

White - Merrell Wedding Solemnized In Wellington Church Ceremony

Wellington Church of Christ was the scene for the wedding of Miss Jan White and Warren Lee Merrell, Friday evening, July 30, at eight o'clock. Officiating the double-ring ceremony was the minister, Gaylord Cook.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. P. J. White of Wellington, and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Merrell of Quitaque.

Miss Beth Smith of Wichita Falls was maid of honor. Miss Teresa Patterson and Miss Tanya White, cousins of the bride, Miss Jo Beth Merrell, sister of the groom, Mrs. Walter Campbell and Miss Kathy King were bridesmaids.

Jerry Merrell was his brother's best man, Rod White, brother of the bride, and David Pigg were ushers. Bobo Morrison, Ray Taylor and Billy Mac Farley were groomsmen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length gown of angel-skin peau de soie, designed with a fitted bodice overlaid with queen's lace, outlined in seed pearls. Her wedding train was a fitted wrap-around detachable sanctuary train outlined with seed pearls. She wore a matching headpiece, with chapel veil extending the length of the train. Her bouquet was a slim cascade of feathered white carnations with white roses and stephanotis atop a white Bible belonging to her paternal grandmother, from which floor-length satin picot ribbons with love knots extended. She wore her maternal grandmother's wedding ring, and in her slipper for luck, a penny with her birth year.

The maid of honor wore a floor-length gown of pink crepe with empire waist outlined by elegant lace entwined with chiffon, with headpiece of pink velveteen ribbon and bridal illusion. The bridesmaids wore floor-length gowns of purple crepe with empire waists outlined by lace entwined with chiffon. Their headpieces were of purple velveteen ribbon and bridal illusion. Each attendant carried a nosegay of orchid and purple asters with floor-length satin streamers of orchid and purple. The flower girls, little Misses Lesa Rae White and Lavonda Thomas, sister and cousin of the bride, were dressed like the maid of honor. The candlelighters, Misses Renee and Shauna White, cousins of the bride, were dressed like the bridesmaids. Ringbearer was Pat White, brother of the bride.

The wedding vows were read before the altar, centered with arched 15 branch candelabra with cathedral tapers. On either side stood spiral candelabra holding cathedral tapers and pedestal baskets of pink and orchid gladiolas. The aisle was roped with white satin bows and white lace bells twined with ivy. Mrs. Paul Schaub, Mrs. Larry Waters, Mrs. John Thomas and Miss Elaine White of Wellington sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Twelfth of Never." The guests were registered by Miss Cathy Cox of Wellington and Miss Regina Pigg of Kress, who also served at the reception.

A reception followed the wedding at the Heritage Room in Wellington. The table was laid with a white cloth having a net overlay, caught up at the sides with orchid and pink satin bows. Silver and crystal appointments were used, with the bride's bouquet as centerpiece.

Following the reception, the couple left for a trip to points in New Mexico and Colorado, after which they will be at home in Quitaque.

The bride is a graduate of Wellington High School, and attended Clarendon Junior College. She was County Farm Bureau Queen, District I Farm Bureau Queen, Clarendon Junior College Rodeo Queen and Miss Wellington.

The groom is a graduate of Quitaque High School and of West Texas State University, where he received his BS degree in biology and his commission as Second Lieutenant, U. S. Army. He is currently in the U.S.A.R. Armored Division, Fourth Army, following his graduation from Officers Basic at Fort Knox, Kentucky in February 1971. While in college, he was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity and Scabbard and Blade military fraternity. He is now associated with his father in business and farming in Quitaque.

Mrs. Mary Perkins returned home Sunday from a two week visit with Mr. and Mrs. Hoy Darling and family of Nashville, Arkansas. The Darling family returned her home. Mrs. Robert McElroy and children visited with Mrs. Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Meacham of Lubbock visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Lipscomb, during the week.

I clipped the following item from a church bulletin because its heart-searching message bears repeating:

When a sports fan declares the church seats are too hard and uncomfortable, but will sit for hours on a bleacher in a drizzling rain to watch 22 men push one another back and forth across a muddy lot—who is he kidding?

When a penny-pincher claims he can't afford to give much to the Lord's cause, yet lives very comfortably in a nice home, drives an expensive car, eats well, clothes his family in the latest style, and on occasion even makes an extra payment on his house—who is he kidding?

When one says he has no time for Christian activities, but spends hours window-shopping, bowling, watching TV, playing cards, and having social evenings out with his friends—who is he kidding? SURELY NOT GOD!

You may seek to excuse yourself for failing to grasp life's fleeting opportunities for spiritual blessing and service, but do you think your alibis will have the ring of truth when you must give an account of yourself under the searching eye of the Lord?

Change your way of living and avoid the sin of making hypocritical excuses.

USDA Sets Uniform Contract Storage Rate For CCC Cotton

The standard contract storage rate under Commodity Credit Corporation's storage agreements will be 60c per bale per month in 1971-72, it has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The current $1.50 per bale standard rate for delivery or out-handling is unchanged.

Effective August 1, 1971, the new uniform storage rate replaces the rates which were last adjusted on August 1, 1968. Those rates were 55c per bale per month for flat cotton in a warehouse not operating compress facilities and 50c per bale per month for all other cotton. Eliminating the rate differential conforms CCC contracts to generally prevailing commercial trade practice, USDA officials stated.

USDA studies indicate that storage costs have increased since 1968 when storage rates last were adjusted. The new 60c rate will bring the cost of storing CCC cotton more in line with charges for storing other stocks of cotton, USDA reported.

A concurrent change will materially reduce the amount of compression refunds being made by CCC. The new CCC cotton storage agreements prohibit the payment of standard density compression charges by buyers of CCC cotton if such cotton also is compressed to high density prior to or at the time of shipment from the warehouse. The new provision is intended to minimize multiple compression on the same bale of cotton. CCC has been refunding the standard density compression charge to a buyer of CCC cotton if he has paid both the standard and high density charges on the cotton and exports such cotton. Since buyers will not have paid standard density compression charges to

Two Changes Authorized In Emergency Drought Programs

President Nixon, after consultation with Secretary Hardin, has authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to make two changes in the emergency drought assistance programs to make more hay available in certain drought areas by eliminating reductions in price support payments to farmers.

Under the Livestock Feed Program, applicants will no longer be required to file a financial statement when applying for feed and hay transportation assistance. In view of the importance of prompt action on applications, and since the application form includes a certification of need signed by the applicant, the financial statement which required added time and work is being eliminated.

Haying or grazing of irrigable set-aside and Cropland Adjustment Acreage in counties designated as emergency drought areas by the Secretary of Agriculture, will now be permitted without charge. In contrast to non-irrigated set-aside acreage on which haying and grazing has been permitted without charge since April 22, payment reductions had been required on irrigable set-aside acreage. Further, the Secretary directed that this revision in the rules is to be retroactive to the beginning of this emergency period. This will provide some increased income to farmers in the emergency counties in the drought area. (Programs relate to some 200 designated counties in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona.)

Fewer Farms In United States Today

There were 2.9 million farms in the United States in 1970. This is a decrease of 2% from the 1969 figure and a 26% decrease for the past decade.

Individual farms are getting larger due to mergers but the total amount of land in farms has decreased somewhat due to urbanization and highway construction.

Production of farm goods went up 20% since the beginning of the last decade, gross farm income went up, but net income went down $3 billion.

Freight Rates Are Lowered for Briscoe

Nine additional drought-plagued counties in Texas are now eligible for lower freight rates on incoming hay following a request filed by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng and approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

These counties are Briscoe, Concho, Deaf Smith, Falls, Limestone, McLennan, Moore, Runtell and Sutton.

Because of the drought in the Southwest, hay and other forage crops are in extremely short supply. In response to previous requests by USDA, the ICC has taken action permitting railroads to lower rates on hay on one day's notice in 11 counties in Arizona, 23 in New Mexico, 13 in Oklahoma and 155 in Texas. A request for relief to three counties in New Mexico is still pending at the ICC.
