PREMIUM LIST FOR STOCK SHOW ANNOUNCED

Loboes, Scranton Open Title Series Here Tonight

Through the Editor's Spectacles
By GEORGE

Auction sales of cattle are common to this area but yesterday's sale at the Mitcham ranch was the first major auction, conducted by a master in the art of this method of selling, that I ever witnessed. Perhaps that experience was also true with many others who crowded the barn to watch the proceedings and were fascinated by the streaming, staccato-like lip-chatter of Col. Earl Gartin, auctioneer supreme, as he coaxed bids from the audience of buyers.

"It's psychology," Gartin told me afterwards. "I never studied a book on psychology in my life and I couldn't for my life tell you what psychology is. But it's the auctioneer's chief stock in trade. You can't stop. You've got to keep up a running fire of talk without a pause. If you stop, you're licked. Keep talking, even if you have to go back and repeat constantly. It's the chatter that gets them. And when you stand three or four hours talking as fast as you can talk without a let-down, and under such a high nervous tension you're tired."

G. P. Mitcham asked me today to express especially his thanks for the services of the ladies who assisted in serving the barbecue. He gave them full credit for the successful serving of the meal to the unexpectedly large crowd. They were Miss Martha Graves, head of the home economics department of the high school, Miss Lillian Shertzer, Miss Marguerite Spencer, Miss Mary Elizabeth Chett, Miss Helen Crawford, Miss Betty Fee Spears, Mrs. James Harvey, Mrs. B. E. Morehart and Mrs. John Shertzer.

I heard many compliments on the way in which the barbecue was cooked. Credit for that goes to Virgil Heyser, who spent the entire night before in preparing it, and James Floyd, his colored helper.

Many old timers and well known business men, farmers and stockmen were among the throng at the sale. Some of them, pointed out by Omar Burkett, were:

J. B. Eubanks, W. A. Ramsey, Will Buchanan and R. A. Parks of Putnam; J. D. Allen, Chester Allen and Enoch McCollum of Moran; Tom Mashburn of Cisco; N. A. Phippen of Putnam; John Hendricks of the West Texas chamber of commerce at Abilene; Jim Bob Gunn of Putnam; Ed Clout of Clyde; Thomas L. Blanch, Jr., of Albany; John Cunningham of Putnam; Elijah Burnam of Cisco; John F. Sedwick of Moran; Joe Donoway of Dothan; Dr. Ross Hodges of Ranger; Charles Wendt and Lester Agnew of Cisco; Sam Windom of Bird's Store, Brown county and many others.

TWO OF THREE GAMES SLATED TO BE PLAYED

Outcome Will Award All-Round Championship to Winner

The Cisco Loboes, Class A basketball champions of Eastland county and the Scranton Class B champions will meet this evening at Cisco high school gymnasium in the first of a series to determine the all-round county titlists, it was announced today.

The team winning two of three games will be awarded the championship.

Scranton, with a team that has established its strength in close games with the highly rated Cross Plains five, is due to give the Loboes a thrilling battle, Cisco coaches said today.

The second game of the title series will be played here tomorrow evening. Both games are to begin at 7:30.

Cisco won the right to meet Scranton in a hairbreadth finish with the one-point margin in overtime play in a game with the Carbon team at Ranger Monday evening.

Prices for the games tonight and tomorrow night will be the same as prevailed during the regular conference play—15 and 10 cents.

80 at Dinner for Cattlemen Tuesday Night

Eighty diners, including Cisco business and professional men and their cattleman guests, attended the dinner honoring cattlemen and Hereford association officials sponsored by the Cisco chamber of commerce last night at the Laguna hotel.

The dinner was pronounced a great success by chamber officials, who warmly thanked the business men for their response and members of the S. E. Hittson and Ray Judia orchestra who provided music for the event.

The dinner, as was explained, while honoring the auctioneers of the Mitcham and Son Hereford auction yesterday who were honor guests, was also a tribute to the enterprise of G. P. Mitcham and son, G. P., Jr., and other Cisco county cattlemen.

S. H. Nance, president of the chamber of commerce welcomed the group. There were talks by Earl Gartin, Indiana, chief auctioneer; Frank Farley of the Hereford Journal, O. R. Peterson of the Drovers Telegram, Frank Reeves of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and others.

