War Plant No Place For Union, An Aircraft Employee Tells His Fellows

DALLAS, Feb. 26.—A war plant is no place for a union, any more than is the Army or Navy, North American Aviation workers were told in a circular signed by an employee of the big aircraft plant and widely distributed Thursday as voting started in the runoff election of a collective bargaining agent.

The circular, headed "Our Last Chance to Think," was signed by C. B. Hunt, worker in the bomber plant, Department 7, and holding badge No. 542. Hunt said he is bearing the expense of getting out the circular.

Workers Deciding.

Workers in the production and maintenance departments are deciding whether they want the United Automobile, Aircraft and Implement Workers Union (CIO) as their representative or no union. Balloting began Thursday and will continue through Saturday. At the first election, the Congress of Industrial Organizations Union led, but failed to get a majority. Those favoring no union were second in that balloting.

Hunt in the circular said working conditions are good, pay is high and that he was not content to sit idle any longer and "be made a party to contributing $25,000 to $30,000 every month hereafter and be handcuffed, chained and gagged for the duration."

"Until now, we have only heard the side of the CIO because that side has had plenty of money and a big reason for trying to get votes," the circular said. "Our side, having no money, has done no advertising. If it ever is done, some individual has got to do it."

The circular follows:

Last Chance to Think.

"If we employees of North American vote this time without thinking, it is all over. For quite some time we have been besieged with an avalanche of vote-getting propaganda in the form of rank misleading statements, claims and promises. It is human nature for the crowd to follow the big noise when nothing is said to the contrary. Until now we have heard only the side of the CIO because that side has had plenty of money and a big reason for trying to get votes. Our side, having no money, has done no advertising. If it is ever done, some individual has got to do it. I am not content to sit idle any longer and be made a party to contributing $25,000 to $30,000 every month hereafter and be handcuffed, chained and gagged for the duration. My pay check already looks like a bulldog has chewed it. Rather than consent to having another hunk taken out of it for the purpose of enslaving myself, I am going to the expense of getting this circular out, which is more than I can make back in several weeks. All I ask and hope for in return is, that when you read this, you try to show a fellow employee that he is flirting with danger by voting carelessly.

"Strike Only Power."

"The CIO has said a lot of things that it knows better than anybody were wrong. The only power a union really has is to strike. Our government will not allow nor will the public tolerate a strike at North American. The National Labor Relations Board will pass on and control everything in a war plant. Unions are all right in their places, but a war plant is no place for one any more than in the Army or Navy. Most of us came out here seeking a privilege of doing something to help win the war. The war is costing us millions of lives, billions of dollars and trillions of sorrows. We are standing it for the sake of freedom. Are we going to turn right around and ask CIO to take our working freedom away from us and pay them a big price to do that? Seems odd, doesn't it? Well, CIO will take the money.

"What is wrong with our working conditions? Most of us are drawing better wages than we can get anywhere else or ever drew in our lives. Everything possible has been done for our comfort and pleasure by the company that I know of and it would likely continue such a policy unless a union disrupts things. Nobody is being overworked. Everybody seems happy and friendly. It is often best to let good enough alone. It would be food for thought if the union had even a slight chance to do us any good, but there is no chance, and serious danger would lurk ever ready to pounce on us at an unexpected moment. Let's remain good friends.

"So, my friend, think it over and let your conscience be your guide.

"I am your friend,

"C. B. HUNT."

4100 SIGN RATION BOOK TWO

Registration for Ration Book Two by people of Cisco and this area, which got under way at the high school Thursday morning, is progressing nicely and 4,100 had signed up at 3 o'clock this afternoon, said R. N. Cluck, school superintendent. Mr. Cluck said the total would reach 4,500 by night.

Registration closes at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Forty teachers are performing the work, in two shifts—8 to 2 o'clock, 2 to 8 in the evening. The registration has moved along smoothly since the start, Mr. Cluck commented, but he suggests that registrants can save time for themselves by calling between 5 and 8 in the evening, when there has usually been a lull.

BIG 3 TO START HUGE DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—President Roosevelt will inaugurate the 1943 war fund drive of the American Red Cross with a radio address over all major networks Sunday at 3:15 p. m., Cisco time.

Participating in the program with Mr. Roosevelt will be Red Cross Chairman Norman H. Davis, from Washington; Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, from Allied General Headquarters in North Africa, and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet, from "a Pacific war theater."

An address by Wendell Willkie before 20,000 persons at a Red Cross rally in St. Louis, will be broadcast at 8:45 p. m. over the Blue network.

Churches throughout the nation will join in observing "Red Cross Sunday." Voluntary solicitors will work to collect a minimum of $125,000,000 during March, which the president has proclaimed "Red Cross Month."

REDS MARCH ON.

