Ethiopia Reports Italian Column Routed

Through the
Editor's Spectacles
By GEORGE

If people went from other cities to the TCU - SMU game at Fort Worth Saturday in the proportion that they went from Cisco the time is upon us when bigger stadia and bigger parking grounds will be required of our southwestern colleges and universities to accommodate the spectators. I do not see for the life of myself how the TCU stadium could accommodate such a swarm. Mrs. Velma Hayden, who goes to her duties as assistant postmaster between 5 and 6 each morning, told me that at that early hour streams of cars were passing through Cisco from the west, headed for Fort Worth. Cafes were peopled with transients who paused here for breakfast in the trek to the game.

The situation was reminiscent of the days when high school football reached its peak in this section of the state. Then was the days when the Oil Belt was awelter with excitement each fall and 10,000 - capacity seating stadia were being built out of the profits of the big games.

Folks elsewhere thought we were crazy out here then. If Fort Worth and Dallas thought so, they ought to look to their own community mentality this time. To such a pitch did the excitement rise last week that one could detect in comment from afar and the writings of visiting scribes a sort of sympathetic sarcasm for the two rival towns. It was interesting to read between the lines of some of the writers upon the pre-game situation. In the articles of Joe Williams, for instance, there cropped out a few times - at least I thought so - a patronizing regard for the steamed-up fervor of these down-Southwest folks who were just getting a taste of national prominence in football.

But the play comes back to us this week. Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm invades the Breckenridge fair for the third bi-district meeting of high school teams from their cities Saturday afternoon at 2:30. It will be the second meeting on Breckenridge soil. Each has a win over the other to its credit. Saturday's battle will break the tie.

Jap Commander Proclaims Plan For Autonomy

SHANGHAI, Nov. 30. (AP)—A correspondent of the Rengo Agency reported today that the Japanese commander at the Peiping-Tientsin garrison had issued a circular telegram proclaiming the intention of Hoeh and Chahar provinces to form an autonomous state.

It was widely rumored here that the proclamation of autonomy may be made Monday.

A vehement note of protest against the alleged Japanese seizure of the Chinese postoffice in the North China demilitarized zone has been presented to Japan by China.

"Time is near for new northern developments," a Japanese spokesman said.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fee of Colorado were guests Friday night of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fee enroute to Fort Worth to attend the football game.

Weather

West Texas - Sunday fair and colder in the north portion.
East Texas - Sunday, partly cloudy and colder in the northwest and northcentral portions.

183 ITALIANS ARE REPORTED TO BE KILLED

Britain Satisfied With Mussolini's "Change of Tune"

(By Associated Press)
Ethiopia announced today that the Italian column had been surprised and routed east of Mussa Ali, and said that 183 Italians and 70 Ethiopians were killed during the fighting. Great Britain is said to be satisfied with Mussolini's "change of tune" since receiving the French warning against the unprovoked attack of the British Mediterranean fleet. Emperor Selassie has arrived at Dessye, to take personal charge of the campaign in that area.

TENSION REPORTED TO BE EASED

(By Associated Press)
The Franco-British collaboration, informed London sources said today, has eased the international tension in the Mediterranean.

Talk of the Italo-British crisis over the oil embargo question had simmered down after France had warned Italy against an unprovoked attack on the British fleet.

Mussolini's cabinet approved the plans for strengthening Italy's supreme council of defense. A communique announced that the committee membership had been enlarged to include many new officials. It is regarded as a move to assure that in no aspect of the nation's defensive position has been overlooked.

The new Italian commander, General Badoglio, indicated his intention to press the campaign.

MILLS ATTACK AAA LEGALITY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. (AP)—The Hoosac Mills, of Massachusetts, today filed its brief attacking the AAA as unconstitutional, with the supreme court, answering the government's appeal from the circuit court decision, holding the original AAA taxes invalidly. It also agreed complete the constitutionality test of the AAA, as enacted and amended.

O'Brien to Make Race for Collector

EASTLAND, Nov. 30. (AP)—C. H. O'Brien, for several years an employee in the tax collector's office at Eastland has announced that he had definitely decided to be a candidate for the combined office of tax assessor and collector for the coming year and would make a formal announcement shortly after the first of January.

Peanut Producers Must Share Benefit Payments With Tenants, Says Warning

EASTLAND, Nov. 30.—Peanut producers who do not pay share tenants or share croppers their proportionate rate of government benefit payments are subjecting their contracts to cancellation and repayment of all money to the comptroller of the United States. This was the information received by County Agent C. Metz Heald after inquiry to E. A. Miller, extension agronomist, in charge of the peanut program, at College Station.

"You will note that the contract provides that producers are required to pay their share tenants or share croppers their proportionate part of the benefit payment. In cases where the producers refuse to make this payment to their tenants or share croppers,

Noted Mayo Staff Surgeon Succumbs

CHICAGO, Nov. 30. (AP)—Dr. Edward Judd, 57 years of age, chief of the surgical staff of the Mayo clinic and former president of the American Medical association, died today of pneumonia. He was a world renowned surgeon.

Protest Against Insult to Minister

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. (AP)—In a formal protest to Secretary Hull, Ghaffar Djalal, Persian minister, demanded punishment for the Elktion, Maryland, policeman who handcuffed and otherwise "insulted" Djalal when the latter was arrested for speeding.

WALKOUT OF WPA LABORERS THREATENED

Fewer Hours and More Workers Demanded by Leaders

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 30. (AP)—A walk-out of thousands of workers on the Texas WPA jobs loomed today after a meeting of prominent state labor leaders who demanded fewer hours and more employes on the projects.

It was decided to address the demands to Harry Hopkins after an interview with Harry Drought, state administrator, proved "unsatisfactory."

Should Washington ignore the demands a general strike will be called.

W. B. Arnold, president of the state federation of labor, said that union labor demanded that hours per month be cut from 140 to 70, with employes doubled as a result.

He said, "We mean business on this thing."

REALITY FIRM IS ROBBED

FORT WORTH, Nov. 30. (AP)—Two robbers, one with a sawed-off shotgun, the other with a pistol, held up and bound three men in the City Realty company's office above a crowded downtown street, and fled through the crowds with over $180 this morning.

John Reagan, operator of the realty firm; Dr. E. A. Sibley and Frank Lanham were in the office on the second floor when the men came in. They were bound, hand and foot, and their lips sealed with adhesive tape during the robbery.

Low Caste Hindus Abjure Old Faith Shocking Gandhi

NASIK, India, Nov. 30. (AP)—Symbolizing their decision to leave the Hindu fold, a large gathering of youths from the depressed classes publicly burned sacred Hindu books here.

Including a copy of the laws of Manu, the ancient Hindu law-giver, and others upholding the doctrine of untouchability, the books were thrown on a pyre to the accompaniment of "funeral orations" and with dramatic solemnity.

Resolutions were passed that untouchables should neither visit holy places nor give money to Hindu priests.

A sensation was caused recently when Dr. Ambedkar, their leader, exhorted a mass meeting of the depressed classes to abandon Hinduism and adopt "any other religion which gives you equality of status and treatment." He said he had decided to change his religion.

When informed of Doctor Ambedkar's speech, Mahatma Gandhi said it seemed unbelievable, but if true it was an unfortunate event, especially when untouchability was on its last legs. He said a change of faith would not serve the untouchables' cause.

NEPHEW DIES

Christmas Shopping Edition Will Appear Friday Morning

The Cisco Daily Press will issue its Christmas Shopping Edition next Friday morning. The paper will be attractively illustrated in the Christmas theme and will carry individual write-ups of all the merchants who have advertisements in its pages.

The purpose of the edition, which will be distributed in sufficient copies to cover this section of the state, will be to advertise Cisco as the Christmas shopping center of this section.

With the Christmas season rapidly approaching, Cisco merchants have laid in the largest and most attractive stocks of holiday goods in recent years in anticipation of a large business.

NO INTENTION OF CONTEST

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 30. (AP)—"I have no intention of contesting the election of John Gregory of McAllen," was the answer Miss Quata Woods gave to the rumor that the contest would be filed, when Gregory was elected president of the State Teachers association today by three votes when the count was announced.

Amateur Night to Draw Many Entrants

The annual Amateur Night program sponsored by the City Federation of Women's clubs, will be an outstanding event on the week's calendar. Various committees were busy with their entries and the following clubs have indicated they will compete:

First Industrial Arts club, Community Choral club, Cisco Music Study club, Twentieth Century club, Mrs. Ray Godfrey's class, Mrs. Ben Krauskopf's Junior music club, Mrs. Opal Yeager's junior music club, Charles Tucker's dancing class, grammar school band, and others.

In judging, 10 points will be allowed for time, 20 points for cleverness, 20 points for originality, 50 points for presentation, including stage setting, costuming and dialogue. Prizes of $5 and $2.50 will be offered. Proceeds will go into the club house fund.

The program will be presented at the high school auditorium Thursday evening, Dec. 5.

One of the most important literary products of Babylon is the Epic of Gilgamesh.

NOD IS GIVEN UPON 10 MORE COUNTY JOBS

$150,000 to Be Spent on Roads in Precinct Number 4

Treasury warrants for more than half a million dollars worth of WPA work in Eastland county, embracing 10 projects, were issued at Washington Saturday, according to a dispatch from the Associated Press to the Cisco Daily Press. Start of these projects awaits orders of State Administrator H. P. Drought at San Antonio. Drought may select from the list such as he may wish to start.

The list includes $150,000 worth of lateral "farm-to-market" roads in Precinct No. 4. This is in addition to lateral road projects already ordered under way under the direction of County Commissioner Arch Birt. Most of this money will be spent in the construction of roads that serve the Cisco rural trade area, giving the people of these areas better connection with the Cisco markets.

The ten were included in a large number of such projects for which treasury warrants were issued at the national capital. This issuance is almost coincident with the administration's final removal of the FERA as a direct relief agency and the substitution of work relief projects.

List of Projects

- Precinct No. 2 received an appropriation of $180,450 and Precinct No. 2, $159,000.
- The projects now eligible to start are:
- Eastland County - To improve roads, federal funds, $10,846.
- Rising Star - Construct roadway, bridges, sidewalks and culverts, $860.
- Ranger - Construct community center for public schools, $9,353.
- Eastland - Construct two culverts, improve Main street, $1,448.
- Gorman - Improve streets, curbs, gutters and drains, $3,900.
- Precinct No. 4 - Improve roads, $150,150.
- Precinct No. 2 - Improve roads, drains and parks, $159,000.
- Precinct No. 1 - Improve roads, $180,450.
- Ranger - Remodel community hall and dormitory, $1,632.
- Rising Star - Improve five miles of streets, $14,490.

