TEXAS LAW TO HELP DEBTORS HELD INVALID

Special to Daily News
EASTLAND, July 30 — Ruling that the Texas counterpart of the Federal "Frazer-Lemke" act is void has recently been rendered in an opinion by the court of civil appeals for the eleventh supreme judicial district of Texas at Eastland.

The case was that of Cattle Raising company, et al of Tarrant county vs. John Doan et al. The opinion was written by Judge Clyde Grison, associate justice.

The case came to the Eastland appellate court from the Palo Pinto county district court.

The law, declared invalid, was passed by the 43rd legislature, third session, entitled "An Act for the Reorganization of Distressed Debtors." The court held the law impaired the obligation of contracts in contravention of the constitution of Texas, and of the United States.

The opinion is the first interpretation of the statute by an appellate court. In construing the act, the court stated that "his statute turns the contract and security for debts over to the court for it to make a new contract for the parties and to parcel out the assets of the debtor when and as it may deem advisable. Under this statute, the rights of the creditor under the contract, and under the law at the time of the execution of the contract, in the event of default by the debtor, to have the personal property described in the chattel mortgage and the real estate described in the deed of trust sold and applied on the debt, and the further right, if the property did not sell for enough to satisfy the debt, to obtain a personal judgment against the debtor for the deficiency therein, are not only delayed, but are permanently taken from him. This cannot lawfully be done."

Atten was called, in the opinion, to the similarity of the provisions of the state act, and Frazer-Lemke Act (Federal Farm Moratorium Act), which was recently declared unconstitutional by the supreme court of the United States. The court also relied upon two recent decisions handed down by the supreme court of Texas, in which the "State Emergency Moratorium Act" and the "Anti-Deficiency Judgment Act" were held unconstitutional, as legislation attempting to impair the obligation of contracts in violation of the Constitution of Texas and the United States.

WOULD FACE ITALIANS IF THEY ATTACK

Copyright 1935 by United Press
PARIS, July 30 — Reports of British military preparations in the Sudan to protect British interests around Lake Tsana in the event of an Italian-Ethiopian war, reached Egyptian sources in Paris today. It was stated British and Anglo-Egyptian-Sudanese troops were held in readiness to cross the Ethiopian border and occupy the Lake Tsana region in Ethiopia if the Italians launch an attack. In that event, the British would find the British in occupation if they advance. The situation recalled past history when the French and British clashed over possession of Sudan.

DELEGATES ARRIVE FOR MEETING OF LEAGUE

Copyright 1935 by United Press
GENEVA, July 30 — Delegates representing the 14 nations of the League of Nations council converged on Geneva today for a meeting at which they will make an almost despairing effort to avert war between Italy and Ethiopia.

Belief was solidified that on Great Britain depended the main hope. A trustworthy source reported that Anthony Eden, chief British delegate, would arrive for the meeting which starts at 5 p. m. tomorrow with instructions that if a basis for negotiations between the disputing nations were found, he should demand that Italy promise to make no attack while they were proceeding. This would give the council a chance to take emergency action before the start of war.

Jobs Are Plentiful In Grain Sections

OMAHA, July 30 — Hundreds of acres of Nebraska land are dotted with wheat bundles because farmers are unable to get farm hands to shock them.

County agents and other officials acting as employment agents are unable to account for the shortage. Some believe federal relief is responsible for only handfuls of itinerants following the harvest whereas formerly there were thousands.

It is still early to predict the passing of the annual trek that accompanied harvest during the first quarter of the century, but advice reaching here from Kansas, where the labor supply formerly was found to indicate a shortage exists there also.

Most of the labor available is from local sources. Pat Connell of the Omaha city employment office met the demand for farm labor. Three farmers sat all one day in his office, he said, but no workers appeared. They offered $30 a month, room and board, where they formerly paid only $15 or $20.

It is believed early reports of extensive damage to wheat may have discouraged some workers as it did many farmers. Although not of as high quality as in former years, the Nebraska wheat crop is expected to exceed 40,000,000 bushels.

Re-employment rules established by the administration in its programs and the public works program with consequent heavy employment of erstwhile itinerants was believed to carry at least a part of the solution of the problem.

Railroad men agree with Nebraska farmers that there have been fewer "sidoor pulman" passengers than customary during the harvest.

NANCE TAKES ADVANTAGE OF EARLY RALLY TO WIN FROM GARNER CLUB

Nance last night took advantage of a first inning rally and poor base running by the Garner club to grab an 8 to 1 victory and move into an undisputed second place position in the city softball league.

Except for a bad first inning, in which five men came in after two outs had been made by the Nance club, the two teams played on a fairly even basis. Garner men were in a position to score several times but ragged baserunning cut off their chances.

Tonight's game will bring the Lobos, tall-enders, into action against the Community, leading the league at present. The Lobos have

That was the plight of Daniel Fisher, Jr. (above), who had to wait until his impoverished family received its weekly relief check before he could start the lost bonds on their way back to their proper owner. Newark, N. J. plans to honor his honesty by a sizable reward.

BLACK WARNS U. S. MEN MAY HUNT HOPSON

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Chairman Hugo Black abruptly broke in on senate lobby committee testimony today to declare he would put federal officers all over the country on the trail of Howard Hopson, reputed "master mind" of the vast Associated Gas and Electric system, unless he appeared soon for questioning.

Exasperated with A. G. E. witnesses who could tell little of the system's expenditure of more than $700,000 in fighting the utility bill, Black suddenly turned to Fred Burroughs, a vice president in the Hopson organization, and said: "If Hopson doesn't come in soon, we're going to have to turn over an order to every marshal in the United States to bring him in here where someone can do it."

The warning to Hopson came as committee investigators said their inspection of A. G. E. books showed it had spent at least $791,497 in fighting the utility bill. Committee agents, armed with a senate subpoena, have been hunting Hopson, who reportedly received more than $2,800,000 from A. G. E. companies during depression years.

Fishing Job Starts At DeLafosse Well

Special to Daily News
BRECKENRIDGE, July 30.—Hope that rescue operations may win in the chance of reclaiming the Pitzer & West well on the DeLafosse ranch sprang anew yesterday despite the fact that the hope may be based on a slim chance. C. K. West of the operating company said today that fishing would start in the hole Monday morning to determine if the well can be saved following an accidental blast of nitro glycerin, which exploded about 1,200 feet off bottom in an attempt to shoot it.

Children Urged To Drink More Milk

AMES, Iowa, July 30.—When every child in the United States drinks a quart of milk a day, and every adult includes a pint of milk in his diet daily, the nation will be on its way to greater physical well-being, in the opinion of Dr. P. Mabel Nelson, director of the Iowa State College department of foods and nutrition.

Dairy products—milk, cheese and butter—in liberal quantities do much to supply needed vitamins, minerals and calories in diets, Dr. Nelson asserted. Milk, considering its food value, is one of the cheapest items of the grocery list.

The dietitian said milk contains such tooth and bone builders as calcium and phosphorus.

Jews May Be Barred From Berlin Homes

By United Press
BERLIN, July 30.—Authorities are considering forbidding any more Jews to take up residence in Berlin as the next step in the anti-Semitic campaign, well informed sources said.

Officials statistics show that in the last two years 20,000 Jews came to Berlin from the provinces and only 2,000 left the city.

TAX-THE-RICH BILL FAVORED IN COMMITTEE

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 30.—The house ways and means committee, without a record vote, today favorably reported the $75,000,000 tax-the-rich bill as it was introduced by Chairman Robert Doughton.

The action was taken at a 15-minute meeting, at which only two republicans were present. Seventeen democrats attended.

Formal reporting of the measure will enable it to be brought up in the house of representatives tomorrow and sent to the senate probably by Saturday night.

The fast action was in response to administration demands to hurry up to hasten congressional adjournment. The bill designed to carry out President Roosevelt's redistribution of wealth ideas, carries the same rates as those in the tentative draft introduced yesterday, placing taxes on inheritances and excess profits and increasing gift and corporation taxes, the latter so far as large corporations are concerned.

