A. G. Dabney Passes Away

Cisco lost one of its staunch old citizens Monday in the death of A. G. Dabney, which occurred at 12:30 o'clock at the Baylor hospital at Dallas. Mr. Dabney had been rapidly failing in health for the past year or more. He was taken to the Baylor hospital for operation about ten days previous to his death. Death came following a stroke which he suffered on Thursday of last week. The remains were returned to Cisco where funeral services were conducted at the First Christian Church Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Rev. E. L. Milley, pastor, conducting the services. Interment followed in Oakwood cemetery. Mr. Dabney was 81 years of age.

Mr. Dabney had been a citizen of Cisco for the past ten years. A native of Kentucky, he came to Texas at the age of 16, locating at Beeville. He later moved to McKinney, coming from there to Cisco. He was twice married. The survivors are his widow and seven children who are as follows: Guy Dabney, active vice-president of Cisco Banking Co.; Mrs. A. J. Ward and Mrs. George Anderson of Cisco; Mrs. W. J. Collier of Dickens City; Mrs. R. L. Moulden of McKinney; Lynus and Patricia of this place.

Cisco has lost a good and useful citizen in the death of A. G. Dabney. He was in every way a high class man, and all who knew him had the greatest respect for him. He attended strictly to his own business, but he considered civic matters of the state, everybody's business, and he was always ready and willing to shoulder his share of responsibility and duty pertaining to these public affairs. He had no patience with a man who would take no definite stand for right in civic matters "because it might hurt his business". In recent months he took a leading part in the citizens' attempt to wrest our city affairs from a state of chaos and recklessness, and bring about a condition of civic righteousness. When a question of public interest was raised, he always took a definite stand for what he considered right, and never waited to see whether he was on the popular side of it or not. And when he once took a stand on such important matters, he maintained it with unsurpassed moral courage regardless of any argument of policy and profit to the contrary. A. G. Dabney was a real man, and his children may well congratulate themselves upon their good fortune in inheriting the great qualities that entered into, and made up the noble character of their father. No amount of money on earth could compare in value to such a character.

The D. A. R. met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. Petit on 7th street, with Mrs.

Eastland County Fair Comes To a Close

The Eastland County Fair Saturday night brought to a close one of the most successful events of its history. The streets at Eastland, together with the place roped off for the midway, and the large open air theatre where the programs were presented, all were crowded with people gathered there from all parts of this county and many from neighboring counties.

The evening's program of the closing day was furnished by Ranger, some of the star performers being the famous Ranger Tickville Band, which is a complete show within itself. This comical aggregation of musical and comedy stunts is certainly a bunch of great entertainers. In addition to this there were band concerts, old fiddlers contests, and the evening was wound up with some good wrestling and boxing matches.

Petit and Mrs. W. C. McDaniel hostesses.

After general routine of business the following program was rendered:

"The D. A. R. Constitution," Mrs. F. D. Pierce.

"Patriotic Education," Mrs. A. Spears.

"Emigrants Manual and Ellis Island," Mrs. T. C. Williams.

Ice cream, angel food cake and salted nuts were served to the guests.

Bank Is Closed To Reorganize

The Cisco Banking Co. did not open for business Tuesday morning. A statement signed by stockholders was posted on the door before opening hour stating that all depositors were guaranteed by the stockholders against any loss in the institution. The statement also said that plans are under way for a reorganization, that application is to be made at once for a national bank charter, and that it is hoped to have things in shape to open for business again within 60 to 90 days.

Knowing the financial strength of some of the stockholders, and the integrity of their dealings, little uneasiness has been heard expressed on the part of the depositors, some of the heaviest ones stating that they feel that the directors have taken a wise step at this time, and that they feel sure that the place will be open again very shortly on a better basis than ever.

The statement which the bank had posted is as follows: "Cisco, Texas, September 29, 1931.

"To the Depositors and Patrons of the Cisco Banking Company:

"Due to persistent rumors that have been circulated for some time to the effect that the Cisco Banking Company was insolvent which has caused a gradual withdrawal of deposits, it has been necessary that we close the bank pending reorganization.

"We have on deposit at this time about $320,000.00. The net worth of the stockholders of the Cisco Banking Company over and above exemptions is more than $1,250,000.00. Each of us individually and severally guarantee every depositor against any loss and ask your patience and cooperation until we can open for business again, at which time we will be in a position to pay all of our depositors in full if they want the money.

"We expect to apply for a national bank charter and open for business as soon as details of the organization can be worked out. It is now believed that this will not take longer than thirty to sixty days.

Mrs. Cunningham Entertains Chez Nous Club Thursday

Cut flowers cleverly placed throughout the rooms made an attractive setting for a bridge party when Mrs. C. V. Cunningham entertained the Chez Nous Club at her home Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Tom Smith won high score and cut went to Mrs. Filler.

