CUSTOM OF 40 YEARS BE OBSERVED MAY 15

Following the nice custom of more than 40 years, the annual celebration and decoration of graves will be observed at Corinth cemetery, between Cisco and Eastland, next Saturday morning.

About 150 people are resting in these burying grounds, many of them being early-day settlers and men and women prominent in the pioneer activities of Eastland county.

Among the leaders in this year's celebration are Nute Hart, Will Hazel, Doss Pelfrey, W. E. Kirkland and L. T. Evans. Those desirous of aiding in the clean-up labor are asked to bring their tools and be on hand early Saturday morning.

Hosts of Cisco friends are hoping and praying that Mr. Skiles will pass through the ordeal successfully.

BREEDERS OF 20 STATES AT CATTLE SALE

FORT WORTH, May 11.—Breeders from twenty states took advantage of the Dean Herford Ranch dispersion auction yesterday held under a big tent at the ranch, fifteen miles west of here on Highway 80. An attendance of approximately 1,000 resulted in lively bidding throughout the first day of the two-day sale which apparently will result in the majority of the animals being sent to other states.

The first ten animals brought an average of $3,450, the first twenty, $2,250; the next twenty-five $2,100, with an indication that the total average will not go below the latter figure.

ARMY MEN AT LAKE CISCO

Monroe Sweeney, manager of Lake Cisco Amusement company, today had several army officers from Camp Bowie looking over the amusement set-up and studying the advisability of stationing two military police at the lake each weekend. Their reactions were very favorable, Sweeney said.

After being guests of Mr. Sweeney at dinner, the group went out to the lake, looked over the big fish hatchery and then took a boat ride with Ray Judia, lake game warden, after inspecting the swimming pool. They were astonished at the extent of Cisco's recreational center for soldier visitors and civilians and expressed themselves as hoping to return soon for more extended enjoyment of the amusement company's facilities.

Those on the inspection tour were Col. R. G. Saxon, camp recreational and activities officer; Maj. Roy Bradley, camp executive officer; Lieut. F. J. Hubbard, Jr., provost marshal officer for Camp Bowie, and H. N. Wallace, military police, who is stationed here each weekend.

WELFARE ASSOCIATION HEARS MONTH REPORT

About 20 members and a visitor were present at the meeting of the welfare association at the chamber of commerce this morning, with Chairman L. W. Seymour presiding. Mrs. B. S. Huey, executive secretary, made a report on items received and distributed during the past month.

In this report Mrs. Huey said baby clothes and layettes were needed. Many gardens were now being cultivated vigorously, some tomato plants being reset, she said. Pepper plants were needed if some one has more than they need, she added.

One marriage, one birth and one death have occurred in the welfare family, Mrs. Huey stated.