Annual Roll Call of Red Cross Now Enters Last Lap

By MRS. P. P. SHEPARD
The Red Cross drive is entering the last lap of its campaign. R. T. Bridge, Southwestern representative of the American Red Cross will be in Cisco on December 5 for a final accounting. Those whose contributions have been delayed until December first will still have an opportunity for adding their bit to the great cause. Mrs. J. E. Spencer and her captains are ready to call on those who have promised their bit after December first. Cisco has cause to be proud of her record this year.

Campaign Theme

THE theme of the Roosevelt administration's 1936 campaign was expressed in the president's speech to a throng of Georgians at Atlanta the other day when he declared that the "peak of appropriation" was at an end and the country could look for a decreasing deficit and increasing federal revenues without the imposition of new taxes, political observers believe.

THE PRESIDENT did not apologize for the acts of his administration. To his great credit he was consistent with those expressions and assurances he gave at the beginning of his administration.

THE PRESIDENT, in his address, seems to be guiding his administration policy definitely into the second phase of a great program. The emphasis, no doubt, will now be upon private initiative.

reminded his hearers at the recent Boosters dinner here, the government cannot go on indefinitely spending without becoming a bankrupt. The adjustment must bring the burden of effort back to the people.

THE majority of sentiment recorded against the New Deal so far in, the Literary Digest poll should not be taken to mean that Roosevelt, in the event he is the democratic party's standard bearer in the next campaign as he is practically certain of being, will meet defeat in the general election.

Does Oil Mean War?

WHILE crafty Japan slices up soft, fat China to add it piece by piece to its spreading empire, Mussolini is having enormous difficulties with his empire-building schemes.

TO halt the invasion, Britain requires of its allies concerted action in the imposition of an oil embargo, denying Mussolini a fuel without which his armies and navy would be helpless.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS, JR. AUSTIN, Nov. 30. — Massed in the east gallery of the house of representatives, lobbying brains that are paid perhaps $250,000 a year and expenses to influence Texas lawmakers, smirked at each other last Thursday night, as they watched the hands of the big house clock move ponderously to the midnight adjournment hour.

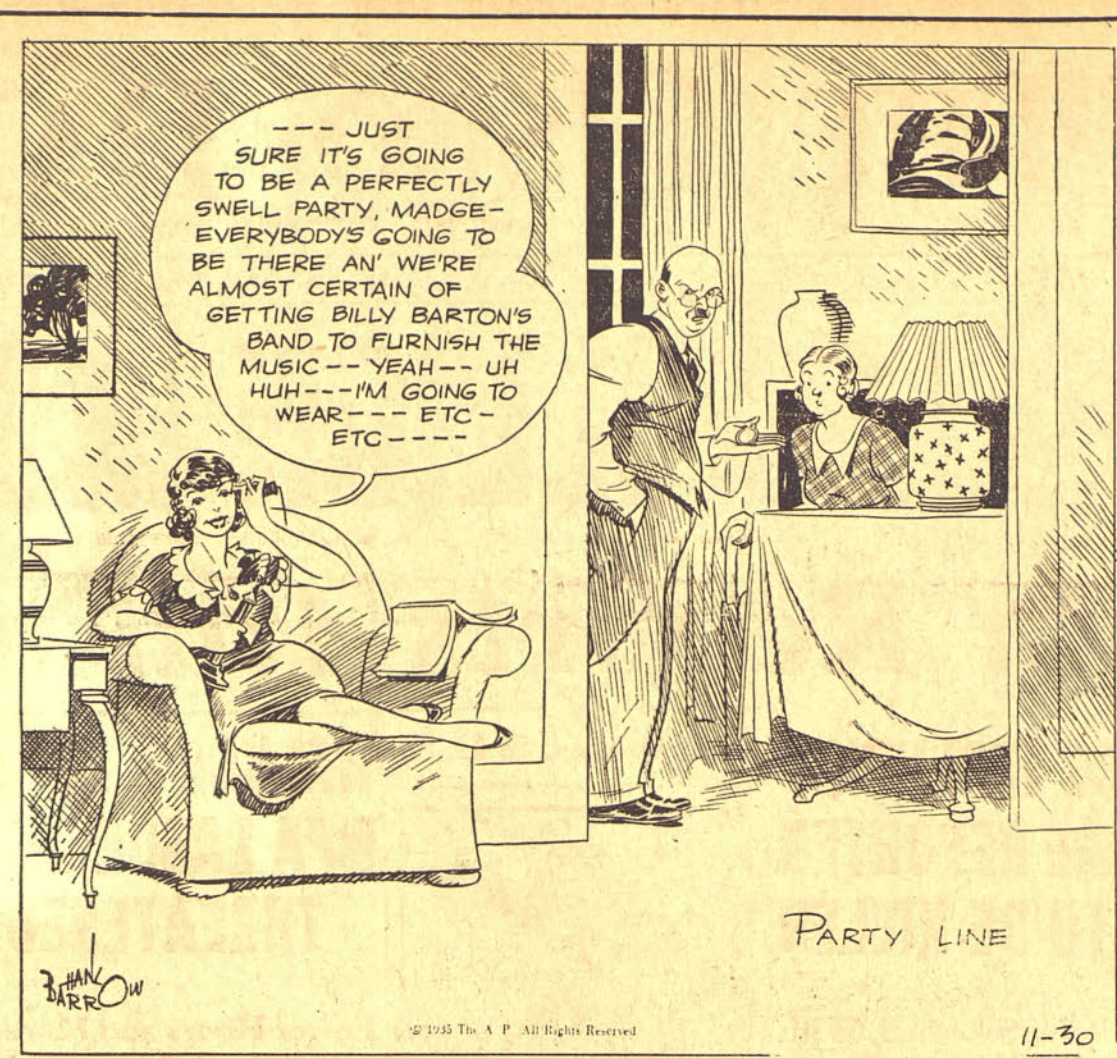

heard this ruling; they cheered as they heard Bob Calvert, Hillsboro legislator, regarded as an administration spokesman, who has always opposed the sales tax, waver and offer a resolution instructing the conference committee to take a "reasonable sales tax on luxuries."

These developments marked the denouncement of the lobbyists' plan, outlined two weeks ago in this column, of offering the house the alternative of accepting a sales tax or passing no tax bill at all.

unless a miracle happens and the people turn loose tremendous pressure on the legislators in the next 60 days. They do not believe that will happen, because the people are unorganized and the sales tax lobby is highly organized.

The house, which changes its mind oftener than the most fickle women, will indulge its mania again for investigating, by probing the public safety commission and its administration of the rangers. It first voted down a resolution by Sam Hanna of Dallas, a former house clerk, and next day adopted one by Lon Alsop of Carthage.

THE GAY THIRTIES

captain, brought on the investigation resolution.

Hint of possible friction in another state department was seen in the action of Rep. J. W. Youngblood, Fort Worth, who put into the record in connection with House Resolution 25, as the session closed, a vigorous denunciation of Chief Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist, whom he accused of "lobbying to death a bill providing for establishment of a minimum wage on state highway work" defeated in the regular session.

The death from pneumonia last week of Dave Nelson, Orange business and civic leader, after only two weeks at his new job as manager of the prison system, leaves a large gap for the prison board to fill. It cut short a sweeping experiment in rehabilitation of felons, planned in detail by Nelson, by which he hoped to return hundreds of one-time offenders back to useful citizenship.

Local option elections thruout Texas will probably be in order during the next few months, so that communities may determine their status under the new liquor law. Many obviously dry communities probably will remain dry without a test, but changes of sentiment have occurred during the lapse of years since national prohibition came, and many local tests of the will of the voters will be ordered by commissioners' courts on their own motion or by petitions of electors.

Final requirement for federal oil week at Los Angeles, when the American Petroleum Institute seconded the sentiment of the Independent Petroleum association at its earlier Dallas convention, declaring the state compact plan the best practical method of achieving conservation of oil.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER WASHINGTON, — Indications at present point to a lot of talk about economy and retrenchment in government during the session of congress opening on January 3, but whether it will be productive of any tangible results is anyone's guess.

Patronage Tightens Up There has been a noticeable tendency on the part of both seekers after and dispensers of patronage in recent weeks to proceed cautiously. Members of congress have shown some hesitancy in pressing too hard for jobs for constituents.

Other Agencies RSA, however, is not the only agency which has tightened its personnel machinery. Almost all of them have taken steps to prevent overloading.

ing process. The stamp bears a startlingly realistic photograph of the queen in regal attire. A full view of the face is shown.

As the prime purpose of the issue is an annual contribution to the National Anti-Tuberculosis society, the 70-centime face value is augmented by a 5-centime surtax which goes to the society.

Later information is to the effect that the bidding started at approximately $17,500 and then jumped up at the rate of $1,250 per bid. The highest figure reached was close to $27,500, but as this did not come near enough to the asking figure of around $42,500, it was rejected and no sale declared.

New York philatelists said it was their understanding that most if not all of the bidding was done by a syndicate of stamp dealers.

Scanning New Books

By JOHN SELBY

For once there is no puzzlement over the book of the week, although this is the busy season, presses are stuttering under their load, and at least a hundred books have gone over the desk in seven days.

The book of the week is the new Columbia Encyclopedia (Columbia University Press). This essays to enclose the essential information now current within one volume, and the effort has produced a heavy but not too unwieldy book. Inside it are nearly 2,000 pages, about five million words, more than 52,000 articles—and not a single paragraph.

In order to save space, paragraphs are eliminated from even the longest articles, which run to 6,000 words. Illustrations were omitted for the same reason. Duplication of material is practically non-existent, but elaborate cross indexing has made it possible to follow out many subjects to the bitter end.

The book contains every incorporated town in the United States with 1,000 or more population. Every Biblical proper name is there, and because the world moves very swiftly, or at least changes nomenclature with the ease of a snake sloughing a skin, these are a lot of articles on subjects not found in previous encyclopedias. Heavy water is one of them. Babe Ruth is another.

Eight years were spent on the book by the compiling staff, guided by the editor, Clarke F. Ansley. It is said to be the first original one-volume encyclopedia made in America, and the first encyclopedia prepared and published at an American university.

