TWO ARE KILLED WHEN AIRPLANE FALLS IN DALLAS

DALLAS, April 17.—Two army fliers from Kelly Field, San Antonio were killed when their plane, with a sudden turn from an altitude of about 100 feet, nose-dived into the McGraw aviation field, near the west end of the Oak Cliff viaduct, at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The dead are: Captain G. S. Little. Sergeant James L. Johnson. Captain Little was in the front cockpit, and it is believed he was piloting the plane. It is believed by some witnesses that the flyers intended to land. As the machine was carried near the viaduct it headed straight up and suddenly as hundreds of people from the viaduct looked on, the plane whirled about and dived to the ground. Captain Little was still living when witnesses reached the scene, but died while being taken to the emergency hospital for medical attention.

STOCK MAN KILLED BY BROTHER-IN-LAW

DUNCAN, Okla., April 17.—John T. Miller, a wealthy merchant and stock man at Alma, 28 miles east of here, was shot and killed at his home early today. A brother-in-law named Turner then turned the pistol on himself and is thought to be fatally wounded. Domestic trouble of long standing is said by friends to have precipitated the shootings.

DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY FOR BARON BAKHMSTEFF

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The state department is understood to be preparing to call the attention of the senate labor committee to the unusual diplomatic immunity of foreign ambassadors in connection with the committee's subpoena to Boris Bakhmsteff, the last accredited Russian ambassador here, to testify in the investigation in the affairs of General Semenov.

MORE MEN ARE PUT TO WORK AT CISCO DAM.

A few additional men were put to work at the dam this morning by J. H. Richardson, in charge of the construction work for the Friedstedt Company. They are engaged in pumping and in other labor preparatory to the pouring of concrete, which will begin in a few days.

The auditorium at the city hall was filled to capacity Sunday night at the Bennett revival. A large number were compelled to avail themselves of standing room.

The greatest interest of the revival to date was manifested in this service. Many came forward for prayer at the close of the sermon. The congregation was in tears while the evangelist prayed for the sick.

Instantaneous healings were witnessed by 600 eager persons. After Evangelist Bennett's prayer for the sick he turned to the audience and asked those who wanted to help in soul or body to raise their hands, and at least 100 hands went up.

A good number from other points were present at the Sunday evening service. The congregation cheered as the Eastland people stood to their feet, proving their interest in the revival.

The members of the choir marched to their places while the audience sang "When the Roll Is Called up Yonder."

Evangelist Bennett said that Sunday was very inspiring to his faith for the revival, especially the experience he witnessed with others present praying for a certain grandmother who had heard very little for fifteen years.

While Evangelist Bennett prayed he said, "Oh, Jesus, if you were passing by here and had eaten dinner, Thou wouldst have restored this grandmother's hearing. Open these ears just now."

All present wept and rejoiced, with the grandmother as she said "I can hear you all talking." By this time fifteen people were witnessing this scene, including some of her neighbors, who testified to her hearing last night.

The son of this mother sang in the choir last evening. He also stood up and witnessed to her healing.

At this time fourteen others arose to their feet as eye-witnesses to the truth of this healing.

Everybody is invited to the revival this week. All Christians are invited to come and help. It is an undenominational revival.

Boys and Girls Give Evidence of Bootlegging

Three boys and two girls, picked up by local police in a car on the Breckenridge road Saturday night, furnished the evidence, both liquid and verbal, which led to the arrest Sunday evening of Fred Tarver, living west of Cisco, on a charge of selling liquor. Tarver has waived preliminary hearing and gave bond in the sum of $1000 for his appearance in the district court. His arrest was made by Deputy Constable DeRossett.

The boys and girls had evidently planned on a large party, for they had in their possession three quarts of what is said to be high-grade and high-powered corn whiskey. Two of the quarts were in fruit jars while the rest of it was in bottles.

The names of the young people are withheld, no arrests having been made. When questioned in corporation court, they stated that they secured their liquor from Tarver and from two other men, warrants for whom have been issued.

EASTLAND FIELD GETTING ACTIVE

EASTLAND, April 17.—Leasing has been unusually active during the week just passed and the prices, especially in the Lake Eastland and south side districts, are advancing every day. Many lapsed leases are being revived, to the profit of the land owner, and a great deal of speculation is under way. For the greater part, owners are insisting upon and securing drilling contracts with their leases, thus assuring them development. Coupled with the contract to drill within a short period, the land owner is frequently taking part of the purchase price of his lease in oil to be paid out of the production. This situation is conducive of development and a drilling campaign is beginning that promises to become very extensive and employ a very large number of men in a few weeks.

Restoration of neglected wells is another activity that is general in Eastland vicinity and throughout the country. Many wells that were allowed to sag or cease production entirely during the depression of the oil market are being worked over now with most satisfactory results, and the owners of others are preparing to restore their production by cleaning and either making them flow again or placing them on the pump.

