Magnificent Parade Will Feature The First Day of the Firemen's Convention—Prizes For Floats

A magnificent parade will feature the first day of the State Firemen's convention to be held here May 12-14. Prizes of $25 have been offered for the best floats in each of the school, division, organization division and business house division. The school division includes the schools and all school organizations. The organization division includes ladies' clubs, luncheon clubs, lodges and the like.

This parade is expected to prove the greatest of all parades ever held in Cisco. A conservative estimate is that from ten to fifteen thousand people will be here to witness this parade.

The Firemen's committee decided to request the city commission to prohibit all parking on Main street during the three days of the convention. A committee was appointed to confer with the commission on the matter. This committee consists of Noah Fowler, G. P. Rainbolt, Ted Bacon and S. P. Ramey.

Wide spread interest is being manifested in the big convention and crowds second in size only to the great crowds of the West, Texas Chamber of Commerce convention are expected to assemble. The fire chief of Little Rock, Arkansas, has made hotel reservations here and persons who have not attended a firemen's convention in ten years have advised the local firemen that they will be here. The American La France company is sending a party of nine people to represent them. The other supply companies will have big delegations present.

Every effort has been made to royally entertain the visitors. Committees of firemen assisted by committees of the chamber of commerce are handling the different phases of the convention and every indication points to a great meeting.

Letters have been mailed to the tax payers of Cisco calling on them for funds for the State Firemen's convention to be held here May 12-14. Liberal and cheerful donations to the fund affords the tax payers their only way to express their appreciation to a body of men who serving without one cent of remuneration annually save to the tax payers of Cisco almost one hundred thousand dollars. Every citizen who carries an insurance policy saves $3.60 per thousand carried on the premium solely because of the services of these firemen. This is an annual saving. In addition each property owner receives great benefit in the way of relief from mental worry because he knows that reasonable precaution on his part will prevent the burning of his home because the firemen are on the job day and night.

Three to four thousand dollars are needed to defray the expenses of properly caring for this convention. Cisco will receive many times this amount in the value of publicity while the visiting throngs will leave more than that amount here in cash spent for rooms and expenses while here. This is the first really big convention that has come to Cisco in years and it affords Cisco people an opportunity to do great things for the town.

Every effort has been made to prevent unnecessary expense. By keeping out fly-by-night decorating sharks several thousand dollars has been saved. In addition the attractive and expensive program to be given the visiting delegates will be financed by advertising secured entirely from out of town sources.

This fund must receive general and liberal subscription in order to go over. The property owners must not attempt to pass the burden to others or delude themselves into believing that for some reason they should not do their part. Every person who owns property in Cisco owes a great debt to the fire fighters and they have been receiving each year cash returns from this department. Probably never in their life time will they ever have the opportunity to help entertain a state convention of volunteer firemen and this is the volunteer firemen and this is the sure the obligations the property owners are under to the fire fighters.

THE HARRISON ORCHESTRA WAS LIONS' GUESTS

Harrison's Texans' orchestra or a good will tour rendered two delightful concerts in Cisco today. The first was at the high school during chapel period when the musicians delighted the students with their orchestra selections and entertainment features. The second concert was given to the Lions club in Lion-Rotary hall at noon.

This orchestra is composed entirely of Breckenridge high school students except for their leader, J. F. Harrison, who is a merchant of Breckenridge. Other than the leader who played the piano, the orchestra consists of Happy McGuire, drums and soloist; Ray Pitts, saxophone; William Collier, clarinet; and Porter Hart, cornet. Ireland McAaron, manager of the orchestra and Speedy Graham, business manager, accompanied them here.

This orchestra has played for WBPA the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and WFAA, the Dallas News radio broadcasting stations. Their music is wonderfully smooth and well rendered, unusually so for high school boys.

In a talk in the high school here, McAaron invited the Cisco high school orchestra and quartette to visit Breckenridge high school and luncheon clubs in order to bring the two schools and cities closer together.

CHARGES OF IMPERIALISM ARE UNTRUE

NEW YORK, April 29.—Charles E. Hughes, former secretary of state, defended the government of the United States against charges of imperialism in an address at a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York, at which he was presented with an honorary membership in the organization.

"There are some who have an inveterate although mistaken notion that our government cherishes an imperialistic policy," he said.

"They get political headaches from eye strain caused by the effort to see what does not exist. They imagine, for instance, that they discover a government controlled by bankers. To the bankers themselves, conscious of the extent and inevitable risks of their unaided efforts, such charges must seem to be the perfection of irony.

"The truth is that the investment in foreign loans is and must be a private affair. The business men of America know the government is not going to involve itself or promise the aid of military forces to collect debts. Naturally the department of state has desired information as to transactions with foreign governments. While the government does not control private investments, it has wished in the interest of the general peace and sound condition of commerce to discourage loans for unproductive purposes such as would be thought to strengthen military establishments in a world that needs more of reason and less of arms."

JUDGES OF THE NEW 11TH COURT QUALIFY FRIDAY

EASTLAND, April 28.—Friday the newly created eleventh court of civil appeals will be formally organized with the qualifying of the chief justice and the two associate justices of the court. Workmen are now busy remodeling the fourth floor of the Texas State bank building, which will be the quarters of the new court. However, it is hardly possible that the new court will be ready in time for occupancy by Friday, but the work is being rushed with all dispatch. Only a portion of this floor of the building will be required by the new court, the remainder will still be used by the county tax assessor and collector.

GRANTVILLE, Va., April 29.—The calling out of the national troops to join in the search for Earl Woodward, young ex-convict, who kidnaped eleven-year-old Lucile Chatterton and carried her into the woods with him, was demanded on all sides today. With a reward of two hundred dollars, dead or alive, hanging over his head, Woodward was being sought by six posses today. Walter Chatterton, father of the girl, who collapsed from lack of food and sleep last night, was with the searchers again today, declaring he would kill Woodward on sight.

BRUTAL MURDER BELIEVED THAT OF AN UXORICIDE

CHICAGO, April 29.—A blood-stained hatchet and long knife was found in the garret of the house of Frank Kocurek, after he had partially identified as his wife the headless and limbless torso found on the Budlong golf course recently. Search was made after a former boarder in the Kocurek home declared he heard the husband threaten the life of his wife. The roomer declared he heard Kocurek say "when I kill her I will use my experience as a butcher in the army so that if they ever find what is left of her they won't know who she is." Kocurek is being grilled.

The head of a young girl with hair bobbed boyishly was found in a sack in an alley here today. The head had been severed with a blunt knife, it is believed.

75 TUBERCULAR CONVICTS WILL BE LIBERATED

AUSTIN, April 29.—Two hundreds were granted Texas convicts by Governor Ferguson today as an opening step in freeing seventy-five prisoners in the next thirty days, following her statement last night in which she bitterly attacked the critics of her administration. The wholesale paroles and pardons, releasing seventy-five convicts, will start early in May because, she says, all are sick with tuberculosis.

JAP RACE WAR IS IMMINENT CENTRAL OHIO

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 29.—Rumblings of another controversy as bitter as that which rocked the Pacific before passage of the Japanese exclusion act are heard in Central Ohio.

The first outbreak came in the protest which has been raised against the plan of the Ohio Farms company, an agricultural corporation holding rich bottom lands near Norwalk, to carry out its contract to import 500 Japanese families from the Imperial Valley, California, to work 1,500 acres of leased celery lands near the junction of the Huron, Crawford and Richland county lines.

Scores of men, including a force of highway workers, were called upon to fight a mysterious fire which broke out Sunday night and was today raging unchecked over the marsh lands. The fire is on the property of the Ohio Farms company and it is suspected it may have been set by persons opposed to the intrusion of the Japanese.

At the same time, fearing another anti-Japanese controversy this far east, the Celery Growers and Shippers' association, Celeryville, prepared a direct appeal to the federal government against the importation of the Japanese. Representative James L. Begg, announced candidate to succeed United States Senator Frank B. Willis, will carry the protest to the state department.

Long Chase by Hunters and Hounds Ends in Usual Victory For Astute "Old Whitey"—Many Participated

The bay of hundreds of high-bred wolf hounds is again echoing through the hills of Raylec—last year the scene of the greatest wolf hunt ever held in America. Two hundred prize hounds and their owners from a dozen towns throughout the oil belt have been on the famed wolf hunting grounds for the past three days and several gray-backed marauders have been taken by the packs. The hunters have been staging this hunt in order to get their dogs in trim for the big hunt to be held at Stamford, May 14. However, the main object of the drive has been "Old Whitey," the notorious wolf that has repeatedly defied the efforts of the greatest hunters and hounds.

One party of hunters sighted this wolf Monday night. Tracking conditions were ideal and the hounds got a fair start with him. Hunters on an imminence could see his ghost-like form glide through the underbrush in the phantom light of a cloud-shaded moon. Close on his trail bayed some of the greatest Walker hounds that have ever taken the trail. The damp ground and cool air made it seem that Old Whitey was at last to meet his doom. For hours the chase continued. The old wolf would circle and back track, springing far to the side of his trail to throw the dogs off his scent and then race up the bank of a ravine, leaping from side to side of the channel in an effort to elude the keen-nosed hunters. But the unerring noses of the hunting pack would always pick out his trail and follow through.

On one occasion, the wolf passed so close to one of the hunters that the man could plainly see his white form, his hide seared with the bullets of many rifle shots and gasped by fang marks of many death encounters in the past. The murderous grin on his face seemed to mock the efforts of the men and dogs to take him.

But the chase ended as many chases after the were-wolf have ended—in victory for the wolf. After the chase had extended from Raylec to Gunsight and back across the highway and to the C. & N. E. railway, the old wolf went into the open country near the intersection of the Cisco and Eastland-Breckenridge highway. He evidently raced a straight mile at full speed, gaining on the hounds, who were forced to travel slowly, searching each foot of ground for a possible back track; then he swam the small lake just to the east of the highway, emerged from the water several times to travel a short distance and return, then followed his old tracks back to the rock hillside, where the dogs lost his trail and were again forced to accept defeat at the hands of this creature that has for years been able to take his toll from the flocks and herds of the farmers of the country and mock at every effort to end his career of murder.

The Oil Belt Hunters have vowed to take this animal and are planning another hunt for him soon. Following the annual hunt of the Texas Wolf Hunters' Association at Stamford, several of the hunters whose packs were foiled by this sage wolf last year, plan to come back and make a final effort to bring to a close the career of this wolf, by far the most famed wolf ever heard of in Texas.

THE BEDROOM ON WHEELS

A police officer, observing a car standing on the roadside near the edge of town with a man asleep in it, was about to arrest the occupant on a charge of intoxication.

Automobiles are intended for one purpose and hotels for another, and if everybody traveling by motor took to sleeping thus, it would seriously clutter up our streets and highways.

Sleeping in an ordinary automobile seat has its disadvantages, although it can be done. Contraptions have been devised for making such slumber fairly comfortable.

Gypsy wagons are often seen, and in recent years "land yachts" have appeared for cruising the highways and byways on wheels, without the bother of tents.

The time may come when any motor tourist can carry with him complete facilities for cooking and sleeping, and have his own house over his head wherever and whenever he chooses to stop.

Baseball may be a foolish pastime, as some contend; but the moment the season starts, millions of men stop worrying about their state of health, their wives' shortcomings and the sins of the government.

THE MIND IN YOUTH AND AGE

It has been observed that in youth it is the outward aspect of things that most engages us; while in age, thought or reflection is the predominating quality of the mind.

Hence, youth is the time for poetry, and age is more inclined to philosophy.

In practical affairs it is the same; a man shapes his resolutions in youth more by the impression that the outward world makes upon him; whereas, when he is old, it is thought that determines his actions.

This is partly to be explained by the fact that it is only when a man is old that the results of outward observations are present in sufficient numbers to allow of their being classified according to the ideas they represent, a process which in its turn causes those ideas to be more fully understood in all their bearings, and the exact amount of trust to be placed in them.

In youth, the impressions that things make, that is, the outward aspects of life, are so overpoweringly strong, especially in the case of people of lively and imaginative dispositions, that they view the world like a picture; and their chief concern is the figure they cut in it, the appearance they present; but they are unaware of the extent to which this is the case.

Schopenhauer makes the statement that there can be no doubt that the intellectual powers are most capable of enduring great and sustained efforts in youth, up to the age of thirty-five; from which period their strength begins to decline, though very gradually.

"Still, the later years of life, and even old age itself, are not without their intellectual compensation.

"It is only then that a man can be said to be really rich in experience or in learning; he has then had time and opportunity enough to enable him to see and think over life from all its sides; he has been able to compare one thing with another, and to discover the points of contact and connecting links, so that only then are the true relations of things rightly understood."

BETTER FOR PAVEMENTS

An unexpected recruit has appeared in the struggle to save paved roads from destruction. It is found that the low-pressure balloon tire is easier on pavements than the old kind. It is as much easier on the roads as it is on the car, because it distributes the same weight over twice the road area and so has only half so hard a pounding effect on any particular spot.

Coronation of the Queen of the Loboes Most Brilliant Event In West Texas High School History

One of the most brilliant affairs ever held in west Texas will be the crowning of the queen of the Cisco Loboes Friday night, May 1, in the high school gymnasium. His most gracious majesty, Charles Henry of the House of Grist will crown his queen at the royal palace.

Twenty high schools and colleges from as many west and central Texas cities will participate in this event and will be represented on the program. Two hundred and fifty people will participate in the ceremonies and elaborate lighting effects have been arranged to properly display the magnificent gowns to be worn.

The coronation takes on the nature of a great popularity contest. The most popular young ladies and men of the various schools were selected in most cases by votes in a popularity contest to represent their schools. In Cisco every civic, fraternal and commercial organization has named representatives. Eastland county will be officially represented by a duchess and each class and organization of Cisco high school will have a representative.

Abilene will take a prominent part in the festivities. A delegation of twenty-five Abilene people will come here and will make headquarters at the Daniels hotel. Ranger has asked for reservations for one hundred; Moran has asked for fifty reserved seats and large delegations will come from Brownwood, Baird, Eastland, Desdemona and Clyde, besides those who will appear on the program.

Some of Texas' leading artists will sing and play, and some talented young folk dancers will be presented. Miss Sammie Mae Trigg and Prof. Negro, who have charge of the affair, have labored hard and faithfully and have arranged one of the most brilliant pageants ever attempted by Cisco.

REV. MILLER TO PREACH SIMMONS BACCALAUREATE

Rev. A. C. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church of Cisco, has been invited by President Staniford to preach the baccalaureate sermon for Simmons College at Abilene May 31. That night he will preach a missionary sermon in the First Baptist church of Abilene. Dr. Miller is an alumnus of Simmons College, graduating from that school with the A. B. degree in the class of 1917. But he has grown since that date, and those who hear his sermons to the class of 1925 will hear something worth while. West Texas has few more spiritual ministers than this gentleman, which will be attested by all who heard his Easter sermon on the occasion of the Knight Templar service. Simmons College is to be congratulated on his selection.

NO PARTY LINES NAMING SCHOOL CITY OFFICIALS

DALLAS, April 29.—Public appreciation of the Republican policy which favors non-partisan election of municipal and school officials is seen by state headquarters in the election of many Republicans to local office on non-partisan tickets. In the city of Galveston, May 12, the mayorality will be contested between Jack Pearce, present fire and police commissioner, and Walter Terry Smith, shipping man, both active Republicans. At Wichita Falls, R. E. Shepherd, who has shown his sympathy for Republican national politics, was elected mayor by 1000 votes over his Democratic opponent, and Opal Jones, former treasurer of the Wichita Republican organization, was elected a commissioner by a 2 to 1 vote over his Democratic contestant. Both Shepherd and Jones upheld a non-partisan banner against bitter partisan attacks. In Dallas, on the other hand, the Republican organization endorsed the Blaylock administration for re-election though they were running under the Democratic designation. Col. W. E. Tolbot, head of the special municipal committee of the Dallas County Republicans, announced that local policies and fitness of the candidates should rule in city elections, rather than partisan matters. It is estimated that nearly 4,000 Republicans supported the Blaylock ticket, making a run-off unnecessary. "National and state tickets are named to support great national and state issues. Local tickets should be chosen with reference to their fitness for distinctly local issues," said Leonard Withington, director of organization of the Republican party today. "Republicans believe in party responsibility in state and national affairs and in non-partisan city elections, except where refusal of co-operation by the opposing party makes this ideal impossible."

CATTLE REGULATION CHANGE DISCUSSED WITH FERGUSONS

AUSTIN, April 29.—A change in the federal cattle quarantine regulations as affecting Texas was discussed Monday by the state livestock sanitary commission with Governor Ferguson and Mr. Ferguson. It is felt that some change is necessary and the details are to be worked out as a result of Monday's conference. All three members of the commission were here Monday, Leo Callan of San Antonio, chairman; and Dr. E. F. Jarrel of Tyler, and Caesar Kleburg of Kingsville.

MOODY SEEKS TO HASTEN SUIT ON RANGER FORCES

AUSTIN, April 29.—In order that early action may be had in the supreme court upon the application for permission to file a writ of error in the appeal from San Antonio testing the constitutionality of the state ranger law, Attorney General Dan Moody Monday filed a waiver. Under a district court decision the state was enjoined from continuing the ranger force, but this judgment was reversed and dismissed and the injunction was dissolved on order of the court of civil appeals at San Antonio.

SAN ANGELO IS AFTER SOUTH AFRICAN GOATS

SAN ANGELO, April 29.—This city will make a strong bid for the sale of 130 South African Angora goats which are being brought to the United States by seventeen breeders of the distant continent, according to plans now being formulated. B. M. Halbert, San Angelo and Sonora ranchman and booster of the general use of the word chevron for goat meat, believes that the annual show of the Sheep & Goat Raisers' association of Texas, in conjunction with the All-West Texas Exposition here, October 26-31, inclusive, will offer an inducement that will appeal strongly to the goat men.

Connecting Radio Dry Cell Batteries

There are several tubes on the market of different voltages, and the novice is often perplexed just how to connect the dry cells to suit the tubes. The WD-11 and 12 tubes are 1 1/2-volt tubes, and operate on one or more dry cells, one cell being usually provided for each tube. If two or more cells are used for more than one tube, they are connected in parallel, as shown in Fig. 1. No matter how many dry cells are connected together in this way, the total voltage always remains 1 1/2. For 3-volt tubes, as UV-199 and C-299, the required voltage is obtained by connecting two dry cells in series, as shown in Fig. 2. With this arrangement the positive of one cell is connected to the negative of the other. When two or more 3-volt tubes are used, it is good practice to use two dry cells for each tube, connecting them in series-parallel, as shown in Fig. 3. This gives 3 volts and a maximum amperage. A higher voltage than that for which a tube is designed should never be used, and the filaments should never be burned brighter than needed for good results.

3 DRY CELLS IN PARALLEL, 1 1/2 VOLTS. 2 DRY CELLS IN SERIES, 3 VOLTS. 6 DRY CELLS IN SERIES PARALLEL, 3 VOLTS.

Autos Built in Queer Shapes

Bodies of automobiles are being built in fantastic designs to accommodate developments of machinery parts and to give the cars artistic lines. One such model exhibited in Berlin consists of a sedan on which all corners have been eliminated producing a flat appearance when seen from a short distance. It is claimed this type is suitable for advertising purposes since a great amount of space is provided for signs and painted inscriptions. Another light-weight vehicle has been constructed with an enormous hood which causes the car to resemble a whale. Only three wheels are provided, a single one being under the forward part of the hood and the other two under the rear part of the car.

Removing Paint and Varnish

The most efficient method of removing old paint and varnish is to burn the surface with a painter's blowtorch. The heat causes the film to soften and it can then be scraped off easily. This method, however, can only be used on flat surfaces, and where a slight scorching of the wood is not objectionable. A hot solution of caustic soda (concentrated lye), 1 lb. to the gallon of water, is also efficient. This should be applied with a fiber (not bristle) brush until the paint softens. This solution is very hard on the hands, and also raises the grain of the wood, and surfaces treated with it should be thoroughly washed and dried before repainting.

A Good Drying Oil

To 1/2 gal. of water add 1 lb. of sugar of lead (poison—lead acetate). Shake occasionally, and when the lead is dissolved add 2 qt. of water; then filter the solution and add 3 gal. of raw linseed oil. Stir in 1 lb. of powdered litharge, shake it often and then let it stand for several days. The oil found on top will be the drying oil, and it must be poured off into another vessel. The liquid is clear and bright and dries in about 24 hours.

Whitewashing Trees

When trees in an orchard are whitewashed it looks much better to have the sprayed parts all of uniform height. This can be done by using a strip of olecloth, about 12 in. wide and long enough to encircle the largest trees. One end of the strip is tacked to the end of a pole as shown in the drawing, the pole being 2 1/2 ft. longer than the height of the part to be whitewashed. After the strip is wrapped around the tree a few turns, the sprayer can be used and there will be no ragged edge when finished.

MONUMENT FOR GOV. HUBBARD IS PROPOSED

AUSTIN, April 29.—"Few people in Texas know that the grave of Governor R. M. Hubbard, affectionately known as Dick Hubbard during his service as governor of this state, is unmarked in the cemetery in Tyler," said Dr. E. F. Jarrel, member of the state live stock sanitary commission. "If ever there was a meritorious opportunity for the state and the patriotic organizations to do a good work, it is to provide funds for a suitable monument for that famous Texan," Dr. Jarrel said. Dick Hubbard also served as ambassador to Japan and was otherwise a prominent Texan of his time. He was governor in 1876-79 and was appointed minister to Japan by President Cleveland in 1895. He served as lieutenant governor and gained recognition in the national Democratic convention in espousing the nomination of Hancock for president. According to Dr. Jarrel, there is only one marker on the Hubbard grave, being a small slab with three letters, "C. S. A.," which was placed there by the Confederate Veterans' association to indicate Gov. Hubbard's service in the Confederate army. However, it does not show that he was a colonel and commanded a regiment of infantry. The grave is in the Hubbard plot, where are buried the father and mother of Dick Hubbard. Only a few people know that the unmarked grave is that of a former governor of this state.

WICHITA COUNTY BANKERS PLAN FIGHT ON HOPPERS

WICHITA FALLS, April 29.—Bankers in this section will urge county commissioners' courts to buy poison to be distributed among farmers to fight the grasshopper pest, and will urge their farmer customers to make use of the poison. Thirty bankers from Wichita and surrounding counties in Texas and Oklahoma gathered here Monday night to discuss the grasshopper menace. Many reported active campaigns in their counties. Although the heavy rains in the last week have washed away many hoppers, millions of them remain and it is expected warm weather after the rains will hatch out new hordes of them.

MAY ABANDON INTERURBAN TEMPLE, April 29.—Unless they are relieved of the obligation to pave between tracks of the interurban line operating between Temple and Belton, the owners announce their intention of surrendering their charter and taking up the tracks at the pleasure of the city commission. This attitude was made public in a statement by J. C. Houser, manager of the property, after he said the city manager had been pressing the company to either pave or remove its tracks.