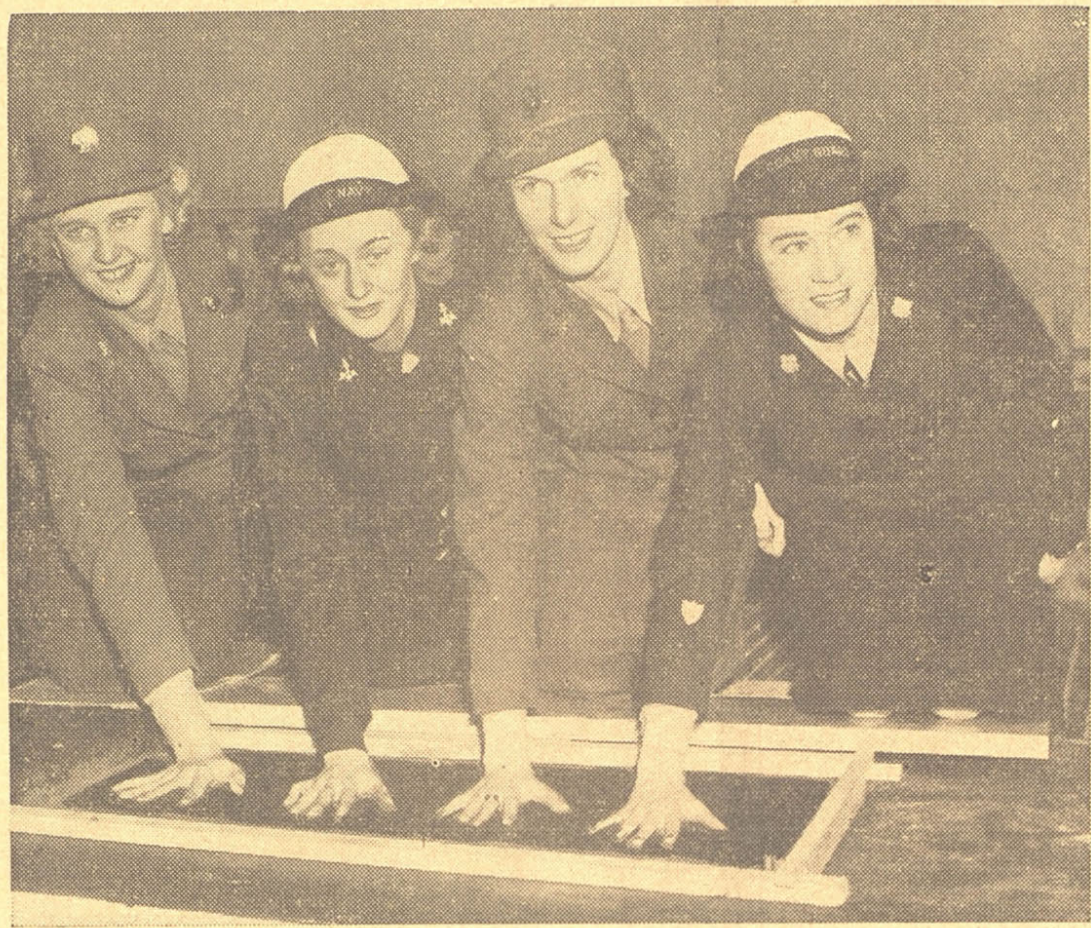

During the month the office has received 15 pairs of shoes, 145 garments, 190 magazines and 31 household articles, while 22 pairs of shoes 124 garments, 70 magazines and 29 household articles have been distributed. The office has given seven grocery orders, one order for medicine and helped a transient family.

Those present were Mesdames M. F. Underwood, C. H. Fee, G. B. Langston, Homer Slicker, Mrs. Sam Kimmell, J. T. Anderson, W. D. Hazel, Russell Dennis, H. N. Lyle, E. Hooks, W. W. Wallace, W. L. Ghorlmy, Alex Spears, B. S. Huey, H. B. Hensley and B. H. Bosworth; Mayor Edward Lee, R. N. Cluck, R. L. Ponsler, Austin Flint and Rev. Leslie Seymour.

O. J. RUSSELL OMITTED THROUGH AN OVERSIGHT

The chamber of commerce wishes to apologize for the oversight in the recent resolution of appreciation to the school board regarding Cisco Junior College, in that they did not include the name of O. J. Russell in the list.

This was entirely an unintentional oversight. Mr. Russell's work as president of the board in the groundwork in the starting of the college was outstanding.

BOARD ELECTS TEACHERS

At the school board meeting last night, W. J. Armstrong, retiring president, gave a review of accomplishments in the public school and the Cisco Junior college. In this glance at the many progressive accomplishments by the board and superintendent, Mr. Armstrong gave voice to other plans that are in the making for the future of both college and high school.

The 42 acres of land that has recently been added to the college acreage, hold many possibilities for experiments and demonstrations in agricultural studies, Armstrong said.

The board then went into the organization for the new year's work by selecting L. A. Warren as president and G. R. Nance as vice-president. Mrs. N. A. Brown was made secretary.

After organization of the board, one of the first matters to receive attention was the voting and writing of a resolution of appreciation for the valuable services of Mr. Armstrong to the schools through the many years he has been a member of the board.

Due to increase in the per capita apportionment for 1943-44 and the fact that tax collections will probably be better because money is more plentiful in the communities, a small raise in salary was given to all teachers and principals of the Cisco schools. It was the opinion of the board that a small raise in salary would also be given building custodians and bus drivers.

The following teachers have been reelected for the 1943-44 school term:

O. L. Stamey, Monroe Sweeney, Bill Falls, Arlin Bint, Ella Andres, Marian Chambliss, Elizabeth Daniel, Ora Kirkin, Mrs. Lucretia Irby, Mrs. E. L. Hazelwood, Nellie Yunk, Lela Latch, Cheryl Lutgens, M. D. Fox, Burl Williams, Mrs. O. L. Stamey, Doris Fyle, Mrs. Jimmie Allen, Mrs. Fene Hallmark, Mrs. Minnie Hill, Mamye Estes, Olga Ford, Vena McBeth, Lucie Clark, Pearl Donaway, Mrs. Roy Camfield, Mrs. R. E. Grantham, Mrs. Callie McAfee, Attie Stevens, Fannie Stevens, Ruby Ray Swift, Mrs. T. C. Williams, Lucy Kittrell, Abel C. Butts, negro school; Mrs. Bernice Hays, Mrs. G. Pollard, Bruce Younger, Esther Walker, Mrs. Bruce Younger, Mrs. Modena Dulin and Mrs. Bessie Beaty.

Substitute Teachers—Mrs. Leslie Seymour, Mrs. C. A. Gross, Elizabeth Bailey, Mrs. Joe Clements, Russell Dennis, Mrs. Raymond McCauley, Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. J. E. Crawford and Mrs. Zona Alford.

College faculty—O. L. Stamey, C. J. Turner, Mrs. O. L. Stamey, Elizabeth Daniel, Ella Andres, Mrs. Minnie Hill and Mamye Estes.

ORGANIZED RESISTANCE OF NAZI SOLDIERS DWINDLING FAST AND MANY SURRENDER

NORTH AFRICA, May 11.—Organized resistance of Axis armies in Africa was ceasing today after enemy remnants had been furiously battered by Allied air and land forces and completely cut off on Cap Bon Peninsula by a swift British drive to the coastal town of Hammamet.

Nazi resistance fell apart and dwindled to scattered encounters. Doves of discouraged and demoralized soldiers gave themselves up as prisoners as the guns of the royal navy ripped and tore the Cap Bon beaches, rendering impossible any large-scale evacuation.

"There is still fierce fighting, especially on the Eighth Army front," a spokesman said. Nevertheless the number of prisoners was rapidly approaching 100,000, the remaining German forces had been split, and demoralized enemy troops were rapidly approaching a stage where they could no longer continue important resistance on an organized basis, particularly on Cap Bon.

The Axis forces trapped and cut into sections in the Cap Bon zone and in the mountains east of Zaghuan, had been estimated at from 50,000 to 100,000. The strongest and most compact group appeared to be in the Zaghuan area.

"Resistance is especially fierce on the Eighth Army front," the spokesman said in reference to the southern or Zaghuan zone. About 700 square miles in all were still occupied by scattered Axis forces, following the British drive across the base of the Cap Bon Peninsula, capturing Soliman, Menzel Bou Salfa and Grombalia, and pushing on to Hammamet.

The First Army broke the retreating enemy's defenses near Hamman Lif and rushed on the plain of Soliman. The Allied force captured the towns of Soliman and Manzel Bou Zelfa to the east and then pushed southward to take Grombalia on the road to Hammamet.

By evening, the advanced British elements had reached the edge of Hammamet.

This lightning action also set a trap for other Axis troops that had been fighting French troops east of the Zaghuan mountain range and north of Pont Du Fahs. These enemy units apparently had hoped to retire into the peninsula but all escape now was cut off.

INVASION LOOMS.

LONDON, May 11.—Reports that American soldiers have been stationed on Cyprus Island at the eastern end of the Mediterranean circulated through invasion-conscious Europe today as speculation increased that the Allies were getting ready to move against Axis-held islands guarding the southern approaches to the continent.

DRIFTING.

The perennial question, "What is the matter with congress?" is answered by Representative Albert A. Gore of Tennessee. Speaking to the United States chamber of commerce, he insisted that the national legislature needed two things.

First, it should subordinate its sectional interests to the national good. Second, it should strive against the "aggressive, ever-expanding bureaucracy" of the executive branch of government.

Congress, he explains, is clumsy, old-fashioned and costly. It has not kept up with national development in an era of great change and growth. "A streamlining of our traditional legislative processes is imperative if congress is to cease losing its independence to the executive branch and stop forfeiting public esteem."

Gore seems to have hit the nail on the head.

One of the first things congress should do, when it starts remodeling itself, is to abolish the overlapping committees that waste so much time and money. Apparently there are four or five committees for nearly everything that has to be done, duplicating work, wasting time and getting into each other's hair.

JOHNNY-JUMP-UPS

Remember them in the garden of your Great-Aunt Sarah Jane? The one whose best young man was killed in the Civil War? Little dark blue and pale-blue pansy-like plants, their tiny faces looking up at you from the border around the back porch? The circle has gone round again and Johnny-jump-ups are once more in favor.

A garden editor suggests that plants with family history are worth preserving. The lilac or rose bush that has been in the family for generations, the tree planted by busy hands long since gone to rest, should be helped to long life, or its children should be given place in the modern garden.

Some German-American ladies at a luncheon were talking not long ago of plants they had brought from the old country. Seeds from the Grossmutter's garden had been planted here and the centerpiece on the table was composed of flowers grown from them. It gave comfort that the touch of gracious living now long vanished in the old land had taken root and given flower to this garden in the new, free home.

So plant some Johnny-jump-ups, or other long-loved blooms, in memory of the old garden; if not in direct descent from it, and cherish the beauty of the old-day. It adds stability and soundness to this strange new world.

BENEFACTOR.

The world too often does not know the names of its greatest benefactors. This is certainly the case with Ernest A. Hamwi of St. Louis, who has just died at 59, and who brought happiness to more people than almost anyone that can be thought of.

Hamwi invented the ice-cream cone. The Chicago World's Fair of 1893 had a lasting effect on American architecture, but the St. Louis Exposition of 1904 gave the world this great delicacy. Observing the popularity of two near-by concessions, an ice-cream parlor and a waffle stand, Hamwi had the brilliant idea of combining the two. Hence evolved the ice-cream cone, and daily joy in the hearts of 'countless youngsters.

WEATHER.

Over a large part of the country it has been a cold, wet spring. It seems about time for some theorist to come forward again with the idea frequently suggested in the last war to explain freakish weather. That is, that increased rainfall and other irregularities were caused by the war. Many efforts have been made to establish a relationship between great, long-continued bombing and artillery fire and cold, rainy weather, but experts have usually failed to endorse that theory.

It would be especially irrelevant now because weather movements in the northern part of this continent are almost invariably from west to east. The bad weather in northern latitudes usually passes off down the St. Lawrence valley and out into the Atlantic ocean, instead of coming from Europe. And the shooting in the Pacific war areas is so far away and so scattered that it can hardly have any weather effect on this continent.

SONGS.

When American composers of popular music are mentioned, everyone naturally thinks first of Stephen Foster. Well may this be, for "Swanee River," "My Old Kentucky Home" and many other pieces of his are deeply woven into the hearts of the American people.

And yet in his day Foster was not the only American song-writer to win popular acclaim. An Ohio lawyer has found a rival in Benjamin R. Hanby. Born in 1833 and dying in 1867, this man found time in his short life to write many good songs. They include "Darling Nelly Gray," once as widely known as any modern hit, and even yet not forgotten. His "Ole Shady," a song about the Negro, was immensely popular among northern soldiers in the Civil war, and received the honor of a special tribute by General Sherman 25 years after the war was over.

Hanby also wrote hymns, some of which are still sung throughout the English-speaking world. Some occur in hymnals used today in Australia and South Africa.

FOUR BATTLE FRONTS.

I'm under Butler, up in the snows, Over these islands where anything goes— Dropping my bombs, delivering blows And making the Nipponese turn up their toes.

I'm in Tunisia with Eisenhower, In the roar of a tank, long hour on hour— Crashing the enemy, flashing the power And making the Jerries go rapidly sour.

I'm with MacArthur at Guadalcanal, Stripped to the waist with a half-sick pal— Fighting mosquitoes and swamps and hell, Ten thousand miles from my home and my gal.

I'm on the homefront—mining the coal. I drive in my car from my home to the hole; For eight solid hours I dig like a mole.

I'm working too, brother, I, too, have a goal. There are four of us, men. These are all battle lines. Together we'll show them our righteous designs. You stick by my guns and I'll stick to your mines 'Till the world shall acknowledge what freedom defines.

FOUNDERS' DAY CELEBRATED BY BETA UPSILON.

Members of Beta Upsilon celebrated the annual founders' day of Delta Kappa Gamma with a tea on the roof garden of the Laguna, Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Guests were met by Mrs. Hallmark, who presented them to the retiring president, Miss Chambliss, who in turn presented them to Miss Winston, Miss Daniel, Mrs. Kirkin, Mrs. Hill and Miss Pyle, chapter officers. Mrs. Alice Johnston directed them to the guest book, presided over by Miss Pearl Donoway, where they registered. The room was decorated with the chapter colors, artistically carried out by bronze bowls of red roses.

After greetings were extended by Miss Chambliss, Miss Daniel directed the beautiful and impressive candle lighting service, honoring the twelve founders of Delta Kappa Gamma. She was assisted by Misses Chambliss, Pyle, Winston, Donoway and Mesdames Hill, Kirkin, Moore, Briscoe, Johnston, Cluck, Hazelwood and Hallmark, each of whom represented one of the twelve. The highlight of the program was music by Miss Drago's Harmony Girls and Violin Octet. They gave the following groups of numbers: "The Lord's Prayer," "O, Lovely Cloud," "I Heard a Forest Praying," by the Harmony Girls; "The Military Symphony from Haydn," by the Violin Octet; "I Love Life," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Old Woman in the Shoe," the Harmony Girls; "Because" and "Dark Eyes," by the Violin Octet; and "When a Gypsy Makes His Violin Cry," Harmony Girls and violins.

After a program a social hour followed during which tea, coffee, sandwiches, cookies and salted nuts were served from a lace-covered table with silver and crystal appointments. In addition to the chapter colors a patriotic theme was carried out in the candles and plate service. Tiny American flags were used as favors. Mrs. Hagaman, Ranger, and Mrs. Fee, Cisco, honorary members of the chapter, poured tea and coffee.

The chapter wishes to express its deep appreciation to Mrs. May-sell Allen, homemaking teacher and her classes for making the sandwiches and cookies, and to Gene Grantham, Lola Alice Caffey, Hope Star and Freda Fern Erwin, members of her classes, for serving. Mrs. Hazelwood was chairman of the social committee.

A Woman Cop Who Can Really Shoot

BEING able to shoot it out with the best of them on pistol and rifle range, acting as head of a woman's industrial police force, and rearing three small children, are the highly varied activities of Mary A. Locke, chief of policewomen at The Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia. She has qualified as one of the best women shots in the United States, having shot in open competition with U. S. Marines at their base at Quantico, Va., and against U. S. Navy sharpshooters at Pensacola, Fla. Her husband is a former Marine lieutenant. Chief Locke's force directs traffic and guards entrances to the shops where Baldwin is engaged 100 percent in war production.

How war equipment orders to a principal supplier bring orders to scores of sub-contractors is illustrated by this map based on contracts of Gilbert & Barker Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil Company (N.J.). Approximately 30 percent of the money value of this firm's contracts has been spread to 289 different companies located in 108 cities in 17 northeast and middle west states. On individual contracts, the spreading of work varies from 24 percent to 38 percent. Normally, Gilbert & Barker, located at Springfield, Mass., makes service station gasoline pumps, oil burners and similar items, but is now devoted entirely to war work.

Canadian Invents Jeep On Snow Shoes Carries Six Fully-Equipped Soldiers

The weird-looking vehicle plowing through a snow drift in the top photo is the Canadian Army's favorite winter buggy. Capable of "sailing" over the deepest snowbank, it is the invention of J. A. Bombardier, of Valcourt, P.Q. (lower right). A snow jeep under construction is shown in lower left photo.

On and off for two winters, the old farmer had been shouting encouragement to the neighbour's boy. In a Rubie Goldberg contraption, consisting of two sleds and an old engine, the lad had been vainly trying to climb a steep incline leading to the woods. Finally, one evening, the farmer rushed into the house crying to his wife: "He's made it! He's made it! I knew he'd do it!" That was twenty years ago. Today, that boy, Armand Bombardier, now 35, is still turning out weird conveyances, but these are real snowmobiles and he is building them for the Canadian army. Experts in the Army Engineering Design Branch of the Department of Munitions and Supply, agree that his invention is just the thing for personnel transport across the snow-bound countryside, carrying as it does half a dozen fully equipped men over the deepest snow. His featherweight snowmobile is a plywood vehicle mounted on wide snowshoe-like tracks. It is equipped with skis at the front and is propelled by a rugged 95 h.p. engine located at the back. With a speed of more than 25 miles an hour, it can go anywhere a skier or snowshoer can. The secret of its mobility lies in its extremely supple suspension. Its tracks are supported by specially designed pneumatic wheels, four on each side. Armand Bombardier has lived all his life in the small Quebec settlement of Valcourt in the hilly Eastern Townships. Years ago, the village was completely isolated during the winter months and the idea struck the young inventor that he should devise some vehicle which would travel over the snow covered hills to the neighbouring towns. Leaving school early—he had virtually no technical training—he opened a garage, making sure there would be plenty of space for his snowmobile experiments. He built scores of models, labouring late at night designing springs, improving motors. He tried every form of propulsion including propellers. These, however, he discarded when he became convinced that traction was his only solution. Like most inventors, he was the butt of many jokes, and few took him seriously. They all changed their minds, however, when, in 1926 he succeeded in turning out a model which performed marvels in the deepest snow.