Thumbnail Reviews

"Parade of the Animal Kingdom" by Robert Hegner (MacMillan): a big book, full of excellent illustrations, about the animals of the world; one of the best of its kind.

"How to Understand," by Oscar Thompson (Dial): a sober effort to make music intelligible to the millions who have been introduced to the subject by radio.

"I Take It Back," by Margaret Fishback (Dutton): another collection of Miss Fishback's flip verse, sifted from the files of various magazines.

"Diaghileff: His Artistic and Private Life," by Arnold Haskell (Simon & Schuster): a sound and frank and apparently unbiased account of the enigmatic genius who made the world understand ballet; also a new version of the Nijinsky-Diaghileff matter.

"The Garden Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine (Scribners): the erudite Philo Vance, whom Ogden Nash wanted to kick in the "pantz," does some more unravelling; all about horse racing on the side.

"The Street I Know," by Harold E. Stearns (Farnum): autobiography by one of the bright young men who fled the slow-witted United States only to find Paris just about as boring.

"Tongues of the Monte," by J. Frank Dobie (Doubleday, Doran): in which Mexican folk tales, and living Mexicans, are made understandable by a man who loves both; a fine and rich book.

"Manhattan Reporter," by Morris Markey (Dodge): compilation of Markey's pieces from the New Yorker files; first rate reporting, amusingly varied table of contents.

Lovely Decorations For Cisco Windows

Decorative art has been practiced by the human race as far back into the dim past as archeology leads us. Evidence shows that every race had its "artists" who combined the colors of nature into patterns representing the activities and thoughts of the time.

Such patterns, or "pictures" are well recognized as being the most powerful, as well as the most appealing form of language.

From crude etchings on the stone walls of the cave dwellers, decorative art has kept pace with civilization in its rise from that of the primate to the present. Not only man, but nature herself seems to reveal in working her gorgeous colors into "scenes that are brightest." The appeal of such scenes are the most impelling of all language—for they are language. Great business establishments have not failed to recognize and take advantage of the irresistible attraction of lovely window decorations. Cold price lists have long since given way to animated scenes of indescribable beauty. Cisco is not a whit behind in these window scenes, where one may see settings worth thousands of dollars.

Already the holiday atmosphere is taking form in our store windows. Autumn leaves are unusually beautiful this year and are being used to full advantage. Anyone wishing a pattern for suggestions should "get an eye full" of the window decoration of Mrs. J. B. Ely, at the old Waltons Studia. Mrs. Ely, it may be remembered, has been for many years, a florist and has set the scene for many a Cisco wedding and banquet. Let's all "doll up."

Mary Garden was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, in 1877.

U. S. Builds Toward Naval Treaty Limit as Parley Meets

By LLOYD LERBAS
WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. (AP)—The Washington naval limitation treaty, around which discussions will revolve at the London naval conference December 6, came into force on Aug. 17, 1923, and will end on December 31, 1936, as a result of its denunciation by Japan.

The Japanese, long dissatisfied with the total tonnage allowed the Japanese fleet—and strongly opposed to the 5-5-3 ratio which they consider detrimental to their national pride—took advantage last year of treaty provisions to give formal notification to the United States and other signatory powers that they no longer would be bound by its limitations after 1936.

In Agreement Effort
The London Conference is a renewed effort—through discussions of all possible angles of naval affairs—to reach an agreement under which some kind of naval limitation will be followed after 1936. Unless an agreement is reached there will be no international understanding on sea strength.

During the naval holiday that followed the Washington conference the United States lagged far behind in the construction of even sufficient new ships to build up to the total tonnage permitted in the different categories of ships.

The Vinson Bill, however, designed to provide funds for a navy of full authorized strength by 1942, has provided the necessary stimulus to insure the building of a powerful fleet.

Still 54 Ships Short
Ships now under construction or appropriated for, plus under age vessels in commission, leaves the United States still 54 vessels short of the desired goal.

Every effort will be made to sign contracts for their construction and have them slide down the ways for active service by the end of 1942.

A summary of treaty provisions as affecting the United States navy shows:

Battleships
A capital ship (battleship) is a war vessel (not an airplane carrier), whose displacement exceeds 10,000 tons or which carries a gun with a caliber exceeding 8-inch bore.

The treaty provides that any battleship built for replacement after it has reached the age of 20 years cannot be more than 35,000 tons. The United States, without naval bases sufficient for long-range action, stands for battleships of that size, while other sea powers desire the size to be lowered to 30,000 tons.

SMU Mustangs Win Mad Battle With TCU Frogs 20 to 14

PONIES KEEP RECORD CLEAR WITH VICTORY

(By Associated Press)
 FORT WORTH, Nov. 30.—In a sensational, mad Southwest conference battle today, the Southern Methodist Mustangs slashed and passed their way to the very gates of the Rose Bowl with a 20 to 14 victory over the powerful Texas Christian University Horned Frogs. This was the Mustangs' eleventh consecutive victory this season, and left them untied, undefeated and needing only one more game for the conference championship. They play the Texas Aggies Saturday, Dec. 7, at College Station.

It was a bitter defeat for the Christians, who went into the game untied, undefeated, and with ten victories to their credit over some of the country's best teams.

Game of Stars

It was estimated that 36,000 people witnessed a thrilling exhibition that saw both teams fog the heavens with passes and plow the turf with man-killing power. It was a game of stars and they glittered throughout the entire play. "Slinging" Sammy Baugh, Frog star, threw 44 passes and completed 17.

There was little to choose between the powerful running games. Wilson, Methodist all-American candidate, and Burt, tearing half-back, smacked the Christian lines and wings for needed yardage at the crucial moments. Wilson was impressive in his all-American bid. Spain, giant tackle, played a great game for the Mustangs. Lester, giant Christian center, opened gaping holes for the backs, but they couldn't elude the Methodist secondary.

After allowing the Methodists to steal a 14 to 0 lead, the Christians turned on the heat to tie the score in the fourth, but the Methodists had the stuff to come back in the fading minutes of the game to grasp victory.

Ponies Score First

The Mustangs scored in the first period on a 73-yard march, Finley going over from the one-yard line. Their smashing drive featured the terrific plunging of Finley and Burt and Wilson's end running. Orr kicked the goal.

The Mustangs grabbed a second period touchdown when Finley passed to Stewart for a first down on the Christians' nine and on the next play a lateral, Finley to Wilson, was good for a touchdown. Orr kicked goal.

In the third quarter, the Christians started a drive from the Mustangs' 27-yard line, where Finley's poor punt from behind his own goal line was killed, that netted a touchdown when Lawrence plowed the center. Roach kicked the goal.

The Christians deadlocked the score in the fourth on a touchdown march featuring Baugh's passes. Lawrence went over and Roach kicked goal.

On fourth down on his 37-yard line, Finley passed 30 yards to Wilson who tore through tacklers for seven yards and a touchdown. Orr missed goal.

SPORT SLANTS

By PAP

Late afternoon of a crisp fall day in 1924. With a few short minutes remaining before the end of the game, and Brown leading 13 to 10, Providence football fans shuffled their feet restlessly, anxious for the finish so that they could be on their way to post-game engagements.

They had seen a good game. It was too bad the Haskell Indians had to lose, but what could they expect? Hadn't they traveled back east from Lawrence, Kas., to play a Brown team which, the week before, had lost to Dartmouth, eastern champion, by a narrow margin? Hadn't Haskell the week before been drubbed 34 to 7 by Boston College? and did an Indian team ever come from behind to win?

Haskell had the ball on its own 20-yard line, 80 yards to go for a touchdown.

Heap Big Redman

A huge Indian took the ball. Running with knees under his chin he tore off a neat gain. Polite applause greeted his effort. At least the Indians were in there trying.

Again the huge Indian took the ball. Again tacklers slid off him, as down a greased pole. The fans' interest perked up. This was something else again.

Again and again the huge redskin with the high cheek-bones and coal-black hair took the ball. Up the field went the invaders from the west. Seventeen plays, with the giant back carrying the ball 12 times, took Haskell to the one-foot line, fourth down and goal to go.

Johnny Scott, chubby Haskell quarterback, called a signal. Like an enraged bull, the giant Indian back hit the line and virtually exploded. He plowed across the end zone and stopped only when he crashed into the wooden bleachers.

Haskell won, 17 to 13, and the nation, and particularly the eastern Kansas sector which is home to Haskell, again paid homage to that courageous giant—John Levi.

Today John Levi is guiding a younger generation of Indian athletes through the football wars. He was recently appointed head football coach after eight years on the staff. He already was head basketball and track coach.

'Gone Are Those Days'

But, despite his skill and coaching ability, Haskell probably never again will produce an athlete like Big John, whose feats are legendary and who is to Haskell what Jim Thorpe is to Carlisle. Government restrictions have reduced Haskell to virtually a high school. No more will such huge figures as Levi, Tom Stidham, Tiny Roebuck and Egbert Ward grace gridiron for the Redmen.

They were great teams Coach Dick Hanley turned out at Haskell early in the last decade, and the star of stars was John Levi.

"Big Jaw," a full-blooded Arapaho, quiet and good natured, went to Haskell from Geary, Okla. He stood six-feet-four and weighed 195 pounds. That was in 1921, and Levi played his first year under Madison Bell, a Center College teammate of Bo McMillin, now Indiana coach.

Hanley, later Northwestern University coach, went to Haskell the following year, and with him an era of glory for Haskell athletics.

Bengal Girls Show Flying Enthusiasm

CALCUTTA, Nov. 30. (AP)—Bengal girls are anxious to fly. Applications have come in from all over India following the offer, by the Das-Roy memorial committee, of a scholarship of L75 (about $375) to the first suitable girl candidate for a course in civil aviation. As a result, a second scholarship is being offered.

The committee is named after two Indian aviators who lost their lives after a mid-air collision over the Dum-Dum airdrome near Calcutta.

Gun-Toters Mostly Out-of-Town Men

CHICAGO, Nov. 30. (AP)—It's the visiting gunman — not the native son — that gives Chicago police their greatest worry in warring against illegal firearms.

The detective bureau announces that approximately two-thirds of those arrested for illegal gun carrying during the first 10 months of the current year came to Chicago from other cities and towns.

Arrests for the period totalled 785, of whom only 284 were born in Chicago. Police took 805 guns from those arrested and discovered that 20 were wanted for murder, 164 for robbery, 115 for assault, three for manslaughter, 23 for burglaries, 15 for larceny, one for extortion, and six for statutory charges.

During the first ten months of 1934 police nabbed 957 gun toters and seized 1,101 weapons.

Onion Smuggling To United States Irks Spaniards

VALENCIA, Spain, Nov. 30. (AP)—Smuggling of onion seeds to the United States has been protested by the Valencia Onion Growers association.

Exportation of Spanish onion seed was prohibited by decree a year ago after growers here had protested that American crops, grown from these seeds, were causing onion exports to the United States to decline sharply.

Despite the decree there has been a heavy contraband exportation of seeds, the Spanish growers said in their petition for restrictive measures.

They said that the Spanish embassy in Washington reported discovering, labeled as bird-seed, 8,030 pounds of contraband onion seeds on one ship reaching New York from Valencia.

War Rumors Boom Spanish Insurance

MADRID, Nov. 30. (AP)—Sharper realization of the uncertainty of life, due to war scares, is believed by experts to be responsible for recent increases in the sale of life and property insurance in Spain.

Not since the World War have insurance companies here seen such a boom. There are 24 domestic and 15 foreign companies in the country.

Statistics for nine months of 1935 show 143,321 persons insured for a total of 2,197,753,000 pesetas as compared with 120,280 holders of 1,883,047,152 pesetas worth of life insurance for 1930.

There was also a sharp increase in fire insurance sales, thanks to published accounts of the destructive power of new incendiary bombs.

Babies No Longer Charges of State Under New Decree

By JOHN LLOYD
 MOSCOW, Nov. 30. (AP)—Early ideas of reconstructing society around the state at the expense of the family are being cast aside in the Soviet Union.

Under the old system parents, after bringing children into the world, were to be left free of the main responsibilities of their care so they could devote themselves to other duties.

Soviet authorities contend that an exaggerated idea of this experiment gained circulation abroad. They do not, however, deny that energetic measures have become necessary to make the family the institution they now want it to be. A whole series of regulations has been enacted recently with this purpose in mind.

Dad Pays For Stonethrowing

Parents have been given to understand that they must look to their children's education, must answer for their conduct and cannot escape duties of maintenance.

If a child throws a stone through a neighbor's window his parents must pay for repairs and also may be subject to fine. Children who shirk school place their parents in a similarly embarrassing position.

One of the most revolutionary of soviet revamping measures, placed in effect only a few weeks ago, changed the divorce system.

Divorce Notice Installed

In the past either party to a marriage could obtain a divorce by going to a neighborhood registry office and making known his intentions. The divorce was registered, then the other party was notified that the bonds had been severed.

Divorce still can be obtained by either party regardless of the opinion of the other, but now the other party must first be notified.

If the two appear at the registry office together and say there is agreement on alimony and maintenance of children, the divorce is a matter of only a few minutes. But in the absence of an agreement, a court decision may be required.

Advice Against Spanking

Too often, the authorities say, parents managed to evade responsibilities by obtaining divorces before attention could be drawn to them.

That would be all right, it is pointed out, if the state were taking care of the children. The state is not, so responsibility is on the shoulders of the parents.

The newspapers have taken to printing educational articles on how to bring up children. One of them cautioned against spankings and advised that the youngsters be allowed to "develop their own will."

For The Bridge Player

Two Bids There is considerable difference of opinion as to what warrants an opening bid of two in a suit.

In answer to an opening bid of two in a suit most players probably will deny possession of quick tricks by a bid of two no trump, regardless of distribution; others find good results from the bidding of a suit of five or more cards headed by the queen or better.

Here's a hand played by kabitizers at the last Vanderbilt cup tournament: Over North's bid of two hearts South said two no trump, North went to four no trump, South said five hearts and North took the contract to six no trump, which East doubled.

carded on two spades South, access being gained to the South hand via hearts after the king is forced out.

The players took their argument as to the proper bidding to Oswald Jacoby, Louis H. Watson and others, who after conference agreed that the correct opening bid by North was three no trump, in view of the tenaces in each suit.

I offer a bit of dissent from the high ranking experts. I think that a hand of such strength as North's, containing a fair suit, will work out better most of the time with an opening bid of two of a suit.

dence that is scheduled to come in 1946, foreign affairs remain in the hands of the United States, under the Tydings - McDuffie act, along with general responsibility for the defense and stability of the new regime.

But President Manuel Quezon and others have indicated they have diplomatic ambitions in the meantime. Quezon himself said before taking office November 15 he favored putting the commonwealth in the League of Nations "if it doesn't crack up" in the Italo - Ethiopian crisis.

He admitted permission would have to be obtained from the United States and that there might be difficulty in assuming obligations under the league covenant.

Now Camilo Osias, former resident commissioner at Washington claims "the Filipinos have a part and a vital part in foreign affairs even under the government of the commonwealth."

Osias, a member of the new unicameral national assembly of 98, cites a clause in the Tydings-McDuffie act which says that "foreign affairs shall be under the direct supervision and control of the United States."

The original draft, Osias says, read "foreign affairs shall be exclusively under the control of the United States," and he maintains the change shows the intention of congress to share control.

"The officials of the commonwealth," Osias explains, "should arrange with the United States to have some of our men at chosen American embassies in order to let selected Filipinos acquire the practical training and experience for diplomatic or consular service."

"The national assembly should enact a law to make it feasible for the new government to send Filipinos abroad as attaches, thus giving them opportunity to prepare to serve as, or with, our future ambassadors."

"We venture to add that it would be wise for the commonwealth to consider seriously the acquisition of sites and buildings for future legations, beginning with Washington, Tokyo, Peking, Madrid, London, Berlin, Paris and other capitals with which the Philippines has dealings could follow."

Italians in Egypt Rely Upon Rights as Aliens, Resist Sanctions

By GAYLE TALBOT ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Nov. 30. (AP) — With the heat of the League's economic sanctions turned full - blast against Italy, this powderbox of the Mediterranean is steadily growing warmer around the edges.

From the harbor, clogged with British battlecraft, to the shoreline on either side of the city, studded with freshly-dug British gun emplacements, there is a feeling that if trouble starts among the great powers it will most likely be touched off here.

Britain and Egypt attempt to break this international law?"

The capitulations agreement, he explained, gives foreign governments sovereignty over their citizens in Egypt. Under it the Egyptian government could not prevent any of the 60,000 Italians residing within its boundaries from carrying on trade with the mother country.

What may logically happen, in the opinion of Italian sympathizers, is that Greek, Syrian, French and other firms operating in Egypt will continue their usual business with Italy through Italian agents here.

British Fleet Stays On The danger may then be expected if Britain and Egypt attempt to halt this "bootleg" traffic, with Italy rising to defend the privileges of her citizens.

"That's when we shall have the showdown everybody is waiting for," said an Italian authority. "Egypt cannot live without exporting cotton to Italy. We shall see which means most to them — self-preservation or her allegiance to Britain."

Meanwhile, it was learned that the British navy intends to display its might in Alexandria harbor at least until February, no matter what Mussolini does about his troops in Libya, across Egypt's western desert border.

Commissionaries catering to British sailors have been promised business until then.

The big British armada continues to operate under almost wartime conditions, with ships going to sea weekly for tactical maneuvers and all ranks required to be aboard by midnight.

READY TO REPEL PLANES NANKING, Nov. 30. (AP) — Should hostile planes ever raid the Chinese capital they would be met by anti-aircraft fire from numerous and unsuspected spots. Many a burial grove and tree sheltered shrine in the low hills within and around the ancient walls provides natural and effective camouflage for the guns.

Predicts Italy to Get Mandate Over Ethiopia

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. — Italy will ultimately achieve a mandate over Ethiopia, and Germany will start her aggressions within two years—these were predicted by Dr. Thad W. Riker, professor of modern European history at the University of Texas, in a recent address before the international relations group of the Austin chapter, American association of university women.

Dr. Riker's analysis of the modern European situation is regarded with respect among academicians, since he is recognized in this country and abroad as an authority in this field.

Last summer he was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of letters by Oxford University, likewise for distinguished research in modern European history. His latest publication is a textbook, "A Short History of Modern Europe."

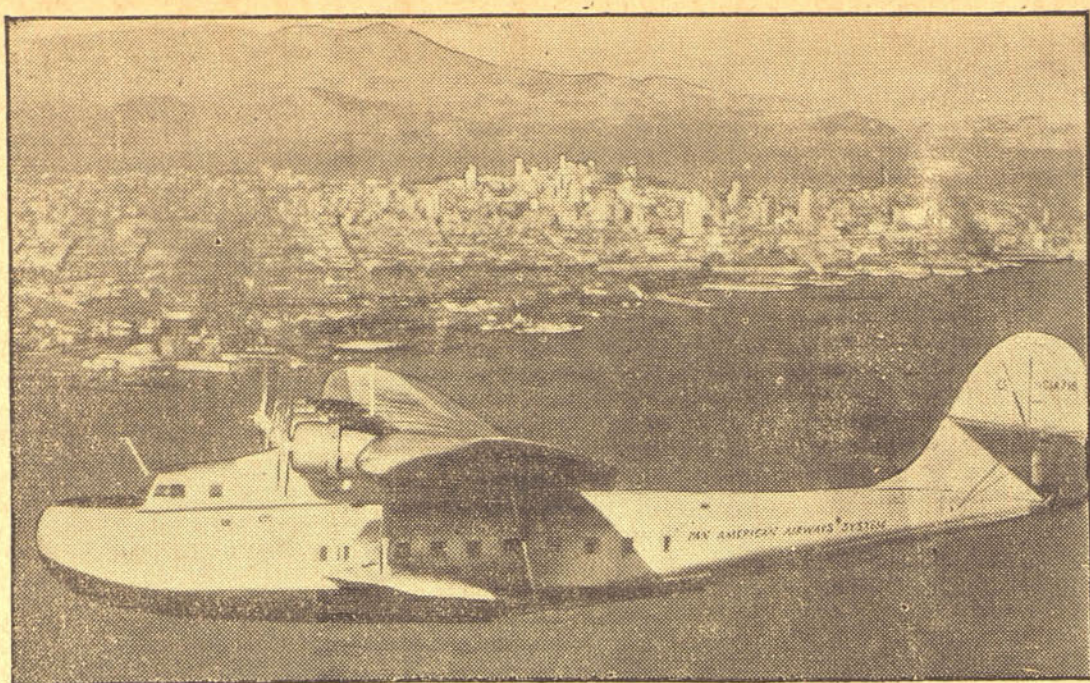

"The powers would, I think, be willing to do all they could to obtain concessions from Ethiopia for most of the things she wants, while Italy, on the other hand, as a second motive, wants a spectacular military triumph which will accent Mussolini's and Italy's prestige, and will blot out the memory of the Italian defeat at Adowa," Dr. Riker said. "Italy is unwilling to have a peaceful settlement. Mussolini wants war. He knows the League of Nations — of which, incidentally, Ethiopia is a member, and, ironically enough, by reason of Italy's efforts—would try to be fair. He doesn't want equity.

"Mussolini — and this is of extreme importance — probably thinks he has only about two years in which to make his conquest, because Germany is expected to make war in about two years, and Mussolini wants to beat Hitler!

"There was one way, I believe, in which war might have been averted: Closing the Suez Canal to Mussolini.

"The real reason why France

CHINA CLIPPER OPENS NEW TRANS-PACIFIC ERA

and Great Britain did not present a united and a strong front in the beginning was, I think, due entirely to the fact that Great Britain had signed a naval pact with Germany in August, instead of waiting for her representatives and those of France to work out a scheme of common defense. Previously, Great Britain, France, Germany and Russia had stood united. France feared this British — German pact, and felt that she could not afford to break definitely and irrevocably with Italy, lest she fail to have any defense against Germany.

"In the last analysis, France really has got to back up the League against Germany. Actually, Italy has been allowed to persist in her war against Ethiopia because there was not sufficient unity of the other forces in the beginning.

"Now what remains is to save the face of the League. That really is about as much as can be done. It must be confessed that France and Great Britain will get out of the present situation as gracefully as they can. But we can expect to hear of a deal between Great Britain and France and Italy giving Italy a mandate over Ethiopia.

"Germany naturally is interested in the outcome of this situation. If the League fails to press Italy into line, Germany will be in a position to ignore the League in her forthcoming aggressions. Already the League has lost much of its dignity in its failure to chastise Japan. Its real power has been challenged in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, and found wanting, due to England's impulsive step in forming a naval pact with Germany and to France's natural hesitancy to jeopardize her own safety by speaking out too strongly against Italy.

"Italy has considered the League failure to act decisively in the Japanese invasion of Manchuria as a precedent for her aggression in Ethiopia. She has cited the cases of both France and England in historic colonization programs and conquests of smaller countries. What she has failed to note, however, is the fact that the world is supposed to have grown more enlightened and to possess more international and interracial understanding. An aggression today, since the World War, is much more a crime against humanity, is much more serious an offense, than it was considered in the days before the Great War. The League was organized to promote peace and to insure international integrity and international safety, and Mussolini's aggression, and Hitler's imminent plans for another war, are not in keeping with the spirit that motivated the "war to end war."

Decline in New Charters Granted

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. — In comparison both with the previous month and the like month last year, there was a decline in the number of new charters granted Texas corporations during October, according to reports to the University of Texas bureau of business research.

A total of 97 new charters was granted during the month, a decrease of 3 per cent from the preceding month and 12.6 per cent from October last year. Total capitalization, $1,057,000, was down 33.7 per cent from the month before and 10.4 per cent from the corresponding month last year.

Groups showing substantial increases in number of new corporations chartered were manufacturing, real estate — building and merchandising, while the oil, transportation and miscellaneous groups showed sharp declines.

POPULATION GROWS

ANKARA, Nov. 30. (AP) — The population of Turkey has increased by 2,540,494, or 18 per cent, since 1927, the recent nationwide census revealed. The total population is now listed at 16, 188,767. Istanbul is credited with 877,106 inhabitants.

ALL RIGHT, KRAG! WHAT'S THE IDEA—MOVIN' IN HERE AS IF YOU OWNED TH' PLACE?—THIS IS MISS LAFARGE'S PROPERTY!

HAUL IT UP HERE, MEN! DON'T BOTHER ABOUT THIS LOUD MOUTH!

WAIT A MINUTE—I SAID THIS WAS MISS LAFARGE'S PROPERTY—AND I WASN'T KIDDIN'!

OUT O' MY WAY, MUG!—IN FACT YOU CAN BEAT IT OFF A MY LAND!

WHERE DO YOU GET THAT MY LAND STUFF! YOU DON'T OWN IT!

THAT'S WHAT YOU THINK SONNY BOY! THE LAND OFFICE IN BIRCH BAY WILL TELL YOU ANOTHER STORY!

THIS PROPERTY BELONGED TO JEAN LAFARGE—AND HIS DAUGHTER IS HIS ONLY HEIR!—YOU CAN'T DENY THAT!

I DON'T HAVE TO—GO TO THE LAND OFFICE—AND GET YOURSELF WIGGED UP, YOUNG FELLAH!

AND THIS MAN KRAG SAID THAT THE LAFARGE PROPERTY BELONGS TO HIM!

IT SEEMS THAT KRAG AND LAFARGE HAD A PARTNERSHIP OF SOME SORT—ANYHOW, THE OLD MAN LEFT A WILL IN THE POSSESSION OF KRAG THAT LEFT ALL THE LAFARGE LAND AND BUILDINGS TO KRAG...

..KRAG SEEMED HURT THAT HIS PARTNER SHOULD HAVE ROBBED HIM OF HIS MONEY AND RING —BUT HE FILED THE WILL FOR PROBATE AFTER LAFARGE'S DEATH... IT'S SIGNED BY LAFARGE—NAMING THE GOVERNMENT AS EXECUTOR—IT'S DATED NOVEMBER THIRD... ALL PERFECTLY LEGAL!

AND WHAT DID THE WILL PROVIDE FOR LAFARGE'S DAUGHTER?—

—EVERYTHING ELSE HE HAD BESIDES THE LAND AND BUILDINGS!

I WAS JUST ABOUT TO SUMMON HER FOR A READING OF THE WILL!

HIGH COURAGE

by Jeanne Bowman.

Ansel Kellogg, Anne Farnsworth's oldest and best friend, has returned from South America and taken charge of Anne's trial. Anne is accused of murdering her foster uncle, Lee Farnsworth. With the help of John Neuman, whom Anne loves, Kellogg has found and produced witnesses who materially alter the trend of events. Now he is asking a chinook to tell where he was at the time of the shooting.

THE NET TIGHTENS

"My boat, she behind and at right of that girls," the Indian told Kellogg.

"What happened there at the time?"
"Lady, she climb up on boat like she get to trap. Somebody say, loud, 'Anne.' She turn 'round. Shot he sound. Think if boat not dip on wave, she shot. Die."

Anne sat horrified; then her surmise was correct. By the grace of a wave which had rolled her boat, Lee Farnsworth and not she, was dead. And Crocker, Rob Crocker to whom she once entrusted her future, had bought cartridges for the weapon which had fired the shot.

"White Deer, did you see any of the occupants in other boats close to Miss Farnsworth?"

The Indian's lip set in a stubborn line.

"Come on, Charlie, you wouldn't have this girl hanged because you're afraid to talk?"

"Nitka 'fraid," the man protested. "Don't know sure. Only know girl not shoot."

"Well, tell us what some of the men nearby looked like."

"All dress same. All wear slickers; big hats. One closest to her he wear fancy sweater under coat. Red."

Judge Kellogg reached for a bundle Neuman handed him. He unrolled it, disclosed a turtle neck sweater of scarlet with interwoven lines of purple and blue. After introducing it as an exhibit, he turned to the chinook.

"Could this be it?"
"Yes. Pretty." The black eyes glittered with enjoyment of the gay color.

"Are you sure?"
The bronze brow wrinkled. "No sure," he compromised, "just think. White Deer wish to be right. White Deer American, wrong no man."

"That's a fine idea, Charlie, too bad others haven't the same feeling. You're excused."

"Hale Carson, next, if you please, Mr. Bailiff."

Anne, watching Farley and Rob Crocker, saw them exchange startled glances as the sturdy canner man entered and was sworn in as a witness.

"Mr. Carson, what are your duties?"

"General caretaker of the Farnsworth canneries."

"Where were you the night of August 3rd?"

"Hanging around the cannery. There was trouble brewing among the fishermen and we figured I'd better keep an eye to the buildings."

"Did you see any of your employers at the time?"

"Sure, that is, the young ones, Mr. Crocker and Mr. Farley. Crocker was there all evening."

Anne sighed with relief. Then the murderer couldn't have been he, and perhaps her trust hadn't been so flagrantly misplaced.

"But Farley took off in a giletter soon after the fishermen left."

"Do you remember how Farley was dressed at the time?"

"Yeh, it was kinda chilly, so I loaned him a sweater of mine I keep round the cannery, and a slicker and sou'wester."

"Is this the sweater?"

"Sure, that's it. I wondered what he'd done with it—"

"That will be all."

A dead silence settled over the courtroom. Anne looked around. Flanked along the railing were the deputy sheriffs, all on the alert. Bewildered, she wondered what would happen next. She turned back to Judge Kellogg. He was facing the district attorney.

"Are you ready to ask for a dismissal?" Ansel asked.

"There is no motive," the man answered, uneasily.

"Very well," Kellogg turned back to Judge Benson. "If it pleases the court, I will produce a witness who will provide evidence that there is a man present in this court room at this moment who would benefit by the death of Anne Farnsworth. Failing to achieve that, he assisted in having her incarcerated as a felon for the duration of her life."

"May I proceed?"

"Proceed, but first we will have a recess of fifteen minutes, during which time only the jury will leave the court room. Bailiff, will you bar the doors."

Confusion reigned after the judge had given his instructions to the jury and they had filed out. Farley and Crocker conferred with the district attorney, Farley in heated tones.

Judge Kellogg and Lenholm sat at a table perusing the transcript which Lenholm quickly flipped to pages containing testimony he believed the judge would need.

Anne watched the audience with interest. John was in the first row, beside Tecla, talking to her earnestly. Once he looked up, looked at her a long moment, then smiled. Anne felt a flood of happiness rush through her. He hadn't doubted her; he had neglected her only in order to save her. She hugged the thought to her. He had stayed beside her until she was passed the danger line, then rushed forth for evidence which might be lost if he waited too long.

The time sped by. The judge returned to his bench, the jury to its box, and silence lay over the court room without need of the bailiff's gavel.

Judge Kellogg arose—"I will call Thomas J. Farley," he said. Tom Farley arose. Anne thought his face was unnaturally white as he went to the witness chair.

"Mr. Farley," Kellogg's voice was stern, bitter, "on direct examination, you said Miss Farnsworth was angry at having been cut out of Luke Farnsworth's will, and that she sought to cause trouble among the fishermen because she wished to destroy the morale of the fisheries. Is this true?"

"It is," snapped Farley.

"According to your testimony, you first noticed her activities on or around July 15th. Is this date correct?"

"It is."

"Mr. Farley, you were present at the drawing up of Luke Farnsworth's final will, were you not?"

"I was."

"You knew the conditions of that will, did you not?"

"I, well, I didn't know all of them. I reached Luke's bedside a little late for the first part."

"But you were there early enough to know that Anne Farnsworth would come into control of the canneries upon the marriage of Rob Crocker to any person other than Anne Farnsworth, did you not?"

"Yes."

"Then why didn't you, between June 15 and August 3, inform Miss Farnsworth of her ownership?"

"I didn't know that there was any occasion to do so," snapped Farley.

Judge Kellogg motioned to Lenholm, who brought a long, white envelope to him. He opened it and from it took a photograph.

"Mr. Farley, I hold here the photostat of a marriage license, recorded on the books of the city clerk at Hoquiam, Washington."

Farley started. His face flooded crimson, then paled, to a sickly white.

"I believe your signature is here, as witness. The photostat shows that on June 1st, Sharlee Jane Farnsworth was married to Robert Crocker."

John was watching her anxiously. It was to him she gave her smile of confidence, and unconcern over the news.

"Tom Farley, why did you keep Anne Farnsworth from her legal rights? Why have you persecuted her in this trial?"

Farley was silent.

"I'll tell you why, because you hoped to put her out of the way before anyone who knew of her rights could find her. That's why. And I hereby charge you with an attempt to murder Anne Farnsworth, and the actual murder of Lee Farnsworth."

Anne, stupefied by what she had heard, looked at Tom Farley. Had he tried to kill her that night in the dark? Could this man, who had known her since babyhood, who had lived on her foster father's bounty, actually have fired the shot intended for her?

She watched his face, eyes narrowed in thought. He was a lawyer. Although he had practiced but little, he knew the evidence brought against him would convict. Suddenly his shoulders straightened, and a smile crossed his face.

"I fired the shot," he admitted and over the audience a ripple of indignation sounded. "And I am sure when I have introduced my witnesses and the testimony they will give, any jury will agree with me that it was the defendant in this case who was guilty of the death of Lee Farnsworth."

Anne learns, tomorrow, of the miracle which has saved her.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

"How sharper than a serpent's tooth to have a thankless child," are the words of King Lear by which Shakespeare has described the very depth of ingratitude, measured by the volume of benefit basely used, namely that of a child toward its parents. In II Timothy 3:2-4 Paul has catalogued the sins and vices of a godless age, "haughty, disobedient, unholy, slanderers, fierce, traitors, headstrong," and almost as a nucleus of the conglomeration of evil, "unthankful." Such is the company that ingratitude keeps; by this it is known for its darkness and its numbing effect upon human emotion. The keenest of winter winds is not so unkind as ingratitude; the bitterest of winter skies does not bite as does a benefit forgot, as the same English poet has said again.

Then thankfulness needs to be a permanent trait of everyone's disposition; and the giving of thanks needs to be an unceasing exercise of every healthy soul. We are so prone to measure our contentment by a few superficial and transitory satisfactions such as delicacies for our appetites, frills for our vanities, boquets for our self-esteem, or thrills for our excitements. By the time we have become habitually concerned about these things we have paralyzed ourselves against some great enjoyments that are within the reach of all. Mrs. Hemans has expressed it in her poem, "Common Gifts;" the moonbeam through the window, the dewdrops on the lawn, the music of the birds, come alike to noble and peasant, to cottage hearths as to thrones.

But to bring us back an emphasized season of thanksgiving is a good practice for a nation. So now as we turn to this day so set apart let us not miss the meaning of it all, the exercise of gratefulness for whatever is giving us any joy for being alive in this year 1935. If you are fairly comfortable then you can turn your mind to such blessings as freedom of social and political and religious self-determination; of influences of friends and of institutions that have their ideals formed by Christianity, of a heritage that has come from the work of worthy men and women and surrounds you now as a good environment. Your best expression of thanks is to pass them on to some one else.

88th Grand Jury Report

The following is the final report of the grand jury of the 88th district court, made the first of last week:

To the Hon. B. W. Patterson, Judge of the 88th District Court, Eastland, Texas.

We, your grand jury for the September term, 1935, beg leave to report as follows:

We have been in session eight days, examined 152 witnesses and returned 32 bills of indictments.

We desire to thank the court for the many courtesies extended and for the valuable assistance given us in our deliberations. Also, we desire to thank the dist. attorney sheriff and his deputies, the jailer and bailiffs for their ready cooperation.

We have looked into the situation concerning alleged operation of marble machines in Eastland county, and beg leave to report that we have information that the sheriff's department had issued instructions to all parties concerned that the operation of such machines must discontinue. Our investigation reveals that such instructions are being carried out. We desire to commend the sheriff for his action and to congratulate all parties concerned on their attitude of cooperation.

We have inspected the jail and find it in good sanitary condition — clean and well kept, and the prisoners well cared for.

We are pleased to report that all departments seem to be working together harmoniously for the enforcement of the law, and that violations are much fewer than a few years ago.

Having completed our deliberations we request permission to adjourn.

J. H. CHASTAIN, Foreman,
W. H. CRADDOCK, Secretary.

Among The Derricks

BREWER WELL AT 400 FEET

GORMAN, Nov. 30. — The well of Brewer et al on the Payne tract is now down to more than 400 feet and has been placed on beam.

On the Johnson tract the well of Hoffman and Page is down to about 2,000 feet and making hole right along. About ten more days will be required to get to the pay.

On the Slone tract Roth and Faurot have the well to better than 2,000 feet. They got off to a good start and have made rapid progress.

On the Hampton lease, the well being drilled by Martin and Case is now being drilled by the tools which were lost there about two weeks ago. They fished for them several days and then decided to drill by and go on down.

The Lusk well was given 2,000 gallons of acid last week but failed to respond, due to a faulty seat for the casing. They plan now to pump cement up and around the casing for several hundred feet in an effort to stop this part of their trouble.

The original well on the Gowan was given another acid treatment last week and responded satisfactorily.

MILD BOOM AT BAIRD

BAIRD, Nov. 30. — The E. P. Campbell well on the Dr. H. H. Ramsey land in the northwest part of Baird is causing a great deal of interest. The well is standing 700 feet in oil. The sand was found at 1,260 feet, and as soon as the five inch casing is run the well will be drilled in.

The well has created an interest with outside oil men, parties from Ranger, Coleman, Abilene and Cisco having been in Baird this week purchasing all available leases.

If the well proves to be as good as expected, a real townsie boom will take place, as a number of drilling contracts have been entered into, drilling to commence within thirty days after the completion of the Campbell well.

E. G. Johnson has a good show of oil at 916 feet on the A. G. Hobbs No. 1.

Ungren & Frazier have made a location for a test on the Dee Davis land, located about 5 miles north of Baird.

J. H. Vise of Dallas is drilling at 914 feet on the Mrs. Louie M. Williams ranch, located about 9 miles northeast of Baird.

L. E. Lockhart has spudded in a well on the Mrs. P. L. Sherill farm located about 2 miles north of Clyde.

R. F. St. John is drilling at 1,100 feet on the Henry Kniffen No. 2, located in the Barclay pool about 2 miles north of Clyde.

Sam Henderson has spudded a well on the Louis Taylor, located near Rowden.

ECTOR TEST REGISTERS HEAVY FLOW
FORT WORTH, Nov. 30. — In-iber which may lead to the largest natural producer in Ector county was seen in the performance Friday afternoon of the Gulf No. 3 Goldsmith, in the south extension to the new pool.

The well was opened Friday afternoon for the purpose of drilling deeper, and during that period made 90 barrels of oil.

While part of its performance was subject to discount as due in part to accumulation, the fact that it is coming from a pay streak 100 feet higher in the pay section than the offset, and the further fact that the flow seemed to be as strong at the end of the period as the beginning led observers to believe that it may set a new performance record for the pool.

The well is in section 22, block 44, township 2 south, T. & P. Railway survey, and is west offset to the Phillips and Pure No. 2 Clyde Cowden, which made 900 barrels natural flow on tubing.

Klener, H-Y Oil company, No. A-2 Wray, third well for that company in the West Tuleta extension in Bee county was flowing 25 barrels per hour through quarter-inch choke at a total depth of 3,956 feet Saturday.

50c A YEAR OPERATING POWER COST

The Wincharger keeps the battery of your Zenith Farm Radio charged by air power.

ZENITH LONG-DISTANCE FARM RADIO

Zenith has effected a special arrangement with the manufacturers of the Wincharger, so that every owner of a Zenith Farm Radio can reduce his operating power cost to 50 cents a year for 10 hours radio enjoyment every day. This means no more dry A, B or C batteries to buy. No more dead storage batteries to take out and recharge.

Zenith Farm Radio, Model No. 6-V-27, illustrated above, is a 6-tube receiver—tunes American stations, police calls, amateur, aviation conversations, ships at sea and Foreign Stations. Has Black Magnavision dial employing Split-Second Tuning that enables logging and relocating foreign stations accurately. Operates from a 6-volt storage battery —kept charged by the Wincharger— $69.95

REVENGE!

Revenge!

Terry Willett was wedded to the South American jungle for one purpose --- to get revenge, to tame with locks and dams the stream that had licked his father, an engineer like himself.

Not even Allaire West could make him forget the job he had to do, though romance called above the din of the riveters and the roar of dynamite awakening the jungle echoes.

NEVER MIND THE LADY

David Garth's serial opens in the sweltering coffee port of Propionaire, moves through the gay life of Washington and New York then back again to the jungles and to a happy conclusion. Its people are real, vital, the story itself well told.

LOVE'S TENTACLES

WITH THE SPEARS OF THE WARRIORS BLOCKING HIS RETREAT INTO THE CAGES TARZAN TURNED TO FACE THE CHARGING LIONS.