Apple pie topped with whipped cream and chocolate with marshmallows were served to Mesdames Smith, E. C. McClelland, Allen Crownover, Jess Allen, Filler, C. W. Hanson, and Misses Frankie Allen, Letha Estes, Hazel Waters.

Mrs. H. C. Henderson and Mrs. E. C. McClelland are spending today in Breckenridge.

Busy Session of City Commission

The City Commission met in regular session Monday afternoon at which time there was much discussion of the considered lowering of gas rates. It was concluded to set Monday, October 5th as the date to conduct a gas rate hearing, and representatives of the West Texas Utilities Co. and the Lone Star Gas Co. are notified to be present at that time to present any data which they may see fit supporting their contention against the proposed lowering of rates.

Mayor Berry and Commissioner J. T. Elliott had just returned from Ft. Worth where they attended a meeting of the Texas League of Municipalities, which organization had called on all the cities in which the rates were thought to be too high to pass an ordinance lowering the rates. The commission passed a resolution to apply zation. Some discussion had been had at previous meetings considering following the example set by Abilene and other towns recently in reducing the rates by ordinance. Reduction to 50 cents had been suggested here. In case the gas and utility companies do not see fit to make some agreeable terms to the commission at the Monday's meeting it is thought likely that an ordinance of this nature will probably be drafted at once.

Suggestion was made by J. R. Burnett that the electric rates should also be considered and dealt with at this same time, but the sentiment of the commission seemed to be to defer that matter at this time.

Attorney Wright was requested to draft an ordinance on the electric code used here in keeping with request of the State Fire Marshall.

There was some discussion concerning some real estate tax valuations.

Commissioners Donovan and Fee, committee appointed to investigate concerning the water rates, asked for more time on this matter.

Bids were read on publishing a portion of the city audit. After some discussion it was decided to ask for bids on publishing the audit complete in pamphlet form which was decided on as preferable to the newspaper.

Four bids were read on installing a toilet in the city jail, E. L. Wisdom being the lowest bidder, and the contract was awarded to him.

The commission also passed an emergency clause, an ordinance establishing a Fire Prevention Board for Cisco. The purpose of the board will be to advise with the city officers and the city commission on ways of reducing fire hazards and losses and educating the public along this line. A letter had been received from State Fire Marshall De Weese requesting the passing of such an ordinance. In his letter he called attention to the fact that in 1930 our fire losses here were $41,400.18. The year previous it was only $28,185.67, and in 1928 it was $17,240.89.

Entered as second class matter July 24, 1930, at the Post Office at Cisco, Texas, under the act of March 3, 1879.

The Cisco Citizen is an independent Democratic newspaper, supporting what it believes to be right, and opposing what it believes to be wrong. Regardless of party politics, publishing the news fairly and impartially at all times.

Fire Prevention Week

Governor Sterling, in keeping with the national movement, has proclaimed October 4-10 as "Fire Prevention Week." The citizenship of Texas is called upon to give special attention to fire prevention methods at this time and do away as much as possible with fire hazards.

Every week of the year should be a fire prevention week. If it were so there would be less toll taken by this, one of the worst of all the agencies of destruction. The fire bill for last year in the United States was $499,000,000. That of Texas broke all previous records since 1921, with a property loss of $22,162,000.

If it were possible to gather together all the structures which have been destroyed by fire in America it would make indeed the largest city in all the world. And what an object lesson it would present, with its miles of havoc-torn streets of ruin and destruction! To say nothing of the ten thousand lives snuffed out each year by the fire demon!

The carelessness of your neighbor is costing you something, for every fire in our city helps to push your fire insurance rate to a higher level.

Nothing can compensate for the direct results of a fire. Certainly a good insurance policy can help, and every piece of property should have this protection. But a fire insurance policy cannot bring back the ruined property. It cannot bring back the many priceless keep-sake treasures which perhaps has little market value, but which you perhaps would not sell for any money.

More often than otherwise a destructive fire is the result of rank carelessness on the part of someone. Fire Prevention Week serves to remind us of these things, and call to our attention the cost of such unthoughted carelessness. We should be wise enough to profit by it.

Hoover's Prayer

O, mighty Hoover, who art in Washington, when not fishing in the Rapidan. Thy name is pants. Thy will and the will of thy campaign contributors be done in the rest of the country as it is done in Washington.

Give us this day our daily bread - and bowl of free soup, for our turnip greens and sweet potato vines are almost gone. Forgive us our debts, and if you can't forgive them, for the love of Mike help us to get a job, so we can pay them. Thou knowest, O, mighty Hoover, that thy subjects are dumb, so dumb that we believed your campaign promises. If we had not been so dumb, you would not be president. And since you know just how dumb we are, have mercy on us for our pockets are empty - also our stomachs. Some of us voted for you in the belief that you would continue our great prosperity and behold our great prosperity has gone to the favored followers of Smoot, and Grundy. Some of us voted for you because thy handmaiden, Mabel, told all the preachers and the preachers told us that we would go to hell if we voted for Al Smith. So we voted for you and the country has been in a hell of a mess ever since.

We thank thee, O, mighty Hoover, for the relief thou hast given the farmer, for thou hast relieved them of all they had except their debts and a few old clothes. We thank thee for the relief thou hast given the laboring man, for thou hast relieved him of the necessity of rising early to get to his job. We thank thee that thou hast relieved whistles, and the noise of running wheels, and few wheels are turning (except in the heads of those who voted for thee)

We thank thee, O, thou mighty Hoover, for thy watchful care of "noble experiment" of prohibition has at last been made effective, for if Mrs. Willebrant and the holy farm board were peddling their fermentable grape juice at two bits a barrel we could not buy a drink.

Thou anointest our heads with oil - stolen from the government oil lands - and we can't buy soap to wash it off because of thy holy tariff.

Lead us not into temptation of high living, lest we be taken to the hospital to be cured of gout, hard times, and the shadow of one of thy famous supporters. Yea, though we walk through the valley of hard shadows of starvation, we will fear no evil, for thou art with us and hath appointed many commissioners to watch over us.

Hear us, O, Mighty Hoover and answer us! And may the squirrels nest in our hats if we are ever fool enough to follow another jack-o-lantern labeled "Republican Prosperity," thanking God that Hoover Prosperity is gone, and that we may be on the road to better days. Amen! - Exchange.

Bringing Up Children

A nursemaid rushed into the presence of her mistress and shrieked, "Oh, my goodness, ma'am, the twins have both fallen into the well. What shall we do?"

The mother paused a moment, lit another cigarette, and calmly replied, "Go to the library and bring me the last number of 'Modern Motherhood.' There is an article in it tells 'How to Bring Up Children.'"

Governor Says Not to Expect Immediate Cotton Price Rise

In an interview recently Governor Sterling told his hearers that he did not expect any "startling results" on the market from cotton legislation. He further said that he considered "down-right silly" the idea that was advanced that the whole cotton world has been hanging breathlessly on what was done by him and the Texas Legislature in this matter.

"The principle outcome will be to encourage the farmer in a diversification of crops," said the governor, who boasts that he has dragged a cotton picking sack along many a weary row.

"Modern machinery doing the work of many men in shorter time is a fine thing, but it has resulted in over-production. The only remedy I see for that is a shorter work week and a shorter work day. There is so much to be done and so many to do it. If men are not furnished work, they still have to eat, and somebody must feed them.

"Everybody seems to want the government to take care of them. Who is going to take care of the government?"

"Suppose we stop cotton planting altogether. The farmers are going to have to plant something else. When they do that they increase the supply of other things. If the crops they produce are fed to the hogs, we are going to have 4-cent bacon, and then the hog growers will be hurt.

"This thing will work out all right," he ended cheerfully, "I think the legislature will finish its work during the week, and that other cotton states will follow. If all do, there will likely be some improvement, but do not look for any startling jump in cotton prices. They said if I would only call a special session of the Texas Legislature prices would go up. I called it, and they went down.

AUTOMOBILE LARGEST USER OF SEVEN AMERICAN INDUSTRIES

MOHAIR GOES IN-TO AUTOMOBILES

Estimate 100,000,000 Yards in Use on Nation's Highways.

TODAY'S automobile is almost entirely an achievement of our natural resources or products. With the exception of rubber which is grown in Africa, India or South America but manufactured in this country, all the basic materials that go to make an automobile are produced in our midst. Steel, mohair, plate glass, nickel and lead are not only American products, but are, together with rubber, used to a greater extent in making cars than for any other purpose.

Practically every state in the Union contributes to these materials, either in their raw state or in their manufacture. For example, our youngest and fastest growing livestock industry, that of angora goats, provides the mohair which is used in making mohair velvet for automobile upholstery.

Some idea of the demand for this durable fabric, otherwise known as velmo, is gained from the fact that one hundred million yards, it has been estimated, are now in service in cars on the nation's highways.

These angora or mohair goats, as they are more appropriately called, originally came from Turkey, and the United States imported millions of fleeces annually, but with the introduction of the goats into this country, the mohair industry has gradually been transferred here, with a total annual clip of well over seventeen million pounds.

The pile fabric made from this fleece in New England mills is generally accepted as being the ideal material for automobile upholstery because of its long wearing quality, usually outlasting the life of the car itself, because it is easily cleaned and because it affords the greatest riding comfort, all in addition, of course to its lustrous and beautiful appearance.

Still another commodity of which the automobile industry is its largest consumer is gasoline. Eighty per cent of all gasoline produced in this country, or twelve and a half billion gallons, is used for keeping the nation's twenty-six million motors a-wheel.
