District Play Ended Tuesday with Valley Hosting Hedley

The Valley girls hosted Silverton Tuesday night last week and took that one pretty readily. The game was tied 10-10 at the first bell; Valley was behind at halftime, 23-24, and went ahead 36-33 at the end of three periods of play and the game ended 56-45 in the Lady Patriots' favor.

Those who got into action were Fulbright with 3 field goals, 6 free shots for a total of 12 points. Sandy Price dropped in two field goals for four points. Brittain hit seven field goals and seven free shots for 21 points. Johnson hit five field goals and three free shots for 13 points. Devonna Smith hit one field goal and one free shot for three points. D'anna Smith also hit one field goal and one free shot for three points. Others seeing action without scoring were Calvert, Green, Hewett, L. Price, Morrison and Maupin.

On Friday, February 1, the girls went to Lakeview and beat that one. The game was tied 8-8 at the end of the first quarter, 21-14 at halftime in the Lady Patriots' favor, and 32-26 at the end of three periods and 44-38 at the final buzzer.

Fulbright was high scorer with five field goals, six free shots, and a total of 16 points. Sandy Price hit one from the floor and totalled two points. Morrison took a free shot and made it good. Brittain hit five from the field and one free shot for 11 points. Johnson hit two from the field and one free shot for five points. Devonna Smith hit two field goals and a free shot for a five-point total.

The Valley Patriots hosted Silverton and that one was not much contest. At the end of the first period of play, the Patriots were ahead 18-8; at halftime it was 34-13; at the end of three quarters, 52-23, and the final score was 68-36.

Clardy hit five from the field, four free shots for 14 points; Silva hit one field goal for four points. Williams hit four field goals and three free shots for a total of 11. Saul hit six from the field and two free shots for a total of 14. Cox hit three from the field for a total of six. Beavers hit one from the field, Taylor hit two free shots and Martin hit one from the field and one free shot.

tions were announced, the Farmers Union and others have sent a deluge of protest to Congress and the IRS critical of the proposals.

"If the Federal government really wants to get more income tax dollars out of farmers," said Moeller, "they should give us a farm program that allows us to make a profit. When farmers are losing money, they aren't paying income taxes no matter how much bureaucratic red tape they have to dig through.

"The proposed regulations on farm vehicles were symbolic of this Administration's attitude toward farmers. We hope Secretary Baker follows through on his commitment to exempt farmers and ranchers."

Texas Farmers Union members at their recent state convention in Houston had voted to push for the exemption of farm and ranch vehicles from the new regulations.

Friday, February 1, and took that one easily. Valley was on top 16-11 at the first bell; 38-17 at halftime; 55-23 at the end of three quarters, and 71-44 at the final buzzer.

Clardy hit six from the field and took a free shot. Williams hit eight from the field and one free shot for 17. Saul hit one from the field and one free shot for a total of five. Morrison hit six from the

TFU Chief Optimistic On IRS Rules Change

Mike Moeller, President of the Texas Farmers Union, said today that he is pleased that the Internal Revenue Service appears to be backing off from their recently announced record-keeping regulations for farm and ranch vehicles.

Early last week, Treasury Secretary-designate James Baker indicated that the IRS, yielding to pressure from the Farmers Union and other agricultural associations, would rewrite their new rules which require extensive paperwork to exclude most farmers and ranchers.

Moeller, who farms in Hays and Guadalupe counties and serves as Chairman of the Board of the National Farmers Union, said that TFU would want to closely examine the rewritten regulations when they become available before deciding whether to push for additional relief. Since the proposed new regula-

New Insight Offered By "Blind" Volunteer

"Nick" was one of the more hostile residents of Horace Mann Community Treatment Center. He "didn't want nothing from nobody."

So he didn't mind letting anyone know that he definitely resented being assigned a literacy tutor who was legally blind. As far as "Nick" was concerned, that was one more put-down in a young life that had already been full of nothing but reverses.

That was before Henry S. (Hank) Bailey, the tutor who serves under Tulsa Metropolitan Ministry's volunteer program at the center, began exerting his influence on "Nick's" life.

Mr. Bailey is the brother of Bud Bailey of Quitaque. He is a former Quitaque resident and finished high school in Quitaque in 1932. He joined the Air Force in World War II and spent most of his years of service in Iceland after he completed his flight training.

"Hank came every Tuesday and Thursday," said Linda Baughman, TMM's volunteer director. "He was so dependable, caring and concerned that "Nick" not only learned to read but a lot of Hank's philosophy rubbed off on him. By the time "Nick" left us, he was a changed young man, with a new outlook on life."

Mr. Bailey came by that philosophy the hard way. A native of Texas, he has lived in Tulsa since 1948, and been a lead mechanic and instructor, with an A and E license, for American Airlines.

Late in his career, Mr. Bailey was stricken with hystoplasmosis, a disease that affects the eyes.

"When vision in the first eye went, I didn't think too much about it, but when the second was threatened, it really struck home to me," Mr. Bailey explained. "The hardest blow came when I learned, all in one day, that I faced legal blindness and immediate retirement."

Hating to go home and tell his wife, Mr. Bailey left American "and drove for miles, in the direction of Arkansas or Missouri, while I tried to get hold of myself."

"I went through all of what has been identified as the classic reactions to grief or death—"Why me?" denial, anger, fright—until I finally hit what for me was submission, telling myself I would have a good retirement, with a wife and family who would not stop loving and caring for me. Then I could go home and face my wife with the news."

Despite the convincing arguments to himself about a "good retirement," there have been many bumps and curves in the road, Mr. Bailey has found.

A telling one has been loss of identity, after he became merely Henry S. Bailey and no longer an engineer-instructor for American Airlines.

"Transportation is one of the most difficult problems for any retiree, especially a legally blind one," Mr. Bailey believes.

"The first time I needed to have my hair cut, I couldn't simply hop in the car and drive to the barber shop. It's only two blocks from our home, but trying to walk there was one of the most terrifying tasks I have ever undertaken."

The Allie Beth Martin East Regional Library is also only a short distance from Mr. Bailey's home, but he hesitates to walk there since he has learned that one can't count on motorists paying as much attention as they might to push-button signal lights or pedestrians with white canes when they appear unexpectedly on busy through streets such as Garnett Road.

"I've appealed twice to city

officials to back the handicapped in a group mutual pay-as-we-go transportation arrangement," Mr. Bailey said, "and been rebuffed with statements that my proposal would only undermine existing bus and taxi services."

Mr. Bailey tried a variety of courses in efforts to learn to "read" though blind, and found the most helpful a woman who taught remedial reading at Tulsa Junior College, and the Tulsa City-County Library's literacy instructors.

That combination "and some $2,500 spent on optical appliances" have brought Mr. Bailey to the point where "under a very strong light and in certain positions" he can read well enough to undertake courses in psychology and English literature at the University of Tulsa.

The library literacy instruction led him to volunteer to teach. His work at the community treatment center is probably as beneficial to him as to his students, Mr. Bailey said, since it provides some schedule for his days and the satisfaction of helping someone who needs it.

Mrs. Baughman has no need to recruit additional volunteers, she said. "I wanted to do this story merely to praise the great ones we have."

Regardless of the motions held concerning H.B. 72 is having on education, we must understand that most of what is happening for education. We tend to criticize negatively on issues which perhaps five percent of the whole legislative package forget about the other five percent.

As time goes along objectionable issues are refined, we will find Texas and the children will profit in the long run. Greater time and effort to academies is already in classrooms across the state and students have an understanding that more effort will be expected of Sports and other nonacademic activities will be curtailed to some degree but will remain an essential part of student life.

The state legislature is long with most of the constitutional education issues but I believe we will be well satisfied with the H.B. 72. Although the legislation will probably leave most bills unchanged, there are key questions which will draw its attention. It will tackle an expensive issue which limits more than 22 students per classroom in the lower elementary grades. It will look at changing kindergarten classes from full day to half day and perhaps change the mind on requiring schools to provide education to four-year-olds. Another issue which is likely to receive a lot of attention has to do with an attempt to back on the cost of vocational education.

Everyday classroom routine often produces some of the creative and interesting results. The students usually do work in order to get a good grade but in the process create something which is refreshing and enjoyable.

Mrs. Tiffin's class of English freshmen students was re-given an assignment to write a paragraph describing a "condition" or a "scene." Two of the students, Craig Setliff and Billy Robison, wrote excellent paragraphs which are printed here for everyone to enjoy.

The only thing dogs and cats have in common is that they have four legs. Dogs really are great pets. They are companions and some are playful. If I am bored, outside and play with my cats on the other hand are for nothing. They shed all over the house and scatter the furniture. Dogs guard their master and his house. If anyone outside, dogs know it and bark at them. I've seen a cat bark or growl to protect anyone's house. Ask me, dogs are the best.

The Superintendent's Corner

by Wilburn Leeper

Regardless of the many opinions held concerning the effect H.B. 72 is having on public education, we must understand that most of what is happening is good for education. We have a tendency to criticize and dwell negatively on issues which comprise perhaps five percent of the whole legislative package and forget about the other ninety-five percent.

As time goes along and the objectionable issues are acceptably refined, we will find that Texas and the children of Texas will profit in the long run. Greater time and effort devoted to academics is already evident in classrooms across the state and students have an understanding that more effort to learn will be expected of them. Sports and other nonacademic activities will be curtailed to some degree but will remain an essential part of student life.

The state legislature is grappling with most of the controversial education issues but seem to be well satisfied with the core of H.B. 72. Although the legislature will probably leave most of the bill unchanged, there are some key questions which will receive its attention. It will tackle the expensive issue which limits no more than 22 students per class in the lower elementary grades. It will look at changing kindergarten classes from full day to half day and perhaps change its mind on requiring schools to provide education to four-year-olds. Another issue which is likely to receive a lot of attention has to do with an attempt to cut back on the cost of vocational education.

witness the marvel that occurs when good dedicated teachers and their students come together. During the time of observation I found Mrs. Rothwell teaching first graders a difficult concept of adding two columns in math while the third graders in Mrs. Pigg's classroom were gaining experiences in working with fractions. In yet another math class, Mrs. Scrivner was teaching sixth graders to expand their math skills by learning more about rounding off numbers. The fifth grade class under Mrs. Jones was expanding their knowledge in science by studying about "cells."

Valley boys and girls basketball teams have won the district championships for the sixth straight year. The last year either team lost the championship was the 1979-80 school year when Nazareth was the winner. The boys have not lost a home game in six years and only two games in the last seven years. That's quite a record for Coach Adams and Valley basketball.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pierce and Mrs. Chlorene Melton made a business trip to Memphis Wednesday of last week and drove on over to Hollis, Oklahoma to visit a sister-in-law, Mrs. Inus Brecheen, who is in a rest home. They also visited with her daughter, Mrs. Grady Cope.

Camera Club To Meet In Quitaque February 14

Don't let people with big cameras make you shy. Pocket cameras have many advantages over the 35mm type. With a disc or 110 type camera you can take faster pictures of those situations the kids or grandkids always manage to create.

Remember the camera does not make the picture; people decide what is in the picture. The Kodak slide show will help everyone learn about taking more interesting pictures. Designed for both beginning and advanced picturertakers, the program urges you to keep your camera with you and ready at a moment's notice. Combining exciting and unusual pictures with easy-to-follow camera-handling hints, this show is fun filled and instructional.

A few of the many topics discussed are the selection of film for various situations, suggestions on using lighting effectively, focusing, and subject control. All the topics included in this program can be applied to any camera.

No matter what type your camera, 110, disc, instant, or 35mm, you can benefit from the program offered by the Caprock Camera Club February 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room at First National Bank in Quitaque. Give it a try.

In the late 1800s every able-bodied male was required to work on Texas roads a specified number of days each year. Today, highway construction and maintenance are the responsibility of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Prevent Falls For Older Adults

Anyone can fall, but older adults are more likely to take a tumble and suffer injuries as a result.

Most older adults fall at home doing everyday activities at floor level—not on stairs or from heights. The falls are often caused simply by tripping over low furniture, rugs and clutter on the floor.

"Older adults fall more frequently for several reasons," says Dr. Judith Warren, a gerontologist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economics program.

"Body changes that occur with aging contribute to falls. Eyesight is not as sharp as it once was, and bifocal or trifocal glasses can give the elderly a momentarily distorted picture when changing fields of vision," she explains.

Coordination and balance also change during the aging process, Dr. Warren says. "The body doesn't react as quickly, posture changes and older people don't lift their feet as high, which contributes to tripping and falling."

According to the gerontologist, simple, easy exercises can improve coordination and muscle movement for older adults. And rather than limiting their activities because they fear falling, Dr. Warren suggests that older adults take some common sense precautions to prevent mishaps:

- Store things so excessive reaching is not necessary. Don't climb on chairs to reach high places. When extended reaching is necessary, use a sturdy step stool with handbars.
- Choose well-fitting and comfortable clothes, including shoes. Proper fitting shoes give good traction on floors, while walking in slippers or stockings often causes slips on floors and stairs. Clothes with large sleeves and flowing skirts can easily catch on furniture and also cause a fall.

- Install grab bars in the bathtub, shower and next to the toilet to aid in body balance when moving. Tubs and showers should also have slip-proof floor surfaces.

- Add a low-wattage bedside light so that it is not necessary to walk in the dark. Even when the room is very familiar, the possibility of a fall increases with darkness.

FAD DIET PROMISES

How can you tell a legitimate weight-loss plan from a fad diet? Here are several phrases commonly used to promote fad diets. When you see them on books, diet foods or other weight-loss products, beware!

•"Fast and Easy Weight Loss." It may be fast and easy, but it won't be permanent. This usually means that water and muscle mass are the initial losses instead of fat. These sudden losses can harm your health and the pounds will eventually return.

•"Magic Diet Food." There is no magic diet food. Going on a one or two-food diet simply starves your body of the nutrients it needs. After your body uses up stored nutrients, your health begins to decline. If you lose weight, it's because you cut calories, not because of a special food.

•"Secret Formula Revealed." The secret is that it's unresearched and untested by nutritionists and medical experts.

•"You Don't Have to Move a Muscle." Exercise is absolutely necessary for sustained weight loss. It helps you preserve your lean body mass, lose fat, and keep your metabolic rate up so you'll burn more calories.

•"Melt Fat Without Hunger." If you eat because you're hungry, this is just avoiding the problem. Dieters need to understand hunger and cravings and make some changes in lifestyle habits to deal with them.

•"Eat All You Want." Follow this advice and you'll gain weight. Eating all you wanted was what led to the original weight gain. A legitimate weight loss program will help you learn to eat in moderation.

•"Lose Without Effort." You may have probably worked hard to accomplish many things in life. Why should losing weight be any different?

A fad diet makes promises like these, but it won't deliver. You may lose a few pounds and feel like you've gotten something out of it, but in the long run, a fad diet will only disappoint. A legitimate weight-loss plan includes a nutritious, balanced diet, regular exercise, and help in making lifestyle and behavior changes.

Thanks for all the lovely cards; they meant so much; all the phone calls, the lovely flowers and gifts, the visits, and the food. Most of all for your prayers and loving concern. May God continue to bless each of you.

The first Texas Highway Department tourist bureaus were established in 1936 to aid travelers planning to attend Centennial events and to stimulate additional travel within the state. Today the department operates ten tourist bureaus at key entry points along State highways, the Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center at Langtry, and the State Capitol Visitor Center in Austin.

Safety is no accident. The Texas highway department is one of the few in the United States that invested more than $1 million in highway safety construction.

There are more than 70 thousand miles of designated highways in the Texas highway system, of which nearly 41 thousand miles are Farm-to-Market Roads.
