OSTEOS RENEGE ON SOCIALIZED MEDICINE BILL

Responding to a special invitation from the Dallas County Osteopathic association, Dr. G. M. Stephenson, Cisco osteopath, addressed that body Thursday night on "Methods of Applying Osteopathy." About thirty osteopaths were present and there were numerous impromptu talks on various subjects.

The bill recently passed by both houses of the Texas legislature pertaining to socialized medicine, now before Gov. Stevenson for his signature, drew sharp criticism from all present, the Cisco physician said. As written, the proposed law seems to please no one except its legislative sponsors.

As an example of the many weaknesses of the revolutionary legislation, one who has paid monthly sums to the state for protection to himself and family when sickness comes, would not be permitted to call the physician of his choice, but would be compelled to accept the services of a physician designated by agents of the state.

Dr. Stephenson said a fine spirit of fellowship prevailed at the meeting and that he was amply repaid for making the trip. Dr. Sam Scothorn was master of ceremonies during the dinner period and also presided at the business session. Dr. and Mrs. Stephenson were guests in the Scothorn home while in Dallas.

B AND C GAS RATION BOOKS EXPIRE MAY 31

Eastland county price and rationing board, composed of Joe Weaver, chairman; George Fee, vice chairman; L. A. Warren, Brann Garner, Ben Stephenson, Mr. Capers, Alvie Armstrong and W. P. Campbell, reminds that B and C gas rationing books expire May 31 and must be renewed before that date.

Board headquarters is in Eastland, but those who desire may obtain service at the Cisco chamber of commerce, where Miss Susan Haynes will be in charge. The board appeal is as follows:

"To holders of B and C gasoline ration books:

"B and C ration books issued by this board will expire May 31 and must be renewed by that time; stamps will not be good after that date.

"To obviate last minute rush and delay in getting the new books into your hands, mail in your renewal applications now, so we can prepare the books and get them to you by June 1.

"Be sure to mail your Tire Inspection Records with your renewal applications. It will not be necessary to send in B or C books that have valid coupons.

"Keep the expiration date of your book in mind. Please send in your renewal applications early.

REPUBLICANS CERTAIN.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—House Republicans, claiming that they now have sufficient votes to win, announced Saturday that they will seek quick acceptance of the senate-approved version of the Ruml pay-as-you-go tax plan.

LONG ON GENERALS.

LONDON, May 15.—One hundred and nine Axis generals have been captured by the Allies, exclusive of Russia, since the war began, it was reported authoritatively Saturday.

PRISONER OF JAPS.

BRECKENRIDGE, May 15.—Master Sgt. Joe C. Collier, husband of Mrs. Ida Lee Collier of this city, is a prisoner of the Japs, war department announces.

BIG TURNOUT ASSURED AT LAKE TODAY

In order to help out with the social and recreational features of the get-together picnic at Lake Cisco this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when citizens of Cisco will be the hosts to women of the Cisco Ordnance Training Center, R. B. Dixon, field recreational director of the federal security agency, will be present and aid in the school's part of the program, according to Mrs. Eleanor Hackel Phillips, supervisor of women of the training school.

Many organizations of the city will lend their influence in helping the local recreational committee to make this event a social and civic success. Prominent Ciscoans feel that the responsibility of a good neighbor policy rests on the shoulders of the whole people of Cisco, and that this is one way of beginning to make these visitors feel at home in their new environment, they say.

Since trainees do not work on Sundays, the entire group can attend.

FIRST BAPTISTS PLAN BIG REVIVAL

First Baptist church is laying plans for its annual summer revival meeting, June 9-20. The preacher will be Rev. Sid Martin, pastor of the First Baptist church, Memphis, Texas. Rev. Martin has conducted two meetings in East Cisco Baptist church in past years and is well known to many Cisco people.

Singing will be under the direction of Joe Trussell of Brownwood. Mr. Trussell is undoubtedly the best known evangelistic singer among Baptists in Texas and is in wide demand. He has been to Cisco before, helping in a meeting several years ago in this church. His solo work, as well as his congregational leadership, is outstanding.

These men have formed an evangelistic team since their college days and this will be the twenty-third meeting in which they have been associated. It is considered a privilege for town and church to have the services of this splendid team for the summer revival.

Plans, which call for a religious census of the town and an extensive advertising campaign, are already under way. Further plans will be announced as the time draws nearer.

SUGAR APPLICANTS SHOULD STUDY RULES

J. J. Calloway, member of the county food rationing board, submits the following information for the benefit of those who desire or may later desire sugar for canning:

"Pay no attention to rumors that one has to get canning sugar now or never. The regulations state you will have all summer to get it; that you should not apply for it until you are ready to use it; that one shall get no more at one time than actually needed at that time. Any time later you can apply for further needs.

"Until further notice there will be some one at the Cisco chamber of commerce each week day to issue canning sugar except on Tuesdays and Fridays. Office hours from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 5 o'clock.

"As was the case last year, there is no appropriation to pay those who do this work, and you will confer a favor upon them if you will kindly call during the hours mentioned. We feel sure you will be glad to cooperate with the workers when you understand that their services are being donated to the public."

FARMER'S DAUGHTER—One of most unusual farms in U. S. probably is that one located in midst of Bronx Zoo, New York City. New farmer has taken over its direction and here is the farmer's daughter, lovely Jean Kane, 15, feeding the porkers.

COMFORT FOR WOUNDED—Words of cheer are offered to wounded serviceman, somewhere in North Africa, by Army padre. Men are waiting to board flying ambulance, a Lockheed Lodestar, that will take them to base hospital for treatment.

Mrs. R. H. Boone is in receipt of a post card from the First Methodist church of Asbury Park, N. J., saying that Lt. Allen W. Boone attended church there on Mother's Day. Boone is in the electrical division of the armed forces.

AIR POKER — Calm demeanor of these U. S. Army men hardly indicates that they're far above the earth, traveling to a Pacific battle front in a bomber. Any minute skies may be filled with enemy craft or shells. But could that fellow, second from right, be putting over a fast one, by chance?

DAILY PRESS GETS ABOUT THE COUNTRY

H. H. Tompkins, local broom manufacturer, says the Cisco Daily Press is evidently widely read.

He had a rather odd experience recently, when a man wrote him from Gonzales, Tex., saying that an article had appeared recently in his home paper in which Mr. Tompkins had figured, and if he would send him 25 cents he would send a clipping. Of course, Tompkins being curious about what might be said about him in that part of Texas, sent the money.

When the clipping came, it was a reproduction of the article carried in the Cisco Daily Press during the early spring regarding the production of broom corn per acre and the price of seed, as a result of an interview with Mr. Tompkins.

Incidentally, Tompkins has just returned from New Orleans, where he secured 25,000 broom handles for his factory. The only way to get them was to go after them in a truck, Tompkins said.

CONFERENCE MARKS A CHANGE

WASHINGTON, May 15. (UP).—About that Roosevelt-Churchill conference: Real significance is that it marks the shift from global defensive to global offensive, in Pacific and Far East no less than in Atlantic and Europe. At a former meeting Churchill said United Nations had come to the end of the beginning. This time they embark on the beginning of the end. Except for Russia's two great counter-offensives, the United Nations have been on the defensive from the start, even in the Coral Sea, Midway, Guadalcanal and New Guinea engagements. North Africa was an offensive-defensive. So is the fighting in the Aleutians. From here on out, all that will change.

Another thing: Look for that Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting soon. If there is no meeting, it will be a bad sign. It will indicate clearly that Russia definitely intends now and hereafter to play the lone wolf.

Keep your eyes on Italy for internal, perhaps dynastic difficulties. And, we repeat, watch Japan. Her general staff now knows the Allies intend to strike directly at her soon. She's likely to try to strike us first—in China, the South Pacific, the Aleutians, even Hawaii or the Pacific Coast.

Recent anti-submarine successes have raised navy's opinion of new device about which you may hear later. Right now it's hush-hush. And the Radar principle, now used for war, will preserve food, control machinery, detect fires, regulate lightning and do similar chores when peace comes.

Postwar project: Extension of air-mail service in which planes hook mail sacks without landing. It's been operating four years without serious mishap, now serves 115 communities in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky. Its originator, Glider Expert Richard Du Pont, plans postwar extension to 1400 other cities.

House drafters of anti-strike bill plan to eliminate provision forbidding War Labor Board to issue maintenance-of-union membership orders. Sponsors say it got in by mistake. But they intend to retain the clause forbidding WLB to require that an employee join a union as a condition of employment. House leadership is stalling on bringing the bill up, but can't hold out long.

