Dear Friends:

It has occurred to me that you might like a closer look at Frank Phillips College, and how I see the college and its place in American Higher Education.

College education today in many institutions of higher education is becoming more and more impersonal. It is standardized, mass produced, effi-cient and cold. The emphasis is on knowledge itself, with little relation to human values. The student does not experience the personality of the teacher because they are strangers

On the campus of Frank Phillips College, education begins with a deep interest and respect for each individual student. Those qualities which make each of us unique, and, therefore ourselves, may be our outstanding talent. To develop the talents of our students has always been the primary reason for our being.

Frank Phillips College stresses the pursuit of sound values as well as the pursuit of Frank Phillips College upholds sound moral standards as well as academic standards.

Frank Phillips College expects responsibility from every student.

We oppose those who want neutrality on values and morals, and who want a student life in which responsibility is not asked. We have no place for this philosophy in our halls and on our

Kim Ham Tells of Trip To Camp (Conclusion)

We went to Sante Fe on Monday norning on an all day shopping spree. We mingled with the In-dians shopping for souvenirs. We had a special Mexican supper that

Tuesday evening was banquet night. Many of the camper's parents came down.

Awards were given for the tournaments. Five-year sweaters were given to a few of the girls.

The next day we all started for come. I surely will miss Camp ngs with livesock is eligible for nembership in the Association. Davis, but I was glad to be at home with my family. Through Camp Davis I had an opportunity to make many new friends and have a lasting experience that I will remember always. Kim Ham

> (Ed. Note. Kim won the letter vriting award for receiving the nost mail of all the 55 girls atending camp. The editors also sor of "twisted the mothers arm" and ound that Kim won but didn't want to mention for fear others would think they were bragging. She won Best Camper Award, and