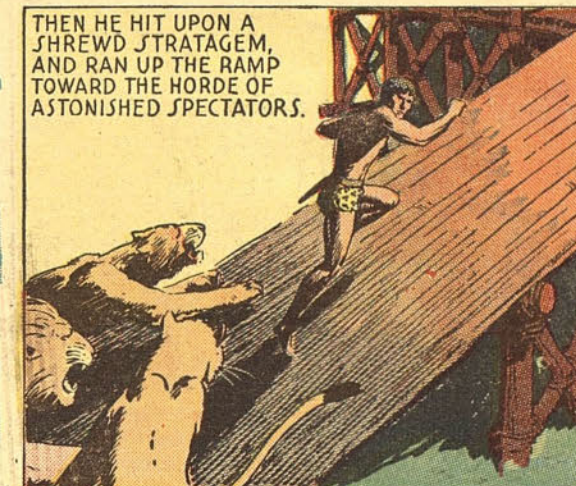

IF HE FOUGHT ONE OF THE BEASTS, HE KNEW THE OTHERS WOULD SET UPON HIM AND TEAR HIM ASUNDER.

SIGREDA SAW HIS HOPELESS PLIGHT AND DETERMINED ONCE MORE TO CARRY THROUGH HER RESOLVE TO DIE BY HIS SIDE.

TO DETRACT THE LIONS FROM THE GIRL, TARZAN RAN TOWARD THE FAR END OF THE ARENA, WITH THE BEASTS IN CLOSE PURSUIT.

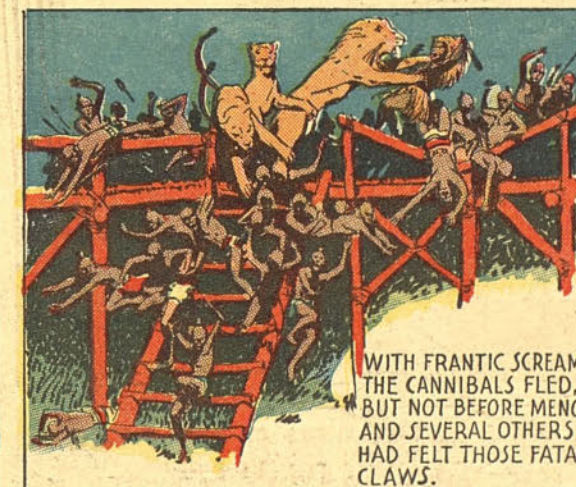

THEN HE HIT UPON A SHREWD STRATAGEM, AND RAN UP THE RAMP TOWARD THE HORDE OF ASTONISHED SPECTATORS.

THE WEAPONS OF MENGO'S BODYGUARD WERE RAISED AGAINST HIM, BUT TARZAN LEAPED SUDDENLY FROM THE INCLINE.

THE LIONS CONTINUED ONWARD, FOR NOW THEY SPIED THE SAVAGES, AND PLUNGED INTO THE CLOSE PACKED THROG.

WITH FRANTIC SCREAMS THE CANNIBALS FLED, BUT NOT BEFORE MENGO AND SEVERAL OTHERS HAD FELT THOSE FATAL CLAWS.

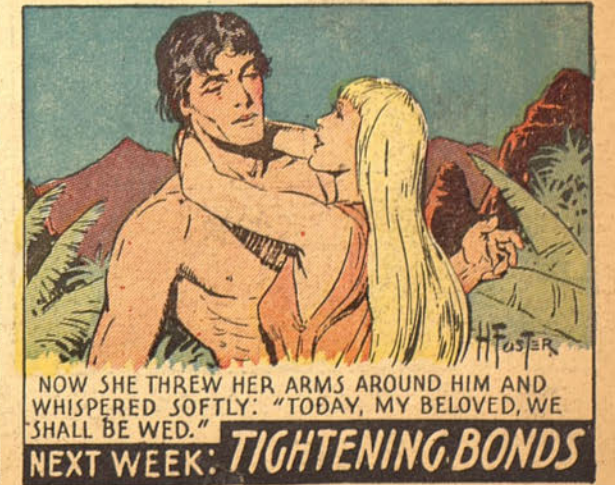

TARZAN RUSHED THEN TO SIGREDA AND BORE HER FROM THE DESERTED ARENA IN THE WAKE OF THE SCURRYING BLACKS.

SWIFTLY THROUGH THE DARK JUNGLE THEY TRAVELED UNTIL NEXT DAY, WHEN THEY NEARED THE KINGDOM OF THALGAARD, THE VIKING MAIDEN'S HOME.

MISTAKING SILENCE FOR SHYNESS, SIGREDA BELIEVED TARZAN HAD SAVED HER BECAUSE HE LOVED HER, AND HER OWN LOVE GREW APACE.

NOW SHE THREW HER ARMS AROUND HIM AND WHISPERED SOFTLY: "TODAY, MY BELOVED, WE SHALL BE WED."

BRONCHO BILL

HARRY O'NEILL

A WIDOWED RANCH OWNER APPEALED TO BILL TO ASSIST HER IN STAMPING OUT ILLEGAL BRANDING OF HER CALVES BY LEM KING, A DISHONEST NEIGHBORING RANCHMAN. BILL INTERCEDED FOR HER INVITING THE WRATH OF THE RASCAL.

THERE'S YOUR TROUBLE! RUNNING OFF FOUR STEERS IN BROAD DAYLIGHT—

WE WON'T GO AFTER 'EM, NELL— WE'LL SETTLE THIS WITH KING HIMSELF.

NELL, LEM KING'S FOREMAN, SAGEBRUSH SIMPSON WAS MAD AS A HORNET AND HE'S LIKELY TO TRY GETTING BACK AT ME.

WE'LL KEEP AN EYE OPEN FOR TROUBLE, BILL.

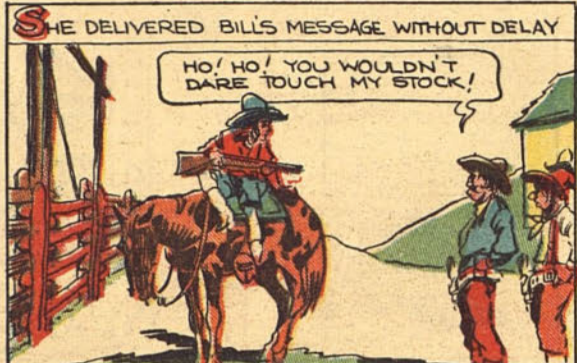

ENROUTE TO KING'S RANCH THEY COME UPON A HERD OF L-K CATTLE.

NELL, YOU GO ON AHEAD AND I'LL FOLLOW IN A FEW MINUTES— TELL HIM WE'LL TAKE TWO OF HIS STEERS FOR EVERY ONE OF OURS HE STEALS.

THIS MOMENT SEVERAL OF KING'S MEN ARE PLANNING A RAID ON BILL'S HERD.

SHE DELIVERED BILL'S MESSAGE WITHOUT DELAY.

HO, HO! YOU WOULDN'T DARE TOUCH MY STOCK!

WELL, BLACKIE, WE'LL HAVE SOME REAL NEWS FOR MISTER KING!

I'VE GOT EIGHT HEADS O'OUR BEEF, LEM KING— AND I'M CHANGIN' THEIR BRANDS TO CIRCLE B IF MY FOUR STEERS AREN'T RETURNED TODAY.

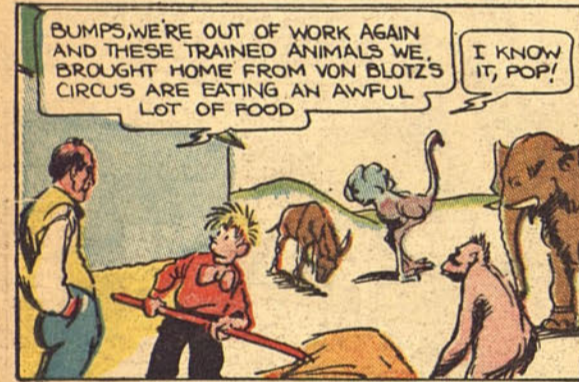

SO WE WOULDN'T DARE, EH!

WHY I'LL—

BILL NOW RIDES ON TO JOIN NELL AT KING'S RANCH.

BUMPS

BUMPS, WE'RE OUT OF WORK AGAIN AND THESE TRAINED ANIMALS WE BROUGHT HOME FROM VON BLITZ'S CIRCUS ARE EATING AN AWFUL LOT OF FOOD.

I KNOW IT, POP!

IF WE COULD ONLY FIND A WAY FOR THEM TO EARN THEIR KEEP—

CHILD, I NEED YOU TO GO TO THE STORE!

HELLO THERE, TONY! WHAT'S WRONG? YOU LOOK SAD!

BUSINESS, SHE IS A BAD SINCE MY LITTLE TRAINED MONK GETS SICK— WHEN MY JOCKO STANDS ON HIS HEAD PEOPLE ALWAYS THROW MONEY TO TONY.

SAY! I'VE GOT TRAINED ANIMALS AND I CAN MAKE ANY OF 'EM STAND ON THEIR HEADS.

WE MAKE A LOT OF MONEY— YOU BREEDING LITTLE MONKEYS!

I'LL BRING A BIG ONE— IF YOU MAKE MONEY WITH A LITTLE ONE WE CAN MAKE MORE WITH A BIG ONE— MEET ME HERE IN A HALF HOUR.

MOM AND POP, I'VE GOT A SCHEME TO MAKE SOME MONEY QUICK— YOU KNOW TONY THE ORGAN-GRINDER? HIS LITTLE MONKEY IS SICK AND I'M HELPING HIM OUT.

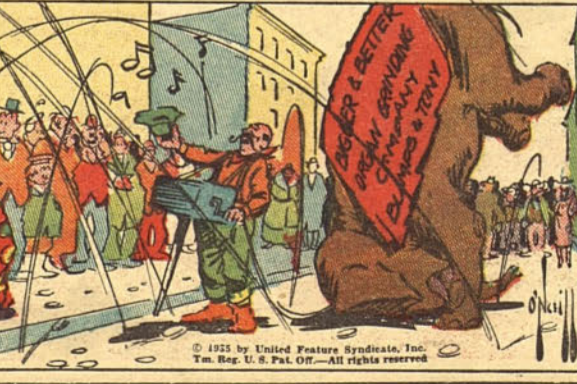

DO YOU SUPPOSE BUMPS LOANED TONY OUR TRAINED CHIMPANZEE?

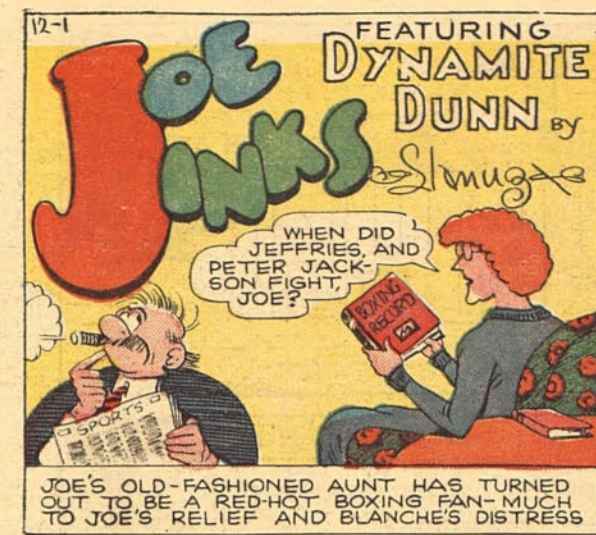

NAW! LIKELY HE'S JUST CLOWNING FOR TONY— HE'D NEVER TAKE OUR MONKEY— IT'S TOO BIG!

SAY, POP! WE COULD USE A COUPLE MORE ELEPHANTS!

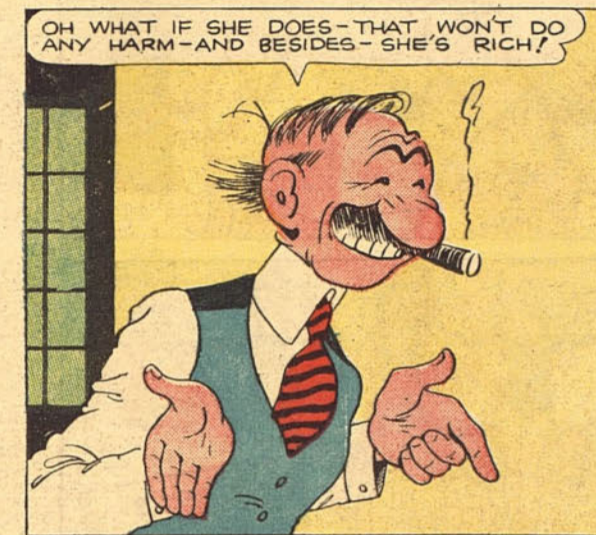

WELL, I'VE GOT A SCHEME TO MAKE SOME MONEY QUICK— YOU KNOW TONY THE ORGAN-GRINDER? HIS LITTLE MONKEY IS SICK AND I'M HELPING HIM OUT.

12-1 FEATURING DYNAMITE JOE JINKS

Sluggo

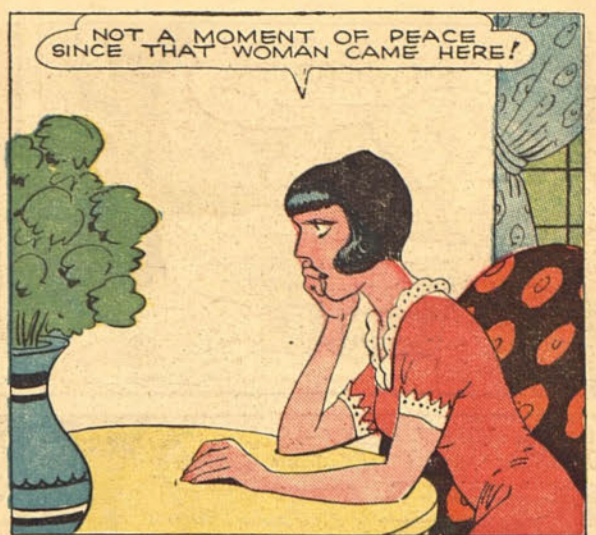

WHEN DID JEFFRIES, AND PETER JACKSON FIGHT, JOE?

OH WHAT IF SHE DOES— THAT WON'T DO ANY HARM— AND BESIDES— SHE'S RICH!

ALL RIGHT! I'LL TAKE HER OVER TO SEE HURRY UP BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE!

NOT A MOMENT OF PEACE SINCE THAT WOMAN CAME HERE!

NOT DO ANY HARM— I'LL BE THE LAUGHING STOCK OF THE TOWN— THE PRESIDENT OF THE BRIDGE CLUB'S AUNT A BOXING FAN— IT'S PREPOSTEROUS!

THEN HE CROSSED WITH HIS LEFT!

OH HOW QUAIN'T, DO GO ON!

YES, MISS JINKS, THEN WHAT HAPPENED?

WHAT'S THE MATTER? OUR BRIDGE CLUB MEETS HERE TODAY, AND YOUR AUNT IS LIABLE TO BLANCHE? START TALKING BOXING TO THEM!

OH, BLANCHE, YOU'RE GOING DOWNSTAIRS YOU'RE MAKING A FLUSS OVER NOTHING!

IS THIS HOW YOU GOT TO MISS JINKS?

NO, YOU'VE GOT TO KEEP YOUR LEFT UP HIGHER!

WON'T YOU PLEASE SHOW ME NEXT?

AND THEN ME?

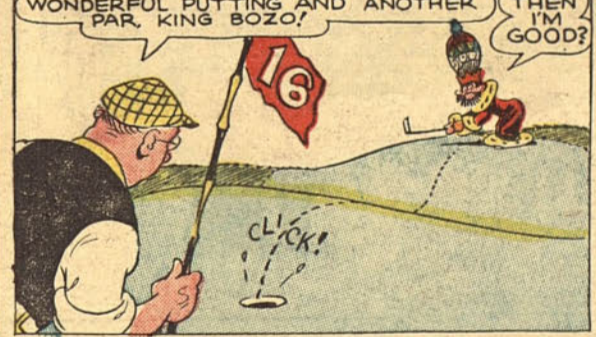

OH!

DIVOT DIGGERS

ATTA BOY, KING! THAT'S ANOTHER GREAT DRIVE!

THEN FOR ANOTHER PAR, HEY, MR. ADAM?

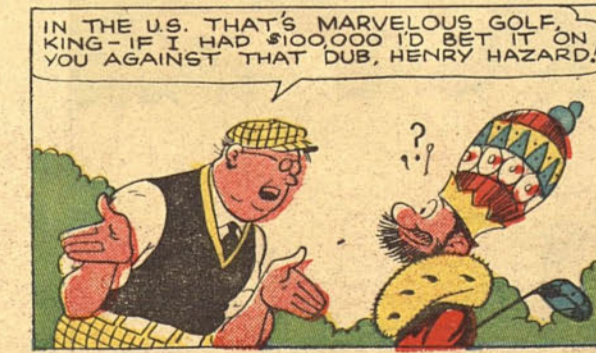

WONDERFUL PUTTING AND ANOTHER PAR, KING BOZO!

THEN I'M GOOD!

WOW! KING YOU MADE A HOLE IN ONE! GIVING YOU SIX UNDER PAR!

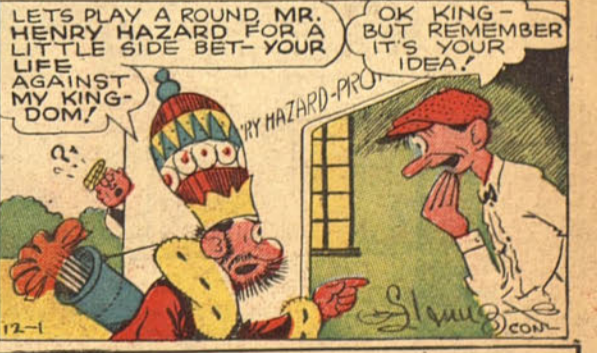

IN THE U.S. THAT'S MARVELOUS GOLF KING— IF I HAD $100,000 I'D BET IT ON YOU AGAINST THAT DUB, HENRY HAZARD!

HE NEVER SHOT A HOLE IN PAR IN HIS LIFE BUT YOU WOULDN'T LISTEN TO ME AND---

SO? I'LL FIX HIM!

LET'S PLAY A ROUND MR. HENRY HAZARD FOR A LITTLE SIDE BET— YOUR LIFE AGAINST MY KING-DOM!

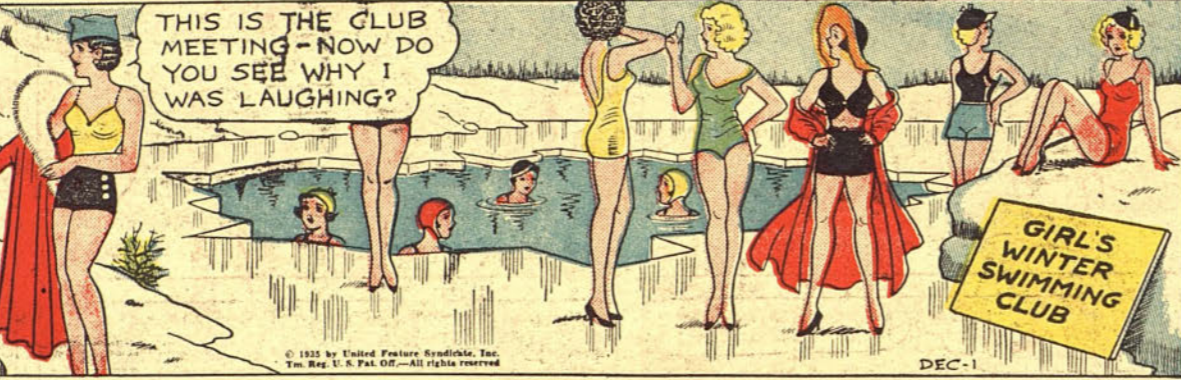

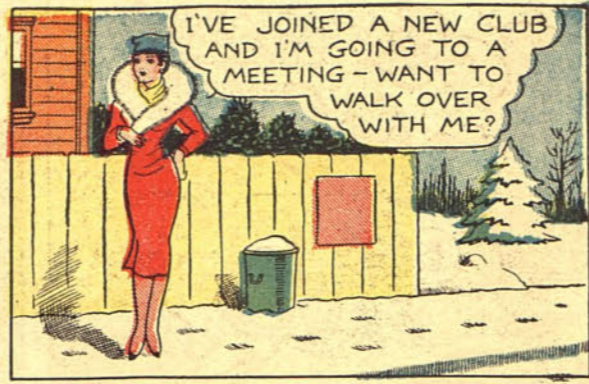

OK KING— BUT REMEMBER IT'S YOUR IDEA!