FOUR-ENGINE BOMBERS SCORE DIRECT HITS ON THREE SHIPS; AMMUNITION DUMP EXPLODED

NORTH AFRICA, May 15. — American Flying Fortresses made a heavy attack on Civitavecchia, Central Italian seaport 38 miles northwest of Rome, and other bombers raided Sardinian bases, the Allied High Command announced today as the Allies pressed a series of hammering blows against the southern fringe of Axis Europe.

The four-engined bombers scored direct hits on several ships in the Civitavecchia harbor, on fuel storage facilities and on an ammunition dump which exploded.

Medium bombers raided the Sardinian port of Albia, sinking three ships and seriously damaging a large tanker and other ships. The docks and industrial area of the port were damaged and three enemy aircraft destroyed.

Fighter bombers attacked northern Sardinia, bombing the air field and port of Alghero and the harbor at Porto Torres. Railroad points in that area also were attacked. Wellington bombers made a heavy attack on the southern Sardinia port of Cagliari causing heavy explosions.

At the same time, the communique pointed out that Allied naval forces in Tunisia waters had sunk 10 enemy ships, including an Italian destroyer, and numerous small craft between April 30 and May 12, when all chance of an Axis Dunkirk escape from Africa were broken up. At least 490 Axis soldiers attempting to escape by sea were captured.

Admiral of the Fleet Sir Andrew Cunningham, commander in the Mediterranean, congratulated his forces for "good service" in performing "a difficult and arduous job" that prevented the enemy from making any "real effort" to evacuate by sea.

(The Italian report said Axis airplanes had bombed the Allied port of Bone sinking a tanker and that Allied planes had attacked Palermo, Sassari and other points in Sardinia.)

The Allied air attacks on Italian bases have been increasing rapidly.

A French report announced that the Cruiser Georges Leygues sank a German merchant ship trying to run the Atlantic blockade.

A dispatch from Tunis told of the surrender of Field Marshal Giovanni Messe, Italian commander, and General Liebling of the 164th German division to the commander of a British division at 3:30 p. m. Thursday.

The number of Axis generals captured along with an estimated 175,000 to 200,000 prisoners in the last days of the Tunisian campaign stands at about 20 unofficially.

The scene was a poppy dotted clearing surrounded by immense cacti just off the main road near Enfidaville. There was no saluting and little formality. Messe and Liebling got into a British staff car and in two minutes they drove off.

The French provisional government announced last night that a special amnesty is being prepared for signature of Gen. Henri Giraud which will free all political prisoners in North Africa. About 5,000 persons will be affected, it was said.

GREAT DAY.

Musically, as well as militarily, this war is finding itself at last. It was dragging along bravely but grimly, with seldom a spark of the life and chivalry that lightened the last war for Americans, at least. But now a phase opens. John Lardner told about it in a week-end dispatch, although he himself may not have grasped the larger implications of his story.

They were singing in the Cafe de la Paix in Bizerte while shells were dropping outside and German snipers were firing from roofs and cellars, with American tanks roaming the shattered streets to restore order. A Scottish sergeant played the piano. It was the only such haven in town, and it was a happy scene. Sometimes the machine guns and cannon drowned out the music, but the singers kept right on. From the "Wabash Blues" which meant little to anybody, the musical sergeant suddenly swung into "Tipperary."

Then the party really started. Monsieur Roger Puig's cafe opened up everything. The British, French and American soldiers nearly sang their heads off. From "Tipperary" they passed to the Marseillaise, and by that time people were pouring in from the street. Madame Puig called for an American march, and the shattered town heard the "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Well, the correspondent couldn't stay there all day. He had a war to report. As he emerged to the outer daylight an American general drove past in a jeep, the first to reach Bizerte. "Warm day!" he called genially. So it was. But who cared anything about weather? Two great wars, I and II, had met, and the second of them had started to win, and the news already was rippling over the world.

TWO LIVES.

A man of two lives died the other day. Beginning life a banker and industrialist, he would have been briefly remembered had he died in his 50's. Living on, he found his bank failing and his business fading through no fault of his. In fact though not legally or even morally responsible, he impoverished himself to pay off the bank depositors who had lost money in the institution he headed. Out of a job and poor, he might be thought to have ended his career.

It turned out otherwise. He had a wide knowledge of his city, which in his lifetime grew from a small town to a great metropolis. He had a taste for writing, and could turn a clever phrase. This combination made him, when past his 80th birthday, the author of three successful books on the bygone days of his city and its social life. When death came to him at 94, he had piles of unfinished manuscript on his desk, and was happy in his work.

Runners when hard pressed often discover their second wind. People whose life goes wrong may find that they have in reserve a second life.

BABES.

For a long time infant deaths have been lessening, and the general average for the country is still slightly below the 1941 figure. In nine states, however, including New York, the rise in the death rate of babies is now greater than the rise in the birth rate.

These are states possessing congested districts of war workers, living without adequate breathing space or sanitary provisions. Nevada, for instance, with a baby death rate of 65 per cent above that for 1941, has the Las Vegas defense area, where the desert is a sweltering mass of trailers, tents and shacks. Under such conditions the weakest are bound to suffer. The weakest, of course, are the babies. War scarcity of doctors and medical supplies is another handicap. However, babies are more important than a number of other things which might be mentioned. War or no war, something should be done about it.

UNKNOWN.

Easter Island, 2,000 miles west of its owner, Chili, has been caught up in the war. If the Paris radio is to be believed, American forces have, with the consent of the Chilean government, taken over the island. A good harbor and radio base are thus made safe for the United Nations.

Time was when Easter Island played a great part in the world. Ever since its discovery on Easter day, 1722, the occasional visitor has wondered what strange race left its remarkable monuments. Huge statues from 14 to 37 feet high on stone platforms, and wooden tablets with unknown writing, have long made the island famous among students of the past.

Besides the many years that such civilization must have lasted, the stay of American forces in this war seems like a brief moment. The relics of the ancient race are perhaps no stronger than the machines brought by the island's new visitors.

A lot of belligerent private citizens, too, might benefit by signing non-aggression pacts with their neighbors.

Grace Lutheran school, located on the corner of 16th street and avenue E will be open to receive scholars Monday morning, Sept. 7. This school has not been established in opposition to the public schools, says the pastor of Grace Lutheran. The Lutherans believe the public school is a good institution and therefore they cheerfully pay their school taxes to support it. It is a settled fact, however, that the public schools may not teach religion. "The Lutherans believe that religion is necessary for the building of the character of children, and for making them good citizens. Beside this, the school strives to give its pupils a good secular education. The school invites any parent to send his child, who wants that child to have religious and secular education and training," he said.

There will be an important meeting of the Boy Scouts troop No. 1, at the Presbyterian church this evening at 8 o'clock, it was announced this morning. All members of the troop are urged to be on hand to take part in discussion and action on a number of matters of business. George Irvine, Sr., will be in charge and Homer Slicker will also be present.

A meeting of the Citizens Athletic association will be held at the chamber of commerce offices Friday evening at 8 o'clock, it was announced this morning. This meeting is of great importance, said J. T. Elliott, and it is urgent that every citizen interested be present.

First Methodist.
"Where will you spend eternity?" is an important question that is by its very nature far enough away from most of us that we conveniently defer answering it until a more suitable occasion may come. But another question not far removed from any of us, "Where will you spend today and what will it mean to you?" And the answer we give to this practical, immediate question may have much to do with the answer to the first. There are many ways in which today may be spent. It will be spent whether or not we use discretion in the spending. We can make the spending an investment. Or we can fling it away recklessly as a thoughtless lad at a country fair. One good way to invest this Sunday is for the whole family to share in a service of worship. Another is to use a part of the day in good, uplifting reading. Another is to cultivate wholesome Christian fellowship with one's fellows. We invite you to our services today. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Preaching services at 10:50 a. m. Due to the community program in the late afternoon we have set our evening worship service at 8 o'clock. The young people will have their devotional service at 7 p. m. LESLIE SEYMOUR, Minister.

Skiles, their counselor. Tuesday at 3 the W. M. U. will meet in circles as announced. Tuesday evening at 7:30 the Y. W. A. will meet with Mrs. Leon McPherson. Choir rehearsal will be held Wednesday evening at 7:15. Prayer service at 8 and the monthly Training Union council will follow prayer services. COOPER WATERS, Pastor.

FUNERAL HOME BUILDS CHAPEL TO SEAT 100

The Thomas funeral home has just completed a chapel by combing two rooms and a hall which, including the family room, has a seating capacity of 100 persons. The chapel has been newly redone with tasteful wallpaper designs and velvet drapes that combine a rich, soft tone and pleasing atmosphere.

A side door allows entrance and exit of friendly audiences at the service without disturbing the funeral party. The music room adjoins, being visible to the congregation, but not in view of the minister, and a light signal system notifies the singers when to perform their parts.

"We are well pleased with the result of our remodeling," said Mr. Thomas, "because we have always been handicapped for room, but this will care amply for most any congregation we are likely to have."

THAT WOUNDED SOLDIER MAY BE YOUR SON
HAVE YOU DONE YOUR PART FOR THE RED CROSS AND OTHER WAR ACTIVITIES?

There is a constant need for war workers of every kind. It may be that the Red Cross chapter needs you to fold bandages or do other work. It may be that you can aid in a dozen other ways to keep service and money rolling to the war front where many brave soldiers — if not your sons, they belong to some other parents — are being wounded in this fight for the survival of civilization.
Tons and tons of ammunition can not continue to be poured out, night after night, unless there is a constant stream flowing to these fronts.
Tons and hundreds of tons of food must keep going across those long ocean miles to keep the fighters as well as the wounded able to go on.
We sometimes grumble because we can't have every thing we want, not pausing to think how thankful we should be for the blessings of being able to remain at home without danger of bullets or shell.
Give all you can to every cause — Don't wait for a drive — give money and service each day of your lives.

CLASS CELEBRATED SENIOR DAY.

The 1943 senior class of Cisco high school spent Senior Day at the Presbyterian encampment grounds, Lake Cisco. It has been a custom in past years for the senior class to take a trip on this occasion, but this year it was decided to celebrate nearer home.

Thursday evening at 5 o'clock class members met at the high school and went to the lake in a group. Some went in cars and others on bicycles. They met in the dining hall at 7 o'clock for supper. After the meal they enjoyed base ball. Other diversions of the evening were skating and swimming. They returned to the dining hall at 10:30, where they played folk-games, directed by Miss Lela Latch. Following the games, seniors went to cabins for the night.

The class was glad to have as special guests at dinner Thursday evening Supt. and Mrs. R. N. Cluck.

Early Friday morning a pre-breakfast swim at 7:30 was enjoyed by a number of the group. Breakfast was served at 8:30. Each student was then permitted to pursue his favorite past-time until 12:30 when lunch was served.

At 2 p. m. the class left the encampment grounds and came to see the moving picture which closed the happy "Senior Day." The class feels fortunate to have such fine sponsors as Miss Lela Latch, Miss Doris Jo Pyle and Mr. M. D. Fox.

Members of 1943 class include A. D. Anderson, Dorothy Jean Anderson, Dick Bacon, Harold Blackburn, Madeline Blackburn,

"Hey, Mister, You Dropped A Watt!"

REDDY: What on earth are you going to do with all those candles?

MAN: Light my home. I'm cutting down expenses.

REDDY: H-h-u-u-m-mm. Then you need about 500 pounds of candles a month to give you the same kind of good light. D'you know what that'd cost?

MAN: Nope. But I guess it'd save me money.

REDDY: Well, let's do some figuring. That many candles would cost you about $200—

MAN: Wow! I couldn't afford that. My monthly electric bill is only three dollars or so.

REDDY: Well, that's just about average. But remember that only about 85c of it goes for light. The rest pays for electricity to run your radio and refrigerator—

MAN: Say, that's not so much when you come to think of it.

REDDY: Right! Electricity's cheaper than it's ever been. You're getting about twice as much for your money as just 10 or 15 years ago.

MAN: How can that be? My bill hasn't changed.

REDDY: Maybe not. Think of the bigger and better lamps you're using and the electric appliances you've added. Fifteen years ago, did you have an electric refrigerator?

MAN: No-o-o.

REDDY: Radio? Electric mixer? Air conditioner?

MAN: No... Say, how come I get so much more electricity for about the same money I used to pay?

REDDY: That's easy. Experience. Training. Well-balanced business methods.

MAN: I don't get it.

REDDY: It's like this. The men and women who run the West Texas Utilities know their job. That job is to give you the best possible service at the lowest possible cost. And they're doing it! Today—when most everything else is going up—ELECTRICITY IS STILL CHEAP!
