STRIKES SERIOUSLY AFFECT U. S. DEFENSE

Engineer Making Survey Cisco, Eastland, Ranger Area For T. and P. R. R.

A technical survey of the Cisco — Eastland — Ranger area to depict the area's facilities and potentialities for location of chemical plants in connection with the National Defense Program is being made under contract for the Texas & Pacific Railway company by Burt C. Blanton, Dallas, industrial engineer and business economist, who was in Cisco today.

The Blanton survey-report will be submitted by the Texas & Pacific railway to the War Department in an effort to secure location in the tricity area of a methanol plant, or other types of chemical industries which may be contemplated to meet defense requirements in this section of Texas.

The survey will provide a complete and comprehensive technical prospectus, with especial presentation and analysis of the area's fuel, power, water supply and manufacturing facilities.

Blanton's field work on the survey is being made also in Eastland, Ranger and in this city and vicinity.

The survey-project will be completed and the reports delivered by the Texas & Pacific railway company to the war department, in Washington, D. C., within the next thirty days.

EVANGELIST IS PLEASING FAIR CROWDS DAILY

Some lessons from "A Lost Soul" was the sermon subject of Rev. Bradley Allison in the revival series at the First Baptist church last evening.

Basing the message upon the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, the speaker said: "God looks upon the heart—man looks upon the outward appearance."

"The rich man was wrong in his heart," the speaker declared. "You can fool all the people some of the time, some of the people all of the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time."

Hell is a reality. Some in the pews do not believe in hell and they are not all in the pews—some are in our pulpits.

The morning subject was "Jesus Makes a Difference." Monday afternoon the pastor-evangelist spoke to the high school assembly and to the Lion's club today at noon.

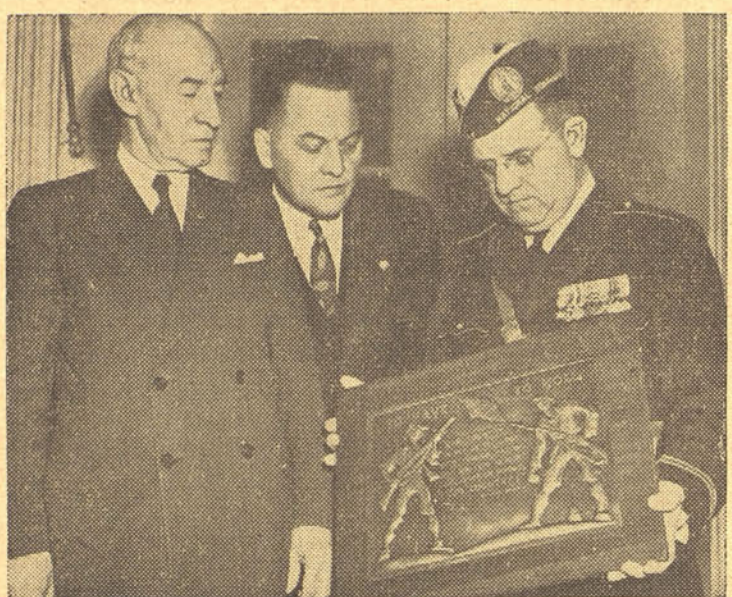

There was another addition to the church in the service Tuesday evening.

The meeting continues through next Sunday, November 2. Services are held twice daily—10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Walter V. Preston Likes Maneuvers

Walter V. Preston, a cheerful and energetic man, is in Cisco today on a tour of inspection of the 1st North Carolina Infantry, which is camped in the North Carolina area, where planes are being dropped and other maneuvers are being held all around. He says maneuvers are the best medicine for a lonesome soldier. They enjoy the new experience and the spirit of adventure it brings.

Young Preston says some very kind things about the Cisco Daily Press and how much he enjoys reading about the folks at home.

HIGH AND MIGHTY SENIORS WILL "BOSS" FRESHMEN NEXT WEEK; NINETY SENIORS, 150 FRESHMEN

Big doings at the high school next week and lots of anticipation and wondering for this week.

The occasion for all of this? Well, it will be Freshman Week and they become the slaves of the high and mighty Seniors, who will each have a Freshman allotted to his or her care and keeping.

Preparatory to that event, today's chapel period was assigned to the Seniors, who gave identification tags to Freshmen participating in the next week's activities, which are voluntary on the part of all Freshmen.

