

ROBINSON SAYS GOP. PLATFORM IS REAL JOKE

BITTERLY DENOUNCES ENEMY'S ACCUSATIONS AS BEING THEIR OWN.

CLAIMS ARE ABSURD

"Who Will Be Deceived by This Absurd Pretense?" He Asks Gaping Auditors.

Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Upon taking charge of the democratic national convention this morning, Chairman Robinson bitterly denounced the republican party, its 1920 platform and attacked the senators who fought the League of Nations.

Chairman Robinson in his address assailed the republican party for its Chicago platform, for money spent in pre-convention contests and attacked the senators who fought the League of Nations.

He declared that the big joker in the republican platform was the plank condemning the democratic administration for failure to enforce the anti-profiteering laws enacted by the republican party.

"Who will be deceived by this absurd pretense?" asked Senator Robinson. "The republican party enacted no anti-profiteering laws. The amendments to the food control act were suggested by the president and supported by the democrats in congress. The president recommended four additional measures for the prevention of the penalizing of profiteering. All these were pigeon-holed."

Robinson continued: "Is the democratic administration to be denounced for failing to enforce measures which the republicans refused to pass?"

CHINESE BANDITS SCATTER MAIL TO WINDS IN ROBBERY

CHENG TU, China, June 29.—Depredations of robber bands along trade routes in Szechuen province have become so flagrant and widespread that urgent appeals for the use of troops to combat the menace have been sent to the Chinese provincial authorities by foreign firms operating in Szechuen. The bands of robbers are said to be made up to a large extent of groups of deserters from troops that have been stationed in Szechuen. The outlaws have become so bold that mail consignments, hitherto immune from them, have been seized.

One recent report that was brought to Chengtu was of the robbery of a pack train on the "big road," which is the main highway between Chungking and Chengtu. In this 40 bags of mail were opened and rifled by the outlaws and "the whole hillside was covered with stolen mail."

In another case a caravan had been held up and robbed by a band of bandits when a second stronger band of brigands appeared and compelled the return of the stolen goods. The leader of the smaller band was then shot. The ringleader who did this declared that he had guaranteed the safe passage of this particular caravan, having received a substantial consideration.

The activities of the bandits are felt as much by the individual as by the large commercial interests, in the opinion of one Chengtu mission worker, who said: "It is a grievous hardship to send to America for a suit of clothes, pay for it at the present ruinous prices, wait patiently six months for its arrival, and finally hear that it has been appropriated by robbers within a few days of its destination."

Mary and Douglas' Marriage Caused Preacher Trouble

BUFFALO, June 29.—Strong opposition was manifested here today to the election of the Rev. J. W. Brougher of Los Angeles to the executive committee of the Northern Baptist Association because he married Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford and because of his attitude on divorce.

He was elected over the opposition, however.

WILSON FORCES CARRYING DAY AT CONVENTION

ROBINSON IS SLATED FOR CHAIRMAN; GLASS AND BRYAN LOSE OUT.

REED IS DENIED SEAT

McAdoo Headquarters Opened; "Pro" Question Remains Big Bugaboo.

Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The administration forces went into the second day of the democratic convention apparently in full control of the situation.

Glass and Bryan Excluded. Senator Glass, chairman of the resolutions committee, and William Jennings Bryan were excluded from the sub-committee of nine that has been chosen to actually draft the platform, while Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state, sits on the committee. Colby is the representative of President Wilson.

Robinson Slated for Chairman. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, another administration supporter, is slated for the permanent chairmanship of the convention, while other administration men are being pushed as heads of other committees, was the lineup today.

Administration Fight Collapses. The threatened administration fight in the organization's convention machinery has collapsed without a showing.

The administration forces have strengthened their hold through a series of victories in the credentials committee, which has decided three contests.

Senator Reed Denied Seat. Senator Reed of Missouri, who is against the present national administration, was denied a seat.

Clark Howell Is Seated. Clark Howell, Georgia delegate pledged to Attorney General Palmer, was seated.

The credentials committee overruled the national committee in the case of Oregon, and seated an administration vote.

McAdoo Headquarters Opened. McAdoo headquarters, which were opened today, consist of three rooms to be used for conferences. No publicity campaign in his behalf has been planned.

No claim has been advanced by McAdoo supporters as to the number of votes he will receive on the first or subsequent ballots. Men on the state delegations claim for him anywhere from 250 to 350 votes, with more than 200 second choice votes in sight.

Friends say that McAdoo will run third on the first ballot.

They expect Palmer to lead, with Cox second and that afterward the break will be for McAdoo.

"Pro" Question Still Bothering 'Em. The prohibition question is still causing uneasiness.

PRODIGY, TEN YEARS OLD, ENTERS HIGH SCHOOL

ARMADA, Mich., June 29.—Carol M. Hart, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hart, of this village, is perhaps the youngest child in the state to pass successfully the Michigan eighth grade examinations. Her brother, who is three years her senior, carried the honors of his class in passing, and was second among the 160 of Macomb county students who passed.

STATE BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLES' UNION TO CAMP AT PALACIOS

HOUSTON, Texas, June 29.—Plans for the annual encampment of the State Baptist Young People's Union at Palacios, from June 29 to July 11, have been completed with the expectation of caring for 6,000 people.

