About Our Friends

By STEP A. LONG

And now J. T. Eggen, quiet but very polite, pharmacist at the City Drug Co., has suddenly become famous as a weather prognosticator... Thursday morning at a very early hour, he calmly announced that it would rain before night... his friends gave him the horse-laught, but... it rained... Now they are wanting to know how he guessed it... he says he didn't guess, he knew... at least, no one can prove he didn't know... results speak... But he does have theories and they work... Here comes J. W. Shepard and Sterling Drumwright straight from Austin and they claim credit for bringing the rain... If they can make good on it, they can always get a welcome in Cisco about every two weeks... Hagen McMahon window shopping at some new Easter clothes... Odwin Cate, just from Ozona where it is still dry... reports a friend of his who spends $5,000 per month for feed for his sheep... we have much to be thankful for, here, he says... J. R. ### CISCO SENDS IN OPTIONS ON FARM COLONY

Cisco has submitted its layout for a federal farm sustenance colony. It was announced Saturday. The layout was sent to William Boaz, county engineer on the project. The projects calls for the colony to be located in the Dan Horn community southwest of Cisco. The block offered the government for a colony contained 7,500 acres. At least 6,250 will be needed for such a colony, it was understood. Only one other such area in this county has been offered. It was said that is the Rising Star land, which was sent in several days ago. Eastland and Ranger are understood to be working on similar areas. The Cisco area is in almost one continuous block, it was said. This is not necessarily required, it was understood, but is desirable. If located here, the colony would break up the land into small farms, with a work house placed somewhere in the community.

Murder And Suicide Reported at Austin

AUSTIN, April 20. — Peace Justice Tom Johnson today returned a verdict of murder and suicide in the death of Mrs. Eliza Foster, 39, and Lee Sullivan, 40 here late Friday. The evidence indicated that Sullivan had slain Mrs. Foster and killed himself.

Fish Is Angry At Broadcast Refusal

NEW YORK, April 20. — Rep. J. Hamilton Fish, Jr., rep. N. Y., prepared today to challenge the action of the radio station that refused to broadcast his speech attacking Pres. Roosevelt, Postmaster General James Farley, and Gov. Herbert Lehmann of New York. The refusal of station WHEW was called a direct blow at free speech by Fish. He announced he would register his charge in the congressional record.

Hitler Blasts At League On 46th Birthday

REJECTS ANY CENSURING BY LEAGUE BODY

BERLIN, April 20. — Chancellor Adolf Hitler on his 46th birthday today challenged the "self appointed" judges of the League of Nations council and firmly rejected their condemnation of Germany's rearmament. In a strong yet not intemperate note to the 14 nations of the council, the Nazi chieftain denied the right of the council members to judge Germany's action, charged them with attempting "a new discrimination" toward Germany and spurned the council's action "in the firmest manner."

Hitler did not, however, close the door to future negotiations. Nazis believed that, despite his resent-ment he avoided invectives and put into the record of Europe's foreign offices a message which indicated his country's willingness to cooperate in forthcoming efforts in fortifying the peace of the continent.

The sending of the note was the highlight of Hitler's nationwide birthday observance, during which Nazi storm troopers gave him 27 airplanes and the League of War Veterans presented him with 14 more. These are a part of the rebuilding of the German war machine which brought Germany to a European crisis on charges of violation of the Versailles treaty.

FRANCO-RUSSIAN TREATY ENTANGLED IN WAR MIZE PARIS, April 20. — France's military agreement with Soviet was tangled today in the maze of treaties which European diplomats have built up during the post-war years as a guaranty that if and when a new war comes, it will be a big one.

The treaty was to have been initiated here today by Foreign Minister Pierre Laval and Maxim Litvinov, Russian Foreign minister. Instead Litvinov left for Moscow and Laval, as he started out, intended to leave for an Easter holiday in the country.

Huestis Proprietor Of Magnolia Station

Selling his interest in the Huestis Brothers Service Station at the corner of Fourteenth street and D avenue last week, Ed Huestis becomes proprietor of the Magnolia station at the intersection of D avenue at East Ninth street.

Huestis needs no introduction to the people of Cisco, having been reared just west of the city and having been in the service station game in Cisco during the past nine years. He invites the people of this trade territory to visit his station and be served with the same old smile that he never expects to rub off.

Man Is Held For Entering School CISO police Saturday turned over a man booked as Burette (Toots) Ingram to the sheriff's department at Eastland, it was reported by the police department.

Ingram was said to have been wanted in connection with breaking into the Nimrod school building several months ago. He and another man were arrested by local officers for drunkenness.

PINOCHLE TOURNAMENT SANDUSKY, O. — A huge public pinochle tournament has been arranged here by the German Beneficial union.

Man Is Held For Entering School

BATON ROUGE, April 20. — The Louisiana legislature today finally approved Sen. Huey Long's 27 new bills which declare a financial break with the United States government and give Long a strangle hold on the state collection machinery and municipal affairs. Last minute opposition broke out in the senate but was smashed by Long's controlled majority. Sen. W. Haygood founded the last futile scurrying but the vote was called on the bill.

Resolution Calling For Canning Plant Turned In Saturday

Cisco Saturday submitted a resolution calling for the establishment of a canning factory here. The canner would be operated by the FEERA and would give vegetable growers an opportunity to have their products canned free. The Cisco Chamber of Commerce sent its resolution to the county work supervisor, who, in turn, was to send it to Austin for approval. The resolution called for the Chamber of Commerce. Funds a building, and utilities would be furnished by the city. The canner would be operated on a 60-40 basis, with persons furnishing only vegetables and receiving 40 per cent of the canned products.

NEW DEAL IN MOVE TO GAIN ITS OBJECTS

WASHINGTON, April 20. — The administration lashed out today in a vigorous offensive intended to capture New Deal objectives and put opposition to rout. Congressional leaders, encouraged by President Roosevelt, whipped the party into line to act speedily upon his "must" program. Activity was at the highest pitch since opening of Congress last January. The house sent the important social security bill to the Senate labeled "rush." In passing the bill 372 to 33 Democrats administered the worst defeat of the session to republicans and party insurgents.

Relief and public works administrators, armed with $4,800,000,000 in new federal funds, cracked down on those whom they regarded as obstructing operation of the huge work-relief program. Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia and Sen. Huey P. Long of Louisiana were singled out for chastisement. Similar action was threatened against others who fail to "go along with the administration."

U. S. Handles Money Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins placed distribution of federal relief money in hands of federal appointees in both Georgia and Louisiana. Public Works Director Harold L. Ickes withheld construction allotments to both states.

The Senate sought to silence Senator Long or at least to limit his vitriolic attacks on the administration. Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson, who has clashed several times with Senator Long, secured an agreement to limit debate Monday to 40 minutes for each senator.

The action was taken in an effort to "gag" Senator Long and prevent his taking up to much time with his announced intention to "blast back Ickes' ears" Monday. Leaders intimated that if the plan works this time they may use it again.

Introduction of a compromise soldiers' bonus proposal by Sen. Pat Harrison, D. Miss., staunch party man, likewise was regarded as placing the administration on the offensive in settling that troublesome question.

PIG HAS FOUR TOES LA GRANGE, Ind., — Floyd Lewis, living near here, is exhibiting a young pig horn with four toes on one front foot and three toes on the other. Lewis' only regret is that the animal did not "go whole hog" and grow a couple of extra hams.

HUEY'S LEGISLATURE BREAKS WITH NATION OVER FINANCES

"Every man who votes for this bill live to regret the day. I don't fool myself by thinking what I say will have any effect on the result. The bill is going to be passed anyway, but we all know what it means." The bill placing all public expenditures under control of the state advisory board an act that in effect would give Long supervision over all relief money sent to Louisiana by the federal government, was passed without serious opposition.

RELIEF ROLL CHANGING TO WORK RELIEF

How's business? Realizing that that question is uppermost in everyone's mind, the Daily News will undertake to show business conditions in a series of articles, of which this is the first.

Eastland county has almost as many families on relief rolls now as a year ago, the Daily News learned in an interview with County Relief Administrator H. E. Driscoll. The difference is that the relief clients are working now. There are only 45 fewer families on relief rolls in this county now than a year ago, the administrator said. The decrease is based on figures as of April 1 for 1934 and 1935.

A year ago there were 24,060 cases on file. At present there are 24,015. But the aspect of the relief rolls has changed. Whereas a year ago the relief client was on direct relief or "the dole," he is now working like any other man for his wages. Only he doesn't work so much or receive so much pay.

The relief commission has gradually worked out a change from the dole system to work relief, carrying out the plans of the president. The following table of figures shows how this has been accomplished.

Month	Work	Direct
April, 1934	42,200	10,969.63
May	73,050	11,886.12
June	2,937.57	10,313.87
July	5,995.54	15,740.07
August	6,762.90	19,450.96
Sept.	8,646.00	20,298.83
Oct.	9,780.00	23,215.78
Nov.	17,783.30	26,994.29
Dec.	27,046.05	14,670.51
Jan.	23,332.93	19,934.11
Feb.	20,780.07	18,927.03
March	16,753.85	16,788.02

"Spoiling Working Man This table shows that where the work relief increased, the direct relief decreased. In some instances where the work relief was held up because of bad weather, the direct relief showed an increase.

But "we're spoiling the working man for a full day's work," in the opinion of the administrator. However, he pointed out, there is already a move to obtain a real day's work from a relief client just the same as from any other person. When a man able to work won't work, he said, he is dropped from the relief rolls.

"But the general morale is higher," the administrator pointed out, "because there is more money in circulation and a little more employment, and because of the rehabilitation program."

The last of these, in his opinion, is one of the big points in the whole recovery program.

Effort To Simplify Trial Method Fails

AUSTIN, April 20. Attempts to simplify criminal trial procedure proved too complicated for Texas senators today. They wrangled all morning over the first 14 bills simplifying the procedure, then adjourned till Tuesday.

Sen. Will Martin, former prosecuting attorney, declared the first bill so vague in its terms that a case would have to be taken to the highest criminal court before its meaning was determined. The bill proposed to take away the right of co-defendants to separate trials and to leave the matter to the discretion of the trial court.

Cabinet To Probe Textile Industry

WASHINGTON, April 20. — A cabinet committee was appointed by President Roosevelt today to determine causes of trouble complained of by the cotton textile industry. New England governors recently complained that bills were being forced out of business by the cotton proceedings. The president indicated he thought some of the industry's trouble might be traced to obsolete equipment used.

GARDEN CLUB WORK SEEN AT SCHOOLS HERE

The Cisco Garden club, under the leadership of the president, Mrs. C. H. Fee and the beautification committee, composed of Madames N. M. Reagan, J. T. Berry, W. H. LaRoque and P. Pettit, in cooperation with the school board, through Supt. R. N. Cluck, the P. W. A., which made the work possible, under the direction of James Mess, has for the past four months been laboring and planning to make the high school grounds a beauty spot and even now, with new soil, evergreens just planted, the ground sodded, the cement walks unfinished, the unsightly places greatly improved are attracting the attention of our citizens. The co-workers, who have made possible this work for the planting are the Cisco Daily News, the Citizens Free Press, the Lions Club the Chamber of Commerce, Philpott the Florist, individuals, and a play sponsored by the club. One familiar with the grounds before the work began and now, will notice the changing of many ugly spots to the green of growing things which presents a friendly appearance and the feeling that the Cisco schools are one of the progressive institutions of the city, it was said. The Garden club is interested in the beautification of the grammar and ward schools also, but its object was to begin with the high school first and continue until the grammar and ward schools will be just as beautiful. The motto is to make the Cisco school and Randolph college grounds "The Garden Spot" of Eastland county and the way to do this is for every man, woman and child to take a personal pride in this improvement, members said.

Her Majesty, Lady Ilene of the House of Webster, was crowned Queen Badger II at the royal court in the Randolph college auditorium here last night. The coronation was the final ceremony of the Randolph Day festivities. Her Majesty, Merle of the House of Thornton, was King Badger I. Dr. Lee Clark, vice president of the college, served as prime minister at the court. Jerry Clark and his Revelers played for the ceremony and for the entertainment of their Majesties. Mrs. H. V. House sang, accompanying herself at the piano. Cecilia McDowell and Dorothy Henry were the court dancers. Margaret Blythe and Helen Green sang a duet. Coleman Williams, jester, furnished much amusement for the crowd. Pat Cochran was the herald and Melvin Sandler the scepter bearer. Flower girls were Oretta Dawn Van Eman, and Elva Jo Little. Tommy Bailey was the crown bearer, rainbearers were Raynell Godfrey and Patsy Lois McCrea. Prince and Princess present were: Abilene high school — Gubo Gal-

SEVEN CHILDREN HUDDLED IN DEATH AS FLAMES TAKE HOME

ST. EMIE, Quebec, April 20. — Seven children ranging from three to 13 years in age were burned to death today as they clung together in the ruins of their new home. The children, four boys and three girls, were left alone by their father, Francois Renaud, when he went 10 miles to Quebec to work. They had moved into the house last night. Andres was the eldest and he took charge in the absence of his father.

The Search For Security

The DARK BLOND

by CARLETON KENDRAKE © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MILLICENT GRAVES, secretary to GEORGE DRIMGOLD, finds her employer in his office dead. JARVIS HAPP, a stranger, offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a blond, then takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meets Happ's son, NORMAN; his stepson, ROBERT CAISE; Mrs. HAPP; and VERA DUCHENE, Mrs. Happ's maid.

That night a note under her door informs Millicent, "The woman in black ermine is here." Millicent sees the woman, tries to follow, but loses her. Millicent goes to the chauffeur's quarters. The chauffeur is dead from a bullet wound.

Next morning SERGEANT MAHONEY takes charge of the case.

Over the telephone Mrs. Happ learns that her husband has been kidnapped. She is warned not to inform the police.

Millicent tells Norman all she knows of what has happened. They locate the store where the whisky found in the chauffeur's room was sold. They also learn that the owner of the car Millicent saw the woman in ermine driving is PHYLLIS FAULCONER and go to her apartment. Norman is trying a key in the lock when Millicent stops him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIII
NORMAN HAPP whirled impatiently and exclaimed, "What's the matter?" Millicent dragged him away from the door, toward a turn in the corridor. "Look!" she said "Getting out of the elevator!" Happ raised his eyes and saw Robert Caise swinging down the hallway, his figure silhouetted against the light which flashed brightly over the elevator door. Millicent knew that at any moment Caise would raise his eyes and that he was bound to discover them. The corridor was not brightly illuminated, save for the place above the elevator shaft. Anyone entering from the bright daylight would, of necessity, require a few moments to adjust his eyes to the dim illumination of the corridor. This was all that had kept them from being discovered. There was a bend in the corridor some 20 or 30 feet beyond where they were standing but there was no time for them to reach it. Millicent grasped Norman's arm and pulled him into a doorway—a questionable place of concealment, but infinitely better than standing in plain sight. "Keep quiet," she whispered. "But he's going to walk right past us," Norman Happ objected. "No, no! He's going to Apartment 309."

The pair stood flattened against the door, hardly daring to breathe. But Caise was so preoccupied that he hardly glanced down the corridor. He paused before the door of Apartment 309, hesitated a moment, then raised his hand and knocked on the panels. Millicent noticed the manner in which he knocked—a peculiar rhythm, two knocks, a pause, two more knocks and then a single knock.

THERE was no answer and Caise had apparently expected none. It was as though the knocks had been some signal that had been agreed upon. He took a key from his pocket, fitted it in the lock and went in.

Norman Happ said grimly, "That settles it. Bob is mixed up in this thing and I'm going to pull him out of there by the collar and drag him down to the police station."

"No, no!" Millicent said. "We've got to get evidence. It's going to take something that we can use to convince the police. He'd say he had found the key or that someone had loaned him a key, or something of that sort. We've got to find out just why he went to that apartment."

She could feel the muscles of Norman Happ's arm quivering through his coat sleeve. He was like a hound held in leash.

"Well, what are we going to do?" Happ asked. "We can't stand here waiting for him to come out."

"Hurry," she told him. "We'll run down to the bend in the corridor and wait there. We can watch and see when he comes out."

She tugged at his coat sleeve and after a moment's hesitation he accompanied her.

They gained the bend in the corridor, turned and stared back at the door of the apartment in which the mysterious Phyllis Faulconer was registered.

It seemed to Millicent as though it had been almost 10 minutes, although she realized the interval must have been shorter, when the door opened and Bob Caise stepped into the corridor.

He jerked the door shut with that sullen violence which characterized him when he was in a temper, and strode toward the elevator.

"He's mad as the devil about something," Norman Happ said. "I know him well enough to know when he gets one of those fits of black rage."

MILLICENT shuddered and said, "Surely you don't suspect that?"

"Don't ever fool yourself," he told her grimly. "I'd suspect Bob Caise of anything. Do you know what I believe? I believe there's a chance my father is being held prisoner right in that room."

"Why, Norman Happ!" she said. "Do you mean to tell me Bob would do anything like that?"

"When my father dies," Norman said, "Bob expects to come into a lot of money."

"Would your father leave it to him?"

"No, but Cynthia would inherit it, and Bob figures on getting his share. He's a crooked schemer and he's smart as the very devil."

Bob Caise jerked back the elevator door, entered the cage and a moment later the door slid smoothly closed.

Norman Happ said to Millicent, "I'm going to find out what's in that apartment."

"And then what?"

"That," he told her, "depends on what we find."

He led the way down the corridor, came to a halt before the door of Apartment 309. He took the keys from his pocket, tried one in the lock, gave an exclamation of disappointment, inserted another and said in a half whisper, "This is going to do it."

Millicent heard the bolt click back, and Norman Happ pushed his way into the room, saying, "Let me look around before you come in. It may be dangerous."

She had no intention of allowing him to face any danger which that room might hold. She was, moreover, impelled by curiosity to find out just what was in this mysterious apartment. So strong was this curiosity that it wasn't until after she had entered the room and heard the door slam shut behind her that she realized she and Norman Happ had feloniously broken into an apartment rented by a woman whom neither of them knew.

"Please be careful, Norman," she cautioned.

He turned to flash her a reassuring smile. "Don't worry, Millicent, they won't catch us. If anyone comes in I'm going to start a fight. You make an escape while the fight's going on."

"Please don't!" Millicent pleaded. "Please take care of yourself, Norman."

"Forget it," he told her. "No one's come in yet and we can look the place over and get out before anyone does."

He swept his arm about in an inclusive gesture. "Look around," he said, "and see what you can find. We want something that will give us a clew to the identity of the woman who has this apartment, and perhaps we can find some damaging evidence that will incriminate Bob Caise."

HE crossed to the window and pulled up the shade, letting additional light flood the room. The apartment showed evidence of having been occupied recently. There were ash trays in which burnt matches and cigar stubs were littered, a bottle of Scotch was more than half emptied, two syphons of soda had been drained, and a third was about a quarter full. An ice tray had been taken from the electric ice box and, judging from the water in the bottom of the aluminum pan, some of the cubes had been allowed to melt. Two highball glasses were on the sink, side by side.

Norman Happ started a methodical survey of the ash trays, inspected the various brands of cigars which had been smoked, segregating those which had the stain of pink lipstick on them from those which had no such color.

Millicent, giving the apartment a quick glance, determined that Phyllis Faulconer was rather a shiftless housekeeper. She flung open the door of the closet, then suddenly recoiled with an exclamation of amazement.

"Norman!" she cried. "Look here!"

He reached her side in three strides, caught her by the shoulder and said, "What is it?"

Even in the excitement of the moment she recalled with a thrill of satisfaction that his first concern was for her. His eyes were not on the interior of the closet but upon her white, startled countenance.

"What is it?" he asked. "What startled you? Get back of me. Let me handle it."

"No, no, silly," she told him, laughing. "There's nothing to fight. Just look there in the closet."

She nodded toward the dark interior.

For a moment he failed to observe that which she indicated. Then, as his eyes accustomed themselves to the darkness, he gave a quick intake of his breath.

"Good Lord!" he said. "So that's it, is it? That's what we've been chasing."

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, April 20 — Inherent difficulties in the way of a plan to recess the legislature for five months, then resume the regular session, keeping the calendars alive, will keep it from having enough support for any chance of adoption by either branch of the legislature.

The first objection is that the 90-day bills would thus be kept from becoming effective before 1936.

Another is that the members would be limited to $5 per day compensation, or less on the average than the expenses of attending the sessions.

A third objection would be that in October the calendar would be just as badly cluttered as in May; and that the aim to get any sort of a rounded program, such as taxation, would have no better chance then than it has had in the past 100 or the remaining 20 days of this session.

The education work being done in the civilian conservation camps has been described by Leon W. Rogers, educational director for the Eighth corps area states, as "the greatest adult education movement any government has ever undertaken."

This program of education for the camp enrollees, Mr. Rogers pointed out, "has the principal characteristics of a great folk school movement. It is made up of the subjects and activities of interest to the enrollees — the program is not imposed upon them by some superior authority; participation is voluntary."

The states embraced in the areas whose CCC camp education work is under Mr. Rogers' direction include: Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Wyoming, Arizona and New Mexico. There are 129 regular camps in this area, with enrollment of slightly over 25,000 men.

Seven out of every ten of these men, or 18,534, were voluntary participants in regular camp educational work during March; he reported.

The educational program is divided into three phases: Academic, vocational and recreational. The academic work runs all the way from first grade to college courses. In one month, there were 340 youths learning to read and write. Many enrollees are securing high school and college credits by the work being done.

There is planned vocational instruction during working hours. There were 499 enrollees receiving systematic training as part of their work. More than 50 occupations were included.

The recreational program includes courses of instruction in subjects of especial interest to the youths, such as hobby crafts, athletic activities and sports.

The work is being carried on in these states with an instructional staff of 1,336 teachers, technicians, instructors and leaders.

FRENCH STUDY AIR ROUTES FOR COMMERCIAL SERVICE TO AMERICA

By HAROLD EITTLINGER
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 20—Louis Couche, director of civil aviation at the French Air Ministry, revealed upon his return from an official mission to the United States that active discussion for the establishment of a north Atlantic air service now is proceeding between United States and France.

Although he indicated doubts about the feasibility of American plans for floating islands in the Atlantic to serve as landing places for the ocean air service, Couche is convinced that regular flights will be possible in the near future.

Three Problems
"We must solve meteorological problems, the political problem and questions of technique and material," he explained. "We must first of all give serious study to: One. Choosing the best itinerary; Two. Creating landing places and means of rescue; Three. determining the type of machines to use."

"The French government believes that, faced with such important problems, the essential is to obtain the collaboration of the interested governments. It was with this aim that we went to the United States to propose this plan of work, the principle of which was so highly considered that study will be pursued immediately."

Couche believes that the route via the Azores and Bermuda has the best chance of being chosen, because it is the safest, although slower than the Arctic route, or the regular steamship route. The last two are unsafe for airplane travel too great a part of the year to be developed as air routes at present, he declared.

Couche had high praise for American aviation, saying: "Commercial aviation in the United States has developed its security to the highest degree and observes the greatest prudence. It has very good, comfortable, quiet planes, which always are full. This economic superiority of merchant aviation is due to considerable financial means to extensive currents of transportation throughout the territory to business activity and to the fact that Americans take to planes as readily they do trains."

HIT HEAD, BROKE HIP
PLATTSMOUTH, Neb. — A 30-foot oak tree fell on Robert Cook's head and fractured his hip. Cook, who is 78-years old, was climbing the tree when it crashed, striking him on the head. An examination at a hospital disclosed a slight bump and bruise on his head and a fractured hip, probably sustained when he twisted in an attempt to avoid the tree.

GOT ROOF AND RAT
TURLOCK, Cal. — Ernest Gaster, hardware store owner here is something of a hunter, so when he glimpsed a rat walking along a ceiling molding he reached into a show case for a shotgun and fired. He killed the rat, but also blew out a section of the roof.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—You won't find anything about it in the administration's new NRA bill, but there'll be no return to one-man rule in the NRA of the future.

Unless the Senate makes an amendment, the form of administration will be left to Roosevelt. The president and Donald Richberg have discussed the question frequently. They agreed that a general General Johnson could get things done a lot faster than a board like the present NIRA.

But they also agreed that no sane, high-grade man would ever take such a job again and that, even if he did, the thousands of inevitable pressures on him would soon knock him off balance.

The chairman of a board can always pass the buck to the full board when a few billion dollars' worth of industry lands on his neck. That's why the revised NRA will be governed by a board—though the supreme NRA power will continue to rest with Roosevelt.

CHAIRMAN BURT WHEELER
of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee was startled the day he received more than 3000 letters, nearly all protesting against the Wheeler-Rayburn holding company bill. Then his clerks began to find among them letters such as the following from Harrisburg, Pa.: "Dear Sir: Please find enclosed printed matter which is given to all employees of the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co.; also a card which they are asked to have signed by four voters."

"They are also asking all employees to write a letter to each senator and representative on the committees on interstate commerce. This is a total of 50 letters each man must write.

"Then he must bring them all to the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. office to be checked. These men present this very much, but they know they had better do as asked or their jobs will be in danger. I mention this to you so that when you get a flood of letters you will know how and why you received them."

FEMALE WRATH wrecked the lobbyist-inspired rider to the agriculture appropriation bill which threatened to prevent the Bureau of Home Economics from tipping off the citizenry to healthy diets.

The House passed the rider, at the behest of a lobbyist for four millers who had persuaded wheat state congressmen that reduced consumption of wheat had been urged. Evidence indicated the effect of the diets attacked would really be to increase wheat consumption, but had been used to build up the lobby.

Women's organizations protested so furiously that the big millers themselves—remembering that women are their customers—rushed word here that the rider must be killed.

The American Association of University Women, American Diet Association, American Home Economics Association, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, National League of Women Voters, and National Woman's Trade Union League led the fight.

Lunches Prepared In School System

AUSTIN, April 20 — Correct school lunches, prepared under supervision of Texas relief employees, this year have protected the health, grades, and conduct of some 42,000 children.

This month $119,333 is being spent in 640 schools in the lunch program.

Advantages of the program were shown in a letter from a Bowie county school official to relief headquarters:

"The average increase in weight has been three pounds or more above the average for the whole school. Percentage of attendance of this group is far above the average for the entire school. The average grade has improved four or five per cent."

Mrs. Helen S. Swanson, consultant dietitian of the Texas relief commission, estimates the cost of the lunches is 12 1-2 cents per plate.

NORTH PLATTE RIVER DRY
KEARNEY, Neb. — A grim reminder that the specter of drought still hangs over Nebraska in the wake of the driest year in history was provided April 5 when the North Platte River went dry at the earliest date ever recorded. Last year, in the spring of the great drought the river retained some semblance of flow until a month later.

Citrus Grove To Be Centennial Exhibit

McALLEN, April 20 — A living citrus grove from the Lower Rio Grande Valley will be one of the major exhibits in the 1936 Texas Centennial exhibition in Dallas according to plans formulated here.

Tentative plans call for transportation of living, bearing grapefruit and orange trees to the exposition grounds.

Tall palms, papayas trees, banana plants and other semi-tropical plants will also be included in the exhibit.

The exhibit is being planned by representatives from Starr, Willacy, Cameron and Hidalgo counties.

Alaska Will Have Its Own University

JUENAU, Alaska, April 20 — It will be "University of Alaska" after July 1, 1935.

A bill changing the name of the farthest north higher educational institution, at Fairbanks, from "Alaska Agricultural College and School of Mines," passed the territorial legislature. It was introduced by Representative George Lingo, an alumnus.

The legislature appropriated $192,000 for support of the college, which has an enrollment of 288 this term.

VACCINES TO BE FURNISHED TO SUFFERERS

AUSTIN, April 20 — Indigent sufferers of rabies, diphtheria, and typhoid fever may receive free treatment at any Texas county or city health unit, according to a report to the Texas legislature.

R. L. Reader of San Antonio, chairman of the house committee on public health, told legislators that the state hygienic laboratory was prepared to furnish vaccines for each of the three maladies. He commended the state laboratory, directed by Dr. S. W. Bohls, for saving counties and cities more than $40,000 annually by furnishing these vaccines.

Emphasis was made on the fact that free vaccines may be secured by indigents. "The State Hygienic Laboratory," said Rep. Reader, "does not compete with private laboratories but furnishes these services to those who cannot afford to pay."

Use of malaria germs to combat paresis, a form of insanity, in state hospitals was reported by Reader. Malaria-carrying mosquitoes are made to bite paresis sufferers, and the high fever created kills paresis germs. Approximately 1,231 of the state's wards in institutions for insane are paresis. Twenty per cent of them may be cured, Reader said, and another 40 per cent greatly improved.

State laboratories are now preparing a vaccine for typhoid fever prevention, a growing need in public health administration work.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

REMEMBER when I was an underfoot youngster that the surliest portent of something extra special to eat occurred when mother put the deep fat kettle on he stove to heat. Usually, in those days, it was doughnuts or crullers or croquettes that would come tumbling out of the crackling grease, cooked to a luscious, irresistible brown. Occasionally, as a winter night treat, there would be fritters, their fruity odors summoning even the most reluctant diner from the far corners of the house.

There are lots of foods that taste their sumptuous best when cooked in deep fat, and right here I'd like to start a revival of that method of cooking.

Foods properly fried in deep fat can be included in the diet of any healthy person, as a matter of fact, deep fat frying is superior to pan frying since less fat is absorbed.

How to Clarify Fat
The temperature of the fat determines the digestibility of the food. It's the overheating of fat that makes fried food harmful, so a thermometer should be used as a guide.

However, the fat must be hot enough to sear the outside of the food immediately to form a crust and prevent the fat from soaking through.

Any good clean fat or oil is suitable, and if given proper care, can be used over and over again. To clarify fat from unsalted meats, add sliced raw potatoes, washed but not pored, to cold fat. Heat very slowly and when the bubbling in the fat (due to the water in the potatoes) ceases, remove the potato slices as floating, remove from fire and strain through double thickness of cheesecloth.

Strain Fat After Using

Always strain fat through double cheesecloth each time it is used. This removes the particles of food or flour that have settled to the bottom of the frying kettle during cooking. Careful straining and an occasional clarifying keep the fat sweet and clear.

Fritters, doughnuts and uncooked mixtures generally are put into fat at a temperature of 370 degrees F. Hold the temperature at 350 degrees F. during frying.

To start you anew on the deep fat career, try French doughnuts, delightfully different and fine for one of February's parties.

French Doughnuts

One cup boiling water, 1-2 cup butter, 1 cup bread flour, 4 eggs. Add butter to boiling water and when butter is melted add all at once the flour which has been sifted. Stir vigorously as flour is added and continue to stir until a stiff dough is formed that will not stick to the sauce pan. Remove from fire and let cool two or three minutes. Then beat in eggs, one at a time, adding each only after the one before has been thoroughly beaten into the dough. Put into a pastry bag and form in circles on a sheet of paper cut to fit your frying kettle. Make the circles about two inches in diameter. Slip the sheet of paper into a kettle of fat heated to 370 degrees F. and keep the temperature at 350 during the frying. Cook about five minutes or until the doughnuts are well puffed and nicely browned. Slip off of paper with a spatula and drain on crumpled paper. Fill with whipped cream or a rich custard. To fill make a small hole in one side of doughnut and squeeze filling in through a pastry tube.

These doughnuts may be cooled sprinkled with powdered sugar and served plain, too, although the filling adds much to their attractiveness.

RAIN CAN HALT WHISKERS

WALLACE, Neb. — Not until a rainfall of sufficient proportions to benefit agriculture is received here will 40 Wallace businessmen shave their whiskers. The club was organized by Dr. R. V. Minnick and two barbers who would rather see it rain than shave their customers. Club members will be fined $5 if they weaken and shave before rain falls.

THORN BRINGS DEATH

BRIDGEPORT, O. — A thorn which accidentally penetrated his finger while he worked on his farm caused an infection which brought death to William L. Ruckle, 49.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Halves of grapefruit, cereal, cream, creamed salt pork on toast with cress, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Clam broth with whipped cream, toasted crackers, scalloped tomatoes, rice pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER: Mock drumsticks, potatoes au gratin, buttered sweet cabbage, pear and peanut butter salad, French doughnuts filled with whipped cream, milk, coffee.

ACC FAVORED OVER AGGIES IN DUAL MEET

COLLEGE STATION, April 20 — Hampered by the injury of Capt. Wilbert Randow, star hurler from Hallettsville, Coach Frank G. Anderson's Texas Aggies will meet the Abilene Christian Wildcats here Monday in a dual track meet. The Wildcats have never defeated the Aggies in a dual meet but will be favored to do so Monday.

The Aggies to date this season have won from the Rice Owls and lost to the University of Texas Longhorns in dual meets. Randow, who injured an ankle in practice this week, probably will not be able to compete Monday. He won both the high and low barrier events against the Longhorns and placed second in both against the Owls. He also ran a lap on the 440-yard relay team.

With the Brown twins the Wildcats are expected to have superiority on both dashes, even though Ed Wicker, Aggie dash leader from Corpus Christi, has shown marked improvement with recent weeks. The Wildcats also are expected to sweep the quarter-mile, broad jump and possibly the shot put, but the Aggies hope to close the gap somewhat in the other events.

Walter Skripka, of Rosenberg, is expected to give the Aggies first in the discus and javelin. Other outstanding Cadet performers probably will include Jess Blevins, Fort Worth, in the 880-yard run; Hunter Parks, Terrell, in the mile; Bill Alexander, Canadian, in the pole vault; and Jimmy McFratridge, Rouston, in the high jump.

Cat Pied Piper Has Big Record For Rats

SHELBY, O., April 20 — This city lays claim to a feline "Pied Piper," which during the last five years has killed an estimated 2,000 rats.

His name is "Pal," and he is a five-year-old cat belonging to Arthur Allwine, barber shop proprietor.

Little is known of Pal's lineage, but he is mostly tiger, with a bit of Angora, which accounts for the fact that he has attained a weight of 17 pounds.

"Since the time he was a kitten I've kept track of the rats he's killed. I couldn't tell exactly the number he's hunted down, but according to my estimated figures its around 2,000," Allwine said.

His average has been two or three a day, or about six or eight a week.

"He eats them all, too. No milk diet for him. Except for a dime's worth of hamburger once a week, he seems to want no other food," Allwine said. "On Saturday, though, he wants his hamburger. It may sound like an exaggeration but on Saturday evening he comes into the shop and won't give me any peace until I buy the meat for him."

Pal also, unlike other cats, has a fondness for small dogs. He was raised with a small terrier.

Chiang Kai Shek Urges Athletics

NANKING, China, April 20 — Physical training as a means of race strengthening is advocated strongly by General Chiang Kai-shek, China's active but un-athletic strong man, in a blanket order which would require all students, teachers and public functionaries to select some form of athletics and train in it regularly.

In his circular order to all provincial political and military administrations, General Chiang bluntly states that modern Chinese public servants, especially those occupying high places in party and military organizations, are too fond of a life of ease. To remedy this situation the head of the National Military Affairs Commission has ordered that group physical training under qualified instructors, must be enforced in all organizations under control of the National government.

Discovery Well Is Back In Operation

DRUMRIGHT, Okla., April 20 — "Old Faithful" the discovery well of the Drumright oil field, is to be put back into operation this month on the anniversary of its 23rd birthday.

In April, 1912, the well was brought in as a 100-barrel-per-day producer and started activity resembling Klondyke gold rush in Alaska. The well was drilled by C. B. Shaffer, Illinois oil man and famous "wildcatter." The late Tom Slick then of Clarion, Pa., and B. B. Jones, then of Bistow, Okla., and who now lives in Washington, D. C., persuaded Shaffer to finance the "wildcat."

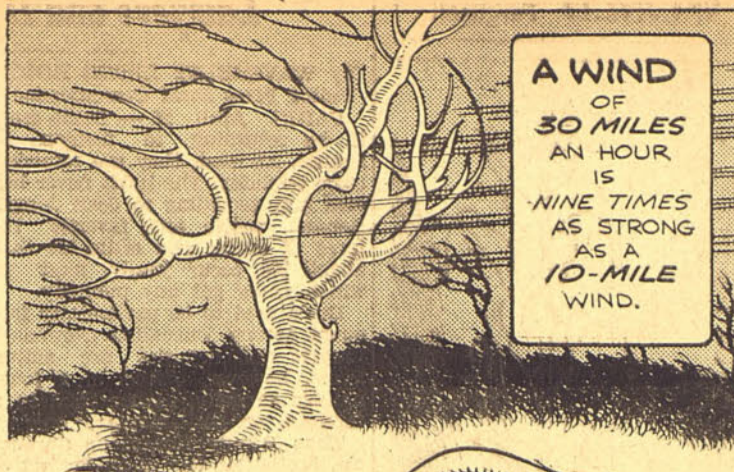

Slick and Jones had about 10,000 acres leased in the area, and after spending their limited resources in drilling a dry hole, traded leases or about 1,000 acres to Shaffer with the provision that he drill the well.

When the well proved to be a producer, Slick contacted the Creek Indians who owned most of the land and immediately leased almost all the land available.

The "$50,000,000 oil well," brought hundreds of people to the section to try to obtain land or leases. The city of Drumright and the great Drumright oil field resulted. The 100-barrel well was regarded as a big well in the days before the 90,000 barrel per day gushers in the state.

"Old Faithful" produced for 21 years.

FORD V-8

Thirty million miles of Ford Economy

MORE MILES. Faster miles. Greater economy . . . that is the story of the Ford V-8. There are conclusive figures from owners to show that it is the most economical Ford car ever built.

A particularly interesting and complete report of costs comes from a national fleet owner who has owned 854 Ford cars which were run more than thirty million miles in business use.

175 were Model T Fords which were run 5,017,075 miles. 599 were Model A Ford cars which were run 24,041,632 miles. 80 are Ford V-8 cars which have been run 2,982,886 miles.

This owner's cost records show that Ford V-8 cars cost 12% less to operate than the Model A Fords and 31% less than the Model T Fords. And they covered more miles per month! The monthly average for the Model T Fords was 1509 miles. For the Model A Fords, 1866 miles. . . . And 2571 miles for the Ford V-8.

Each year the Ford car gives you more in value and performance and costs you less to operate. The Ford V-8 was an economical car in 1934. This year it gives you still greater reliability and economy, new beauty, new safety, new ease of control and remarkable new riding comfort.

Actual Figures Show the Ford V-8 is 12% more economical than the Model A. and 31% more economical than the famous Model T.

200 ATHLETES EXPECTED FOR BAYLOR MEET

WACO, April 20 — Over 200 athletes from approximately 50 high schools over the state will participate in the Baylor Bear club invitation track and field meet here Saturday, April 27. Every section of the state will be well represented, and most of the outstanding teams will be on hand.

The preliminaries will start on Carroll field at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, and will be completed in time for the athletes to be guests of the University at Baylor-A. & M. baseball game. The finals in all events will take place under the arc lights, beginning at 7:30 Saturday evening.

Director Halbert Nutt announced that teams from Port Arthur, Houston, El Paso, Dallas, Fort Worth, Lufkin, Abilene and many other leading high schools over Texas will be on hand. Interest in the meet is mounting as the date draws near, and a large crowd of local track fans will turn out for the exhibition.

The meet has been held twice before. In 1932, Port Arthur high school took first place, and in 1933, Lufkin high school won major honors.

Duels Returning To Favor in France As Lawyers and Deputes Join Journalists

By WAVERELEY LEWIS ROOF
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 20 — Duels seem to be returning to fashion in France. At least, they are receiving more publicity. The habit never has died out, according to Jean Joseph Renaud, writer and favorite referee of duels, who estimates that about 100 occur yearly, most of which never get any publicity.

Duels used to be particularly frequent among journalists. Nowadays lawyers and deputies are active. Some, however, offend in a journalistic capacity, rather than in a forensic, or parliamentary one.

Thus Deputy Horace de Carbucia, brother-in-law of ex-Perfect of Police Jean Chiappe, fought Deputy Cesar Campinchi because of an article in the former's paper "Gringoire." Bertrand de Jouvencel's critical remarks on the new French film "Golgotha" just missed precipitating another. Deputy Andre Hesse a year ago called out Joseph Beineix for his remarks about Hesse and Stavisky.

But journalists are not so often called upon to demonstrate that the sword is mightier than the pen, as in the days when every first-class newspaper employed a fencing master and had a duelling school on the premises.

The most terrifying thing about some of those duels was the expense. The cheapest duel cost 200 francs—pre-war francs. That allowed nothing for medical services, for rising young doctors would officiate for nothing for the sake of the advertising.

One duel between two particularly impoverished duellists, still lives in the annals of French journalism.

For economy's sake the young men journeyed to the duelling place together on top of a horse bus. Their seconds had arranged for sharing the expense of a carriage back to town if either of the principals should be wounded. But the participants were not worried about the expense, for they had decided that their quarrel was ridiculous. They agreed to put only powder in their pistols.

As they returned afoot through the Bois du Boulogne with the case of pistols, they attracted considerable attention. It seemed unfair to the spectators not to show them at least one victim, so lipstick was employed to simulate the mark of a grazing bullet on one duelist's forehead.

One passerby was so impressed that he called out: "You'd better have that wound bandaged."

"Oh, that's nothing," the doctory hero returned carelessly, "I'm used to it."

The more lavish newspapers paid duelling expenses for their collaborators whenever they judged that they had incurred a duel in the line of professional duty. In such a case

Legion Celebrates 16th Birthday With Supper On Monday

The John William Butts Post 123 and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion celebrated its sixteenth anniversary Monday night with a lovely buffet supper at the legion hall. The 12-foot table was decorated with beautiful rose buds and a huge birthday cake with red, white, and blue candles and tiny American flags.

After the delicious supper was served to 35 guests, games of forty-two were enjoyed until a late hour. The women's high score prize was given to Mrs. Dave Gorman, low score to Miss Myrtle Estes. High score for the men was won by E. C. McGilchrist and low, Mr. McDonnell.

Music was furnished during the evening by Harry Schaefer and his orchestra. A special thanks is given to Mr. Schaefer for the music, George Ruppert for the lovely cake, and others who contributed their services to make the affair a success.

Those present were: Mesdames and Messrs. W. C. Clough, McDonald, M. H. French, D. Gorman, C. McGilchrist, Criglar Paschall, L. Smith, Charles Roberts, Leon McPherson, P. Parks, Harry Schaefer, Harvey, Mesdames Halmark, James Huddleston, W. A. Lee, of Brownwood, Misses Letha and Myrtle Estes, Tribby McGee of Ranger, and H. A. Bible, S. E. Hillman, Mayhew, Horn, Thomas, H. Wiley and 10 children.

Miss Hazel Hostess At Easter Egg Hunt

Miss Sylvia Hazel entertained Thursday afternoon from 4 to 5:30 with a party and Easter egg hunt. The children enjoyed playing Easter games and at the close of the games, Mrs. Hazel served ice cream and angel food cake decorated with candy eggs.

Those present were: Jessie Jean Robinson, Dorothy Jean Anderson, Mary Catherine Shepard, Wanda Helen Brecheen, Dick McPherson, Billy Huffman, Kenneth Huffman, Billy Brecheen, Bob Donohue, and Bobby Clements. Mrs. H. D. Blair, Miss Mildred Blair, and Miss Lucile Shalery assisted in the entertainment and egg hunting.

Friendly Twelve Guests of Deans

Friendly Twelve members were guests Thursday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dean for an informal party in their home on C avenue, where games of forty-two were played. A day Easter theme predominated in the table covers and wrappings. Prizes which went to Mrs. H. C. Henderson and Blair Clark for high score were given.

Mrs. Henson Hostess To Humbletown Club

Variety roses and buds were effectively used in decorating the home of Mrs. I. J. Henson, Wednesday afternoon when she was hostess to members of the Humbletown bridge club. All prize wrappings, bridge accessories, and refreshment plates were characterized by an Easter note.

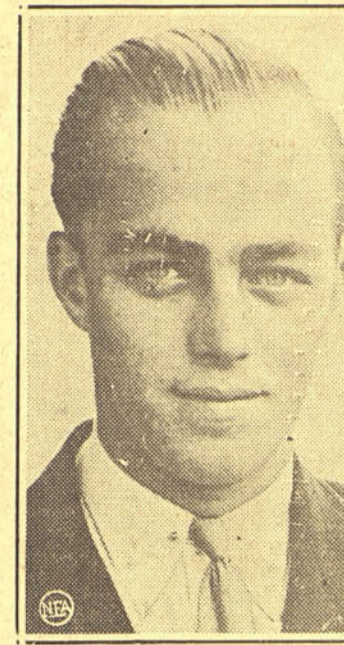

High score prize was won by Mrs. R. B. Carswell and the consolation prize went to Mrs. W. C. McDaniel. A delicious tea plate was served to Mesdames W. J. Armstrong, Hubert Seale, A. E. Jamison, O. P. Albright, E. E. McGowan, Reggie Henderson, W. C. McDaniel, Jack Phippen, F. G. Booth, W. W. Wallace, R. B. Carswell, and Miss Wilma Thomas.

Easter Program To Be Given By Chorus

164 Served Friday Evening At Banquet Of District Masons

The First Methodist church basement which was decorated with roses and beautiful shades of pink and white crepe paper made a lovely setting for tables which were laid Friday evening to serve a most successful banquet for 164 delegates and guests of the 73rd district Masonic lodge.

The principal speaker for the evening was Marcus Weatherhead of Coleman, Most Worshipful Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas. Other speakers were Elmo Hill, chairman of the committee and District Grand Master, and E. Maye of Ranger, Past Deputy. Towns represented were: Breckenridge, Cadillac, Ranger, Desdemona, Gorman, Carbon, Eastland, Rising Star, Cross Plains, Putnam and Albany.

The banquet was served in three courses by members of Circle Two of the First Methodist church.

Who'll marry Woolworth Donahue (center), young, good looking heir to a five-and-ten fortune, spurned twice in 24 hours? Wendy Barrie (right), English actress, said she'd surrender him to Dorothy Pell (left), New York society girl. Whereupon Miss Pell announced she wasn't interested in becoming Mrs. Donahue. Which seems to leave the field wide open, girls.

Hour Of Poetry For Parents, Friends Of Expression Pupils

Twenty guests, mothers and friends of Mrs. Ray Godfrey's expression class, gathered at the home of Mrs. Godfrey Tuesday afternoon from 4:30 to 5:30 for an "Hour of Beautiful Poetry" in the form of a seated tea. The guests were met at the door by Misses Helen Bailey and Mary Louise Wood, who invited them to the dining room where they were served sandwiches and tea.

The beautifully laid dining table was presided over by Mrs. Godfrey and Mary Sue Dawkins who poured tea. The programs which were in form of Easter eggs, gave an atmosphere of Easter to the occasion.

Roses Are Used In Party Decorations

Members of the 1920 bridge club were entertained Thursday afternoon in the lovely home of Mrs. Nick Miller, 107 West Sixth street. Fragrant roses were used in decorating the rooms where the guests enjoyed games of contract bridge. High score prizes were won by Mrs. Yancy McCrea and Mrs. Charles Brown, the club prize going to Mrs. McCrea and the guest prize to Mrs. Brown.

A tasty salad plate was served to Mesdames A. D. Anderson, R. N. Cluck, Yancy McCrea, W. J. Leach, A. L. Foster, Jack Anderson, Jack Cabaness, George Atkins, Charles Brown, Goodson Sellers of Abilene, and Miss Mary Jane Butts.

Mrs. Lee Hostess To Merry Wives Friday

Mrs. W. P. Lee was hostess to members of the Merry Wives club Friday afternoon at her home, 508 West 6th street, at 3 o'clock. Spring flowers were used to decorate the rooms where games of forty-two were played.

The hostess served a delicious refreshment plate to Mesdames J. J. Butts, George D. Fee, Charles Fee, W. W. Moore, A. J. Olson, P. P. Shepard, Joe Wilson, J. S. Pearce, Neal Turner, William Reagan, Charles Hale, and J. W. Mancill.

Mrs. Clark's Class Enjoys Easter Hunt

Mrs. Blair Clark favored members and guests of her Sunday school class with an Easter egg party Friday afternoon in the basement of the First Presbyterian church. Games were enjoyed and a pleasant hour of hunting eggs was spent after which a volunteer program was rendered by guests. Refreshments of pink topped cakes and suckers were served with a basket of eggs as favors.

Those present were Bobby Cragg, Laura Lou Morris, Melodes Martin, Annetta Parish, Perry Gragg, Jess Gragg and Sonny Sisk.

The American Short Story Meet Subject Of Industrial Arts

Mrs. H. V. House and Mrs. O. S. Leveridge were co-hostesses Thursday afternoon when members of the First Industrial Arts club met in the home of Mrs. Leveridge to hear a program on "The American Short Story", under the leadership of Mrs. E. L. Smith. Mrs. Morehart read a paper on "Bret Harte", after which Mrs. Seale gave a talk on Jane Lane Allen's "Kentucky." Mrs. Davis read a paper on "American Women Writers." Short discussions were then given by Mrs. Olson, "Uncle Remus Stories," Mrs. Miller, Thomas N. Page's "In Ole Virginia"; Mrs. Leech, George W. Cable, "Old Creole Days"; and Mrs. Wallace, Hamlin Garland's "Main Traveled Roads."

Beautiful soft shades of yellow were combined with white in decorations for the refreshment plate of angel food cake and peaches and cream. Corsages of rose buds were given as favors. Those present were Mesdames Lee Smith, Joe Wilson, B. E. Morehart, H. H. Davis, J. B. Pratt, L. J. Leech, Johnny Cox, H. S. Seale, A. J. Olson, Raby Miller, H. V. House, O. S. Leveridge, H. L. Dyer, T. D. Schaefer, W. W. Wallace, J. S. Pearce, and R. E. Grant-ham.

Navy and Print

This printed jacket suit shows one of the interesting combinations offered by designers this spring. The bodice of the dress is of navy crepe, which makes the wide revers of the jacket, harmonizing with the background of the blue, red, green and grey flower print. Kidskin pumps and starchy taffeta hat also are in navy blue.

Tropical Fish Is Caught Off Boston
BOSTON, April 20 — The steam trawler Hekla recently brought ashore the second freak tropical fish ever to enter the Port of Boston.
The fish, caught in 85 fathoms of water off Western Banks, has no eyes, but a dozen tentacles protruding from the head, each of which gives off light. It weighs 20 pounds.
Several weeks ago, another trawler brought ashore a similar fish weighing 25 pounds.

CARS SHOW GAIN
AUSTIN, April 20 — Sales of new passenger cars in Texas during March made sharp gains for the third consecutive month, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research. Reports from fifteen representative counties show a total of 6,433 cars, an increase of 23 per cent over February and 30 per cent over March, 1934. Sales during the first quarter aggregated 16,157 cars, an increase of 62 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

Serradella Used In Place Of Alfalfa

FCRT NECHES, April 19 — Gulf Coast farmers of this section have undertaken several forage crop experiments to lead development of dairy and livestock pastures by introducing a new legume known as serradella.
The legume, said to be almost as nutritive as alfalfa is particularly adapted to poor soil conditions which prevail generally in this region.
Farmers, under the leadership of County Agent J. F. Combs, have experimented extensively during the past several years. They planted 51 one-acre crops last year, 12 of which were successful in developing the soil, Combs said.

CARD OF THANKS

To those who so tenderly cared for our dear wife and aunt during her days of suffering. And those who were so kind and sympathetic in the hours of death. For the beautiful floral offering we sincerely thank you. May God's richest blessings attend you.
L. K. ADEAHOULT,
MR. AND MRS. PLEZ WILLIAMS.

HEN GOES ARTISTIC

KINLCOCH, Mo.—Ella, a two-year-old hen, has gone artistic. Her idea of a good joke was to lay eggs covered with curious projections resembling relief maps of the Ozark mountains. She piled her stunt for several days before returning to normal egg-laying.

Special music, decorations and message have been prepared for the Easter service which will be held at 10:50 a. m. The congregation invites you to worship with it on this Easter Sabbath, and seeks to be a blessing to everyone who worships within its gates. — FRANK L. FURNER, Pastor.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 21.

The Golden Text is: Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation.
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept."

First Methodist Church To Open Annual Revival Meeting With Easter Services

The congregation of First Methodist church will begin its annual revival with the Easter service Sunday morning. Rev. C. C. Henson, pastor of the DeLeon Methodist church has been secured to bring the messages of this revival. He will arrive Sunday afternoon and will bring the first of these messages at the Sunday evening service, which will begin at 7:45.

REV. C. C. HENSON

Rev. Mr. Henson is a B. D. graduate of Southern Methodist university, where he secured his education by working his way through the school. Upon completion of his work there, he was appointed assistant pastor and director of religious education of Polytechnic Methodist church. Fort Worth, one of the largest and most important churches in the conference. In this capacity, he did a splendid work, and became thoroughly acquainted with the work of the pastorate.

At the death of Rev. S. J. Rucker, who was at that time pastor of the DeLeon Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Henson was appointed to fill this pulpit. During the two years that he has been at DeLeon he has had wonderful success with that congregation and has placed it among the leading stations of the Cisco district. Rev. Mr. Henson is a forceful and convincing speaker, brings a great gospel message and is tireless in his efforts. His work with the young devotions known as the Forty Hours Devotion will open in this church with a high mass at 10 a. m. The evening devotions will be at 7:30 and will be conducted by Rev. M. Collins. Today is the greatest feast in the Christian church because it is Christ did not rise from the dead then; "Vain is our faith, and vain is our preaching." There will be Mass at 7:30 a. m. Monday.

FIRST CHURCH OF NAZARENE

Church school at 9:45, John W. Tickner, superintendent; devotional service at 11 a. m.; Young Peoples service at 7 p. m.; and Easter program at 8 p. m. — REV. LUTHER PRYOR, Pastor.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school, 9:45. Asa Skiles, superintendent, morning service at 11 o'clock with the subject "Prevailing Power". Mrs. A. L. Foster will give a vocal solo. At 5 o'clock the Community Choral club will give an Easter cantata. B. T. U. with Miss Fern Warren, director, at 7 o'clock. Evening service at 9 o'clock subject, "The Triumphal Entry". There will be a diet sung at the evening worship. — E. S. JAMES, Pastor.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday school at 9:40 will meet in general assembly with a program. Mrs. Lucille Graeg will tell the Easter story. Morning services at 11 o'clock with Rev. Roy Cleveland, missionary to Africa delivering the message: Young People's League, 6:30; evening services at 8 o'clock, in which Rev. Cleveland will show pictures of his work in Africa.

people has been especially commendable. Services will be held each day of the week at 10 a. m. and at 7:45 p. m. The members of the church are urged to support the revival with their presence and prayers. The public is cordially invited to these services.