This means that if a Freshman doesn't want to participate in the initiation, he is not required to do so, in which case he will be deprived of the lordly glory when he or she becomes a Senior—and strict records are kept.

Seniors are now wearing big identification cards, golden colored, with a black "S," while Freshmen are tagged with green cards holding the green "F."

These activities are first approved by the principal and then posted on the bulletin board each day.

About 90 Seniors and 150 Freshmen are affected by these events this year.

JESS A. HUSTON FOUND DEAD; GUN IN HAND

EASTLAND, Oct. 29.—Jess A. Huston, 42, employee of the Lone Star Gas company, was found dead in a company automobile on a lease near here Tuesday afternoon. He had been shot in the head with a 45 caliber automatic pistol.

The gun, identified as his own, was in his hand and an empty shell from the pistol was lying on his arm. The body was found by E. P. Robinson, an Eastland employee of the same company.

Coroner E. E. Wood is investigating. Huston had been with the Lone Star 16 years and a month ago was transferred to Eastland. He is survived by his wife and one child. The body is being sent to Strawn for funeral.

Mrs. E. L. Graham accompanied her mother, Mrs. Ida Shelton, to Abilene this afternoon.

A. R. DANIELS DIED AT 3 P. M. AT CISCO HOME

A. Roshell Daniels, office manager of Hickok & Reynolds, oil operators, died suddenly this afternoon at about 3 o'clock of heart attack after going home from the office a short time before, complaining of not feeling well. Mrs. Daniels called the doctor, but death occurred before his arrival.

Mr. Daniels was reared in Cisco and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Daniels, deceased. He is survived by his wife and a little son, Roshell, Jr., about 14 months old.

Mr. Daniels had not been feeling well for several days, but worked in the office today, coming back to the office from lunch. He complained of feeling worse and so Jack Lauderdale, another employe of the office, drove him home, where he went to bed and the physician was summoned.

Roshell was one of the most popular young men in Cisco, quiet and business-like and very accommodating to all who did business with him. He had been employed by Mr. Reynolds at the Cisco State bank and was office manager for Hickok & Reynolds.

The body is in charge of Green's funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

NAZI ATTACKS "WELCOME"—Senator Gerald P. Nye tells 500 America First Delegates from Brooklyn, N. Y., visiting Capital that Administration "welcomes incidents that would drag U.S. into war."

DRIVE IS STEADY

German forces reported today they have blasted their way through the defenses of Crimea and are driving closer to Rostov, while the Moscow front was in a constant state of eruption, despite bad weather. Fresh attacks have been made by the Germans, with sharp Soviet counterattacks.

The entire Russian front is in action from Leningrad, where Soviet sorties are reported to have recaptured four villages, to Crimea and to Kerch Narrows, which is under Nazi air attacks, and to Rostov at the head of the Caucasus approaches, where German troops are said to be within 10 or 15 miles of the city and attacking furiously.

Soviet reports indicated that sharp counterattacks have been launched in the Moscow sector, particularly at Moshaisk, where the Germans were giving renewed attention to salients north and south of the capital.

SHORTAGE OF STEEL ACUTE DUE TO STRIKES

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Heavy losses in vitally needed steel production will be reported soon unless the present strike in the captive coal mines is settled without delay, Iron Age said Wednesday in its weekly review of the steel industry.

Discussing the general situation facing the industry, the trade publication said:

"The coal strike, so dangerous to the national defense program that it seemed destined to a swift death at the hands of an aroused public, had an immediate effect on steel output, and vital statistics on the strange situation whereby a few labor leaders (not the rank and file of workers) are able to cripple defense work are beginning to come out.

"The loss in steel output for this week, if the strike in steel company owned coal mines continues through the week, will be about 55,000 tons for United States Steel corporation plants alone, including 11,000 tons in the Youngstown area, 14,000 tons in Chicago and 30,000 tons at Pittsburgh. Heavy losses in production will inevitably be reported soon by other large steel companies if the coal strike continues, since almost all steel companies are short of coal supplies, due to the coal strike earlier this year.

"While the security of the country itself seemed to be involved in the Roosevelt-Lewis struggle for control of the defense program, many classes of innocent bystanders were being trampled. Among these are the nondefense plants which are unable to get enough, or in some cases, any, steel under the present priorities system. In many cases a few hundred tons of steel would permit them to stay in business. To see thousands of tons of steel lost because of the coal strike, and because of other strikes occurring in the last few months, puts the steel consuming plants suffering from priority rationing in a special class of mourners over the strikes."

