MINISTER, 60, FOUND SLAIN IN PARSONAGE

Son, Former Spanish Loyalist Soldier, Being Held

BAINBRIDGE, Ohio, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Dr. Russell Bready, 60-year-old Methodist minister and former mayor of Pontiac, Mich., was found slain early today.

He was found shot through the temple, his body on the sidewalk two blocks from the parsonage.

Sheriff Joseph Vincent ordered Dr. Bready's 29-year-old son, Robert, an accountant, detained for questioning.

Officers said that blood was found down stairs in the parsonage, and in three up stairs rooms. A pistol was found under a pillow.

Young Bready, when questioned, said he couldn't remember a thing since last night when he was sitting beside a radio drinking.

The son had returned to Bainbridge a year ago, when he told neighbors he had been fighting with the loyalists in Spain.

Toll of School Bus Disaster Rises to 23

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 2.—(AP)—With the death of a youth today the toll of the nation's worst school bus disaster rose to 23 identified victims. One body remained unidentified.

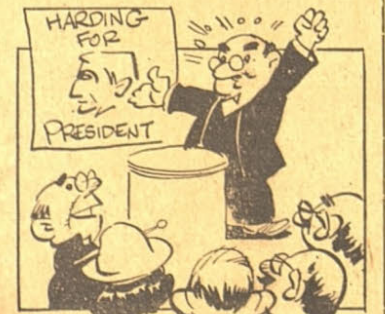

Sixteen occupants of the bus, which was crushed by a freight train near here, were injured, three critically.

Three Injured in Collision Here

Two girls and a man were injured, one of the girls said to be seriously, in a collision of out-of-town cars at the intersection of D avenue and Eighth street shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon. One of the cars was from Putnam. The victims were taken to Graham sanitarium where one of the girls was reported to have suffered serious leg cuts. Names of those involved could not immediately be learned.

C. B. Newby of Breckenridge was the guest of friends here Thursday.

"Movie Queen" to Arrive Tomorrow

The "Movie Queen" will arrive tomorrow. Escorted by members of the Lions club and her Hollywood party, the young and famous star, known to the world as a Russian princess, will return at noon to her childhood home to begin a week or more of exciting experiences, including a "kidnaping" in which a number of prominent Cisco men will figure.

The identity of the leading lady of the Lions club's musical production, now in rehearsal, remains a closely guarded secret. It will be revealed only when she and her party step from a Texas and Pacific train at noon accompanied by Jack Anderson, president of the Lions club and Charles Sandler, to be greeted by Mayor J. T. Berry, a Lions committee and the Lobo band.

Motion pictures will be made of the welcoming ceremonies and of the crowd which gathers to greet the queen.

In the party with the Queen will be "Ma" Brown, her mother, played by Miss Marian Chambliss; Producer "Goldstein," played by George Fee, and "Jimmy Cain," her press agent, played by Sterling Drumwright.

From the train the Movie Queen will be escorted to D avenue where she will ride in the junior chamber of commerce parade preceding the Jaycee's junior rodeo, Mary Louise Kleiner, 5-year-old daughter of Charles J. Kleiner, will ride in a tiny float of her own in the role of "Movie Queen of 1950" and members of the Lions club will form the escort for this feature of the march. The Lobo band will lead the parade.

The "Movie Queen" will be presented by the Lions club in two performances, December 15 and 16, at the high school auditorium. It will be a musical comedy in four acts, the last of which takes up and completes the story as it is carried forward in the first three acts.

STATE LAXITY "RIDICULOUS" SAYS O'DANIEL

Senate Group Will Demand Expenses Be Itemized

FORT WORTH, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Governor-elect O'Daniel termed today the practice of not requiring governmental agencies to itemize expenditures as "perfectly ridiculous," as he awaited a report of investigations being conducted by the senate finance committee.

"I can't understand how the state could allow such a poor business policy," O'Daniel said.