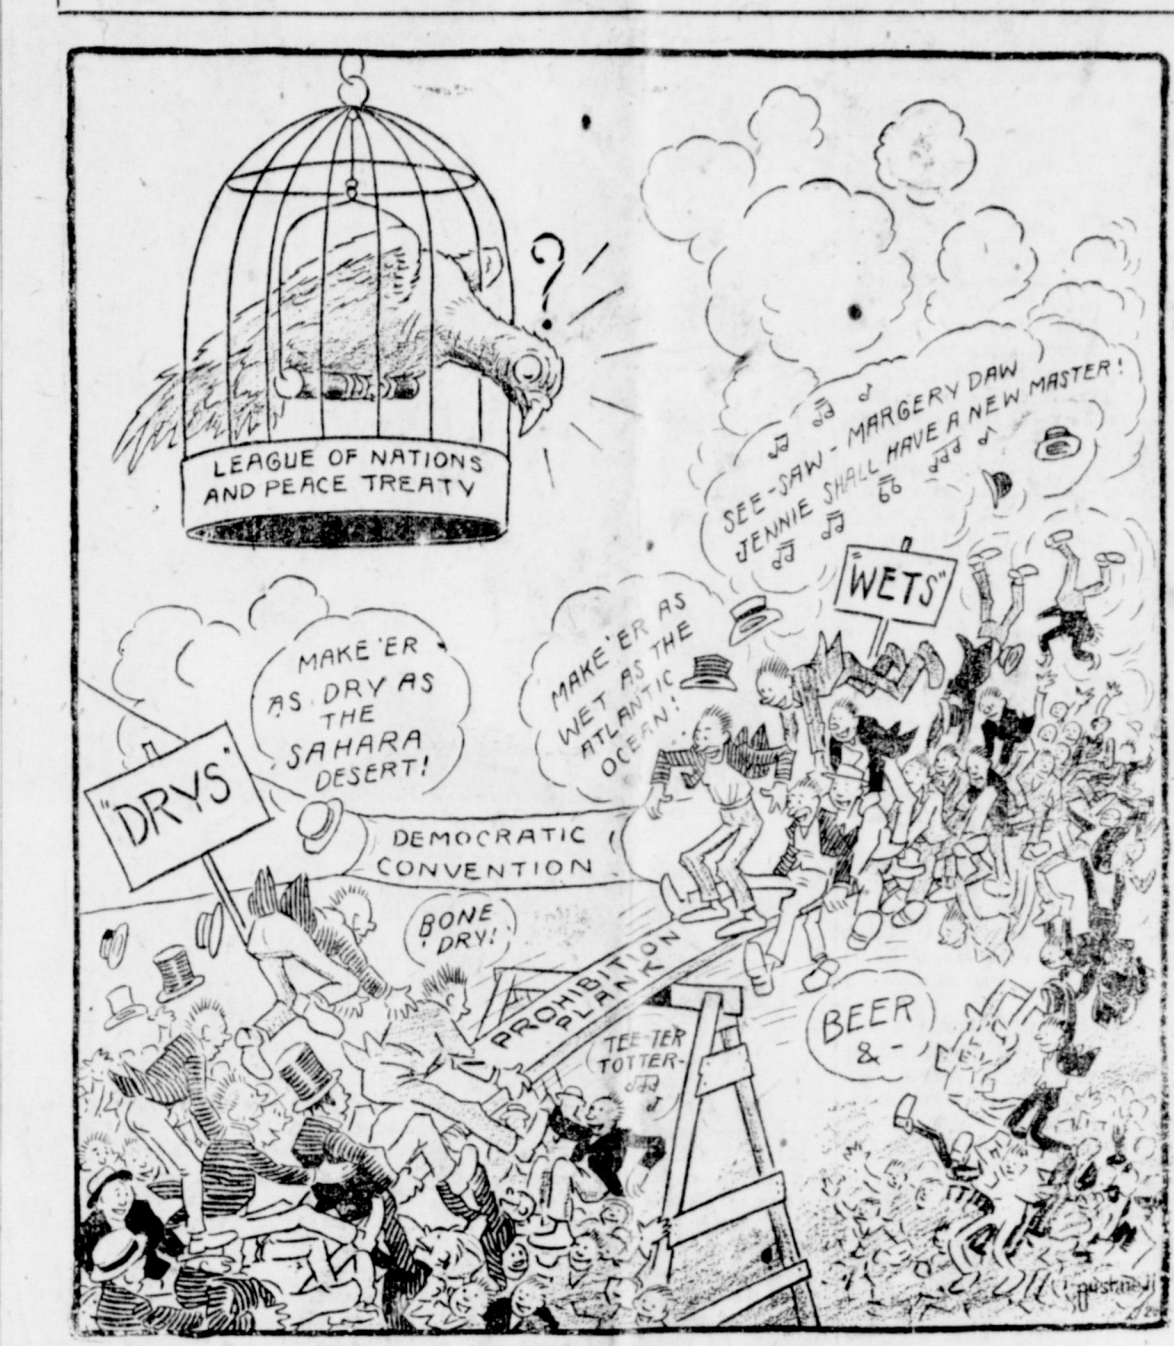

Many acres of land at Palacios on the gulf are owned by the Baptists of the state, and extensive programs of study and recreation are gone through at the encampment here each year.

This year a number of music teachers will attend and mass singing under their direction is expected to be an important feature. Addresses, lectures and other features by leading Baptists and workers of the state are also provided, and all phases of church work will be discussed.