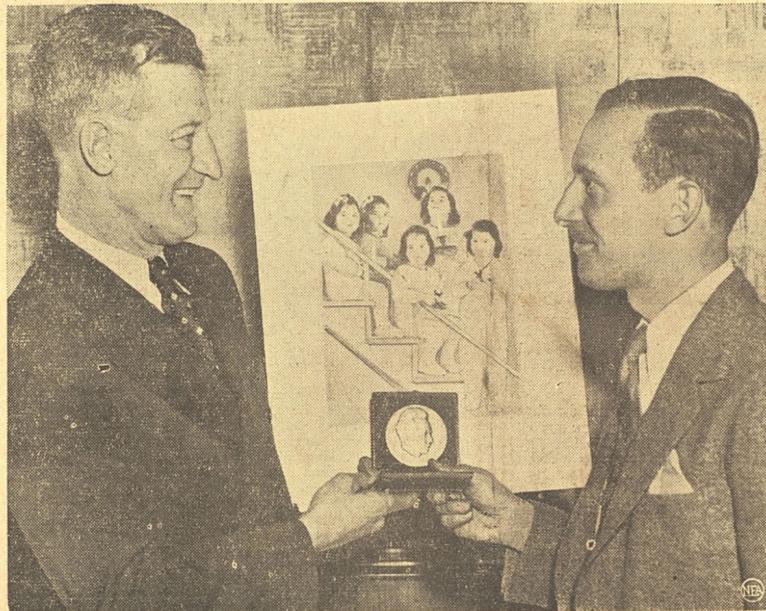

F. D. Wright, Cisco attorney, spoke on the significance of the cattle industry to this country, declaring that it is the principal resource upon which this section may hope to base a profitable agricultural economy. He paid tribute to the vision and enterprise of the leading ranchers and livestock growers of the Cisco country, including the Mitchams, Sutton Crofts, F. E. Harrell, Bob Wedington and numbers of others.

Mr. Mitcham expressed his gratitude for the reception that Cisco had given the Mitcham ranch auction.

ROBBERS GET BIG SUM

Of hundreds of outstanding pictures on display at the International Leica Exhibit in New York, those most popular with the 65,000 persons who viewed the display were—can you guess?—those of the Dionne quintuplets! Which is why Fred Davis, left, NEA Service cameraman who makes all the quintuplet pictures that are an exclusive feature of The Cisco Daily Press, receives the Oskar Barnack medal from Augustus Wolfman, exhibit chairman. The picture that pleased most spectators is that in the background, showing the quints in night clothes and holding candles in a night-before-Christmas scene.

Ass'n Directors in Session Here

Cisco directors of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas association will be hosts this evening to a meeting of the directors of the association at 5 o'clock, followed by a dinner on the Laguna hotel roof.

Brother of Frank Walker Improves

C. S. Walker, brother of W. F. Walker of Cisco, who is in a Los Angeles hospital recovering from a serious foot injury sustained in a fall, is improving after two or three weeks of treatment, a letter to Mr. Walker here said.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hayes have returned from a visit in Comanche.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt, it was learned today, will ask congress to appropriate between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 for relief during the next five months.

Informed sources said the president would send a letter to Speaker Bankhead, probably tomorrow, asking additional funds primarily because he expected relief demands during February, March and April.

The Works Progress Administration, these sources said, told the president the funds were needed largely because of unemployment in certain automobile cities.

The president talked relief matters over today with Representative Rayburn, Texas, and others.

Schools Must Have the Money, Secretary Says

Assurance that the Cisco Independent School district will proceed to institute suits for collection of delinquent taxes in cases where failure to pay is obviously willful or failure to make arrangements for payment has occurred, was given today by W. F. Walker, business secretary of the board.

"In many cases," said Mr. Walker, "we have been confronted with almost insulting efforts to force us to reduce taxes that are plainly equitable. In other cases taxpayers who owe delinquent taxes have not sought to cooperate with us even to the extent of explaining their condition and seeking to

Will Continue Conservation Act Machinery

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The house voted approval today of the revised crop control bill, speeding along to the final legislative action in the senate.

The program would continue the soil conservation act and set up machinery by which Secretary Wallace, with the approval of the farmers, could apply marketing regulations to wheat, corn, cotton and rice.

The measure was both criticized and condoned by republicans. Representative Rees, Kansas, said, "The theory of crop regulation, embodied in legislation, would lead to more government control than we realize today."

Representative Gilchrist of Iowa said he would vote for the measure because "it is the best bill we can get just now."

State Vocational Ag Supervisor Here

State Supervisor Manire for vocational agriculture education, and Roy B. Melford, area supervisor were among the visitors to the vocational agriculture classes of T. G. Caudle, vocational instructor here this morning.

Other visitors included W. J. Bush, vocational agriculture teacher at Scranton and five of his students.

Capone Reported Paresis Sufferer

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9 (AP)—Reports were current today that Al Capone, under observation in the hospital ward of Alcatraz Island, federal prison, might be transferred to the federal hospital at Springfield, Missouri.

WORKER UPON OVERPASS IS HURT IN FALL

Accident First During Construction of New Highway

First serious accident to occur during construction of the new route of Highway No. One through Cisco took place yesterday when Eddie C. Wagner, carpenter of Travis county, fell from a 14-foot scaffold severely lacerating his face and fracturing his left shoulder.

His lip and the right side of his face was badly cut. Surgeons at Graham sanitarium where he was treated, said this morning, however, that his condition was not serious.

The accident occurred about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

CHILD NOT SERIOUSLY INJURED

Injuries sustained by Patsy Ruth Stewart, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Stewart of the Hillview camp, when she was struck by a car on the Eastland highway near her home in East Cisco, were found not to be serious at Graham sanitarium where she was taken after the accident. The child suffered only bruises and scratches, hospital attendants said.

H. C. Henderson, Cisco city commissioner, saw the accident and picked the child up. The car which struck her was driven by an Eastland woman who carried the child to the hospital.

Prominent Carbon Merchant Dies This Afternoon

W. W. Speer, Carbon merchant and prominent civic leader, died today at 1 a. m. after a long illness with a chronic throat affection.

His wife and several children survive.

Mitcham Auction Sale Attracts Widespread Attention Tuesday

The first annual auction sale of the Mitcham and Son Hereford ranch here yesterday was rated a great success in point of attendance and spread of interest, although the prices paid for the animals sold was considerably below what their quality expected to bring. An average of $109.50 was paid.

This was attributed to the fact that the ranch was but newly established and has yet to establish the reputation which prominent officials of the national and state Hereford breeders associations and representatives of leading livestock journals who were here freely predicted would within a few years make Mitcham sales top events in national Hereford circles.

Beef Cattle, Sheep and Goats Will Get Most Emphasis

Premium list for the Eastland County Livestock show to be held here February 25 and 26 under the auspices of the Cisco chamber of commerce was announced today by T. G. Caudle, superintendent of the show.

Remainder of the program has not been completed, the committee in charge, said. This will be arranged within the next few days.

Dr. F. E. Clark, Sutton Crofts, G. P. Mitcham, Sr., and Ernest Hittson form the arrangements committee. The finance committee consists of J. D. Lauderdale, Ed Huestis and Jewel Poe.

The dairy division of the show this year will be limited only to dairy cattle entered by members of Future Farmer chapters. Invitations to Future Farmers of other communities than Cisco will be extended.

The horses and mules sections of the show have also been discontinued. Interest will be centered chiefly on beef cattle and on sheep and goats.

H-SU Executive Vice President Lions Speaker

Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, executive vice-president of Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene, was in his usual good form at the Lions club today as he recalled that he was principal of Cisco high school during the term of 1914-15, and after a few good stories launched into his talk on some of the questions of the day that are of interest to all Lions and good citizens of Cisco and elsewhere.

A good story well-told has been conceded to be the most introduction to any talk and that Dr. Richardson is a past master in the art was attested by the rapt interest Lions gave to the address.

Lion President Horace Condey announced a business session for Lion directors following the program. Lion Joe I. Patterson won the goat for next week. O. L. Stamey will have charge of next week's program.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God. Speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem, and cry unto her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned: for she hath received of the Lord's hand double for all her sins.—Isaiah 41, 2.

I have not much to give of earthly things— But gratitude is in my heart, and sings, and helps me to give a word to one in need. To smile on one whose smile is fled. Help me to lead One who has strayed, back to the path of Love again; Help me to help another see there is no pain. —MARTHA A. THOMAS.

With emphasis upon higher living, one's thoughts are temporarily withdrawn from one's every day activities, and we think of the things that are eternal. We learn anew that the kingdom of God is within us.—Robert Lewis Weis.

Livestock Show

PREPARATION of the premium list and other necessary details of the Eastland County Livestock show here February 25 and 26 has almost been completed by the committee of the chamber of commerce in charge. The committee has made an effort to prevent the show this year from being burdensome on local merchants from the standpoint of contributions. The manner in which it will be supported will reveal to a great extent just what Cisco business thinks of the importance of livestock to its section.

WHEN it is pointed out that less than 20 per cent of all land in Eastland county is in cultivation and that much of this percentage is of such character that it cannot be profitably continued in row crop culture, the significance of livestock farming here is emphasized. This is primarily a livestock county. It can produce the best in livestock. Success that enterprising stockmen have realized with fine grade beef cattle, sheep and goats and other forms of livestock and the increasing trend toward this culture are encouraging aspects of the present situation.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

Worms seem to having their day. I have noticed lately some light, quasi-scientific discussion concerning methods of enticing angletworms out of the earth when needed. Some have the idea that they will respond to a gentle tapping on the surface above their habitat. Others seem to think that a vibratory friction on a stick or other piece of material will bring them up. I suppose that these noises or other sensations awaken a little curiosity in the pinhead brain of the creature. So he says to himself, or to his nearby associates in angletwormdom, "What's this I wonder? Ah! maybe things are coming our way up above. What's to hinder us going up to find out?"

The other morning during one of our midwinter rains I happened to lift up a pan as I was feeding the chickens and noticed the wet soil underneath quite alive with the protruding ends, anterior I suppose, of earthworms. That led to an investigation of all the rocks and boards and other things lying around partly sunken in the ground. Every one of them presented the same appearance. Mother Nature had induced them to come out in some way, perhaps warmth and moisture, but maybe other factors entered in. Perhaps the gentle tapping of falling drops upon the earth and objects lying upon it had sent the message that got this quick response. Anyway there was a sight to set tingling the pulse of the confirmed angler. But things do not come so rosy as all that, generally. Alas! it was a poor time of the year and of the day and of the weather for fishing.

Field Tour Planned by County Agent

County Agent Elmo V. Cook has announced plans for a field tour of range practices Tuesday, Feb. 22. Practices to be pointed out on the tour, to which agriculturists and anyone interested is invited, will include mesquite and prickly pear eradication, pasture terraces, pasture riding and contour listing.

The following schedule was mapped by the Eastland county agriculture conservation committee in cooperation with Agent Cook (the tour starts at 9 a. m., and places will be visited in the order listed): J. O. Allen ranch, 15 miles southeast of Ranger. Wash Woods pasture, three miles east of Ranger. Leslie H. Hagaman, two miles northeast of Ranger. T. E. Castleberry, six and one-half miles northwest from Eastland. S. H. Hill ranch, five miles northeast of Cisco. George P. Fee pasture, two miles northeast of Cisco. F. E. Harrell ranch, two and one-half miles west from Cisco.

For Love of Polly

By RACHEL MACK

Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS POLLY CHELSEY, heroine; stranded in London when war breaks out. JERRY WHITFIELD, hero; the Yankee who sees her through. CABELL BANKS, privateer captain.

Yesterday, Jerry and Polly have dinner together in the inn on the eve of their departure across the Channel.

CHAPTER VII

POLLY and Jerry held hands while they watched the colorful changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace. They stood with shoulders touching while they leaned on the timbers of London Bridge, gazing down into the Thames. They looked into each other's eyes as they fed the pigeons before St. Paul's Cathedral. Yet they talked of everything but love.

"London takes my breath away," Polly said as they neared the inn at day's end. "I'm right proud my mother's people were Londoners."

Jerry nodded. "England's a wonder, all over. I'm proud of having English blood myself. But England's too arrogant. America will have to lick her again."

"Hush, Jerry! You'll be overheard. Who's that woman waving to you?"

"Where, Polly?" "Across the street. . . Look! In the blue bonnet. She's just gotten out of a hackney coach."

"I doubt if she's waving to me," Jerry said, puzzled. "She was a pretty thing, becomingly dressed and having a gay air. Jerry lifted his hat and bowed while his tanned face turned crimson. "She mistakes me for somebody else, I reckon."

The young woman gave him a warm intimate smile and went into a shop. "She thinks she knows you very well," Polly said, piqued. "Jerry, I believe she does know you! Why are you being so innocent about it?"

"If I knew her," Jerry replied brusquely, "I'd say so. I've got no taste for mysteries."

THEY both looked at the rather shabby public vehicle out of which the young woman had just stepped. The driver was a large man in a cabby's uniform. Had they been closer, they would have seen that he had a torn ear and a nose that had been several times broken and carelessly mended.

"Well, Jerry," Polly argued, "you don't look like anybody else I've seen in London. I'd not confuse you with other men. No woman would. Of course that girl knows you! You've met her somewhere. I reckon you've paid her compliments, or she wouldn't be speaking to you so—"

"So how?" It was an irritated challenge. "So like she had some claim on you. She looked square at you! What's more, you bowed to her, Jerry Whitfield!"

"Of course I did. Just to be polite."

"But you smiled at her!"

"I didn't!"

"You did!"

"Bah!"

"Now you're being rude. You save your good manners for London ladies, and you shout at me because I'm just a Connecticut village girl."

"For a little bit," Jerry said hotly, "I'd turn you over my knee and whale you. Where and when would I meet any London girls like that?"

"After the theater," Polly replied with unaccountable feminine shrewdness. "After they're through acting in the play. You told me you'd been to Drury Lane, time and again."

"So I have."

"And I suppose you'll try to tell me you didn't notice one girl from another?"

"No, I won't," Jerry retorted angrily. "I didn't meet any of them, but there were at least three I used to clap for. And one night I sent them bouquets, all three of 'em!"

"Well, then, there you are!" cried Polly triumphantly, but not enjoying the triumph. "Did you put a card in, or a note?"

"No, I didn't, but I wish I had. Just to give you something to carry on about!"

WHILE this argument was in progress they had entered the tavern, passed through the public room and ascended the stairs. At her door Polly took out a large brass key from her pocket and inserted it in the lock. "Won't you come in?" she asked tartly. "I'd like to hear some more of your adventures. They must be wonderful."

She threw open the door, and Jerry followed her in, for the quarrel was in that exhilarating state of fermentation when neither wished to abandon it. He walked to the window and looked down on the street while she closed the door.

"Hasn't she come out of the shop yet?" Polly inquired, removing her bonnet before a looking glass. "I thought her dress was right gaudy for the street. Maybe she's gone in to buy something more suitable."

Jerry whirled about and seized Polly's hands. He drew her near to him, so that their faces were close. "You're a jealous little cat, Polly Chelsey. You're nobody's angel. You'd be hard to handle—" "Yes, Jerry," she said tenderly, meltingly. "I reckon that's so. . . Oh, Jerry, don't you see how it is? I've never taken a sweetheart before. I seem to want all of you—even the past that happened before you'd ever heard of me. I reckon this is being in love. It was feeling like this, I guess, that made my mother go to America in 'Trepid Chelsey's ship and marry him." Her arms crept around Jerry's neck and she was answering his kiss.

After a moment they drew apart and Jerry said, confused and shaken, "We're talking of love again, and I said I'd not till I got you home to your father! How has this happened?"

"Because we quarreled," Polly answered simply.

THEY resumed their New England reserve then, as they might have put on topcoats in a storm. But it was not the same. Beneath the reserve there throbbled the intimacy of the emotion they had shared.

"Tell me what o'clock we're to start in the morning," Polly said, "so I'll not keep the coach waiting."

"I'll knock on your door soon after daylight. You must get up at once and dress and pack your clothes. Then we'll have breakfast for the Dover coach. I've spoken for two seats. . . Take your money now, Polly. It'll be best for you to carry it. Can you hide it about your person?"

"Yes. I've a doekin bag for that purpose. Will there be any trouble about the dog in the coach, Jerry?"

"I don't think so. If there is, I can take him on top. I'll go down now and have a look at him before I turn in."

"You're so kind, Jerry. How could I have been so cross to you? How could I have been so hateful?"

"I know more about typhoons," Jerry said with a grin, "than about lovers' quarrels. And I believe it's easier to handle a ship than a woman. Good night, Polly."

He bent and kissed the palm of each of her hands, thinking of what some future night must bring in danger—the English Channel and the dark uncertainty of a smuggler's crossing. Could he bring her safely through it? These were his thoughts.

"Good night, Jerry!"

She thought only of how his dark hair curled as his head bent over her hands.

DON'T destroy the memoranda from which your return was prepared.

DON'T omit explanation when such information is essential to an intelligent audit. Attach memoranda to your return.

Normal Tax and Surtax Rates

The Revenue Act of 1936 provides for only one normal tax rate, that is, 4 per cent on the amount of the net income in excess of the allowable credits such as the personal exemption, credit for dependents, etc. The act provides for an additional credit for the purpose of the normal tax of an earned income credit, that is, 10 per cent of the amount of the earned net income but not in excess of 10 per cent of the amount of the net income. The personal exemption and credit for dependents are also allowable as credits against the net income for the purpose of the surtax, the resulting net income being designated "surtax net income." The surtax is imposed on surtax net incomes in excess of $4,000. The rates increase in accordance with the amount of surtax net income included in varying so-called surtax brackets. On a surtax net income of $4,000 or less there is no surtax. On a surtax net income in excess of $4,000 and not in excess of $6,000, the rate is 4 per cent of such excess. The surtax upon a surtax net income of $6,000 is $80 and upon a surtax net income in excess of $6,000 and not in excess of $8,000 the rate is 5 per cent of such excess in addition to the $80, or a surtax of $180 upon a surtax net income of $8,000. The surtax on a surtax net income of $5,000,000 is $3,591,000, and upon a surtax net income in excess of $5,000,000 75 per cent, the maximum rate, is applicable to such excess, in addition to the $3,591,000. Many taxpayers make the error of applying the maximum rate instead of the rate provided for in the Following is an example of how to compute the tax on a net income of $8,500, all of which represents earned net income, the taxpayer being single and without dependents:

Net income $8,500

Less personal exemptions 1,000

Balance (surtax net income) 7,500

Earned income credit 850

Net income subject to normal tax 6,650

Surtax at 4 per cent on amount of surtax net income in excess of $4,000 but not over $6,000, 4 per cent on $2,000 80

Surtax at 5 per cent on amount of surtax net income in excess of $6,000 but not over $8,000, 5 per cent on $1,500 75

Total surtax 155

Total normal tax and surtax 421

Taxpayers are advised to read carefully the instructions accompanying Form 1040 relating to the earned-income credit and surtax, as well as all other instructions thereon, before preparing their returns.

Gasoline Stocks Reach New High On February 5

Despite a moderate decline in crude runs to the stills of the nation's refineries, gasoline stocks continued to advance to a new peak, the report of the American Petroleum Institute for the week ended Feb. 5, disclosed Tuesday.

Stocks of motor fuel continued upward, with a gain for the week covered by the report of 1,640,000 barrels, to bring the total motor fuel storage to 86,484,000 barrels, the highest in the history of the industry.

Refiners cut back their charges during the week an average of 15,000 barrels daily, to drop the rate of processing from 3,170,000 barrels daily to 3,155,000 barrels. Although this is a decline of 300,000 barrels daily from the peak runs of the summer season, it is estimated that approximately another 100,000 barrels daily must be cut from crude charges to meet the recession in gasoline consumption.

Gasoline stocks already have passed the peak reached in 1937 by 2,946,000 barrels, and are 15,949,000 barrels higher than for the comparable week of 1937. Despite tendency of Kansas and Oklahoma operators to take the bulk of their allowable production during the first week of the month, both of these states showed reduction in their daily average output for the week. Oklahoma was off 20,800 barrels daily, while Kansas was off 7,100 barrels daily.

With the nation reporting a daily average drop of 41,200 barrels for the week to 3,316,450 barrels, Texas was in second place with a decline of 19,200 barrels daily.

California showed an increase of 4,500 barrels daily. Unseasonable winter weather over a large part of the country was reflected in a drop of but 174,000 barrels in gas and fuel oil stocks.

New Deep Test for Callahan

BAIRD, Feb. 9 —Returning to an area in Callahan county which 18 years ago boasted of an Ordovician producer which flowed an estimated 500 to several thousand barrels daily for several months, J. V. Howell of Wichita Falls, and G. C. Howell of San Antonio, have spudded a wildcat 800 feet southwest of the old producer. The new wildcat is the No. 1 E. I. Vestal, in the Jesse Dyson survey, on a 4,000-acre block about two miles northwest of Cross Plains in the southeast corner of the county. It will be drilled with rotary to contract depth of 4,000 feet.

The old producer drilled by Dr. S. P. Rumph, operating as the Consolidated Oil company, topped saturated Ellenberger at 3,740 feet and drilled it to 3,762 feet. It produced several months until sulphur water broke in.

stock was warmly praised by all visiting speakers.

Top Price
Top price of the sale yesterday was paid by Wallace Glasby of Ennis when he bought the cow, Sunshine 54th and bull calf for $270. F. D. Wright, Cisco attorney, secured the cow, Allie Diamond 3rd for $250. Lewis Cerf of Ennis was among the largest buyers of the sale. Other major buyers were C. W. Johnson, Jr., of Graham and Murray Johnson of Dallas. Claud Harris, Fort Worth breeder, purchased three individuals.

Walter L. Boothe of Sweetwater placed the first bid, offering $100 for a heifer calf.

Other prominent cattle breeders who attended the sale included Bill Largent of Merkel, Fred Wimberly of Sweetwater, F. W. Alexander of Albany, Jim Dibrell of Coleman, J. D. Edens of Corsicana, J. P. Osborne of Miami, Glenn Ross of Goodlett, Jack Frost of Dallas, Corney Engle of Blackwell, Bill Hendry of Foreston, Charles C. Sanders of Big Lake, Joe Matthews of Albany, George DeLafosse of Albany, and M. E. Fry and E. W. Gill of near Brownwood.

Large Crowd
Attendance at the auction, held in the splendid new sale pavilion at the ranch, was estimated in excess of 700. Hundreds of Cisco people attended, their interest in the cattle industry spurred by the auction—first to be held in strictly Cisco country. The program started with a barbecue at 11:30 and at 12:30 Auctioneer Earl Gartin picked up his gavel and began the sale of 55 animals which was carried through in rapid time.

Assisting Gartin in the sale was Frank Farley of the Hereford Journal; O. R. Peterson of the Drovers Telegram; Frazier Briggs, Western Livestock; Bogg Scott, of the Cattleman; Frank Reeves of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram; Jack Turner, secretary of the County-Wide Vets Meeting at Eastland

EASTLAND, Feb. 9 (Spc) — Eastland will be host to the veterans of all American wars at a district meeting in the courthouse at 7:30 Wednesday evening, Feb. 16.

While the meeting will be under the auspices of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, veterans of all American wars are urged by officials to attend and participate in the meeting. Veterans of the Civil war, both Confederate and Federal, were requested especially to attend the meeting.

Arrangements are being made to furnish transportation to aged veterans without means to attend. Veterans were asked to notify any ex-service man and a way will be supplied to convey him to the meeting. It is proposed by those having the arrangements in hand to make the meeting one of the most outstanding meetings of war veterans ever held in the area.

Veterans of the Spanish-American war, American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars will join in the meeting, which will commemorate the sinking of the battleship Maine, in Havana harbor, Feb. 15, 1898. The arrangements committee will arrange for several well-known speakers of the state on veterans' affairs. Music and other features will round out the evening of patriotic pleasures.

Allred Urges Suits to Cancel Nine Leases

AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred directed another blast Tuesday at Land Commissioner William H. McDonald before leaving the state for the rest of the week.

He urged Attorney General William McCraw to file suit seeking to cancel nine Jefferson county leases awarded by McDonald on a high royalty basis. It was a renewal of the controversy between the governor and land commissioner over what were the best bids on mineral lands along the Gulf coast.

Scott Gaines, acting attorney general pending McCraw's return to the capital tomorrow, declined to say whether the department would comply with Allred's request until he had opportunity to study the facts surrounding the various lease sales.

"We will bring any suits warranted by the facts, however," he promised.

Gaines had said previously the department at Allred's request would institute litigation seeking to cancel McDonald's award of tract 14 in Laguna Madre near Corpus Christi to Herbert Mallinson and associates of Dallas; Claims $138,000 Loss

The governor remarked at his press conference it now looked as if tract 14 would be highly productive but tracts 16 and 18 would be dry and the state therefore had lost the $138,000 in high cash bids which, he said, were rejected. Dry holes, he said, had been drilled on 70 sides of tracts 16 and 18.

Most of the Jefferson county tracts on which Allred asked cancellation were awarded to I. E. Harwell, Burk Burnett financier, an associate. They brought only $4 an acre in cash whereas McDonald turned cash bids ranging up to $51 per acre. The bids of Harwell and associates, however, contained much higher royalty offers than the rejected bids.

Leases to the group of which Harwell is a member and that to Mallinson have occupied a prominent part in the senate committee's searching investigation of McDonald's policies. The inquiry probably will be resumed later this month.

Allred asked cancellation of leases on all Gulf of Mexico tracts opposite Jefferson county from 88 through 77 except 72, on which a well is being drilled.

Most radio broadcasting studios now have their "station break" chimes tuned to 440 vibrations per second, which is A above middle C.

CAPONE INSANE?

Reports that Al Capone, prohibition era gang czar of the Chicago underworld now serving an 11-year federal sentence for income tax evasion had become insane were current in San Francisco yesterday. Warden James A. Johnston of Alcatraz prison, tide-grit "Devil's Island" of the government in San Francisco bay, refused to comment, referring questioners to the federal director of prisons at Washington.

Reporters based their inquiries upon statements attributed to Dr. Edward Twitchell, Frisco psychiatrist, who was said to have examined the ex-gangster. Warden Johnston refused to confirm reports that Capone had gone berserk, attempted to kick several convicts about 10 days ago and refused to believe Twitchell had made any statements attributed to him.

At Washington it was admitted Capone has been confined to a hospital bed, but said no definite diagnosis had been made.

Meantime, at Chicago, counsel for Capone sought remission of the one-year prison sentence facing Capone in Cook county, Illinois, when he is discharged from Alcatraz.

"OSCAR" POLISHED UP
AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP)—State police dusted and polished Oscar for another personal appearance.

In case you haven't heard, Oscar is a talking skeleton, Texas' number one evangel of safe driving. A concealed loud speaker is his voice, often heard at fairs and other public gatherings exhorting motorists to drive safely.

This time he's going to the Dallas court house to be in full view of applicants for new automobile licenses.

Officers intimated he might appear in other metropolitan centers with high traffic mortalities.

HELIUM SHIPPED
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The state department announced Tuesday it had issued a license for the export of 2,600,000 cubic feet of helium to Germany, the first installment of an allotment of 17,900,000 cubic feet.

The gas is for the new German zeppelin LZ-130, which is scheduled to start flying between Germany and the United States in June. Helium is being used to prevent a future explosion such

The star southeast of Cartagena, Spain, in the map above, shows where four British destroyers are thrashing the Mediterranean Sea to locate the "pirate" submarine which sank the British steamer Endymion with loss of 11 lives. J. E. McDONALD ANNOUNCES
AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP)—J. E. McDonald of Ellis county announced Tuesday for his fifth term as state commissioner of agriculture. He promised cooperation in any crop control measure the federal government might enact.

AFL ASKS TAX REVISION
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor called upon congress Tuesday night to repeal or modify the undivided profits and capital gains taxes.

"Some representatives of industry as well as expert economists allege that the present (business) situation is largely psychological and is due to a lack of confidence," said a statement issued by the AFL executive council at the conclusion of its mid-winter meeting.

"As a step toward restoration of public confidence * * * the AFL suggests congress repeal or modify the undivided profits and capital gains taxes. * * *

"The executive council makes this suggestion in the interests of labor. It firmly believes that all must pull together—labor, industry and the government—in order to break down and overcome a most serious and threatening unemployment situation."

SWEETWATER MYSTERY
SWEETWATER, Feb. 9.—Developments were lacking Tuesday in the investigation of the death of Jesse H. Pendergrass, 68, whose body was found Sunday in a pasture near Lake Sweetwater. Circumstances surrounding disappearance of the elderly Cookeville, Tenn., man remained mysterious despite activities of a score of peace officers.

Vines and Perry to Play at Abilene

ABILENE, Feb. 9.—Ellsworth Vines, former American amateur champion, and Fred Perry, of England, former wearer of the world's amateur crown, will meet in match play here next Monday night, to give West Texas tennis enthusiasts an opportunity to see two of the game's greatest tennis stars in action.

Vines and Perry are in the midst of a "show down" series of matches, on a national tour, and come headlined as "shooting the works" nightly. Vines holds a current lead in their series.

Don Budge, world's No. 1 amateur net star today, will turn "pro" next year, both Perry and Vines believe, and the winner of their series is expected to be matched with the flaming redhead who brought the Davis Cup back to America.

The two played to a draw a year ago, with Vines taking 33 of 63 played in the United States, and Perry taking 7 of 11 played in Canada, Cuba and Mexico, to earn a 37-37 tie.

Heading a supporting cast in the matches here, Berkeley Bell, former University of Texas star, will meet Walter Senior, University of California ace, in a singles match. In the finale, Vines and Senior pair to battle Perry and Bell in doubles.

Two-year-old Prince Edward, son of the Duke of Kent, is said to show an instinct for engineering.

The Mexican government has established standards and assumed control over the sale of biological preparations.