TEXACO STARS LOSE IN FIRST GAME AT PARKS

PARKS, April 17.—Infield errors lost the first game of the season for the Texaco Stars, playing Stamford, of the West Texas league Sunday on the Parks Camp diamond, by the score of 7 to 5.

Stamford made one run in the first inning, and the Texaco Stars came right back in their half of the inning and by good hitting and excellent judgment in running the bases tallied three scores. Errors in the second and third innings allowed Stamford to get a lead that the Texaco Stars were unable to overcome.

They came very near increasing their lead in the fifth inning when they had the bases full and nobody out, their hard hitting left fielder drove the ball to right field, but by fast work Teddy Mauck made a shoe string catch of his line drive, holding the runners on the bases, and the next batter also drove the ball to right field, which Mauck caught and by a perfect peg to the catcher nabbed the runner, trying to score from third, retiring the side.

In the sixth inning Johnson, catching for the Texaco Stars, had the unusual distinction of getting three put-outs on four balls, one right after the other. The Texaco Stars tried hard to overcome the lead that Stamford had in the next inning, but the latter's center fielder was playing the whole outfield and grabbed everything that went to the right or left of him.

Both pitchers hurled mid-season ball and the game was marked by the absence of any wrangling of the players, due to the good umpiring of Jack Elliott. The Texaco Stars will play Eastland next Sunday.

She was one of the first to enter the News' campaign, and has been one of the hardest and most consistent workers of the entire list of candidates. Mrs. Coffman has scores of sincere friends who declare she will be able to go "over the top" for one of the largest prizes.

STRICKEN TEAMSTER IS NOW ABLE TO TALK

H. C. "Dutch" Hoffman, the teamster who was knocked almost cold Tuesday of last week by John Colvett, another teamster, on South Avenue D, has regained consciousness, according to word from the Humboldt hospital this afternoon, and for the first time since the affair has been able to talk with any degree of coherency. Hoffman was struck over the head by a piece of scantling. Colvett was in the Eastland county jail charged with assault with intent to murder, until today, when he was released. No indictment having been returned by the grand jury against him.

NO INDICTMENT FOR COLVETT; IS LET OUT OF JAIL

John Velma Colvett, the 18-year-old Breckenridge boy who was arrested Wednesday of last week on a charge of assault with intent to murder, after his fight with H. C. "Dutch" Hoffman in Cisco the morning previous, was released from the Eastland county jail this morning. The grand jury failed to return any indictment against him.

Colvett admitted after his arrest that he had struck Hoffman over the head with a piece of 2x4 scantling, but said that he had done so only after Hoffman had thrown scalding water on him.

Both Colvett and Hoffman were employed as teamsters with the Hughes-Walker Company, and were taking loads of oil field supplies from Breckenridge to Pioneer, camping here over night, when the fight occurred.

Today was "Cisco Day" in Eastland county with the sheriff's department. It all came about through arrest being made on a large batch of indictments returned by the grand jury, which has adjourned until the third of May, but which before adjournment turned over 65 bills.

C. E. Bowles, now under sentence for the robbery of the Radford wholesale grocery in this city, was arrested on eight indictments, four charging box car burglary and four charging box car theft.

Louis Mosely was caught up on 12 indictments, four for box car burglary, two for other burglaries, four for box car theft, and two for other thefts.

Young Mahaney, Beanie Motley, Roy Farley and John Ainsworth, were arrested on charges of burglary, and gave bond for their appearance in court.

It was stated this morning in Eastland that three indictments had been returned in connection with the recent theft of an automobile from Eastland, the car being the one which was turned over on the road between Eastland and Cisco. The indicted men are Jim Atchley and Wallace Boyett of Eastland and Brock Owens of Cisco.

The No. 1 well on this lease is being worked over with every prospect that it will become a good producer again. Governor Colquitt was here Saturday looking after the work on the company's property, in which he has recently increased his holdings.

A DANGEROUS ILLUSION.

"Is the American presently to become a disillusioned race?" asks some one. "A sage once said that the Celt was a dreamer, that the Anglo-Saxon was a practical man of affairs, that the Irish had a sense of humor. In the light of more, recent information on these facts, are they still tenable?"

Well, perhaps they are not; perhaps the value of the few facts available was over-estimated, bringing conclusions not altogether warranted. But there is no danger that Americans shall presently be without illusions, no matter how relentlessly science sets to work to convert beliefs into lost illusions.

Such an illusion about the practical working out of democracy can not be got rid of too soon. However it was acquired, there is no basis for it in fact. Political problems can be righted only by those who take in their solution an active part. There is no illusion for which Americans pay more dearly than for the one prevalent in politics of letting "George do it." Democracy means political cooperation and when a great number of people fail to cooperate, democracy must fail to function adequately. If the people want to make sure that the best man gets into office, they must take pains to find him and to put him into office. Every other theory of democracy is illusion, and a costly one at that.

INSURING THE FUTURE.

Life insurance companies recount periodically the expansion of their business in terms of new policies written upon a single life is not a mere annuity paid. It is natural that among the most interesting of the statistics should be enumerations of great sums of insurance carried upon the lives of individuals recently deceased.

Yet that millions are sometimes written up a single life is not a true measure of the triumph of the idea of life insurance. The regard in which protection is held by the public and the extent of the beneficial influence are alike measured not by the few great policies, but by the many small ones. A greater service is done in writing a thousand policies for a thousand dollars each than in writing one policy for a million dollars. For it is in the universality of life protection that insurance will reach its greatest achievement.

Large policies, nevertheless, protecting investments of varied natures and vast ramifications, are coming into increasing popularity among men and corporations able to set aside liberal sums for this purpose. And the fact that rich men and great corporations find insurance a good thing adds greatly to the confidence of the man of small means in making a sacrifice today, if necessary, in order to safeguard tomorrow.

GENOA PROMISES MUCH.

The prompt manner in which differences of opinion between the various delegates to the Genoa conference have been brought to the front, disclosing the extent of the chasms which must be bridged if comity and understanding is to be restored among the nations of Europe, is a good omen. This in itself is a step forward and paves the way for a frank exchange of views.

In view of some recent history, the French government hardly can be blamed for being unwilling to run the risk of losing the fruits of the treaty of Versailles until some other means of putting the prostrate nations on their feet have been considered. One of the great hopes for the success of the meeting lies in the British premier's leadership. No other statesman of the present is so well fitted for the difficult task he faces.

American public sentiment approves the admission of the Germans to the conference, whatever its opinion of the propriety of admitting the bolsheviks as representatives of the Russian people. The objection of the French and Belgians to the inclusion of their former foes in the membership of the principal committee is easily understood, but it is gratifying that they listened to the British premier's counsel and changed their attitude.

THE TWO IMPOSTORS.

Rudyard Kipling has a positive genius for colorful and impressive phrases, and nothing he has written is more worthy of comment than a sentence in his famous poem entitled, "If." "If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster And treat these two impostors just the same." "Impostors" is the accurate word. There is a measure of delusion in success. The sweets of victory easily sour. Fame has wings. Conquerors are also mortal. "The hero of today pushes the idol of yesterday out of recollection, and will in turn be supplanted by his successor of tomorrow." The great man who rides at the head of a procession and listens to the band play "Lo, the conquering hero comes," smiles grimly as he muses how slight the distinction between a triumphal march and a dirge. The higher up a man is carried by popular acclaim, the farther down he is likely to be flung by a reversal of public favor.

The Russian delegates may get somewhere at Genoa if they left their fool ideas at home. The young man who goes crazy over a girl rarely has the requisite amount of brains to make a good husband. It looks as though the baseball season may have to go it alone this summer, the Stillman divorce case having been moved to Canada.

A Chicago man has started a movement to get men back to suspenders, but he seems to have overlooked the possibilities of knee breeches and lace collars. Conan Doyle says when we die we go to a certain plane. And there you are, only be careful, of course, in changing planes.

THE WEEKLY GUSHER

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF CISCO HIGH SCHOOL

VOL. III. CISCO, TEXAS, MONDAY, APRIL 17, 1922. NUMBER 28.

REV. E. H. HOLMES GIVES AN INSPIRING TALK

On Tuesday Rev. E. H. Holmes of the Christian church spoke at assembly. His text was taken from Jesus' sermon on the mount. He said that the public school system was one way of developing character. "Jesus said, 'I will love God with all my heart and will all thy soul.' Brother told us, 'The public schools teach the children to love God.'"

Teacher said that we pupils go to school to learn to make a successful life. "We are objects of God. He created us for us. A noble prophet once said we are a little lower than angels. We must demonstrate this by making a success of life. An angel 'paves the way for success.'"

SENIOR NOTES

Weak members of the English class proved themselves wonderful speakers. Monday afternoon in the class introduced a speaker. Distinguished person from the President of the States down to the Honorable Sanders, were introduced.

morning real orations on the past situation were delivered by members of the class. Mrs. W. J. Sanders decided that Wednesday would be a good time to make welcome addresses, therefore each member of the class welcomed the delegates of the Central Texas Women's Missionary Conference to Cosco. Every member of the class is now capable of making a welcome address to any distinguished person or group of people.

Miss McCarty thought that it would be a good thing to make salesmen, as well as public speakers, out of the seniors. Thursday each member of the class sold, or tried to sell, an article to the class. Such things as shoes, books, advertisements for the annual, wire pliers, roller top desks, and even "Freezone" were on sale.

Otho Stubblefield has discovered a way to keep the typewriters in the commercial room from burning up. The discovery is to add a radiator to the machine.

Edward Mancill: "Mrs. Keyes is always climbing some ancestral tree in Europe."
Wesley Sanders: "Yes, and Mrs. Kean is always visiting monasteries."
Mr. Wells: "Does Hattie ever study?"
Hattie K.: "What are you saying to me? I always study. Erroy and I talking about parties, I mean political parties."

Corns? Just go to a certain senior and buy a bottle of "Freezone." It's a sure cure for them, at least he says it is.

Ruby Williams (in Algebra II): "A 2 with a negative that equation diminish"

Have you noticed how many of the freshmen are pompadoring their hair? They've been put on the back stage, they intend to make a handsome background.

LOST—Our hair (the rest of it). If found, return to the girls with bobbed hair. It doesn't matter who, just so it is about the same color.

Richard Boyce is taking a new course in high school. He has shown much interest in this course. It is character study. Almost any period you can see him in the library or study hall just gazing at the passersby.

Student: "Say, Dick, what are you going to do with those mice?"
Edward Mancill: "I'm going to tame 'em."

Get rich quick! If you want to get rich, just be a dentist. The high school students will keep you busy, especially when they have to stay in room 26. It's funny how many of the students have to go to the dentist after school.

Did you know that a member of our faculty is a murderer? Mr. Gaitner killed four little mice the other day. Edward Mancill is in mourning, because they were his pets.

What has Whitty Moore been up to now?
Mrs. Medaris (in Algebra II): "There are sixteen problems, work nine."
Dibbon: "Work all?"

Nellie Mae Tune: "Mr. Turner, let me get a drink. My throat is dry."
Mr. Turner: "If you didn't talk so much your throat wouldn't be dry."

Mrs. Keyes: "If you all don't stop talking, I'm going to put you in 26."
In History II class, if the books are right, the pupils are sure to be.

A complaining student (staying in after school): "Mr. Turner, it is too dark in here."
Mr. Turner: "If you would shine a little it wouldn't be so dark."

Rea Dill (in History class): "Mrs. Kean, is Joan or Arc a man or a woman?"
Mrs. Keyes (in History II): "What do you want?"
Pearl Pope: "I want a subject."

Mrs. Keyes: "What was the first transportation in Europe, Harold?"
Harold: "Railroads."
Mrs. Keyes: "No! What do you say, Garland?"
Garland: "Aeroplanes."

Freck Magness (in practicing a play): "Who, who, who?"
Mr. Gaitner: "There, you are not a hot owl."
Mrs. Keyes (in History II): "What happened in 1839, Garland?"
Garland: "Austria got Hungary and went down and fought for Turkey in Greece."

Room 26 has been given many names, some of which the reader will probably recall—"a haven of rest after the day's storm," "a prison," "a jail," "a port of missing men"—but Miss Robbins has given it a new one. Thursday at noon there seemed to be an epidemic of coughing, whereupon Miss Robbins made out a list of "invalids" to be sent to the "sanitarium" for the "rest cure." Mrs. Keyes: "What is coke?"

Ray Carley: "Something good to drink."

The end of the month is usually the most difficult time, but this month the pupils are more busily engaged than ever, as a junior girl said that she sat up all night on her Spanish and English notebooks.

The English II class was discussing "Ivanhoe." They came to the part where the people were trying to make Locksley, the great archer, shoot. A girl stood up and explained thus: "Locksley said they could beat him but they couldn't make him arch."

Marie Winston was making a welcome address to the Methodist ladies in English class. This is what he said: "I am glad to have you ladies come to Cisco, for we won't have to put on an extra police force, as we would if the — had a convention here. I am sure the morals of the town will be much better after you have gone."

Cleo Mancill (during a test in chemistry): "Mr. La Roque, is this a monthly test?"
Mr. La Roque: "Yes, it's been about a month since we had one."

Wallace Bateman (in English III class of the second period, after discussing the good of giving a man praises after he is dead): "A dead person can't see flowers."
Cleo Mancill: "Yes, but a dead person can look down and see the people?"

HIGH SIXTH WEST WARD NOTES Miss Putnam (in reading): "What are you groaning about, Milton?"
Milton: "I want to know when that man died."

They say the old high sixth west ward don't have any style.

But she styles all the while, styles all the while. She don't have to send to Paris to get her style.

She takes it from the high sixth west ward and keeps it all the while. And keeps it all the while. She don't have to send to Paris to get her style.

She takes it from the high sixth east ward and keeps it all the while.

CISCO WINS SEVENTEEN POINTS AT DISTRICT MEET Cisco's representatives to the district interscholastic meet at Comanche brought back with them a fine record. Three boys, Garland Shepherd, Waymond Westerland, and Eugene Smith, won a total of 17 points for Cisco in track and field events. Garland won first in the pole vault, making 10 feet in order to win. He also won second in the broad jump and third in the high jump. Garland made 19 feet 11 1/4 inches in broad jump while the winner made 20 feet 8 inches. In high jump Garland had to fall out at 5 feet 8 inches.

Eugene Smith won second in the discus throw, first place being won at 97 feet. Eugene threw it over one hundred feet once, but he stepped out of the ring and was disqualified. Waymond Westerland won third place in both the shot put and the 440-yard dash. The shot put was put 43 feet by the winner. The time on the 440 was 55 seconds. Waymond's time was 57 seconds. Since first and second place winners are allowed to go to the state meet we shall have two representatives, Garland Shepherd and Eugene Smith. The state meet will take place in the early part of May. These two boys have fine chances to win some honors at the state meet and everyone will back them up and boost for them.

In the debates which were held week before last and in which several Cisco people were particularly interested, Dublin won first place. It is not known how far Eastland lasted, but it is certain that she failed to win.

THE PICARDY CLUB

Saturday afternoon the Picardy club was entertained by Elizabeth Brock. The girls met at her home and were there told to go to the Victory theater, where they enjoyed a most interesting picture. After the show ice cream was served at the Brock Confectionery. The hostess then led the way back to her home, where the remainder of the afternoon was spent with music. Those present were: Avalon Nabors, Virginia Mitchell, Gwendolyn Clements, Nellie May Tune, Bernice Chesley, Norma Wren Mahan, Lucille McGraw, Isabelle Guthrie, Mary Zozo Mashburn, Willie Rosa White, Hester Turn, Bettie Mae Rominger and the hostess.

Calhoun, who has been lost in the forest, complicates matters by entering the cabin at a moment when it is deserted, to "borrow" a pair of trousers, his own having been stolen while he was swimming. He is caught, and before he can make explanations, is identified by Hatch as an escaped lunatic, Harry Strickland, whose father owns the very cabin in which the party is a prisoner. At about the same time, the real Strickland is found by Constable Hincks, is arrested as the murderer of Jason LeBeau, and is brought to the cabin to be held prisoner. "A nice state of affairs," indeed, for a cabin to contain a robber and a mur-derer, and a gentleman whose life seemingly depends upon the rest cure!!

Act II. Scene—Same. Englund conceives the idea of examining each of the prisoners, in an attempt to unravel the many mysteries. Calhoun, who has a sense of humor, pretends that he is as crazy as the others think he is, and establishes beyond a doubt (in their minds) that he is Harry Strickland, the insane man. Strickland, when examined, owns up to everything of which he is accused—for his mind is really a blank. The colored vial contradicts the evidence of both. Dr. Curtis fears for the life of Hastings, so greatly excited does the latter become, even although locked in an adjoining room. After all have retired for the night, a dark figure creeps in, and noiselessly proceeds to take from a secret drawer behind a pair of antlers, a box. But Hastings is not asleep! He takes his man prisoner, and shouts for the others. Startling revelations follow when Harry Strickland's lost faculties return—as a result of the shock. "Gosh all scissers! You ain't ketched the man that done it—you've ketched the one that was murdered." Best of all, Hastings finds himself entirely restored to health as a result of his three days' rest on the quiet.

One feature of the evening's entertainment will be the "Prolog." This is the first time that a prolog has been given to any play in Cisco. This prolog is entirely original, the idea being conceived and developed by members of the Hi-Y club. The stage setting for it is very beautiful. The prolog portrays very vividly the spirit of camp life as a group of vacation campers sit around the campfire and sing and tell tales. The songs will be the feature of the prolog.

Between the acts Reuben Steuben Booben and Marie Antoinette C. Kilbourne will entertain the audience with a skit, "A Vamp on the Trail." They will be assisted by Ma and Pa and a heavy of beautiful sisters.

This play, with its high class specialties, is one that should command your attention. The play itself has a well-developed plot, the prolog strikes an original note and the specialties are of the highest type. The songs are the latest. In fact most of them have never been heard before, as they were written especially for this play, and fit every occasion better than any standard song. The Hi-Y wants every person in Cisco to enjoy a good time next Friday night. Forget your worries! Come and have a good time with the rest of the Cisco people! The curtain will rise at 8:15. Tickets will be on sale by the various club members and at the box office next Friday night. Admission seventy-five and fifty cents.

NOVEL PROGRAM TO BE OFFERED BY JUNIORS Y.M.C.A.

Coming! Coming! On next Friday night Cisco lovers of entertainment will be given the opportunity of witnessing a unique and well developed entertainment. The Junior Y. M. C. A., or Hi-Y club of Cisco, under the direction of Mr. B. F. Gaitner and Miss Robbins, both of whom are experienced in the theatricals, will produce on Friday evening April 21, at the city hall, a play that will be the first of its kind to come to Cisco. This play "On the Quiet," is a play by all male characters. It is written in such a way that it is suitable for a group of high school boys to produce. The absence of girls is not noticed. The play has a fine plot, much opportunity for good acting, and strong interest throughout. The fact that it does not have romance does not detract from its interest in the least. This play is of a type new to most people who have patronized school plays. The Hi-Y club, in "On the Quiet," wishes to present to Cisco people for their approval or disapproval, a play entirely different from any that has been given here before. They wish you to come and judge for yourself whether this type of play is not as interesting as any other. Most people like new things. They have a wonderful chance in "On the Quiet" to see the newest thing in the way of plays. A brief synopsis of the story follows. This is very brief and does not contain numerous incidents and passages that add much to the interest and humor of the play. The synopsis will serve to show that the play has a fine, well-developed plot and will give some idea of its general character.

SYNOPSIS: Act I. Scene—Room in a hunting camp on the shore of Massabecco Lake, somewhere in the Main woods. Williams, on the verge of a nervous collapse, is sent to a lonesome cabin in the Main woods under the care of Dr. Curtis. Hastings pines for excitement, and proceeds to arrange for some by writing and pinning upon some antlers in the cabin a mysterious note about a dreadful murder. This note is not sooner found than Constable Hincks confirms it's contents by reporting a rumor that a Canadian trapper had been found dead in his shack across the lake. The camp is soon in an uproar—just as Hastings expected.

Calhoun, who has been lost in the forest, complicates matters by entering the cabin at a moment when it is deserted, to "borrow" a pair of trousers, his own having been stolen while he was swimming. He is caught, and before he can make explanations, is identified by Hatch as an escaped lunatic, Harry Strickland, whose father owns the very cabin in which the party is a prisoner. At about the same time, the real Strickland is found by Constable Hincks, is arrested as the murderer of Jason LeBeau, and is brought to the cabin to be held prisoner. "A nice state of affairs," indeed, for a cabin to contain a robber and a mur-

West Ward

The eight-thirty bell had rung, and from those bookstraps books were hung.

Loud the silver clarion voice rung. The accents of that well known tongue.

Pearl Cooper (in geography, describing the coast of Norway): "When you look out in the ocean you can see mountains in the ocean."

SIDE LIGHTS ON THE COMING HI-Y PLAY

Billy Bacon may not be a bashful lover, but he must be, judged by his actions when "vamped" by a dainty little girl. His actions as Reuben Booben will send you home with a joyful heart.

Marion Olson, who plays the part of William Hastings, a reporter, presented quite a problem to the coaches. Directions called for a pale nervous person. Marion is getting his part down fine but as Mr. Gaitner remarked, "I guess we will have to bleach him out a little."

One feature of the program will be the music. Frank Smith, a State University freshman, will have charge of the piano.

Carl Olson and "Spec" Magness, Dartmouth freshmen, show by their speech and actions, the confident, happy-go-lucky attitude of campus squirrels.

Anyone who doubts that Miss Robbins has nerves of steel should know that she has smilingly been listening to the boys practice singing.

Fate never smiled more happily on anybody than it did on Hi-Y when it sent Herbert McCannies home from Austin, where he was attending State University. Just as the coaches were about to despair of finding anyone to play the part of Calhoun, "Hub" walked in. If you remember, he starred in the senior play last year.

Erroy McCannies plays the part of Thomas Englund, attorney-at-law, and does it calmly. Even when Hastings throws a shoe at him, it doesn't ruffle his good humor.

Although this is not a musical comedy it is not devoid of music and song. And most of the songs are brand new. There are several school songs, one a crackin' good football song. Don't fail to be among the first to hear them.

Ask Gilbert Glasscock what he has learned about infection.

The Hi-Y club was very fortunate to secure the assistance of some of the best coaching talent in the school. Mr. Gaitner, head coach, is a man of unusual ability and much experience in amateur theatricals. He has starred in several plays in Cisco and has always proven himself very popular with play lovers. Mr. Wells, principal and sponsor of the club, is assisting as much as his time will permit. He is especially aiding the cast in the managing of the play and any business connected with it.

Ruel Lane plays the part of a man whose mind is a blank. Ruel says he's well fitted by nature for this part. We're inclined to disagree with him but he can certainly act "crazy." Then when he regains his mind in a dramatic robbery and hold-up, he is also as calm and natural as ever.

Just a mere handful of long term subscriptions will be sufficient to put the candidate with the lowest score at the very top of the standings before Saturday night.

One six year subscription, with clubs, counts 550,000 votes. A half dozen six year subscriptions can count you up 3,300,000 votes.

CAMPAIGN NOTES

Earl Strickland is expected to be heard from in a real way before Saturday night. Earl is keeping right at it and is making good progress.

Your votes, Mr. Reader may be the deciding factor in helping some energetic candidate achieve victory and a small fortune in this election

Mrs. A. A. Williams in certainly conducting an energetic campaign these days. She is up and doing, getting votes like a veteran.

Miss Jewell Hamrick continues to make progress and is a candidate who has the sincerest good wishes of a host of real friends. Miss Hamrick promises to be a real big-time contender.

By all means keep yourself active in this campaign. Don't let a week pass without doing something to help yourself. Only by keeping active, by working and producing can you hope to get on.

Rev. Arndt's multitude of friends are certainly boosting him for the goal. This popular young man is certainly getting evidence of the high reward in which he is held. That he appreciates their interest goes without saying.

Just five more days of this period—count 'em. Then just a week and the campaign is all out and over.

Taken all in all, this third period is the greatest and best of all, though there are but five days left. Saturday night at 10 o'clock sees the end of the third period and the end of all special advantages.

Mrs. A. E. Baten was a real contender for the $100 in District No. 1 last period and is a genuine contender now for honors. She certainly did hit the ball—especially the last week of the period.

Mrs. W. A. Coffman is out this week working with might and main. There is one thing about Mrs. Coffman—she is a worker. If even a majority of the candidates in this election would make half the effort that she does, my, but it would be some campaign.

There are some candidates who don't seem to be able to carry on. This is the time when real, wide-awake, LIVE candidates—those awake to their opportunities—will get into the race stronger than ever.

Don't get the idea that because your efforts have been productive in the past that you need do nothing more. Take this as fair warning and govern yourself accordingly. You dare not be satisfied.

Mrs. L. V. Carroll is working hard this week. She hopes to materially advance her standing before Saturday night.

It will behoove some candidates who have been more or less confident of their place in the vote score to do some real work these next four days. Better be safe than sorry. No one has any lease or anything right now. Do a little work this week and you will not have to call on Alibi like when it is all over.

Miss Frances Dorsey, one of the first division leaders, is truly making a great race. This popular girl seems destined to make a place for herself in this campaign. Certainly she has done well and is now confronted with a genuine opportunity to make votes for herself before Saturday night.

Mrs. Oscar Comer is advancing her vote score in a material way. This popular little lady is receiving excellent support and is expected to be a real big-time contender in this campaign.

Absolutely NO! Absolutely NO! You will NOT be allowed anything in the way of vote privileges for extensions the next and final period. The plain vote schedule for the period is all there is and all there will be. If you want bigger votes you'll have to wake up before Saturday night at 10 o'clock.

Can you win. Have you the friends? Is it possible you can be content to let the big prizes slip through your fingers now?

This week is a good time to extend all small subscriptions possible. Extend the six months ones to a year and the year ones to six years, if you can

It is about time now that old Dame Rumor should step into the limelight. If candidates didn't have a new worry every other day they might lose interest in the campaign or life or something. Anyway it gives something to chew the fat over. Have you noticed that you generally cross those bridges before you come to them? There just wasn't any washout after all.

Miss Maurine Orr is very likely going to surprise some of the drones before this campaign is over. She is a real, honest-to-goodness candidate and is campaigning to make votes. Just you watch her.

The race is getting hot. It is intense. How great is your interest? Is it great enough to make you win? Or are you content to be an also ran? This week will tell the tale.

Without any extraordinary effort any candidate well down in the list CAN this week assume the lead. There is no particular handicap for those who will really carry on.

Again today names are eliminated from the purchased list of candidates in both districts. There are one or two others who manage to stay in the list because they did make a cash report last week, though its size was only just enough to keep them in the running.

Mrs. Hattie Fairless continues to hit the ball. She is out to make real votes before Saturday night.

This campaign will serve to show up to candidates the "yellow in some of their friends." It will also help candidates to discover just who their real friends are.

Mrs. S. L. France reported again Saturday with subscriptions. She is keeping up the good fight confident that she can carry on to victory.

Never since this campaign started has there been such a productive week for candidates who really get out and hustle. And more candidates are really working this week than at any other time. The race is getting hot.

If there ever was a time when candidates should be up and doing it is right now. The prizes are worth every bit of effort in you. Where else or how can your time be as productive or as remunerative? No one has anything "cinched" today. That statement is a whole lot truer than some "wise-acres" imagine. Not a candidate is resting so easily that he or she need not put forth every ounce of energy possible. In fact, it would not be a hard matter for a candidate down in the list to take a spurt and come up into the running—yes, and go around in front. Work as you never worked before.

Mrs. J. A. Williams is letting them know she is an active candidate. This whole week will see Mrs. Williams up and at 'em. She certainly does get the votes when she goes after them.

No candidate should give up at this moment. You can turn your dream into reality. There are always some who cannot carry on, but again there are always those who can and who do so.

Miss Willia Ervin is making a strenuous campaign effort these last few days. She has hopes of being able to do very well in the business of vote making these next five days.

Addie Fee is today campaigning for sure. She realizes full well that votes come only through effort and is putting forth the effort needed to get the vote producers.

Indications are that the vote score is due to some steady advancing. Already it is hovering on the edge of the three million mark and it will not take much to push it over.

That Mrs. W. M. Kirklins commands real votes is conceded by all. She is a good campaigner and is doing mighty well for herself.

Mrs. B. F. Young's vote score today shows another material advance. This well known and popular candidate has a host of friends who are wishing her well.

Reports from the camp of Mrs. B. G. Lindley are that Mrs. Lindley is improving her time and taking advantage of every opportunity. Some candidates who have lapped over into territory where she has been are well aware that she has been right on the job.

Miss Lillie Wragg is making the grade in good shape this week. Her efforts are being rewarded with votes, and votes, of course, mean victory.

Leaders Stand Close to Each Other at End of Second Period; Keen Work Necessary From Now On. To Halt for One Moment These Few Remaining Days Would Mean Defeat for Any of the Leading Candidates.

Interest in News' Contest Intense This Week

Contestants in the News' campaign have entered the last week in which it is possible for them to secure the winning votes on the "double quick."

As close as the race stands at present the current week with its big vote possibilities may be said for the hustlers to be the most important period of the campaign.

With the "big third period" vote schedule in effect only for the next five days and the "second payment" schedule in effect only for the same length of time, candidates should, and, for the most part, are working almost night and day to take advantage of these liberal offers.

This week then—or rather these next five days—will be the close of all extra vote offers of the campaign. Next week subscriptions will count only as designated in the fourth period vote schedule, the smallest vote schedule of the entire election.

This week, or rather these next five days, will help in a great measure to determine the winners. Those candidates who work the hardest and accomplish the most during these 120 hours that remain will very likely hear their names announced as the winners of the biggest PRIZE AND POPULARITY campaign ever inaugurated in the newspaper history of this section.

Watch them go. It will be interesting indeed to see which three can go ahead of the others and remain there. The News' $6,000 automobile and gold race has now narrowed down to the point where only the "live ones" remain, each of whom is going at top speed to get all their subscriptions in before the lowest rate schedule of the campaign goes into effect.

Such tremendous enthusiasm and energy was never before seen in any kind of a campaign as is being shown daily in this race for the automobiles and cash prizes. There seems to be no limit to the pep that every candidate has stored up for the finish which is but a few days away. The contestants who have formerly been the hardest workers are still going at it as if they had saved up all their energy for the big finish. This indicates that every single contestant in the list has plenty of fight left. It also shows that the candidates who look "harmless" now will be among the strongest when the end comes. They are all watching the other fellow and arranging and planning to go them all one better.

Now that the second period votes have been counted the leaders are still closely bunched and considering how easily it is to pile up a big vote reserve during the week, there is comparatively little difference between the highest and lowest score.

TAKES BIG SCORE TO WIN. This much is certain, whoever wins any one of these prizes will probably do so by a very narrow margin though the winning scores will doubtless be large. If the present leaders are figuring that their leads are ample, they are due for disappointment when the winners are announced. With such a field of energetic workers, it is certain that some of the most spectacular work of the contest is yet to come. The "Never Say Die" spirit was never more in evidence at any other time than it is right now.

It is quite sure that some of the candidates who have appeared less active in the past few weeks are the very ones who will do the best work in order to get under the wire with every possible subscription before the lowest vote schedule of the election goes into effect.

On Saturday night, April 29, the big list of prizes will be awarded to West Texas best hustlers. The automobiles and large cash awards will be distributed just as announced at the beginning of the campaign. There are just eleven more days—left—and only five days after today until the lowest vote offer of the contest goes into effect.

BIG VOTE THIS PERIOD. This period every one year subscription counts 12,000 votes, a two year subscription counts 25,000 votes, a three year subscription counts 70,000 votes—a four year subscription credits you 150,000 votes and a six year subscription entitles you to 250,000 votes.

Just a mere handful of long term subscriptions will be sufficient to put the candidate with the lowest score at the very top of the standings before Saturday night.

OFFICE OPEN UNTIL 9 P. M. Election headquarters at the News office are open each evening until 9 o'clock. Candidates who wish advice should make it a point to call at this office to have their questions answered and all are invited to consult the election manager on matter pertaining to the contest.

The keenest and most vigorous kind of work is necessary from now on if you hope to be declared one of the big prize winners. There is no other way to win except by the hardest kind of work every minute of the time during the remaining few days of the contest.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE JUDIA Lost on the South African veldt! Hours of madness and thirst! Then to awaken and find herself the white captive of a degenerate teamster, his only companions his negro helpers, his only law his cruel whip. This is the situation faced by Lady Vivienne, a haughty English girl, in "Wild Honey." The terrors of the night on the veldt tore the veneer of civilization from her and she became a primitive woman with fighting instinct. It also brought her love. Her heart went out to the young engineer who rescued her and carried her to safety. She never was Lady Vivienne again—but a newer, more human woman who had learned to love. This picture appears at the Judia today and tomorrow.

A Peach Surprise THAT is really "a peach of a surprise," one that you'll enjoy springing on your table. Make up a batch of doughnut dough and get a supply of well-ripened peaches—either fresh or canned—that are cut in half. Cover each peach with dough, and fry just as you would fry doughnuts—in deep fat, very hot. The result is a delicate cake with an elusive fruit flavor, that is decidedly one of the best desserts that can be offered in an informal dinner. Try it—but remember to use only Mrs. Tucker's Shortening and her famous doughnut recipe