METHODISTS TAKE ACTION.

DALLAS, Oct. 29.—Too much gambling and liquor drinking is going on, the Methodists think. Representatives of the church at the North Texas Conference Tuesday denounced both practices, "ranging from matching for drinks at soda fountains to games of bingo in civic and religious organizations."

MRS. RUDOLPH SCHAEFER.

The condition of Mrs. Rudolph Schaefer, a surgical patient at Graham sanitarium, was reported serious this afternoon. She was admitted to the sanitarium Tuesday evening.

LEWIS, UNION BAD MAN, IS RESPONSIBLE

Strikes halted production on .50 caliber machine guns and one $25,000,000 ship-building order for the navy at two Michigan plants today.

While attention centered on the conference at Washington between John L. Lewis, president of United Mine Workers, and Myron C. Taylor, former chairman of U. S. Steel, on the coal miners' strike that is threatening steel production, strikes in other areas were increasingly affecting the manufacture of tools of war.

The Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company's Plymouth, Mich., plant stopped turning out .50 caliber machine guns when 1,450 United Automobile workers went on strike for higher wages and the discontinuance of the management policy by which women were allegedly hired at lower rates to replace male employes.

Work on ships for the nation's navy, hard hit by a strike of welders in west coast yards, was further crippled by a walkout of 1,300 members of the Industrial and Marine Shipbuilders Union at Defoe Boat & Motor Works, Bay City, Mich.

TEXANS FATALLY BURNED.

BURNET, Texas, Oct. 29.—Horace Woods, Travis Fuller and R. D. Borah, all of Burnet, were burned to death today when an oil truck overturned and caught fire on highway 66, between Burnet and Lampasas. Wood and Fuller were said to have been pinned in the wreck. Borah jumped from the cab, but could not escape the flames.

WHOLESALE BUSINESS UP.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The census bureau reported Tuesday that sales of representative wholesalers were 44 per cent higher this September than in the similar month last year. The bureau said this gain was the largest between any two similar months in the six years since such statistics have been gathered.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cabaness of Hobbs, N. M., are in the city visiting his mother, Mrs. W. I. Cabaness and other friends and relatives here.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Cisco Roundup, February, 1910.

When the people of Cisco begin to think the Cisco Volunteer Fire company is not the right kind of stuff, just go to one of their banquets and hear what they have to say, and what they have done, and what they are going to do. This was fully explained last Wednesday night at Hotel Hartman.

The banquet given by the citizens of Cisco to the Volunteer Fire company shows just how they stand in the minds of the people. This was one of the most elaborate spreads that has ever been placed before the "boys" in Cisco, and none was ever half so much appreciated by them, as it was an unexpected surprise to them.

Richard McCarty took it upon himself to give the boys an evening of pleasure and he accomplished what he started out to do, for they were the happiest set of people gathered there that night that could ever be placed together again.

Three long tables were spread with everything that one could ask for; served in five-course dinner and in elegant style. Mrs. Wilson surprised herself on this occasion. Frank Walker as toastmaster presented thoughts to everyone that made them leave their chairs and say something to the fire boys. The response to a call from him for B. W. Patterson, the chief, carried us back to the time of the "bucket brigade" in Cisco, when water was dipped from a barrel to extinguish the angry flames, to the building of the fine water tank out near College Hill, from that to the present system.

Burette tried to apologize for going to his first fire, after the hose company had been organized, barefooted, but we all know that, like the rest of us, Burette went barefooted all the time.

Ernest Gude was called upon, and when he arose silence prevailed, knowing the amount of wit and eloquence that comes forth from a structure like this. He told of the needs of the fire department, which met with responses from those present.

But when the ever-present James Cook had the floor he predicted great things to be accomplished by the efforts of the fire department. He pictured an insane asylum for Cisco with Mart Russell at the head of it; a brewery with Ernest Gude to manage it; a law school with B. W. Patterson to master the art; a foundry with John Elkins to run it; and the department pictured this city to be a railroad center with Jim Cook its greatest magnate.

LIQUOR BOARD BANS CERTAIN SIGNS AT BEER TAVERNS IN TEXAS; STATE SUPREME COURT

By GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Correspondent.

AUSTIN, Oct. 29.—Texas law limiting outdoor advertising at taverns has a dual purpose, State Liquor Administrator Bert Ford has advised the tavern keepers. It does not seek to abolish outdoor advertising but to prevent cluttering up the premises. Its other purpose is to prevent expensive signs from being furnished as a means to control the business or policies of the establishment. The law prohibits the use of many small cheap signs to prevent what the board terms "over-emphasis" of beer advertising by covering buildings, fences and approaches with beer signs. A tavern keeper who permits such signs is likely to be equally careless about the interior of his tavern, Ford remarked. The law does not include in its definition of "outdoor advertising," newspaper or periodical ads, nor identifying labels placed on containers. But the term has been held by the board to include advertisements on menus and on service trays used outside the tavern, and on cards, handbills or novelties distributed outside the establishment. Regulations for these are to be issued later by the board. Immediate warning has been given that the board will prohibit any advertising of this sort that may be considered salacious or indecently suggestive. Signs in violation of the new provisions that were already in place when the law took effect this month may remain until Feb. 1, 1942. Signs violating the regulations must come down at once if they were put up since Oct. 2. The board has decided that the section of the law that permits one sign advertising beer in letters not more than a foot high may contain also notices to the public that food is served and that beer is on tap or on draught, provided the size of lettering is observed. Old signs with brand names may remain if the brand is eliminated. Many questions already have been asked the Liquor Control Board about construction of the new act. The questions illustrate some of the problems that can arise. One dealer was informed that he may lawfully have the word "beer" on both sides of a sign swung across a sidewalk so that it may be seen by persons approaching from both directions. Another was told that use of brand names without connecting them with beer is considered a violation of the law. Signs may not be painted on the roofs nor sides of buildings, though billboards of the authorized 180 square feet size may be attached to buildings at the proper distance. The 180-foot square size was adopted, Ford said, because that is the area of the standard nine by 20 foot billboard on which "24-sheet" posters are placed. Signs are held permissible on the inside of fences of ball parks, beer gardens and such places, but are not permissible if they are visible to the public outside.

Judge Few Brewster of Temple, who will become a member of the commission to assist the state supreme court on Nov. 1, was first president of the state bar of Texas. He was elected to that honor by the lawyers of the state when the state bar was established by act of the legislature a few years ago. Judge Brewster is a native of Williamson county, 52 years old, a graduate of the University of Texas and of Baylor university, and was licensed to practice law in Texas in 1915. His family consists of his wife and four children.

The commission to assist the supreme court was established in 1918 because the great increase of law cases in Texas made it impossible for three supreme court judges to keep up with the appeals from lower courts. Two commissions to be known as "Commission A" and "Commission B" were created. Each was composed of three members. Each commission sat separately, heard arguments and submitted its decisions. The original commissions were named by the governor. Later the system was changed and recent commissioners have been appointed by the court. Complaint of lawyers that decisions of the commissioners were without value as precedents led to a practice of the commission opinions being submitted to the supreme court, which by adopting the opinions gave them the same status as opinions by the supreme court justices. Now both commissions sit regularly with the three supreme court justices and many cases involving important points of law are reserved for consideration by the nine judges. Judge Brewster will be successor to the late Judge S. H. German of Livingston. The State Court of Criminal Appeals also is assisted by the commissioners. This court has but two commissioners. These commissioners likewise were named originally by the governor but now are selected by the court. Two commissions to be known as "Commission A" and "Commission B" were created. Each was composed of three members. Each commission sat separately, heard arguments and submitted its decisions. The original commissions were named by the governor. Later the system was changed and recently the commissioners have been appointed by the court. Among the brilliant lawyers of the state who have served on the commissions to assist the supreme court and the court of criminal appeals were the late Judges Luther Nickels, Joseph Ryan and George Christain. The late Judge A. B. Martin of Amarillo was the only man to serve both on the commission to assist the supreme court and on the commission to assist the court of criminal appeals.

A. Garland Adair, former Texas newspaper publisher with an inquisitive mind and the energy to pursue the inquiries, is curator of Texas Memorial museum. He was active in the movement for the establishment of the museum as a member of the American Legion, and has not let his interest in Texana diminish. Adair issued a quiz under the title of "Do You Know Texas?" It is used in many newspapers of the state and brings many new inquiries to Curator Adair. A couple of sample questions and the answers follow: Q.—Who was the last Texas governor to wear whiskers? A.—Gov. Tom Campbell, who served from 1907-1911. Q.—What is the highest town in Texas. A.—Alpine; it is known as the mile-high city.

The United Kingdom produces from 50,000 to 55,000 pianos annually during normal peace times. Expenditures for industrial construction this year is estimated by the department of commerce at a billion and a half dollars, an all-time high.

THE SCHOOL.

To us—it is more than a building Fashioned of timber and clay; Much more than hallways and classrooms, Where time is marked off by the day.

To us it's a shining new structure Built upon dreams—and a creed That embraces all time and all people— All purpose—all hopes—and all need.

For we serve here—as the priests and the prophets Of living—abundant—and free— The guides of the unborn tomorrows, The eyes through which children will see

Their world—in the throes of its making, And the place they must ultimately fill; It is ours to awaken—to guide them Each—in shaping a masterful will.

Yes, ours is more than a structure; Ours is a building of earth, Of sky and of sun and the rainfall Of happiness—rippling mirth.

Ours is a structure of vision, Of work and a sense of fair play; For we are building—the men of a nation— We are shaping—tomorrow—today!

The pageant will be one of the most elaborate productions of its kind ever presented here, by the colored folk.

"Pearly Gates" depicts the trials and tribulations besetting a Christian seeking to live a life worthy of heavenly reward, the many temptations offered by the "devil" and the spiritual training necessary to combat these temptations.

The pageant is simple in theme, universal in appeal. The acting for the most part is pantomime, which is of the oldest type. It is one hour and thirty minutes long and reveals an unusual and colorful scene of the earlier religious life of the negro people.

One of the most pleasing features of "Pearly Gates" will be the celestial choir, a unit of 50 superb singers, whose thrilling renditions of negro spirituals will provide a delightful background for the pageant.

It will be featured by scenes presenting "Gabriel and his Guardian Angels"; the pilgrim whose eyes were fixed upon the cross; the wandering boy; the pilgrim who believes in prayer; the rich man; the drunken soul; the hypocrite; old black Joe and many other scenes.

NOT MUCH CHANCE for you to go clocking different brands of motor oil to prove which one flows fastest in Eskimo season. Yet the quicker the lubrication at every cold start, the less "dry rub" on delicate surfaces in your engine. Then why not change now to Conoco Nth oil for Winter and get an OIL-PLATED engine? OIL-PLATING is high up in the cylinders to fight fierce grind, much sooner than any plain oil-flow alone could even start wiggling.

Conoco Nth oil, you see—all in addition to speedy flow—fastens OIL-PLATING to inner engine surfaces, as if by "magnetic attraction." This close-bonded OIL-PLATING is up to its topostop point before you even touch the starter—and that's "faster than fast," to aid you toward anti-friction starting.

Even up in Iceland, of course, any engine's normal firing is hotter than the Land of the Hottentots. Yet you don't want to "burn up the oil." And Conoco Nth proved it could last for more than twice the mileage averaged by the five other big-name oils in the impartial Death Valley Death-Test. When all five others were used up—engines ruined as each strict 5-quart fill gave out—the Conoco Nth oil that competed under identical conditions was still up at 2.7 quarts! Certified!

A known economy record... plus a known aid to safe prompt starting... when you change to Conoco Nth for Winter OIL-PLATING, at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Today. Continental Oil Company

Festive 'Fixin's' For The Feast

Golden brown, stuffed and tender—ideal of all good cooks—the Thanksgiving turkey emerges from the oven in its familiar enameled roaster. Now it is ready for the final festive "fixins" preceding the grand entrance to the dining room. Apply this final gala touch, as shown, while the turkey rests in the convenient inner pan, or rack, of the enameled roaster, or in the roaster itself. It's a deserving tribute to a perfectly cooked bird.

Singe and clean turkey, then dry. Fasten legs. Season with salt and pepper and stuff with plain American dressing. Place turkey breast side up in bottom pan of enameled roaster, and rub well with soft butter. Roast in moderately heated oven. A 15-pound turkey usually requires about three hours of roasting. Baste, as necessary, with drippings from pan or use a mixture of butter and hot water. This will nourish and flavor the bird, and prevent breast from drying. When turkey is done, remove some of the fat from the roasting pan and make gravy. Serve with cranberry sauce or cranberry jelly.

Soak small loaves of bread in cold water, then press the water out. Fry one chopped onion with chopped bacon; add it to the bread with a little chopped fresh parsley, thyme, sage and two whole raw eggs. Mix well. Season with salt and pepper.

STRENGTH OF THE U. S. FACES IMPAIRMENT BECAUSE OF EBB IN BIRTH RATE, SAYS SOCIOLOGIST

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 29.—Policies designed to counter-act the threat of declining population in the United States may be inaugurated soon by the government if the nation's birth rate continues to decrease, a sociologist here believes.

Pointing to the potential danger to the strength of any country when its rate of reproduction begins to fall, Dr. Kingsley Davis, associate professor of sociology at Pennsylvania State college, discussed the likelihood of control measures such as have been employed in Germany, Sweden and France, before the latter's conquest.

"Judging by returns on the 1940 census, the American population is not reproducing at a sufficient rate to replace itself," Dr. Davis said. "When a nation's population declines, it may lose the political or military strength necessary to maintain its economic advantages."

Rural Areas Far Ahead. From 1935 to 1940, urban areas in the United States had a reproduction rate which would result in a 26 per cent population loss with each generation, he said. Were it not for the rural areas, which, during the same period, increased 44 per cent per generation, the situation would be even more acute, he added.

"If the small family pattern extends to the rural regions, as it is likely to do, the population will fall even shorter of replacing its present numbers," the sociologist cautioned.

Dr. Davis declared that population decline was one of the factors leading to the fall of France, even though an attempt was made to raise the country's birth rate. Germany and Sweden also have attempted to do the same thing, he said.

"As yet, however, no country has succeeded in bringing its fertility up to the replacement level once it has fallen below the level," he said.

Jobless Theory Discounted. The depression-inspired assumption that over-population was the cause of unemployment is incorrect, Dr. Davis said. With the right economic organization, he explained, everyone should be employed, regardless of the size of the population.

"There is no way of telling whether the present upswing in the birth rate, which has reached the point of 18 per 1,000 population as compared with 16 per 1,000 in the depression years," Dr. Davis

SCHOOLS MUST PRODUCE MORE TRAINED FOLK

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—America's entire system of public instruction must immediately go "all-out" in the training of men to build ships, tanks, planes, and guns, according to Dean Edwin A. Lee of the School of Education of the University of California.

He has completed statistics showing that the public schools in June, 1941, were training 1,455,000 men for the national defense program as against only 60,000 that were trained in the World War.

Yet, he said, there is still a demand for 1,500,000 more trained workers.

vis said, "is a temporary halting of the general trend toward decline or represents a permanent readjustment."

He warned that there is great danger a declining population will set the stage for replacement by persons of other cultures and lower standards of living. He conceded, however, that there is no immediate danger to our economic structure in the present population trend.

Recalls Days of Texas Republic

AUSTIN, Oct. 29.—Listed for sale in the Austin Daily Statesman's classified ads today was a memento of Texas' glamorous past—a French embassy.

Established in 1841, the embassy for four years housed France's minister to the infant republic of Texas. The house, made of hand-saved lumber, still stands atop Robertson hill in east Austin.

Several attempts to make the property an official shrine have failed.

It was advertised by heirs of Mrs. R. A. Smith, a descendant of the family which originally bought the embassy from the French government after Texas became a state and M. De Saligny, the minister, returned to France.

ABANDON CO-EDUCATION. MEXICO, D. F., Oct. 29.—Co-educational schools will be abandoned because the teachers do not like it and because it is a foreign system, Deputy Education Minister Roberto T. Bonilla told a teachers' meeting. The abolition of joint classes for boys and girls, the first of a promised series of changes in the school system, was announced Tuesday by Education Minister Octavio Vejar Vasquez. He gave the reason that co-education was "inacceptable because men and women are not the same in the biological and social orders."

Off they go! YOUR CIVILIAN "SIGNAL CORPS" Platoons of telephone construction men stand ready to roll out in blue-gray Bell trucks to set poles—string wire—install switchboards. They know that a call for shell fuses now is almost as urgent as a call for serum—that life and death somewhere may hang on the prompt arrival of a shipment of cotton—that spoken messages must carry through the clatter of mighty mill sheds—must cross vast industrial areas and leap the miles between cities. They're doing a big job—these telephone men—and the telephone operators and repairmen who work with them. They race with your country's vital needs. They struggle to keep up with a demand for service greater than they have ever known before. SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY
