PINKY FERRELL HOME.

L. D. (Pinky) Ferrell, back from the war front in the South Pacific islands, is visiting the family of John Dunn, during a portion of his 30-day furlough from the marine corps. Ferrell has been in the service 16 months and has participated in five major battles.

BIG PICNIC AT LAKE SUNDAY

General get-together of students of Cisco Ordnance Training Center and the people of Cisco has been scheduled for Sunday afternoon at a picnic beginning at 4 o'clock, with lunches spread together following a recreational program of swimming, skating, hiking, foot races and other sports.

The food which will be furnished by the training school for the students and to be brought by each person for their own use, will be spread picnic style, on one common table, with a sameness of menu consisting of meat loaf, potato salad, red beans, tomatoes, green onions, pickles, deviled eggs, bread and butter sandwiches and cup cakes. The training school canteen will also furnish the drinks.

E. L. Jackson will be toastmaster in charge of the program. Scoutmaster Sim Ledford and his scouts of troop No. 49 will assist in arrangements.

"Since this is an effort of the people of Cisco, acting through their local recreation committee, to discharge their responsibility of entertainment for the women who are temporary guests of the city, every person in Cisco should do his or her full duty in making this get-together a success in the usual big-hearted, Cisco way," said Mrs. George P. Fee, publicity chairman for the committee.

"Students have no means of conveyance, so it would be the nice thing for Ciscoans to furnish what conveyance they can," Mrs. Fee continued. "The students will assemble at the Laguna at 3:30 Sunday afternoon and all persons who will be requested to stop by for a load of passengers to Lake Cisco," she added.

US. MUST NOW FIND JOBS FOR AXIS SOLDIERS

WASHINGTON, May 13.—With Italian and German soldiers captured in Tunisia augmenting rapidly the 20,000 prisoners of war already in this country, officials concentrated today on ways of putting them to work on farms and highway projects.

Two major problems were posed:

1. Means of preventing their escape.
2. Reaction of the residents of localities where war prisoners are used.

Utilization of war prisoners must conform to the Geneva convention, which permits farm work but forbids work aiding the war effort against their own countries.

Present plans call for the payment of approximately 80¢ wages daily for labor in addition to the 10¢ daily allowance to each man in a prison camp for purchase of toilet necessities and tobacco.

Only prisoners of the enlisted grades may thus be employed outside prison camps. Officers, who may not be worked outside the prison camps proper, receive from $20 to $40 per month, according to their rank, in addition to their maintenance.

MEXICAN WORKERS.

DENVER, May 13.—The farm security administration today began the distribution throughout the mountain region of the first trainload of 852 Mexican workers brought into this country from Mexico to work during the summer months in the sugar beet fields.

TIMBER-R-R!—Approximately 4,000 land girls are members of the Women's Land Army Timber Corps in England and many of them have become so efficient they have been placed in complete charge of all timber operations. Above are some of them loading pit props after cutting them in South.

CHILDREN CHURCH SCHOOL

Church school workers from the Presbyterian, the Christian and the First Methodist churches, in a called session Wednesday, worked out plans for a daily vacation church school for children to begin Monday, June 7, and continue two weeks.

These three congregations sponsored such a cooperative vacation school last summer and were so pleased with the results that they are entering into this summer's program with increased enthusiasm, says Rev. Leslie Seymour who presided at the council meeting.

Mrs. W. H. Cole was elected as director for the school and was supplied with a list of probable helpers for the four departments that will be involved, these being the beginner, the primary, the junior and the intermediate departments.

The sessions will be held in the late afternoon from 4:30 to 6:30 five days a week for the two weeks. There will be provided a varied program of activities which will include worship, study, hand work, recreation and story telling.

All sessions will be held at First Methodist church. Children up to 14 years of age will be welcome to attend the school, regardless of denominational affiliation, without charge.

GAVE 'EM THE WORKS.

LONDON, May 13.—The Royal Air Force carried out its heaviest raid of the war during the night, dropping tons of bombs on Duisburg, industrial center of Western Germany, the air ministry announced today. The attack required a 1,000-mile round trip. Thirty-four British planes were announced as missing, but the loss was not great considering the size of the raid.

LOSING EVERYWHERE.

MOSCOW, May 13.—Russian troops have driven the Germans from a town in the Donets Basin after killing 400 of the enemy in heavy fighting and capturing an important height, the Soviet communique announced today.

REUNITED ABROAD—Gazing upward at planes are former New York Governor Herbert H. Lehman, right, director of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation, and his son, Flight Officer Peter Lehman. Father and son were reunited when dad visited airport somewhere in England.

S-S-SHE S-S-S-SIGNS—Beautiful 6 foot 1 inch "Stuttering Sam" Mary Dowell, Billy Rose's prize show girl, signs contract in New York to write movie scenarios for Warner Bros. She's from Fort Worth, Texas.

NEW QUARTERS FOR SERVICE MEN FIXED UP

The Girls' Service organization met last night in the new home of the Men's Service club — adjacent to the West Texas Utilities Co. — to clean and arrange the quarters for use by the men in military service.

A business meeting was also held, during which Mrs. Austin Flint was added to the list of sponsors. The girls' club accepted an invitation to attend a dance at Camp Bowie, tomorrow night.

Girls present were Inka Sherman, Betty Lou Muller, Betty Shelton, Sue Mobley, Freda Fern Erwin, Betty Mae Davis, Cathryn Draganis, Helen Draganis, Marie Hunterman, Edith Altman, Lucile Clark, Elizabeth McCracken, Anna Jo Tableman, Evelyn Reynolds, Marilyn Shertzer and Martha Jo Hull.

UNUSUAL WEATHER.

FT. WORTH, May 13.—Fort Worth perspired yesterday in 92-degree sunshine and shivered early today in 53-degree north wind as the thermometer took a 39-degree tumble overnight.

PHYSICAL TRAINING VALUABLE

A program telling of the accomplishments of athletes in the present war, and emphasizing physical education as a valuable training to bring about coordination of mind and body, was brought by Monroe Sweeney at the Rotary club luncheon today, following his presentation by J. J. Callaway, who had charge of the program. Other guests of the club were T. J. McCarty, Abilene; Felton Underwood, Cisco; Cleve Callaway, Cross Plains.

Secretary G. R. Nance announced that the club had an average of 97 percent attendance for April, thus probably remaining in the upper ten column of the district, where Cisco club has been a leader during the year.

Mayor Edward Lee suggested that Rotarians attend the get-together picnic at Lake Cisco Sunday afternoon, and show their good neighbor policy by loading up a car with trainees.

As a fitting close for the program, Rotarian Callaway read a poem, parody on Edgar Allan Poe's Raven, that brought much applause.

Mr. Sweeney began his talk by reciting that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and other leading American officers in North Africa were former football stars, and then he mentioned a long list of southern athletes who are making history in the armed forces, winding up with a list of Ciscoans — former Lobeos — who are acquiring themselves with glory in various parts of the world.

He then read a letter which he had received from a recent Lobe, stating that he was glad that Sweeney had told him just what army life would be like — didn't sugar-coat it.

Mr. Sweeney commended the Victory Corps and military training program, now in effect at Cisco high school, which are adjuncts to the physical educational program now being taught.

Physical education develops coordination of mind and body, he stated, and added that a large leg calf denoted ability to think and act quickly without confusion.

Complying with a request to tell something about the swimming pool, Sweeney said that many improvements and repairs had been made, so that everything was in excellent condition for swimming, which he said was the best exercise known to man for a proper development of all the muscles of the body.

MILLS COUNTY STUDENTS ENJOY THE LAKE

Several school classes have been picnicking at Lake Cisco this week, according to Manager Monroe Sweeney. A high school class of about 30 members from Breckenridge and a smaller group from Comyn are included in the list.

Yesterday, a class from Mullins high school in Mills county, under the sponsorship of Miss Vivian Fullbright, enjoyed the swimming and other recreational activities here. Personnel of the class: Jack Clendenen, Coke Oliver, Riley Maxwell, James Hutchings, James Greer, Estell Sparks, Douglas Bachus, Anita White, Elizabeth McSmith, Lynn Carlisle, Lavina Mae Garner, Mary Ruth Cobb, Ruby Lois Gandy and Lee R. Tresson.

VON ARNIM SULKED IN TENT UNTIL ARRESTED; WOULDN'T SIGN THE SURRENDER TERMS

WITH BRITISH FIRST ARMY, IN TUNISIA, May 13. — While Axis troops with guns and ammunition were surrendering by the thousands, Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim gave himself up without a fight after sending this final message to Adolf Hitler:

"I report that the order to defend Tunisia to the last cartridge has been carried out."

Von Arnim, a typical officer of the Prussian school, refused to sign the terms of unconditional surrender presented to him by Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson of the British First Army, but was taken without resistance by troops of the 4th Indian Division near St. Marie du Zit, at the base of Cap Bon peninsula.

His radio operator, who sent the final message to Hitler in reply to vain urgings by Hitler and Mussolini to fight to the end, apparently failed to agree with Von Arnim's message. The operator added, apparently on his own initiative, a message to the homeland:

"Everything has been destroyed," it said. "We are closing down forever."

British patrols found Von Arnim standing haughtily in his headquarters in the mountains, 18 miles west of Hammamet in the St. Marie du Zit area.

It was in this sector that the Axis troops held out longest as organized units.

(At Allied headquarters, a spokesman said that Von Arnim had skillfully directed the Axis resistance throughout the Tunisian campaign and had "justified every estimate of his ability.")

Since the Allies captured many tons of ammunition and huge amounts of other booty, Von Arnim's last message to Hitler was not literally accurate, but in the area where the Axis commander surrendered his orders probably were carried out.

Some of the veteran German units, such as the remnants of the Hermann Goering Division, fired their last shells and cartridges into the air and then walked out into the roads with their hands high to surrender — without any ammunition left.

A total of 13 Axis generals now have been captured.

(Prime Minister Attlee announced to the British house of commons today that over 170,000 prisoners have been taken with masses of equipment, more than 1,000 guns, 300 tanks and several thousand motor vehicles. Attlee added: "The enemy not only was beaten, but was completely destroyed.")

TROUBLE IS BREWING FOR YELLOW BOYS

WASHINGTON, May 13.—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill were believed today to be setting the sights of the Allied war machine for a big fall campaign against the Japanese in Burma. Plans for a fall offensive in Burma, however, would not preclude strong blows against Japanese forces before that time.

There was increasing belief here, that these blows would be struck in the very near future, especially in the Aleutians.

BARONS.

A history-minded newspaper man suggests that John L. Lewis' position, as head of the coal miners, is much like that of a feudal baron in the middle ages. Thus "he rules his own private domain; he quarrels with the other barons of his realm, makes private war on them, and is powerful enough to cross swords with the throne at Washington."

Well, John L. is certainly "feuding." But civilized countries mostly abolished the feudal processes centuries ago. It is strange to find so interesting an example in a country that considers itself so modern as the United States. And if John L. Lewis is the last of feudal barons as they were exemplified in medieval Europe, can it be that he is also the first of a new type here?

We had barons of a sort, in the form of captains of finance and industry, for more than half a century. Carnegie and Rockefeller were notable examples. They seemed predatory to some of our politicians, but eventually turned benevolent in a big way. They appear to be vanishing now, and a great deal of the power they represented has been absorbed by the national government, which will not be an improvement if carried too far; but as industrial power wanes in places where it formerly was strong, we seem to see the start of a great power exerted by bold men in the name of manual workers. And how far will that go?

COMMODORES.

The country is to have commodores again. This naval grade, ranking between captain and rear admiral, has been made glorious in American history by such holders as Bainbridge and Preble, who fought the North African pirates, and Oliver Hazard Perry, winner of the Battle of Lake Erie in the War of 1812, and famous for his report of the victory. "We have met the enemy, and they are ours."

Later the grade was attained by his brother, Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry, who in 1854 forcibly brought Japan into contact with Western civilization. Though just now this does not appear to have been a bright idea, the fault was neither Perry's nor that of his grade in the navy.

Now, that grade, abandoned in 1899, is to be revived. The house of representatives has just passed a bill restoring the rank of commodore. Though sentiment may enter in, there is also a practical reason. The navy has many posts too important to be held by a captain, and not important enough for a rear admiral.

PARKS.

John R. Tunis, in a magazine article about sports in war, tells of the acquisition by his small Connecticut town of a strip of shoreline. For miles up and down the coast, he says, the shore is owned by rich men who commute to New York city. Unless one could belong to an expensive beach club, one never saw the Sound.

There was, however, one bit owned and operated as an amusement park. The owner wanted to sell. A citizen saw the big chance and called a meeting to see if the town could not buy it. Objections of all kinds were raised, but the man persisted for months. Finally the project was about to be abandoned. Then one taxpayer reminded his neighbors that the reason why the public owned so little shore was that good citizens neglected opportunities to buy it when they arose. The purchase question, then put to vote, won nine to one.

The situation is familiar everywhere. People in new communities can seldom see any sense in putting money into parks. They have all the land and sports they want. But as villages grow, grandchildren wake to find the good parkland in private ownership. Suddenly the need for parks and playgrounds appears, and there's no public recreation land. Establishing these centers then is always expensive out of all proportion to buying such lands early and with foresight.

ACHIEVEMENT.

A clerk in an Omaha drugstore became one of the world's greatest authorities on ancient Egypt. This was the record of James Henry Breasted, founder of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, whose biography has just been issued by his son.

His change in life came through a religious urge which led young Breasted first into a theological school, and then from the study of Hebrew to an interest in the contemporaries of the ancient Hebrews, the Egyptians.

His great feat was the publication of all the Egyptian historical records then known, with translations. He later made important discoveries of Egyptian parallels to the Old Testament. But his memory will probably survive longest for his vivid and scholarly "History of Egypt," which reads like a novel. Such achievements made European scholars realize that, in what had been their own specialty, they were now equaled by an American.

Butler of Rising Star preached there each night of the preceding week. An interesting talk was given in the afternoon on the caste-system of India. And another in the evening, "Glimpses of India," was delivered by a returned missionary, formerly Miss Beatrice Waggoner. The speaker, a bride of three days, was born in India, where her father, Rev. H. T. Waggoner, still carries on work with the lepers and has charge of an orphanage in the northern part of that country. She and her soldier husband, Pvt. R. D. Brubaker from Brownwood, spent the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gill Walker.

COLONIAL BEGINNINGS

AMONG HISTORY'S MOST THRILLING STORIES IS THAT OF OUR MERCHANT MARINE. ITS FIRST CHAPTERS, LIKE MANY LATER ONES, WERE WRITTEN FROM STERN NECESSITY.

IT BEGINS WITH THE TERRIBLE WINTER OF 1607, WHEN THE DISCOURAGED POPHAM COLONISTS ON THE KENNEBEC RIVER, MAINE, HEWED FROM THE FOREST THE FIRST AMERICAN-BUILT COMMERCIAL VESSEL, THE 30 TON PINNACE VIRGINIA, AND SAILED IN HER TO ENGLAND.

THE NEW ENGLAND COLONISTS, LACKING VIRGINIA'S TOBACCO CROP AND FERTILE SOIL TURNED TO THE SEA FOR THEIR LIVELIHOOD.

GREATEST FRIEND OF OUR COLONIAL SHIPPING WAS JOHN WINTHROP, FIRST GOVERNOR OF MASSACHUSETTS, WHOSE TINY SLOOP "BLESSING OF THE BAY," 1630, TRADED ALONG THE NEW ENGLAND COAST AND EVEN WITH THE DUTCH ON MANHATTAN ISLAND.

FROM THOSE MODEST BEGINNINGS, COASTAL AND INTERCOASTAL TRADE GREW STEADILY BY THE TIME OF OUR ENTRANCE INTO THIS WAR, MORE THAN HALF OUR TOTAL TONNAGE WAS DEVOTED EXCLUSIVELY TO THESE OPERATIONS.

Canadian Air Men Cheat Davey Jones

NEW and ingenious methods of locating and rescuing airmen forced down at sea have recently been devised. In R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. records are detailed reports of how hundreds of airmen's lives have been saved from the ocean under conditions which would have meant certain death a few years back.

All this has been achieved despite the many-sided problem presented when land planes are forced to attempt landings on water. Bomber crews are taught how to brace themselves for the impact of a forced landing on water; how to inflate their dinghy and climb into it with minimum loss of time; and how to release pigeons telling their location and the time of the crash. New types of dinghies have been designed and new kinds of food containers developed. Chief among these is the Lindholme sea rescue gear, recently adopted by the R.C.A.F.

A TASTE OF HARDSHIP

People of Cisco got a taste of real hardships of war last Saturday when many persons were unable to buy the common Irish potato — This showed just what countries of Europe have been experiencing for many months.

Let us hope that food will be sufficient for our needs, but let's not grumble if some is scarce. That is just our part of the sacrifice — Soldiers give their lives.

THAT WOUNDED SOLDIER MAY BE YOUR SON

HAVE YOU DONE YOUR PART FOR THE RED CROSS AND OTHER WAR ACTIVITIES?

There is a constant need for war workers of every kind. It may be that the Red Cross chapter needs you to fold bandages or do other work. It may be that you can aid in a dozen other ways to keep service and money rolling to the war front where many brave soldiers — if not your sons, they belong to some other parents — are being wounded in this fight for the survival of civilization.

Tons and tons of ammunition can not continue to be poured out, night after night, unless there is a constant stream flowing to these fronts.

Tons and hundreds of tons of food must keep going across those long ocean miles to keep the fighters as well as the wounded able to go on.

We sometimes grumble because we can't have every thing we want, not pausing to think how thankful we should be for the blessings of being able to remain at home without danger of bullets or shell.

Give all you can to every cause — Don't wait for a drive — give money and service each day of your lives.