Attack Launched On Corn Process Taxes

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 30.—The first attack on the federal corn processing tax was launched today when Federal District Judge Charles Briggie issued an order restraining collection of the tax from A. E. Staley company, of Decatur, Ill.

Federal officials said the order probably would be followed by applications of other large companies affected by the tax, one being the Corn Products Refining company.

The Staley company, in obtaining the order, attacked the constitutionality of the AAA processing tax in the same way as packing and milling interests who have obtained injunctions in the federal courts in recent weeks.

First Journalism School Head Dies

COLUMBIA, July 30.—Dr. Walter Williams, who founded the first university of school of journalism and sent hundreds of men and women to important posts throughout the world, died last night.

Dr. Williams, who began work as a printer's devil at 75 cents a week and never attended college as a student, resigned as president of the University of Missouri a month ago, ill for more than a year. Dr. Williams submitted his resignation last year but it was only on June 30 that a successor was named. He was 71.

Waxahachie Man To Speak at Church

Rev. George R. Pemberton of Waxahachie will speak Wednesday and Thursday nights at the Bethel Missionary Baptist church, 405 East Eighth street, it has been announced.

The coincidence that these five jet-black kittens, as much alike as the famous Dionne quintuplets, were born on the first birthday of the famous sisters, gave Dr. Tomerode Fiset of Quebec, a bright idea. As a result, the Canadian National Railways expressman delivered a crate containing the kittens to the Dafoe Hospital at Calander, Ont.—a pet apiece for the Dionne babies.

Newsman To Face Charges Thursday

ANGLETON, July 30.—Editors and reporters of three Houston newspapers who published accounts of the Clyde Thompson murder trial in defiance of District Judge M. S. Munson's orders, agreed today to appear before the jurist Thursday.

The judge issued formal orders yesterday to bring the men into court to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court. He said he wished to test the power of the district court in dealing with publication.

TESTIMONY IN HOT OIL WARS OPENS TODAY

AUSTIN, July 30.—Open investigation of how the state wars on hot oil production in East Texas began before a house committee today with testimony by Col. Ernest Thompson, chairman of the Texas railroad commission.

Committee Chairman Augustine Celaya, Brownsville, indicated the session may last the remainder of the week.

Thompson claims the battle against hot oil is "almost won" in an opening statement asserting Texas now is controlling production—not Wall Street—and predicted that predatory interests seek to break down state control.

HEALTH OFFICER URGES CITIZENS TO HELP IN MOSQUITO CAMPAIGN

Dr. W. P. Lee, city health officer, today issued another call to citizens to do their bit in ridding Cisco of mosquitoes.

"There are still some mosquitoes here," Dr. Lee said, although I have not been hearing as many complaints about them as I did.

"We are trying to eradicate them, and urge the cooperation of everyone here in doing so." He asked the people of Cisco to aid the city in keeping their yards and vacant lots free of weeds, and by a general cleanup of any place where the insects might breed.

REICH SENDS U. S. PROTEST OVER ACTION

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 30.—The German government today presented a formal protest to the United States over the indignities to the flag perpetrated by three communists aboard the liner Bremen in New York Harbor last week.

The protest was sent to the state department by a messenger from the German embassy. It was written in German and was sent to the translation division of the state department. Pending translation, state department officials were unable to comment.

The protest was a climax in the recent furor over alleged discrimination against Catholics and Jews in Germany, which evoked speeches and resolutions by congressmen seeking to investigate whether the United States should break of relations with the Hitler government.

Allred Dedicates New Valley Harbor

POST ISABEL, Tex., July 30.—Gov. James Allred, speaking today at the dedication ceremonies for the new deep water port at Port Isabel, complimented citizens of the Rio Grande Valley on their aggressiveness "which has made the Valley the desirable place it is."

"With the opening of the Port Isabel port and the Brownsville port every need of water transportation for the Valley is taken care of. It would seem no section of the state has a more completely rounded out than the Rio Grand Valley."

By United Press
DALLAS, July 30.—In a move designed to break the deadlock threatening to tie up three-fourths of the Texas cotton crop, C. K. Bullard, attorney for the Texas Cotton Growers Gin company, announced today cooperative gins would ask to be exempted from government threats to withhold cotton ginning tags.

Representing 40 cooperative gins throughout the state, Bullard said he planned to file a motion in federal district court at Sherman asking that cooperative gins be exempted from provisions of an injunction restraining enforcement of the Bankhead act.

The injunction was granted July 19 by Judge Randolph Bryant on petition of the Texas Cotton Ginners association. It restrained government officials from collecting the cotton ginner's processing tax set up by the Bankhead act.

Although the injunction granted does not become operative pending the filing of $100,000 bond by the ginner, the bureau of internal revenue has refused to issue Bankhead tags.

FARMERS TO FORCE ACTION BY GINNERS

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 30.—Cotton ginner who enjoined the issuance of Bankhead tags required for movement of cotton face the alternative of suspending the court order or going out of business, members of the Texas Cotton Advisory committee said today.

Farm members, in conversation with AAA officials, formulated a plan to press their fight against the ginner's action, which they say may tie up much of the Texas cotton crop.

"The ginner can either side with the farmers and have the order relieved or we will take steps to see that they have no cotton to gin from now on," H. G. Lucas, committee member and president of the Texas Agricultural association, said.

When ginner attacked the validity of the Bankhead act they had no idea of the far reaching effect, the committee asserted.

Brown county officers have taken the group into custody, it was stated.

Survivors included Mr. Davis' sisters in Eastland, Mrs. Floyd Brewer, Mrs. Burgamy, Mrs. Pryor, a brother, Hoyt Davis, Eastland; brothers, Lawrence, Oral and Truman, Rising Star; Tom, Louisiana, Arthur, Brownwood. ## State Park Project Moves Forward

Announcement yesterday that a state park engineer has been promised Cisco next month spurred speculation as to the proposed state park here.

The engineer, George Bringhurst, is chief of the field division of the state park board's topographic work. He will arrive here on or about August 19 to map plans which can be followed, regardless of through what channels, in building the park in the canyon northeast of the city.

For some time Bringhurst has been working in Nocona, but when he finished, was called to a national guard camp and his trip to Cisco was delayed some three weeks. About four weeks more will be needed for completion of the survey and plan of campaign in regard to the park. The Chamber of Commerce is to receive further instructions from R. O. Whiteaker, chief engineer of the park board, in regard to assistance for Bringhurst and other details.

For a long time the city has been looking forward to a state park. Many efforts have been made to secure one, each effort aiding a little toward bringing such a park project here, and each one aimed not only at the park itself but at the upbuilding of Cisco.

It would be needless to attempt to point out the importance of a state park to the city. A simple explanation is that it would be perhaps the greatest single move at present in the move to make Cisco a resort, "the playground of West Texas."

It would be needless to show, also, how many persons have given their time and energies to secure a park here. Announcement that an engineer would be sent here next month was made to Secretary J. E. Spencer of the Chamber of Commerce after much work on his part and that of others to obtain a man for work on the park layout.

To say the least, a plan of campaign is about to be mapped out for Cisco's state park, land for which has already been donated. In three weeks the actual work on the survey will begin. In a month more it will be completed. Then Cisco will be ready to go forward with the park project.

Formosa's Great Typhoon

The telegraph wires and cables of the world this morning were carrying accounts of the worst typhoon in history to strike Formosa, Japanese Island near the Philippines.

Practically all communications on the island itself, were said to be out of operations. Trains were halted, wires down. Property damage was high.

Every so often some major disaster strikes one of the Japanese islands, killing thousands and damaging much property. Yet each time the Japanese nation emerges stronger than before and continues building, always building something firmer, that will withstand the shock of a great storm, an earthquake, or other disaster.

The Japanese culture, which is a Japanese version of Western culture, has spread rapidly from Tokio. Gradually the nation is modernizing itself, using the peculiar ability of its people to adapt for themselves what they need of another nation's or another people's ideas.

Each year Japan has many hardships to contend with,

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Many men hate Secretary Harold Ickes, but many more hate Louis Glavis and hate him worse.

When the enemies of Ickes went after his nemesis recently, President Roosevelt took one look at that motley gang, shuddered, and quickly spread the word that he was backing "Honest Harold" to the hilt. But the undercover effort to "get" Glavis still goes on.

Crooks and their political friends, agents of large oil companies, lobbyists, dismissed PWA employees, code chiselers, and kick-back graters lead the vengeful pack. Glavis has caused them an amazing amount of trouble.

Chief of the Ickes-army of investigators, Glavis was charged with keeping PWA, the oil industry, the Indian Service, Subsistence Homesteads, and no end of other things strictly "honest."

He has just been dragged into the limelight by a Senate resolution calling for any Glavis files having to do with Postmaster General Jim Farley.

GLAVIS is a genial, wide-eyed, bald-headed, tall, middle-aged fellow who speaks very softly and seems constantly amazed at all the things people try to get away with. His exposures of dishonesty in high places have been making headline history for years.

The Ballinger-Hearst Mexican document, and Hearst Dome scandals are among his fields of triumph. He is an able lawyer as well as a super-sleuth.

While big oil companies were hollering loudest about "hot oil" and the little fellows, Glavis discovered that they themselves were buying "hot oil" at about half the fair price.

You never heard anything about it, but Glavis raised the devil with them. Once he got an indictment against the big oil (Mellon) company in Philadelphia for alleged violation of oil code labor provisions.

HE has saved an enormous sum of PWA funds through exposure of contracts which were promptly rescinded. Complete reorganization of the PWA Housing Division followed his disclosure that promoters were profiting greatly through over-valuations.

Most of the victims were astonished to learn how much Glavis knew about them. He has ways and mechanical devices. Some of these officials got jobs elsewhere in the government and have been shoving poison gas toward Glavis ever since.

Glavis has had certain racketeering lobbyists barred from the building. One was an associate of the celebrated Bob Jackson, boss lobbyist and Democratic politician.

Bob, who travels in the very best circles, never says anything very nice about Louis.

GLAVIS has investigated everything from the political squabble in the Virgin Islands to the Mrs. Roosevelt-Louis Howe pet subsistence homestead at Reedsville, W. Va., where a lot of money was wasted. Even certain White House folk were sour about that last one.

You can see that, between one thing and another, the man who probably is America's foremost detective has attracted a lot of haters.

Nearly all those haters have political connections of some kind and many have gone complaining to friends in Congress.

But Glavis also has friends and admirers. This group, which includes Ickes and Justice Brandeis, hopes his hawklike eye will be set to watching expenditure of that $4,000,000,000 asked for next year's relief program.

Is This Progress

including the land and the sea themselves. Each year the Japanese people are conquering a little more of their difficulty.

In the early days of America the forefathers of this nation had much to contend with from the land as they found it. Yet they marched forward bravely, determined, just as the Japanese are doing today. Each year they made some progress and each year they become stronger. True progress lies in facing new difficulties and making a satisfactory adjustment to them.

EX-WARLORDS OF CHINA LOLL IN LUXURY OF FOREIGN PROTECTION

By KARL H. LEAF

United Press Staff Correspondent

TIENTSIN, July 30.—The foreign consuls of Tientsin are heavens of refuge for scores of retired warlords, bandit chiefs, deposed political refugees or retired tuchuns who made their fortunes in their heyday and have since denounced all worldly things and gone into seclusion with their concubines and opium pipes.

The Sino-Japanese imbroglio in North China brought several of these names from obscurity for a brief flash across the newspaper page. Surrounded at all times by armed bodyguards, their homes enclaved with massive brick walls and peep-holed iron gates, with electrified barbed-wire as additional protection, they keep in close touch with the outside world. Some doubtless dream of the day when Nanking's star will wane and they once more can come out of their retirement and be a force in Chinese politics.

Some of the most impressive mansions in the foreign concessions belong to former warlords whose names once were internationally famous and who now live in ease and luxury on the spoils and loot obtained during their days of power.

Others equally famous, but perhaps less greedy in their hour of triumph, yet still at "odds" with Nanking, live here quietly and modestly, using the foreign concession as Snug Harbor until the storm blows over.

Ex-Warlord Studies Buddha

Gen. Sun Chuan-fan, former warlord of five provinces from Foochow to Shantung, including the Hangchow, Shanghai and Soochow areas, resides in a beautiful mansion on Meadows Road in the British concession, professing the most profound indifference to the outside world and interested only in his Buddhist studies. Only twice a week does he appear outside the massive wall that surrounds his estate and then he goes to the Chinese city to lecture to a group of ardent Buddhist disciples, he told the United Press.

In contrast to Sun's luxurious surroundings is the simple little house on Severn Road, British concession, occupied by Gen. Ma Chan-shan, China's hero of the Manchurian fighting. He barely escaped with his life, much less any loot from the people of Heilungsiang where his exploits made him so famous. His house compares with that of a middle-class shopkeeper or petty government official.

Maunchu Keeps Harem

A former Manchurian warlord who now dabbles in war and politics along the Yantze River region is keeping two dozen or so of his most beautiful concubines "on ice" in the British concession until such a time as he can return here or bring them to his new headquarters in the south.

Four houses in the vicinity of Gordon and Bruce roads are devoted to these beauties who may be seen at dusk strolling in the neighborhood with their amahs or starting for an automobile ride.

The Japanese concession's most famous refugee was Henry Pu Yi now Emperor of Manchukuo, who lived in an old house on the corner of Miyajima and Akashi Roads. Scores of ex-Chinese leaders who have betrayed China for Japan or gained Japanese favor by some act or scheme, are living in the Japanese concession.

Wong I-tang, one of the leaders of the notorious Anfu clique which was disgraced because it urged immediate acceptance of the Twenty-One Demands, lives in splendor in a barbed-wire protected house on Tamara Road.

Live as Fugitives

Tsao Ju-ling, one-time ranking officer of the Peking government, whom Chinese refer to as one of the four "Greatest Traitors," likewise enjoys his opulence in the Japanese concession.

Gen. Shih Yu-san, with a price on his head, professional trouble-maker notorious bandit leader, one-time governor of Anhwei Province, who has fought for and against Nanking and for and against Japan at one time or another in his checkered career, lives in an unpunctuated dwell well protected by electrified barbed-wire on the corner of Akashi and Fushimi Roads, Japanese concession.

There are many others in like status, seeking the protection offered by extra-territoriality in the foreign concessions, many awaiting their chance to emerge once again as leading powers, and making the foreign concessions a hotbed of politics and intrigue.

Did you ever stop to think

EDSON & WAITE

Chicago, Okla.

C. R. Schaeffer, advertising director of Marsfield Field and company, says:

"What is the use of raising our vocabularies to the tenth power? It simply inflates the verbal currency; and other people involuntarily extract the tenth root of what we say."

"I have always liked that quotation because it applies so squarely to one central problem faced by every store in advertising its merchandise. We know our merchandise is good. We know our prices to be fair and attractive. Under the urge of this knowledge it is so easy to try too hard to sell; to become a bit shrill-voiced; to think and talk in exclamatory marks! There is such a thing as stating the simple truth in such a way that nobody believes it.

"To counteract that very human tendency, I like to keep this thought before me—Talk to people the way they like to be talked to. Strangely enough, to do that is at once the easiest thing and the most difficult thing in the world.

"It means avoiding taking one's self too seriously. That is bad, for people are not interested in us—only in what we can do for them.

"It means being good-natured; not heavy in manner, but light-hearted, even humorous at times, if we can do it without being facetious and smart Aleck.

"The two best tools in the advertising writer's kit are: first, sincerity—and second, restraint. Nothing is more original than sincerity and nothing is so convincing as restraint."

Girl Fails To Look Before She Leaps

SANTA ROSA, Cal., July 30.—Miss Roxie Keosayan, of Oakland, thought the bridge at Guerneville Park was equipped with a pedestrian walk on each side of the roadway.

While on a morning walk with a companion, she laughingly vaulted over the hand rail, expecting to find a walk on the other side.

She fell 50 feet to the dry bed of the stream below.

Physicians say she may recover.

Changing Country Life to Be Theme

COLLEGE STATION, July 30.—"The Changing Country Life," will be the general theme of the 26th Annual Farmers Short Course at Texas A. and M. college beginning today.

Adjustment of rural life to the changing conditions will be stressed. The AAA program and the Federal Housing Administration will come in for a generous share of the discussions, officials assert.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JO DAVIS, finishing her first year in college, learns her father is out of work. Jo hunts a job and secures one at a marine supply store. There she meets wealthy, handsome DOUGLAS MARCH who offers her the job of waitress at his inn at Crest Lake. Jo accepts. This causes a quarrel with BRET PAUL, whom she is engaged and Jo breaks the engagement.

She goes to Crest Lake. Her duties are pleasant but March's eccentric mother takes a dislike to the girl. BRET PAUL, who is a school acquaintance who is jealous of Jo's popularity, comes to the inn. PETER FRAGONET, film actor, and his wife are also guests.

Fragonet takes Jo out in a sailboat. There is an accident and she narrowly escapes drowning. Next day Fragonet comes to see her. He tells Jo he loves her, takes her in his arms. MISS FRAGONET tells Jo that she must leave this scene and accuse Jo of encouraging Fragonet's attentions. Mrs. March tells Douglas she must send Jo away but he refuses.

Wounded over this affair, Jo is slow to recover her health. TUBBY DAVIS, her former roommate, comes to the inn. She tells Jo that Bret Paul is the new life guard at Crest Lake.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XX

AS briefly as she could, Jo told Tubby about Peter Fragonet's infatuation. Tubby's eyes grew round with pleased astonishment as the story unfolded, for she was incurably romantic. But this gave way to genuine concern when Jo told of the threat of Edna Fragonet and Mrs. March.

When Jo had finished, Tubby shook her head in wonder. "I never knew you had it in you, Jo! Of course, you're pretty—but at school you were just a girl who went along contentedly with one man. And now it seems you've three or four all excited, and one of them married. It must be your new clothes!"

Jo laughed wryly. "Well, whatever it is, I wish I'd never found it." She looked at Tubby seriously. "You know, I kept thinking when Marsh offered me this place that it was all too good to be true. I kept thinking that something would have to happen to spoil it."

"Sure," sighed Tubby. "That's life for you—only there are people who appear to just swim along in good luck. I suppose it just seems that they do, and if we really knew them we'd find they have plenty of troubles, too."

As Jo watched Bret, sitting there impassively in the bright sunlight, she was astonished at the feeling of new security which flowed through her. She felt just as she had when Tubby had come into the room; and yet there was more to the feeling, too, as she watched Bret. There was tenderness and something very like a dull ache in her breast.

SHE was sitting thus, transfixed, at the window when Nurse Conley returned on her soft-soled white shoes.

"I'm sorry it was so long," Miss Conley began, "but I—" She stopped suddenly, and added in a severe tone, "What are you doing out of bed, young lady?"

Jo turned, smiling sheepishly. "I hope you won't be angry, but I wanted so badly to look at something besides this room."

At sight of Jo's face, somehow happier than she had yet seen it, Miss Conley relaxed. "I must confess that sitting there by the window has seemed to do you some good. But really I think you'd better hop back into bed now, or I'll let you sit up for an hour, or rather do than eat, it's mix in other people's business. I won't pop in on you again tomorrow, and meanwhile I'll get someone to point out this Mrs. Fragonet to me. Then I'll bump into her casually."

Jo agreed, and soon, thinking of Bret Paul, she dropped off to sleep.

WHEN Jo awakened it was almost dark outside, and Miss Conley sat reading by a shaded lamp. As Jo stirred, the nurse put down her book and came to the bedside.

"You had a good long sleep. Hungry?"

Jo nodded. "Very hungry... and I feel like a new woman."

"You're coming along," Miss Conley said. "Miss Davis was up to see you again."

"That's odd. She wasn't planning to come again until tomorrow."

"Apparently she had something important to tell you. I told her to come back after dinner."

Jo was indeed famished, and she enjoyed thoroughly the dinner which Miss Conley brought to her from the Inn's kitchen. Nevertheless, she was impatient to know what was the "something important" that Tubby had to tell. Perhaps she had already talked with Mrs. Fragonet, for it would be very much like Tubby to attack the problem at once. Jo could not help but smile at the picture of Tubby talking so earnestly to the frigid wife of the movie star. She knew that her case was in good hands for women liked Tubby Davis.

Tubby appeared almost as soon as Miss Conley had removed Jo's dinner tray. But if she had good news, her usually pleasant face gave no sign of it.

"Did you see her?" asked Jo impatiently.

Tubby shook her head. "She's gone."

"Gone?"

"She took the afternoon train to Los Angeles—and without her husband."

Jo's heart sank. "Did you—have you heard anything? I mean about what her plans are?"

"The veranda gossips are rattling it off that she's left Fragonet permanently," Tubby said.

"Do they know why?" asked Jo.

"I don't think so... But the chances are pretty good that they will."

They were silent for a long moment. Tubby patted Jo's shoulder, "I wish I could have had just half a dozen words with her, Jo. . . . But don't let it get you down. I think maybe she'll just go down to Hollywood and think the thing over, at least for a while. Meanwhile, maybe Fragonet will get that way about another blond, thereby letting you out."

But just then Miss Conley entered with a small square envelope in the stationery of the Inn. Jo took one look at the bold, distinguished handwriting, and tore open the flap with trembling fingers. Nervously her eyes took in the brief note, then she handed it to Tubby without a word. It was from Fragonet, and Tubby read: "Edna and I are separating. I want you to return to Hollywood with me, and we will be married there the moment it's legally possible."

THE ALBATROSS CAN FLY BETTER IN A GALE THAN IN CALM AIR!

IN CHINA, THE BOOK, 'ALICE IN WONDERLAND,' WAS BANNED AT ONE TIME BECAUSE THE AUTHOR ALLOWED THE ANIMAL CHARACTERS TO TALK... THEREBY MAKING THEM THE EQUAL OF HUMANS!

DURING THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, THE STIRRING OF A NEW DRINK WITH THE FEATHER FROM A ROOSTER'S TAIL GAVE THE COCKTAIL ITS NAME.

THE albatross, one of the most wonderful flyers among all the birds, is almost helpless in a dead calm. Without the aid of strong air currents his flight is slow and laborious.

A good newspaper is the City's best asset. No single effort in a community calls for as constant and exact service as that given by the newspaper publisher and his staff. What would a boom mean without a newspaper in this day and time, nothing. Or the work of reconstruction or the handling of public charity?

With the government, state and federal, working to restore a unanimity of buying, cheap advertising methods adopted to avoid a proper share of responsibility, only harm the real medium, the newspaper his trade and harm all.

Play the game according to rules and then nothing can go wrong. A recent national advertising survey shows that many companies increase their advertising in newspaper budgets with returns in profits in which several others decreased newspaper expenditures and suffered losses as a result.

Beautifying School Aids Pupils' Morale

FORT WORTH, July 30 — Beautifying the school grounds not only benefits the town but it makes the school children more contented, it has been discovered here.

"At one school alone," Chief Juvenile Officer C. E. Baker, said, "I believe the new grounds have improved student morale at least 20 per cent."

Juvenile delinquency, he pointed out, has decreased notably in areas where school grounds have been beautified.

"Pupils take a pride in their attractive surroundings and become better pupils and better citizens," Baker added, "as they try to live up to their surroundings."

School Superintendent W. M. Green says the effect on the children is remarkable, proving that good environment is very beneficial to character building and development.