Knows Where They Want to Go. EL PASO, Texas, June 29.—They usually get as far as "How do you get to—" when the gate man in the El Paso station who answers the same question for a large proportion of the incoming passengers, drone out the stereotyped reply:

"Go to the Chamber of Commerce, straight down the street, fronting the station and get a passport. That'll get you into Juarez."

The officials of the league believe in the higher grades of musical entertainment, in hearing the foremost lecturers on economics, socialmanship and kindred subjects, and in seeing reproduced at least one of the late New York comedy successes. The course which the Redpath people are offering for the coming season embraces eight high-class numbers.

Gompers Cautions Democrats Adopt Progressiveness

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Presenting the petition of the American Federation of Labor, Gompers said that unless the democrats took a progressive attitude they could not hope to "compete with a party that has written reaction across its banners. The republican party has formulated a declaration so lacking in principles of progress and safety that there must be some avenue in which intelligent unrest among people can find expression and enforcement.

WAY CLEARED FOR STARTING NOMINATIONS

PLATFORM UNFINISHED; MAY START PRESENTING CANDIDATES TONIGHT.

UNIT RULE CONTESTED

Walsh, Gompers, Anti-Saloon Leaguers and Others Heard This Morning.

Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Actual preparation of the democratic platform, delegated last night to a sub-committee of nine under administration leadership, waited today while the platform committee of 53 kept open house to hear final suggestions and arguments from many sources.

The rules committee has cleared the way for nomination speeches to be delivered, while the resolutions committee is working on the platform.

Three Questions of Debate. The labor, liquor and Irish questions all subjects of disagreement among the party leaders, are up for debate at a committee public hearing and many speakers on lesser controversies are expected to hold hearings later.

When today's session of the democratic convention opened (3 o'clock Texas time), the scheduled program included a report of the credentials committee, a report of the committee on permanent organization, an address from Senator Robinson, the permanent chairman, and a report of the rules and order of business committee. Next in order was the report of the resolutions committee, which was not ready.

The remainder of the day's program depends upon the platform report, which is being anxiously awaited.

As observers studied the make-up of the platform committee it becomes more and more apparent that the real contests would come after the sub-committee report had been laid before the full committee for review.

Bryan May Withhold Planks. Bryan said that he probably would not present his plank on prohibition, League of Nations or other subjects for sub-committee consideration.

Frank P. Walsh was granted a hearing on the Irish question. Representatives of the Anti-Saloon League were among those appearing on prohibition.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was granted a hearing on the requests of organized labor.

Unit Rule Contested

The committee on rules was asked today whether or not a state delegation could be bound by the unit rule. The New York delegation came to the convention with 90 votes bound by such rule which was passed at the state convention over the protest of several members who have renewed the fight here.

After a night of success the administration forces in control of the convention today pressed home to victory.

Whether or not a combination of opposing forces can be accomplished to stem the tide has not been revealed.

There is no assurance that committee interest among the administration forces will continue when the time for balloting comes, however.

Await Platform

Many believe that there will be no drafting of presidential sentiment until the platform has been adopted and it is known definitely upon what party principles the various candidates expect to stand.

May Offer Nomination Tonight

Delegates are expectant as to whether nomination speeches will be reached today or tonight. Speeches may be delivered before the platform has been adopted, but the rules committee held that there could be no balloting until a declaration of principles has been decided upon.

CITY TO CALL PARK-HOSPITAL BOND ELECTION

COMMISSION DECIDES TO PUT QUESTION TO A VOTE OF PEOPLE.

$100,000 IS INVOLVED

Action Taken Upon Presentation of Petition Signed by 129 Property Owners.

Associated Press.

Whether or not Cisco is to have a municipal hospital and public parks will be put to a vote of the people.

This was the decision of the City Commission in regular session at the city hall Monday evening.

A petition carrying the signatures of 129 property owners of this city was laid before the commission at the opening of their meeting. The list of names was canvassed. After a brief discussion the commissioners agreed that the petition represented sufficient weight of popular approval to warrant the calling of a special bond election.

The petition asks for a vote of the people on the question of whether bonds in an amount not to exceed $100,000 shall be issued for the purpose of erecting a municipal hospital where the medical practitioners of this and adjacent cities of the county may bring their cases, and also for the purpose of setting aside and improving pieces of ground within the city limits for pleasure parks.

The city attorney has been instructed to draw up the necessary forms for the calling of the election, the date of which has not as yet been determined upon.

Romantic Hammocks Now Supplanted by Staid Porch Swings

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, June 29.—Along with the old oaken bucket, declared a dealer here recently, this age of efficiency has relegated the old cloth hammock, which in days gone by was considered almost a necessity in every home possessing marriageable females, to the port of missing things.

"It is true," this ancient and observant furniture man declared, "that the hammock looked like an exaggerated fish net, and was as tricky as a Texas mustang, but it was designed, with the aid of moonlight and stardust, to overcome bashfulness and the girl who could keep one right side up long enough was almost sure to escape spinsterhood."

"The hammock has been going for six or more years, and is demise may now be called accomplished. I have sold one in months, and I doubt if we have one in stock. Wooden porch swings which stay right side up and are suspended by chains, have in the main replaced them; although there is a modified form of the old hammock, so different as to be hardly recognizable, now growing popular. It is more commodious, more comfortable, has an awning to protect its occupants from the sun, and is much more stable on its hangings."