His comment followed the publication of a statement by Senator Redditt, of Lufkin, chairman of the investigating group. Redditt said his committee would insist that all expenses for the departments be itemized in detail.

Redditt said the present system was too loose, and tends toward waste.

Says Increase in Consumption Business Need

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—With a schoolmaster's pointer and a dizzying array of business charts, Dr. Isador Lubin, federal commissioner of labor statistics, gave the monopoly committee a broad picture of the American economic machine Thursday and added this advice as to the future:

The growth of the American population, which for years acted as a spur upon production, is now slowing down and by 1960 will stop altogether. Consequently, only a constantly increasing consumption per family can bring about a general and regular increase in the output of the nation's industries.

Fully "half the market" for industrial and agricultural products lies with the 54 per cent of the nation's families which receive incomes of $1,200 a year or less. Their incomes and standard of living must be increased, if the machine is to run smoothly and at a greater rate of speed. Giving each of them $2.25 more to spend each day would mean a capacity output for industry.

Dr. Lubin was the first of a long series of witnesses the committee expects to hear in a two-year survey of the ins and outs of American business and finance. The inquiry is directed particularly at monopoly or concentrations of wealth, the causes of unemployment and the effect of tax and

Contract for Sixth New Warship Let; Munitions Supply Plans Ordered

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The administration's quickened national defense preparations produced a navy contract for a sixth new battleship this week and an army order to streamline munitions supply plans.

The navy contract was for construction of the 35,000-ton battleship South Dakota at a cost of $52,794,000.

The army order was given by Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, to more than 200 munitions procurement specialists here for their first national conference.

The officers are in charge of preparations for mobilizing industry to supply munitions to the army and navy. Johnson told them that in the event of war the high command

To Drill in Third Well in New Putnam Area Today

Kidnaping Was Mistake, Father of Girl Says

OXON HILL, Md., Dec. 2.—(AP)—William Brown, father of 18-year-old Mary Brown, who reappeared at her home last night after an absence of 30 hours, said today that his daughter was abducted by men who mistakenly thought he could pay ransom money.

He said the men released his daughter after she convinced them that her father was unable to pay ransom. The girl told the family she was held in a hut until released.

The condition of Justice Joe Wilson, ill at his home, was not improved today, members of the family said.

Fourth Test Due to Reach Sand Late This Week

The Warren-Kleiner F. E. Clark No. 1-B in the new Putnam shallow field will be drilled in this afternoon after topping the cap rock at 756 feet. Elevation considered, this indicates the structure running high, with good prospects for production.

The well is two locations southeast of the Clark 1-A, discovery well. Meanwhile north of the discovery tract Stiles, et al, were expected to drill into the producing horizon Saturday night or Sunday. This well, an extremely important test, was running structurally higher than the discovery, giving rise to predictions it would be a better producer than either the Clark No. 1-A or the Williams, et al, No. 1, which gauged about 20 barrels.

Miss Bogue to Present Readings

Emiline Bogue, gifted dramatic reader, will present a group of religious readings in the First Baptist church on Sunday, December 11, at 3 o'clock, according to an announcement by Rev. J. I. Patterson of the First Methodist church, chairman of the Ministerial association.

Miss Bogue possesses one of those rare personalities so perfectly suited for platform work. Dynamic, vital, she awakens in others a love of and appreciation for the beauty and worthiness of life and living. The radiance of her personality and character shines out through the selections she presents.

In addition to possessing unusual natural ability, she has had the finest training available, under private teachers and in the Phiddeh Rice School of the Spoken Word. Mr. Rice, for many years associated with the Leland T. Powers School of the Spoken Word, Boston, is one of the foremost teachers of speech in America.

Miss Bogue is associated with the Amateur Theater guild of Boston and her work is rapidly being established in the New England states. She is here with the Lions club production, "Movie Queen."

In her appearance Sunday, Miss Bogue will present a group of readings, some of the most interesting.

VERDICT FINDS MRS. JACKSON PETERS GUILTY

Woman Convicted in September Slaying of Another

Mrs. Jackson Peters, charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Marcus Pierce at Nimrod last September, was found guilty and sentenced to five years in prison by a jury in 38th district court at Eastland which returned its verdict about 9:45 this morning.

Mrs. Pierce was shot to death when she and her husband were at the Peters' home after a fire at the home of Mrs. Pierce's brother, Joe Bachus, allegedly to inquire about an automobile which had been seen in the vicinity.

Mrs. Peters, 54, claimed self-defense. In testimony yesterday Mrs. Peters said that Mrs. Pierce struck her with a stick. She said she told Mrs. Pierce and her husband to leave and when they did not she went to their automobile with a gun.

Hickman received injuries when a bleacher stand collapsed at a football game at Brownfield. Hickman is a brother-in-law of Dr. R. L. Griggs, owner of the Griggs hospital here.

Champion Steer Brings Highest Price Since '29

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A rosy-tinted black steer waddled from the sales ring at the 1938 International Livestock exposition Thursday with the highest price tag of a show champion since 1929 and the fourth highest in exposition history.

The steer, an Aberdeen-Angus brought $3.35 a pound for each of his 1,130 pounds, a grand total of $3,785.

Irene Brown, 14-year-old Aledo III, high school sophomore, owner and exhibitor of the champion paid $60 for him last January and spent approximately $80 for provender. In addition to the sale price Irene won $70 in prizes here and almost $200 at other shows.

The steer, "Mercer," was bought by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company of Akron, Ohio.

Irene blinked away tears as she led "Mercer" around. "Too bewildered to have made any plans she said she "guessed" she would save most of the money for college.

The champion carload of steers also of the Aberdeen-Angus breed, brought the owner, A. H. Schmidt, of Kansas City, $23 a hundred weight, off $12 from last year's price of $35.

The Right Foundation for Our Defense Program

BEFORE congress really gets down to work on the rearmament program, it is to be hoped that its members will appreciate the fact that, in a military sense, America today is in the position of England during the 19th century.

Which is to say that America today is an insular nation. Its true defense lies on the sea. Just as England was protected by its "moat" until the modern bombing plane rendered the moat useless, so today America is protected by its own moat—the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. And no military program the nation can devise is worth paying for unless it is founded on that simple fact.

MODERN armaments take three forms—land, sea and air. And an insular nation must approach its defense problems from a different angle than a nation which does not enjoy the protection of the sea. Germany, for instance, must have a very strong army in order to be secure; it must have peacetime conscription and all the rest of the machinery that enables it to put an overwhelming force on the frontiers at a moment's notice.

But that is not at all the answer to the problem on this side of the Atlantic. A nation which can keep its enemies from getting near its frontiers does not need a strong frontier guard. A small, mobile force that can be rushed quickly to any danger spot is all it needs in the way of frontier defense.

But on the water the situation is reversed. Germany can have security with a relatively small navy; the United States, on the other hand, cannot have it without an exceedingly strong navy. For the simple geographical fact that any possible enemy must cross the ocean before it can get at him gives Uncle Sam the chance to hold all enemies at arm's length—provided that he maintains the right kind of fleet, backed with an adequate air force.

This is an extremely important fact in relation to the prospects for American democracy. For a nation which must prepare in the European manner, with conscription of manpower and regimentation of industry, must inevitably surrender some of its liberties—as the French are learning today, to their sorrow. But a sea power can have security without paying that price.

It was not by accident that England enjoyed unbroken freedom and democracy for so many years. It was able to do so because, being defended on and by the seas, it could attain security without supporting an immense military establishment. And America today is in a similar situation.

We do not need a huge army, we do not need conscription, we do not need any of the grandiose plans for regimenting men, industry and money which have been discussed of late. Since we do not need those things, we can give ourselves full security without infringing on our political and economic liberties.

Above everything else, it is important that congress remember that when it goes ahead with the rearmament program.

Mussolini has hired an American track coach to teach Italians how to run. This has nothing to do with any military preparations that may be under way in the empire.

This year's agricultural school graduate has gone to raising striped pigs to produce the striped pigskins for use on the gridiron.

The national lottery of France is to be abolished. The French people are reluctant to pay for chances when they get so many handed them for nothing.

Many politician prophets are now on a diet of cooked goose instead of ham and eggs.

SERIAL STORY LOVERS AWEIGH

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY ALCOTT—admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two navy suitors.
DWIGHT CAMPBELL—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.
JACK HANLEY—flying sailor. He faced a test of a patient love.
MARVEL HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

Yesterday, in the fear that Jack's plane may have crashed, Judy realizes she loves him after all. And then at Diane's house she learns that both Bill and Jack were forced down!

CHAPTER XX

Judy stood very still in the doorway, staring at Diane. Her bloodless lips said, "Jack?" once, and then, mercifully, darkness seemed to close over her.

She was ashamed of herself later for having fainted while Diane was rigidly self-controlled. But after the relief she had tasted, to learn in the end that her heart had been right, was too much for her.

When she came to, her mother was holding a glass to her lips, and Diane was standing beside the sofa, saying, "Poor Judy."

Judy struggled to sit up. Her head felt queer, and a little pot of nausea was whirling in her stomach. But she sat up. She said, "I'm sorry. I won't do that again." Then she asked, "Tell me everything you know about it, Diane."

"I don't know much. Naval Communications picked up the message and someone there must have telephoned Mrs. Hardy. Captain Hardy was the skipper of the Enterprise. His son, James, was in Communications. But no one said anything, and Diane's voice went on, "She telephoned me. She said there had been an accident. One of the planes was in trouble and hit the water. Another ship of the squadron flew low to render assistance. They—"

her voice broke. "They lost a man. They think it's Bill." Judy said quickly, "You mean it was Bill's ship that went down?"

"I don't know," Diane said.

Mrs. Alcott was staring ahead thoughtfully. "I suppose when your father spoke to the Admiral of the Fleet about Jack. The Admiral naurally realized he—" was more than merely acquainted with the boy. When this happened, he instructed Communications to notify him."

Diane was crying softly and hopelessly now. Her control had broken. But the very quietness of her grief, the fact that she did not cry out or become hysterical, made it even worse. She was feeling this. Deeply. So deeply that rebellious moaning or the futile pounding with fists against the hardness of something concrete could not help her. It was as if her grief were eating its way inward, to her heart.

Judy tried to comfort her. They clung to each other, two girls enmeshed in the same, stark tragedy. But Mrs. Alcott, who had been a Navy wife too long not to have learned the hard discipline of the service, went into the kitchen and made some coffee. She gave a cup to Diane and one to Judy. She did not speak as they sipped the strong black coffee. She only looked at them, and her glance was enough.

Diane lifted her chin. She said, "I know Bill wouldn't have wanted me to—"

"I'm sure he wouldn't," said Judy's mother. "The bravery and the gallantry the service expects of an officer is expected equally as much from his wife."

"I'm not even sure it's Bill," Diane said. "They said they weren't certain."

"But they lost one man—one of the two—"

That was Judy. "Mrs. Alcott stood up. "It's almost dawn. You must get some sleep, Diane. I shall send Mrs. Hamilton to help with the baby. As soon as they have additional word, they'll let you know."

"Yes." "Please, Mother, may I stay here with Diane? I—I want to so much."

"Certainly, Judy. But you need some rest, too."

"I'll sleep, Mother."

"I'll be right back," Mrs. Alcott said. Judy realized that her mother did not wish to telephone her father from here. She would go home, phone, get Magda Hamilton to come over, and then she'd be back. What other, ghastly things would she know when she returned?

Never in her life was Judy to forget the details of that terrible morning. As soon as light broke over the station, everyone knew of the tragedy. People came to Diane's house, kind, well-meaning people who tried to help, but who might better have stayed at home. Commander Sloane, the tall, sun-

Safety Officials Urge Observance of Traffic Rules

AUSTIN, Dec. 2.—With the most dangerous traffic month of the year facing motorists and pedestrians state safety department officials pleaded today for close observance of traffic rules in December.

Homer Garrison, Jr., safety director, recounting that 230 people died in traffic crashes in December last year, pointed to the Christmas holidays as the heaviest traffic period of the year during which the death rate leaps upward.

Texas highway patrolmen—a force limited to 300 men—will work double shifts during most of the month to deter reckless drivers in a strict enforcement drive. Referring to the 20 per cent decrease in fatalities in Texas since the beginning of the year, Garrison pleaded for drivers and pedestrians to be alert to the hazards that will confront them with shortened daylight periods, murky and cold weather, heavier traffic and wet pavement to combat.

He was joined in the plea by Chairman W. H. Richardson, Jr., of the safety commission. "Texas, like other states, is faced with a possible heavier death and destruction month in December," Chairman Richardson said. "Motorists must cut their speeds appreciably and be alert to impending traffic disasters. Pedestrians should walk with heads up, eyes toward approaching vehicles, cross only at proper places and be careful in darkness."

Garrison added that a sharp death reduction in December should bring to Texas a fatality drop of more than 400 persons for the year, "a great saving in human lives."

A pound of soap dissolved in a gallon of hot water and added to five gallons of whitewash will give the whitewash a glossy appearance.

C. R. Cox reports that he has again taken over the work on the Lea No. 2, 2 1/2 miles southwest of Rising Star and is at work cleaning out and preparing to finish the well. He announced that he was also rigging up to clean out and drill deeper the O'Rear well, just east of the Henry Hill place.

Ford Production to Be Stepped Up

DEARBORN, Mich., Dec. 2.—Ford Motor company production in the United States and Canada will be increased to 4,400 units a day in order to keep pace with the increasing volume of retail sales and orders for immediate delivery, it was announced at the company's home office today.

The announcement was made following receipt of reports from branches which disclosed that sales were exceeding production. The increase in production is expected to be put into effect by the middle of this week.

Mercury 8 production will be increased approximately 30 per cent for December to meet the increased demand for these new cars.

Mother's Standby in Treating CHILDREN'S COLDS

FOR RELIEVING discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest, and back at bedtime. Its poultice-vapor action relieves local congestion and helps the youngster relax into restful sleep.

FOR COUGHING and irritated throat due to colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue. It melts, bathes the throat with comforting medication. Also massage on throat and chest.

FOR HEAD-COLD "sniffles" and misery, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapor. This loosens phlegm, clears air passages.

Editor Warns France Italy "Is Ready"

ROME Dec. 2 (AP)—Editor Virgino Gayda, who often reflects Mussolini's views, warned France today that Italy "is ready to march, even against France, if it is necessary."

Gayda's declaration in his newspaper, Giornale D'Italia, sharply underscored the strain of Italian and French relations since Wednesday when Italian deputies demonstrated, in the presence of Mussolini, for recognition of Italian interests in Tunisia, France's North African protectorate.

Interest on U. S. Debt Billion Annually

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Treasury experts estimated Thursday that new federal borrowing scheduled for December 15 will increase the interest cost of the public debt to more than $1,000,000,000 a year.

It will be the largest interest cost since 1923, when the high rates on World War obligations pushed to $1,055,000,000 the carrying charges on a total debt of $22,349,000,000.

The anticipated billion dollar interest cost will support a debt of about $39,300,000,000—the total federal indebtedness after the new borrowing—because interest rates on government securities are not much lower.

Before the World War interest amounted to only $25,000,000 a year, but now it is the third largest item in the budget, being surpassed only by relief and national defense. It amounts to nearly a ninth of all federal costs.