MOSCOW, Feb. 26.—The Red army tightened its arc around the German bridgehead in the north-west Caucasus today with the capture of Stanozheteblievskaya, 35 miles northwest of Krasnodar, while mud, blizzards and desperate Axis counter-attacks to the north slowed the Soviet advances toward the Dnieper and Orel. The Soviet forces in the Caucasus broke into the district center of Stanozheteblievskaya last night and street fighting continued until dawn, when the occupation was completed.

HOT-FOOTERS RACING FOR TUNISIAN COAST; BERLIN CLAIMS 4,000 PRISONERS, 235 TANKS

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Feb. 26.—American and British forces, striking toward the flank of a German army retreating from the Kasserine Pass, have gained between 10 and 15 miles in the Sbiba area, and it appeared today that part of Marshal Erwin Rommel's troops were racing for Sfax on the East Tunisian coast.

The gain in Sbiba section was made by Allied patrols which apparently were trying to get astride the road to Sfax in a bid to cut off Axis forces before Rommel could extricate them from their predicament.

A dispatch by Phil Ault, United Press correspondent with American forces in the Kasserine Pass, said it was believed by front-line officers that Rommel had chosen two main lines—of retreat—eastward toward Sfax and southward toward Gafsa. The squeeze on the German-Italian forces may force them to abandon Feriana, Gafsa and Sbeitla, it was said.

The vital Kasserine Pass was firmly in Allied hands and a headquarters communique said American and British forces now held high ground northwest and southeast of the gap.

(DNB, official German news agency, admitted the Tunisian defeat in a back-handed manner. It said in a broadcast that offensive operations in the central Tunisian mountains had "been concluded" and claimed that the Axis forces had taken almost 4000 prisoners and captured or destroyed 235 tanks.)

The Allies also were active far to the north in the Bou Arada area where they made a raid that inflicted casualties on the enemy and resulted in the taking of prisoners.

Rommel was using his familiar tricks in trying to cover his retreat. The Allied communique reported that the road through the Kasserine Pass had been heavily mined and American and British combat teams proceeded slowly to avoid traps.

In one week, the entire picture has changed in Tunisia. Rommel, who a few days ago seemed to be about to break through and roll up toward the northern Tunisian coast, now is caught between the Allied army on the west and the British Eighth Army to the south. British Eighth Army patrols were intensely active along the Mareth line—usually a sign that Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery is ready to strike.

The Allies appeared to be getting ready for a grand smash through the air at the Axis' Tunisian positions. All signs indicate that the American and British pilots now have definite superiority and yesterday, according to the communique, they razed over the entire Tunisian front.

Heavy and medium bombers from the mid-east attacked Gafsa and the Mareth Line, Flying Fortresses, escorted by Lightnings and Spitfires, started fires in the cock area of Bizerte. Two enemy fighters were shot down by the escorting planes.

American Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Allied commander-in-chief, and Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, his deputy, were on the battlefield when the Americans and British began sweeping the Axis forces back.

After conferring with Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredenal, who was in

WAR DEPARTMENT NEEDS SHOT GUNS

At a meeting of the American Legion at Legion Hut Monday night war department bulletins were read to the members by Post Commander H. N. Lyle regarding the need for 12-gauge shot guns for army use in training, wing shot and guard duties, thus releasing many rifles to the army.

Owners are to get in touch with their gun dealers regarding what they might like to dispose of. Prices range from $30 to $42.50, according to the bulletins.

The government thinks that since more than 1,000,000 shot guns have been manufactured and sold during the past 10-year period, it should be easy to secure the guns needed for training purposes, especially since shot gun shells, tires and gasoline have been rationed for the duration.

For further particulars, one should consult the local post commander or any member of the American Legion.

SHAMEFUL SITUATION.

SEATTLE, Feb. 26.—Thousands of aircraft workers who produce the fearsome Boeing Flying Fortresses returned to their jobs today in an atmosphere made tense by union leaders' threats of general work stoppages in this and other plane producing centers unless the war labor board speeds a decision on their long-standing wage dispute.

active command, Eisenhower and Alexander returned to headquarters.

Observers at headquarters believed there would be another lull in central Tunisia before either side was ready for a new move—and the new move was expected to be the Allied nutcracker blow to drive the Germans and Italians into the sea.

ABERDEEN-ANGUS OFFICERS.

Members attending the annual meeting of the Texas Aberdeen-Angus association at Hotel Texas, Fort Worth, Thursday night re-elected the following officials: Tommy Brook of Camp San Saba, president; Arthur McArthur of San Antonio, Mrs. Lee O. Gowdy of Jacksboro and Sutton P. Crofts of Cisco, vice presidents, and Ed Brewster, Jr., of Temple, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Crofts was also elected to the directorate.

FOUR DELUSIONS.

Col. Willard Chevalier, publisher of Business Week magazine, told an audience of advertising men recently that America labored under four delusions before the war, and still to too great extent entertained the same ones.

"First, we belittled the economic resources of the enemy. We thought Germans war-weary and bankrupt, Japan too insignificant to worry about."

"Second, we thought we could not be attacked in our own homeland. But every time we go to the garage for our car, a toothy little Jap is there to tell us how far we can drive. In every oil-burning basement sits a Nazi storm-trooper warning us how much fuel we can burn. We've been attacked in our own homes."

It might be added that a Nazi submarine captain tells us how much sugar and coffee we must do without—not to mention bananas.

"Third, and this false notion most of us still hold, we believe that our high standard of living must be maintained. I say extravagance must be curtailed if we are to keep this country, which our fighting boys and girls have left in our custody, as they want to find it when they return."

"Fourth, we thought we could improvise a military machine. We could drum up an army of trained fighters in short order, we boasted. Well, we've been at it two and a half years and our armed forces are just beginning to square off for action."

It is evident that Americans must cast off delusions and get down to facts.

COURAGEOUS CHINA.

Has any other great nation ever preserved its nationality for so long a time, against such great obstacles, as China? Reduced to a mere trickle of normal life, industry and trade, and all the other things that make an operative commonwealth, with two-thirds of her useful territory gone, her natural resources nearly all in the hands of the enemy, her sea front closed, and fed militarily with mere bits of fighting stuff brought to her by air as Elijah of old was fed by the ravens, China fights on.

It might be said, to use a biological term, that China is a "low order of life," therefore with great natural power of survival. That is, the political, social and economic organization of the Chinese people is far simpler than in western countries. Cities, towns and villages are more loose and independent, less tied together with a thousand forms of life and activity than our own communities. Roads are few. The people are more primitive, nearer to the soil, more self-contained. Even so, there has been very great suffering, with millions dying of disease and starvation and ten of millions suffering from lack of food, clothing and shelter.

In character and talent the Chinese are inferior to no nation. With their enemies swept out and their natural energies released, and modern tools and methods available, the Chinese might rise to greatness and power. They have as much to give western nations as the latter have to give them.

RUSSIA AND AMERICA.

Goebbels, the Nazi press agent, says in a broadcast to the world that is intended especially for American ears: "What would England and the United States do if the worst happened, and the European continent fell into the hands of the Bolsheviks? Is London trying to tell Europe that such a development would come to a halt at the Channel frontier?"

It is a clever effort to arouse the old fears of the democracies regarding the "Russian Peril" and to cool British-American cooperation with Russia.

There was a time when the democracies might have taken this bait. But Britons and Americans, while as firm as ever in their democratic faith, know what is going on in the world. They know that the Russian "reds" have modified their Bolshevism in recent years and stopped their meddling propaganda in Britain and America, and so far, at least, in this present war, have fought with military weapons instead of ideology.

While the Russians continue this correct policy the democracies very properly fight alongside of Russia, because Hitlerism is a far greater peril to the free world than Stalinism. It is the obvious way for democracy to save itself in a time of peril. And the free world today owes a great debt to Russia. But there are no ties between the two nations except those of friendship and temporary expediency. When the crisis is past, each will gladly go about its own business.

HENRY'S MYELINATION.

Have you ever wondered why Henry Aldrich is the way he is? Dr. Louis J. Karnosh, professor of neurology, Western Reserve University, has it all figured out. It seems that there is no use trying to overstuff the brains of a child. The brain grows rapidly but matures slowly. Some specialists in these matters think that a human being does not achieve judgment and balance before he is 25 years old. Teaching a child as fast as he can reasonably learn is important. Trying to teach him too fast does not do any good and may do harm.

"Only the parts of the brain insulated by the myelin sheath can function," said Dr. Karnosh to the International Council for Exceptional Children.

Myelination, or formation of the myelin sheath, is only two-fifths completed in the brain of a child of nine, and four-fifths at 17. The last part of the brain to become myelinated is the fore-brain or frontal lobes. It is in these lobes that it is determined how much of a person's total activity will be directed by cool, rational deliberation, tolerance, restraint of ego, and how much by feeling, impulse and impetuosity.

"Henry, Aldrich, egocentric adolescent, is the way he is because myelination has not yet taken place in his frontal lobes."

In commenting on it, Mr. Robertson stated that this is the largest quota ever assigned to this community, but believes that the citizenship of the Rising Star area will go down in their pockets and get it. He says that this community has never failed on a Red Cross quota.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Gibson, of this city, have learned that their son, Weldon Gibson, has been given a commission as Lieutenant, Junior Grade, in the U. Mexican Guayule Production Helps Solve U.S. Rubber Problem

The semi-arid plains of north central Mexico abound in wild rubber-bearing guayule shrub. Here native Indians gather the shrub that will eventually find its way into the war effort of the United Nations.

This interesting device is the scale on which the shrub is weighed at the guayule camp. Upon the weight of the shrub depends the amount of money the workers get for their efforts.

After weighing, the shrub is pressed into one hundred pound bales by means of this ancient baling machine. The General Tire and Rubber Company plans on introducing modern American methods to replace the system which has been in use since the guayule industry got its start 50 years ago.

Steep mountain paths and barely broken trails are followed by the ox carts as they wend their way from camp to the nearest pickup station where trucks collect the bales for delivery to the mill.

Here the shredded shrub is being placed in old-fashioned rotating drums where one step in the separation of the rubber is accomplished. To increase the production of rubber for use in the American War program, the General Tire & Rubber Company has announced plans for a guayule project in Mexico and will erect an extraction mill in the heart of the guayule area in the state of Coahuila.

Here is pictured a pile of the 50 kilo square sheets, ready for shipment. Guayule is real rubber, not a synthetic, and the guayule shrub contains a greater percentage of rubber by dry weight than any other known plant, according to General chemists.

HIS QUOTA.

Just before a recent North African battle was begun, the commanding officer shouted, "The Germans are coming men, but we're outnumbered 4 to 1, so do your stuff." Old Joe, a Kentucky mountaineer, began to blaze away but in about five minutes he stopped and leaned his rifle up against a rock.

"What's the matter?" asked the officer.

"Well, I got my 4," replied old Joe.

Canucks and Yanks Fly Wing to Wing Guarding Alaska

High over the great mountain ranges of Alaska speeds a flight of R.C.A.F. Kittyhawks, ready to meet in the air anything the Japs may send against the shores of this northern outpost of the continent. Each day the aircraft of Canadian and United States forces cover many miles over dangerous mountain country and the lonely waters of the northern Pacific. In the case of a large scale invasion of North America by the Japanese it is probable that these aerial fighters would be out in front to bear the first shock. They have already clashed with strong forces of the Jap and bombed his outposts on a number of occasions.

THE United States and Canada—two nations which have long shown the world an example in how to be peaceful neighbors—are now showing the world how they can fight side by side when that peace is threatened. Symbolic of this close co-operation between the two countries is the U. S.-Canadian air unit now guarding the rocky shores of Alaska.

Already the Yanks and Canucks have had numerous brushes with the Japs in the North Pacific area. First Canadian to bring down a Jap in that part of the world was Wing Commander Ken Boomer, of Ottawa. Some of the Canadians now serving in Alaska are veterans of many bombing raids and dog fights over Europe. Men of the R.C.A.F., most of them graduates of the country's great chain of instructional schools, are now fighting on virtually all of the world's fronts. President Roosevelt recently referred to Canada as "the airdrome of democracy." One and a half billions of dollars will be spent on the British Commonwealth Air Training plan in Canada during the next three years. Canada will provide half of the money and 80 per cent of the air

"There Goes 'Tex' Again!"

"What a soldier, that 'Tex' . . . tough, rugged, and smart . . . Watch him push that tank into the thick of it . . . acts like he's been around machines all his life, and never tires of wrangling that clanking monster."

Yes, 'Tex' does take to machines. He likes tinkering with them, and he's had plenty of experience with the farm tractor, the family car, the windmill.

And he takes to war, too. Thousands of young men just like him from the Lone Star State are in every branch of America's armed forces. Nearly every outfit, no matter where it's located, has its 'Tex.'

More than 2,000 of them have gone from their peace-time jobs with the Humble Company, and standing firmly behind them is Humble's army of nearly 13,000 "home front" soldiers dedicated to that tremendous job of supplying American and Allied fighting machines with essential oil supplies. This "home front" army is looking only forward—toward higher production goals of better and more useful petroleum products to speed victory.

The same research, technique, and up-to-the-minute equipment, which in peace time gave you Esso Extra gasoline, 997 Motor oil, and second-to-none products for your home, your farm, and your factory, today is fashioning from Texas crude oil vast quantities of Toluene for explosives, high octane aviation fuels, aviation engine oils, asphalt, marine paints, rust preventives, and other vital war materials. Look at a partial list of the Victory products which flow from Humble refineries.

WE'LL MAKE OUT

Yes, regardless of the point rationing this week, we are still in much better condition here than in many parts of the United States, having no meatless Tuesday and very little shortage of butter and certain other items.

With Texas and the Cisco county teeming with hogs and good fat cattle, meat should be plentiful. And when you look about the stores, there is plenty of items that one can buy.

Let's buck up. Buy quality that provides the maximum of nutriment. Jay still has that good meat and sausage you have found to be the best.