"The hammock belonged to an earlier era—an era that was crude and is dead."

TEXAS U. STAR HURDLER IN NEW ORLEANS MEET

AUSTIN, Texas, June 29.—Joe Moss, star hurdler of the University of Texas, is now in New Orleans for a preliminary meet. If he wins out there his next opponent in the hurdle race will be Tommy Thompson, the Canadian, who broke the world record of 19.3 a few days ago and set the new record of 19.2. At a recent trial race Moss came within 1.5 of a second of the old world record set by Bob Simpson. Up to the discovery of Thompson, Simpson was the greatest hurdler who ever ran on a track.

Convicts of Kansas Make Enough Twine for Wheat Harvest

TOPEKA, Kans., June 29.—The bindery twine plant at Lansing has manufactured 2,000,000 pounds of twine for the current harvest, the entire amount having been distributed to farmers and farmers' organizations. It is estimated that Kansas farmers will use this year 25,000,000 pounds of bindery twine, principally on the wheat crop.

It will cost the farmers much less to bind their wheat this year than last. As compared with price, around 21 cents last year, the convict-made twine, which is sold for less than the current market price, this year brought 14.5 cents a pound, net, in small lots, and 14.25 cents in carlots.

ARE WE CRAMPED BY BIAS?

The following article came to this desk as a news item. It is an editorial.

It lays bare the source of discontent in isolated communities and leads us to wonder how far some of the conditions mentioned maintain in this city.

But read this news-item-editorial carefully, and then let's talk it over:

"Every road one takes into the country is decorated with signs offering farms for sale," said a Texarkana banker recently. "I have looked profoundly for the answer. It does not lie with the land. It lies with the community life, which lacks those elements of self-expression so necessary to bring contentment and a happy family. It is one of schools and roads."

The banker then quoted a prominent farmer he had interviewed in his search for the solution of the problem upon which he declared "our whole industrial fabric depends," as follows:

"It isn't a question of my liking my neighbor or his liking me," stated the farmer. "The merits of each of us in the other's eyes govern our likes and dislikes, but I may work my fingers to the bone amid unfavorable surroundings during an unfavorable season in an effort to utilize every moment of daylight. I am tired at the end of the day and very probably in a pessimistic spirit, which makes me a pronounced bore to my family, and, as such, contribute to their gloom. If I meet my neighbor in a community gathering the first thing either of us will do, probably, after a banal discussion of the weather and crops, is to start a little argument among ourselves about some fool, nonsensical proposition at which we would laugh in the freshness of the morning. But it obscures our vision. In a community where every man, woman and child knows intimately the affairs of every other man, woman and child, it is not easy to prevent petty bickering when we meet. It is simply because there doesn't seem to be anything to discuss."

"We lack public library privileges, where we can improve our thoughts in those rarer moments when we are not at work in the field. We lack good roads, on which we can take a spin to town in the evening and give our families the pleasure of seeing the movies or some other attraction. In fact, we lack so many privileges enjoyed by townspeople that it is not difficult because I feel them myself—to feel those symptoms by which many farmers are looking upon townspeople as a large preferred class of citizenry in the vast scheme of things. If our difficulties could be met, you would see a wonderful change."

Is there any of us who, at some time in his life, has not felt this smothering sense of abject isolation?

Is there any of us who has not felt the keen pangs of hunger for the outside?

Day after day we see the same people, the same streets, the same buildings, the same stretches of field. Our imagination and longing is by no means satisfied with the knowledge that wherever one goes the people are pretty much alike, the buildings fashioned after some standard form of architecture, and the fields about the same as they were thousands of years ago.

But if the same effort we expend in yearning to be elsewhere were concentrated upon bringing the outside world to our own city we would be far better off. The very cities we crave most to visit and live in were not built by people who wanted to be somewhere else.

The Texarkana farmer speaks of the petty bickering that is sure to arise in community meetings: One of the reasons he ascribes is that every one knows every one else intimately.

It is unfortunate, but nevertheless true, that as familiarity breeds contempt, so too intimate a knowledge of our neighbors breeds dissension.

It is almost impossible to listen with an unbiased interest to our neighbor who rises to address us in a public gathering. Whenever we see him there is always associated with his person the fact that his grandfather once cheated our grandfather in a horse trade, or else there is fresh in our minds some gossip about his family that we heard from the wife over the breakfast table that morning.

But suppose that we had never seen that man before? Suppose that he came to us from some large city with a plausible solution for our problems? Draw your own conclusion.

The quicker we stop this feudal practice of hunting our neighbors with shot guns, actually or figuratively, and begin to take them at their face value, the better it will be for all of us and for the city we are trying to build.

The only basis upon which we will ever arrive at the status of mutual respect and concentrated effort is for us to look one another in the face and adopt the policy of considering one another in the attitude of "Not who you are, but what you are striving to do for the benefit of all of us."

There is none of us whose entire life will stand a microscopic inspection, and it is a mean and little thing to take advantage of the fact that we have a detailed list of the faults and shortcomings of our neighbors to dangle before their eyes at times when they are earnestly striving to do something.

But the principal complaint of the Texarkana farmer was that the people of his community lack recreation. We can sympathize in his state of feeling acutely.

We have good picture shows here and a baseball park. We have good lodges and a general social activity.

But still we have not brought the outside world to us in any appreciable degree. What we lack here most in that respect is a good public library.

Let's begin to work for it now.

SUMMER SCHOOL NOW HAS 1,750

Men's Council Appointments: Senior Class Organized; Expected Second Session Will Outstrip First

AUSTIN, June 28.—Students of the summer normal of the University of Texas are still coming in. The total registration of these students and those of the summer school for the first session is 1750, which is an increase over last year's registration at this time of approximately 130. It is expected that the attendance of the second session will be larger than last year.

Appointment has just been made of members of the men's council of the summer session. The men appointed are as follows:

Department of education, Richard O. A. Jones, chairman, department of law, Thomas E. Hayden, department of engineering, Palmer Massey, college of arts, E. A. Dittmar, graduate department, J. Thomas Davis, councilman at large, J. R. Reynolds.

The duties of these men will be practically the same as those of the councilmen during the long session. They will have charge of all cases of breaches of the honor system except those discipline cases that come under the jurisdiction of the faculty discipline committee.

Temporary organization of the senior class has been accomplished, and plans for a permanent organization made. The purposes of the organization are the furthering of acquaintance and fellowship among the members of the class, the planning for commencement, and the formation of a permanent organization with a permanent secretary to keep the members of the class closely organized in the ex-students' association. J. T. Brinkley, instructor in biological science at the West End High School of Houston, was selected temporary chairman, and Ruby A. Black, of Thornton, temporary publicity chairman.

CLIFF DWELLERS SCORNED MARRIAGE RITE BUILT IN TEXAS

POSED AS MAN AND WIFE; DUPED. FIGHTS ARTIST FOR SON

DALLAS, Tex., June 28.—That the change from the buffalo lodge teepees to the construction by the Pueblo cliff dwellers began in the Texas Panhandle and, as the culture developed, the Indians moved westward and perfected the cliff dwellers pueblos in the valleys of the Colorado and the Rio Grande, is the conclusion of W. K. Moorehead, director of an archaeological survey, now working in Canadian and Cimarron valleys.

In a letter made public by C. E. Bombard, a Dallas newspaper publisher, Mr. Moorehead said ancient ruins, hitherto unknown, had been discovered in four northwestern Texas and two Oklahoma counties. In addition, he said, ancient irrigation ditches had been found in Clark county, Kansas, and in the valleys of the Beaver and Canadian rivers. The newly discovered ruins extend through some 200 miles of almost inaccessible canyons, according to the letter.

For 25 years Mr. Moorehead has been engaged searching Indian remains. In his present researches he is associated with J. B. Thoburn, secretary of the Oklahoma Historical Society, Eldridge R. F. Johnson of the University of Pennsylvania, Ralph Borr, a Maine guide, and Norwood Eldridge and George MacKwan. For more than two months the party has been excavating and photographing the Indian ruins.

"These have been unknown to archaeologists," said Moorehead in his letter. "The expedition has worked in four counties in Northwest Texas and two in Oklahoma and has observed more than a hundred stone foundations of small buildings."

"These are scattered through almost inaccessible canyons, and are usually located in very wild places. There are a few exceptions, notably on Wolf Creek, in Ochiltree county, where the ruins lie on an open plain. These have been noted by travelers in the past years."

"But large groups of these ancient stone buildings on Cottonwood, Tharbox and Antelope creeks were unknown and unexplored. The same is true of many small buildings on the Archie King ranch, 40 miles above Canadian, Texas."

"A number of these ruins were dug out and it was found the foundations were three to four and a half feet in height, the stones placed on edge, and that mud or adobe was used to hold the stones in position. On top of these low walls probably small logs or poles were placed and covered with dirt. The buildings vary from 20 to 70 feet in diameter and are square or rectangular. They do not appear to be circular. Near them are many stone graves. At one location 100 of these graves were counted."

"Explorations of the graves and the foundations revealed broken pottery, bone implements, stone knives and other Indian stone tools. It is the belief of members of the expedition that these small structures mark the beginning of the Pueblo cliff dweller culture, that the change from buffalo lodge teepees to the stone construction began in the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma. As the culture developed the Indians moved westward and perfected the cliff dwellers' Pueblo culture in the valleys of the Colorado and Rio Grande."

"The expedition also found ancient irrigation ditches in Clark county, Kansas near Englewood. Other ancient irrigation ditches are to be found in the valleys of the Beaver and the Canadian."

"The oldest settlers found them there when the country was settled in 1887. They do not appear to be of Mexican origin. The oldest Comanches, Apaches and Kiowa were interviewed at Anadarko, Oklahoma. They remember hunting buffalo through the region where these stone houses occurred, but the houses, they said, were old when they first saw them."

"These ruins extend through some 200 miles of territory, and are similar in character. They were not built by the Pueblo Indians after these people had developed their fine pottery art. If so, some of the Pueblo pottery would have been found in the ruins. We have more than 250 Indian photographs that were found in canyons near Kenton, Oklahoma. These are of great interest, portraying the buffalo life size in color, and others showing Rocky Mountain sheep, deer, antelope, and human figures. These should be preserved before they are further damaged by vandals."

BOUGHT FALSE TEETH, THEN FED HIM 'LOTS'

International News Service. TULSA, Okla., June 29.—"Honest Judge, she hasn't cooked me a square meal in a year. She even made me trim my own hair," L. Matthews, seeking a divorce from his "better half," declared in the district court here the other day.

Then Mrs. Matthews had something to say. "Why, Judge, that's ridiculous," she shrieked. "The first thing I did after marrying that man was to buy him a set of false teeth so he could eat. Ever since then I've worked overtime keeping his stomach full."

The case was taken under advisement.

By Margery Rex.

International News Service. NEW YORK, June 28.—A legal fight to wrest the custody of Constant Lucas Fliermans III from his mother, Miss Henrietta Bernardino Collet, has been opened in the supreme court here. The action is brought by Mrs. Katrina Paxton of Chicago, a sister of the boy's father, Constant Lucas Fliermans Jr., of Holland, an artist and art dealer of wealth.

Mrs. Paxton, through her attorney, Edwin T. Murdock, brought habeas corpus proceedings in the supreme court, but the writ was dismissed by Justice DeWeese. Murdock declares the writ was dismissed due to a technicality and not because of lack of merit. Both Miss Collet and her attorney declare they will fight every move to wrest the boy from them.

Miss Collet has her boy with her and is watching him day and night in fear that an attempt will be made to kidnap him. "If the boy's father ever comes to this country," declared Miss Collet, "I will have him compelled to support his son and myself. I don't care whether he lives with me or not, or even if he supports me, but he must provide for his son. I shall continue to work whether he provides for me or not."

Miss Collet, who lived with Fliermans in his wife for six years told her story to a reporter. "She said she had met Fliermans on a transatlantic steamship when she was returning to Holland in 1914 after a year spent here. Shortly after Fliermans got to Holland he was divorced from his first wife, to whom he was forced to pay alimony, which he is still paying."

In the same year, at The Hague, Miss Collet alleges, he asked her to live with him as his wife, declaring he would not go through the marriage ceremony again as he did not believe in it. He told her she would be his wife, though, in every sense of the word.

"I do not believe in the marriage ceremony or certificate myself," declared Miss Collet, "and as I thought the man sincere I agreed and told my parents. They were furious, but Fliermans persuaded them that everything would be all right and that I was in every way his wife. They were finally reconciled to the plan. Two children were born to us. A little girl died in her eighth month. We were happy for a year or so, then he began to tire of me. We moved to California a few years ago and he began to ill treat me, swearing in anger and beating me."

"For a time we resided in this city. In 1919 he asked me to affix my name to a paper in his lawyer's office. I didn't know what I was signing at the time."

The papers include a remarkable agreement signed by Miss Collet and Fliermans in the law office of Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier on August 24, 1919. The agreement shows that the two met at The Hague, Holland, on August 1, 1914, and at once entered into the relations of man and wife. The agreement gives the custody of the child to the artist's sister in Chicago and also sets forth that the couple are not and never have been married by any civil or religious ceremony or by any form of contract or even by the common law.

It further states that they never intended to be married, and that their posing as man and wife has been with the intent to deceive the world, so that they might with apparent propriety live the life they chose.

Either party is at liberty to terminate the agreement at any time, it is stated. Miss Collet declared Fliermans is wealthy and that, although he paid thousands of dollars for oil paintings, automobiles, travels and luxury for himself, he forced her to wear second-hand clothing and shoes. He also objected to her making friends in this country and kept her restricted to the house as much as possible so that she had very little enjoyment. She said he is much older than she, he being 48 and suffering from a permanent ailment, while she is only 30, and fond of an active life. He wished to restrict her to the house so that she might not learn the customs and speech of people here, she maintained, so that he might continue his power over her.

"I believe that from the first," she said, "he meant to deceive me, and that his plan is a cold-blooded and well-calculated one. His scheming went so far as to introduce me generally among people of good social standing as his wife, and every one took me for Mrs. Fliermans. He even made a will in my favor and showed it to me, possibly to quell any distrust I might have had. I continued to believe to the last he was sincere and trusted him explicitly."

Miss Reba Carter has graduated from the high school in Marion, Ill., with the remarkable record of having never been tardy nor missed a day's attendance during her entire school career of twelve years.

NEW FIRST SACKER IN

Two More Games at Gorman Before Second Half Begins July 1.

Special to The News.

GORMAN, Tex., June 28.—Inability to hit Baldrige when hits would have produced runs prevented Cisco from winning the game here today. Erishman started for Gorman but was knocked out in the third when Earnshaw cleaned the bases with a home run with three on.

Gorman secured nine hits off Cruise, but he was accorded rough support by his teammates. H. Baldrige did not allow a hit during the six innings he pitched. The same teams play again here Tuesday and Wednesday, finishing the first half of the split season.

"Departed Spirits" Are Shown in "The Six Best Cellars"

No precious jewel was ever guarded more closely than were five innocent-looking boxes at the Laezy studio during the filming of "The Six Best Cellars," the new picture starring Bryant Washburn at the Judia Theatre this afternoon and tonight. "Extras" and members of the cast could be found eyeing them wistfully during intervals in the action. "Johannesberger Bewern Auslese, 1878," stenciled on the boxes, was the explanation. They contained full bottles of one of the rarest vintages of wine in existence.

"The Six Best Cellars" is an amusing story about Prohibition in which the "Johnny Berger" plays a prominent part. Director Donald Crisp wanted some samples of the real thing for the picture. But in these days it was like searching for the proverbial needle to locate it. Finally a former brewer magnate, now a millionaire living in retirement in Los Angeles, was induced to loan the cases from his private stock.

In the picture Bryant Washburn has the role of the leading light in an exclusive social set of young married people depends largely upon the stock of choice drinkables in his cellar. When this runs low, he makes frantic efforts to recoup, with humorous results. Wanda Hawley is the leading woman, and it is a Paramount Artercraft picture directed by Donald Crisp.

BALLGRAPHS

By ANDY GUMP.

W. D. Herring, president of the Cisco baseball club, announced Monday that he had received a wire from Tim Griesebeck in which the big Scout catcher said he would arrive in Cisco Wednesday morning. This is indeed good news to the Scout fans. Chapman has been doing fine work behind the bat, but needs a rest, and then that big stick of Tim's will come in mighty handy when the team makes that dash at the first of the second half of the split season. Welcome, Timothy.

Higginbotham, the Scouts' new first sacker, played his initial game yesterday at Gorman. This boy looks like a ball player and handles himself at bat like one. Although he was called out on strikes in Sunday's game, when he went in as a pinch hitter, he stood up there and hit at the old ball like he knew how.

James Maloney, the honorable manager of the Eastland Judges, was in Cisco early Monday morning, and say, fans, you know what he wanted—well, he wanted to trade Thornton for Tommy Harding. Jim, Jim—do we look easy? Tom Harding stays here as utility player. He may not be the most finished utility man in the state, but he has the original pep, is in the game all the time, and when it comes to breaking up that old game he can generally be depended upon to get a hit. No, James, we don't care for some. We got any.

Lefty Phillips started again at Eastland Monday, and again was jerked after Ranger had counted seven runs with two down in the fourth inning of a night mare. James Maloney essayed to pitch, and at that had lefty skinned forty ways.

The Scouts play two more games at Gorman, winding up the last games of the first half of the split season. Then they go to Mineral Wells for four games at the beginning of the second half; they then go to Ranger where they play two games on July 5 and one each on July 6 and 7. They return home July 8 for a three-day session with Mineral Wells, and then Abilene comes for three games.

MUSICAL COMEDY AT NATIONAL THIS WEEK

In a snappy musical comedy bill, "A Night Out," the Southern Beauties Musical Comedy company pleased a large audience last night at the National Open Air Theatre. Barney Tassell leads the company as comedian, and his character is different than any that has been seen at the National this season. Larry Ball, called the American Harry Lauder, was encored many times.

The Castle Square quartet was brought back a number of times and the specialties as a whole were very good. This company will remain at the National all this week and will introduce new specialties each night and a new bill also.

RUTH WILL BEAT HIS OWN RECORD

HAS EIGHTY-SEVEN GAMES IN WHICH TO MAKE NINE HOMERS.

SISLER GOES AHEAD

Leading American League With Average of .416—Speaker Is Second.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Babe Ruth, the New York slugger, today has 87 games in which to wallop out nine home runs to shatter the record of 29 established by himself last season when a member of the Boston Americans.

In his remarkable drive toward a new world's record, Ruth crashed out his twentieth homer Wednesday, driving a ball off Pitcher Schooner in St. Louis into the right field bleachers. There was no one on base at the time, but Ruth trotted around the bases, laid his club aside and began to figure on his twenty-first homer. He is sixth in batting with an average of .355. He has made two since and increased his average to .359.

George Sisler, the St. Louis star, who is leading the American league, boosted his average to .416—eight points within a week. This Speaker of Cleveland managed to cling to second place with .384. Speaker tops the league in scoring, having counted 57 runs in 58 games. Ruth has crossed the plate 55 times in 54 games.

Rice of Washington is running away with honors in base stealing. He has stolen 25, while Bobby Roth, his teammate, is next in line with 19. Sisler is third with 15.

Other leading batters: Johnson, Cleveland, .365; Milan, Washington, .359; Weaver, Chicago, .352; Felsch, Chicago, .343; Jacobson, St. Louis, .341; Judge, Washington, .339; Rice, Washington, .338; Hendryx, Boston, .335.

St. Louis, which has been clamoring for baseball distinction for years, is finding solace in the batting performances of Sisler and Roger Hornsby. Hornsby is in no immediate danger of being ousted from the batting leadership of the National league, the averages including Wednesday's game giving him .391. Nicholson of Pittsburgh is trailing him in second place with .359. Roush of Cincinnati is third with .337.

Hornsby threatens to pass Cy Williams of Philadelphia in home run hitting. Williams has belted out seven, while Hornsby has six to his credit. Max Carey of Pittsburgh, in setting the pace for the base stealers, has a total of 19. Roush of Cincinnati and Hollocher of Chicago are next up with 14 each.

Other leading batters: Robertson, Chicago, .335; Daubert, Cincinnati, .333; Flack, Chicago, .325; Duncan, Cincinnati, .323; Kelly, New York, .317; Myers, Brooklyn, .317; Young, New York, .316; Groh, Cincinnati, .311.

Box Containing $5,000 Carried Off in Rubbish

International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Afraid to trust his life savings of more than 5,000 to a bank, Gaetano Musso, of the Bronx, kept the money in a tin box. While dusting a bureau on which the box lay, Musso's young daughter knocked the box out of a window. Musso has offered a reward of $1,000 for the return of the box with the contents intact.

Antoinette, the daughter, said that when the box fell to the sidewalk two small boys kicked it about for a while and finally threw it into a rubbish can at the curb. Not long after the can was emptied into a rubbish cart.

It has been estimated that had there been no wars and no epidemics, the present population of the world, 1,512,000,000, could have been descended from a single couple in 1,782 years.

One of the most successful and competent business women in America is Mrs. F. C. Bosler, owner and active manager of a 50,000-acre ranch in eastern Wyoming.

CISCO ARCHITECT GETS SEVERAL BIG CONTRACTS

The Delinquent Children's Home building, Waco, which is to be erected this year at a cost of $30,000, for which the State of Texas has made appropriations, will have as its architect one of Cisco's architects, E. H. Reed, as he has just received word that he is the lucky contender for such honors.

And with this good news comes others in the form of advising Reed that he is to be the architect for the building to be erected at Colorado, Texas, for the National Bank of that place, to cost over $100,000, and also the new Presbyterian church edifice, at the same place, to cost approximately $40,000.

The actual construction of these buildings is to start immediately, Reed informs us.

THE H. L. WINCHELLS ENTERTAIN PRESBYTERIANS

Monday night the elegant home of the H. L. Winchells, at 506 West Second street, was thrown open to the members and friends of the Presbyterian church in an entertainment that the participants were prone to leave after several hours' hospitable conversation.

As the lawn was brilliantly lighted and beautifully decorated, a large number engaged in various forms of amusement, games, stunts and singing old-time songs. It was an old-fashioned party in which cordiality and general good fellowship prevailed, so everybody had a good time and a good hearty laugh at some of the stunts of some of the older and more dignified members.

The children, too, had their play ground and the peals of laughter indicated that they were enjoying themselves. Everybody seemed to vie with each other in trying to make every one have a good time.

The host and hostess were the leaders in all happy suggestion for games and stunts. Refreshments were served to the more than one hundred who participated in this entertainment. Before the festivities were over a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Winchell and their daughters of the evening's delight.

MISS BENHAM ENTERTAINS WITH SWIMMING PARTY

One of the most diversified and delightful parties thus far this season was given by Miss Sarah Maude Benham Monday evening. It might have been called a most successful motor party, swimming party, picnic or dancing party for it was all of these combined in a pleasant and harmonious succession.

Twelve or more couples met at Miss Benham's home on West Sixth street and motored to Lake Doshan. Several hours were spent in swimming and boating on the lake after which an appetizing lunch was served beneath the arc lights along the shore, and served to a hungry crowd.

A spontaneous desire to complete the pleasures of the evening with an impromptu dance took the party to the Elks' Hall. A negro orchestra was commandeered from somewhere and the motor-swimming-picnic party fox trotted and waltzed until 12.

Miss Benham's mother, Mrs. Henry Benham, was a delightful chaperone. The personnel of the party included: Miss Lucile Brown, Miss Addie Fee, Miss Mary Fee, Miss Sarah Lee, Miss Francis Dorsey, Miss Maurine Mancill, Miss Gussie Newcomb, Miss Bettie Newcomb, Miss Lillian Coffey, Miss McMillan, Miss Lucile McCrea, Miss Ruth Williamson, Miss Lillian Church of Corsicana, Mrs. Henry Benham, Mr. and Mrs. Jim B. Holloway, Mr. and Mrs. Blankenbecker, Mr. Edenberg, Mr. McDuffy, Neil Hitt, G. Galloway, Mr. Roseman, Dick Brown, John Kelly, Stuart Williams, Bill Earl, Bob Handen, Carl Williams, Chapman Williamson, Glenn Tucker, John Marka, Mr. Woods, Claud Flores of Baird.

MISS MARGUERITE NUTTING BRIDE OF JOHN COLQUITT

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place Sunday at St. Rita's Rectory in Ranger, when Miss Marguerite Nutting attractive Cisco society girl, became the bride of John W. Colquitt, well known oil man of Cisco.

The Rev. Father O'Mally performed the ceremony. The attendants of the bride and groom were Miss Leta Wild and John Kelly. The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Merket, of this city. Her home was formerly in Salamanca, New York, where she was graduated from high school in 1916. Upon coming to Texas she attended school at St. Dominic's Villa at Lampasas.

The groom is a nephew of former Governor O. B. Colquitt of Texas. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Colquitt, live at 317 West Jefferson street, Dallas. Mr. Colquitt spent 16 months in the service as regimental sergeant major in the adjutant general's department at Camp Travis. He has been with the local headquarters of the Sunnis Oil Company for the past year.

The bride and groom will visit the parents of the groom on their honeymoon trip and will return sometime early in July.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Godbey, 801 West Seventh street, have taken leave of Cisco for an extended trip and sojourn among friends and relatives in the old states. Disappointed
But it could not be prevented. Our salespeople have been faithful and have been working early to late, but they have been unable to wait on all who came to the big sale. The sale began last Friday and every day, all day long, the store has been crowded, and on Saturday at time one-half of the people could not be waited on. We are sorry for this. It may be that they have failed to get first choice of the goods they wanted, but we invite them to return, as the sale will last some few days longer. We are proud of the fact that the people realize that they have an opportunity to get goods cheap, and to know that they have confidence in our advertising.
We will make some additional reductions on a few articles for two or three days. Read the prices below:
