITOL COMMENT

U.S. SENATOR
KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON

Aviation Security

These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly; it is dearness only that gives every thing its value. Heaven knows how to put a proper price upon its goods; and it would be strange indeed if so celestial an article as freedom should not be highly rated."

That was written by the American revolutionary Thomas Paine in his pamphlet "The Crisis" to inspire the Continental Army as it fought for freedom and independence. It is as true today as it was 225 years ago. As we maneuver our way through this unimaginable time that tries our souls, freedom is even dearer.

Our world is a different world now. Ever since September 11th, everything has changed. Yet some things will remain the same: Americans, and our leadership, are still strong. With heavy hearts for those who lost their lives, we will go on. We will keep our nation strong, our economy strong, and our spirits strong.

We began work immediately after the horror: when the President spoke out forcefully about our will and resolve; the FBI and CIA immediately began tracking suspects; the State Department reached out to other nations to build a coalition to stop terrorism; and, here at home, the Defense Department called up reservists to help patrol our airports and our air space. In addition, the FAA banned all knives on airplanes and increased security in airports across the nation.

This issue of aviation security is of particular interest to me, and one on which I have long been working as the ranking member on the Aviation subcommittee and a former vice chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board.

One of our key priorities is to restore the public's confidence in air travel as quickly as possible. Therefore, in the days immediately following this tragedy, I introduced legislation to expand the air marshal program, wherein trained, armed security officers would be assigned to passenger flights to help ensure our safety. This program would free our pilots to concentrate solely on their job - flying. I have already seen peace officers on some flights - detailed from other law enforcement agencies - but we need to make this a permanent and organized effort.

I believe that federalizing all aviation security functions is an important step in that direction. Currently, security is the responsibility of the airlines - who have different concerns and priorities besides national security. Our transportation security must be a priority, with the focus, coordination and influence that having a dedicated federal office would give.

That is why I am introducing legislation that would completely revamp aviation security, and place baggage security screeners and federal air marshals under one umbrella. We will institute a higher performance standard for our security practices and personnel, including extensive background checks, as well as more rigorous training that would result in a stronger, more consistent security system in our nation's airports.

Currently, airport security is a mishmash of private security firms employing low-paid workers with a staggeringly high turnover rate. To attract competent, dedicated people who can ensure our safety, I firmly believe that airport security needs to be a career, not just a temporary minimum-wage job.

We will fortify the cockpit in the aircraft. We are also upgrading the equipment used to screen passengers and their luggage to the new state-of-the-art technology available.

A columnist recently wrote, "The World Trade Center isn't the place where our intelligence agencies failed. It is the place where our imaginations failed." Until September 11th, we believed nothing like this could ever happen on our lands. That sense of security has now been shattered, but our spirit has not. We will institute new security measures. We will defend our citizens, - and we will defend our freedom.

NEWS OF AND ABOUT VALLEY SCHOOL

Patriots Split Battles Of The Undefeated

It was the week of the undefeated teams as the Valley Patriots played the Groom Tigers and the JV Patriots played the Ira Bulldogs. The Patriots were able to split the games with the Varsity taking a tough loss at Groom and the JV winning against the Bulldogs in Jayton.

The second ranked Tigers jumped to an early 13-0 lead after a roughing the punter call and a fumble hurt the Patriots.

"We had some early momentum," Coach Tyler said. "But after we held them, the penalty gave them another shot and then we were driving when we fumbled"

Clif Yearly scored on a 7 yard run to make it 13-8 before the Tigers scored again to make it 21-8 at the half. "We had our chances," Tyler said. "Coming out of the half we weren't in that bad of shape, but then the wheels came off."

The Tigers scored 34 second-half points. Justin Lucero scored Valley's only points of the second-half on a kickoff return after Groom tried the onside kick.

Coach Tyler had high praise for the defensive play of Wes Henson and Robert Mendoza after the game.

"Our defensive ends were outstanding," Tyler said. "Robert Mendoza was amazing."

While the 55-16 loss is a setback, Coach Tyler is quick to point out that the team's goals are still attainable.

"This doesn't change much," Tyler said. "Our goal is to reach the playoffs and we can still do that if we take care of business the rest of the way. We are still a good football team. The Groom game didn't take away our confidence, it just made us realize that we have some work to do."

On Thursday the JV traveled to Jayton for a matchup with the undefeated Bulldogs of Ira. The Patriots were able to win a tough game by a sizable margin, 44-18.

"The game was a little closer than it looks," Coach Clay said. "They were good and they had opportunities to be right in it. We just came up with the big plays."

Four of those big plays came from Fidel Valdez who scored 4 touchdowns to run his season total to 21. Juan Mendoza and Kellen Roberts also scored touchdowns, and Valdez and Daniel Alanis kicked the extra points.

"Well, again Fidel was big, but Kellen was huge for us," Clay said. "He got the tough yards early when we weren't getting them from anyone else."

Clay also credits Roberts for the Team's defensive success.

"He played great at linebacker," Clay said. "We also got nice defensive play from Albert and Robert, and of course, Anthony and Adam were tough like usual."

Robert Valdez came up with an interception to end an early scoring threat by the Bulldogs.

This week the JV will join the Varsity team in the Homecoming game against Hedley.

The High School Varsity Cheerleaders keep spirits high during the pep rally.

Junior High Patriots Continue To Roll

The Valley Patriots once again dominated an opponent as they beat the Groom Tigers 45-13 last week.

Kevin Ortiz scored two touchdowns to lead the scoring barrage for the team. Cody Barrett, Charlie Walden, Fernando Regalado, and Rueben Ramos all scored touchdowns for the Patriots.

"This was a game where we played a lot of kids at different positions and it worked," Coach Ramsey said. "Barrett got work at Tailback and Kevin got some snaps at Quarterback."

Defensively, the team was led again by Walden and Regalado.

"You just don't run towards Charile," Ramsey said. "He is an animal out there."

This week the team will face the Hedley Owls in Hedley.

Rodney Fuston received the Varsity Big Hit award for the Miami game.

Albert Espinoza autographs the Big Hit board for his performance during the Ira Junior Varsity game. Adam Ortiz was also awarded a JV Big Hit.

Cagle Davis entertained at the Junior High pep rally by singing the Groom Tiger fight song "What's New Pussycat?"

Cotton News

By Shawn Wade

from Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Focus of Legislative Efforts Shifts To Senate

With passage of the Farm Security Act of 2001 the efforts of Plains Cotton Growers, and many other organizations, are shifting to a new somewhat unknown battlefield-the United States Senate.

How a hurting U.S. agricultural sector will fare in this atmosphere is unknown. Early indications have been less than encouraging. Both Senate Agriculture Committee Chairman Tom Harkin (D-IA) and Ranking Minority member Richard Lugar (R-IN) have indicated their preference for support programs delivered through conservation programs.

One potential scenario that could come into play involves the tremendous diversity of opinion that exists in the Senate regarding farm programs. That could bode well for the House Bill. The House's Farm Security Act contains a good balance between traditional farm programs while putting additional emphasis on conservation, food and nutrition and trade programs administered through USDA.

In addition to the Senate's stance regarding new Farm Program legislation the Bush Administration is also gearing up to become involved in the development process in the Senate.

Secretary of Agriculture Ann Veneman, in comments made earlier in the week, has indicated the Administration will work with the Senate to craft a Bill more to their liking.

Both the Senate and the Administration have noted their resistance to direct support of family farmers. Instead they have embraced the notion of pumping more money, well over the 80 percent included in the Farm Security Act, into conservation programs.

The theory is that this will both revitalize rural communities and keep farmers in strong enough financial position to offset historically low commodity prices. The reality is that without a reliable, predictable safety net to protect against price downturns U.S. agriculture is on the brink of a major meltdown.

The position taken by the Administration and the Senate Democrats underscore the very real disconnect that exists between the people that grow food and fiber and the people that consume it.

Because they seem to be paying little or no attention to the serious nature of the current situation, the effort to inform the staff members from the Senate Agriculture Committee and USDA will be formidable.

By studying the issues for over two years and evaluating what policies have proven effective and which have not, the House Agriculture Committee committed itself to developing a balanced and fair program that would protect America's agriculture interests and critical infrastructure.

The goal of PCG, the National Cotton Council and others is to get the Administration and the Senate to listen to the feedback gathered by the House.

Farmers of all sizes are more than willing to invest in conservation programs and practices that protect, the air, water and land. The only problem is that unless they have the ability to maintain a positive financial situation, the realities of survival will mean putting conservation and other issues on the back burner, no matter what programs are offered.

TASS Survey To Provide Applicator CEU's

The Texas Agricultural Statistics Service (TASS) has initiated its annual Cotton Objective Yield Survey and accompanying chemical use questionnaire. This year's survey includes an additional benefit for participation.

Growers who receive the survey packet and return it will qualify for one CEU in Laws and Regulations from the Texas Department of Agriculture to apply toward their private pesticide applicator's license. TASS and TDA teamed to offer the additional CEU to encourage wider participation among growers.

The survey is used to help track pesticide use trends. The survey's results are also a key component in the policy development process.

The Eotvos unit is used in geophysics to measure the change in the acceleration of gravity with horizontal distance. The unit honors the Hungarian physicist Roland von Eotvos.

According to Dutch merchants, during the 17th century the Chinese so valued the herb called sage that they would trade three chests of tea for one of sage.

Quitaque Post Office Offers New Convenience To Customers

If you have been to the Quitaque Post Office recently you may have noticed a large locker that has taken up residency inside the front room.

I was confused so I asked Tammy Salinas, Post Master, what in the world it was. Turns out it is a Parcel Locker.

If you receive a package that is too large to fit in your box usually you have to wait until the Post Master is there to pick it up, well not anymore. If your package is too big for your box and will fit inside the new Parcel Locker you are in luck. A key with a number on it will be placed inside your P.O. box. You can then use the key in the appropriately numbered locker, bottom lock, and retrieve your package. Any time of the day or night, even weekends!

The key will remain in the box lock, the Post Master will remove it after you have picked up your package. NOTE: The Key cannot be removed after the Parcel locker is opened, this may cause it to break if it is forced.

This is an added service your local Post Office provides to make getting your mail just a little easier.

The original five Ringling Brothers of Circus fame were named Albert, Otto, Alfred, Charles and John. They started their first traveling circus in 1884. Two other brothers, Henry and August, joined the Circus later in the 1880s.

Walk Across Texas Is Over!

Last week (October 7-13) was our 8th and final week of Walk Across Texas! Everyone has gone above and beyond to incorporate fitness and exercise into their lives. The winner and other rankings will not be revealed until the Celebration and Awards Activity which will be held on Monday, October 22 at 6 p.m. at the Briscoe County Courthouse.

Safe Halloween Costumes

With Halloween close by, people are trying to decide which costume they will wear, but it is important to keep safety in mind, especially for children. They need to fit well, with extra room for warm clothing underneath in case it is cold. But, the costumes should not be flowing. Flowing garments can catch fire from candles and jack-o-lanterns, so costumes should be flame retardant as well. Costumes should be light in color or have reflective strips so children can be seen at all times. Make sure children do not cross the street without reflectors and supervision, and as an adult, be sure to drive slowly in neighborhoods. Masks are okay, as long as the holes around the mouth, nose, and eyes are large enough not to restrict breathing or vision. Wearing the mask on the top of the head, then pulling it into place as each house is approached is a smart idea. And, don't forget comfortable shoes. Children will be walking a lot and the experience could be ruined if their feet hurt.

Cooking With Pumpkins

The pumpkin patch yields more than just jack-o-lanterns and holiday pie filling. The festive gourd is really quite, versatile. Half a cup of pumpkin gives you a full day's supply of Vitamin A. Pumpkins are also low in calories, as long as you don't plopp a heaping spoonful of whipped cream on top. Fresh pumpkin can be substituted in recipes that call for winter squash or sweet potatoes, and are delicious in puddings, custards, and soups. You can also cut them into chunks and steam them with salt, pepper, and nutmeg, or mix them with apples, pears, rhubarb, and other fruits and vegetables. Pumpkins taste good with rice in a casserole, and you can make the seeds into a snack by roasting them at 375 degrees for twenty minutes. For cooking, select smaller, five to eight pound pumpkins. They can last through the winter if you store them in a cool, dry place.

First Homecoming Set For Valley High as Patriots Host Mustangs

Valley High will host the Wheeler Mustangs Friday night at 7:30 in its first actual homecoming game. A game was designated last year as homecoming but since Valley high had not had a class to graduate since the two schools consolidated, that game was a homecoming of graduates of Quitaque and Turkey. Now that VHS has graduated a class of students, this one can be an official homecoming game.

Pre game activities Friday night will include the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. This is scheduled to take place between 7:00 and 7:30.

Fans are urged to try to get to the game a little early in order to see the crowning of the Queen.

There will be a big pep rally and bonfire at the Valley School Thursday night and it will be staged around 7:30, between performances of the Fisher Bros. Circus, which will present two shows Thursday, the first at 6:00 and the second at 8:00 p.m.

Everyone is urged to attend the big pep rally and bonfire and help get the Patriots "up" for the effort against the Mustangs Friday night.

Cherri Brown, Juana Cotten, and Jane Duncan were the three candidates for Homecoming Queen.

Miss Jane Duncan was chosen Homecoming Queen and Brian Wheeler was chosen Football Hero.
