More American Warships Are Concentrated Near Cuba

30 VESSELS PREPARED FOR INTERVENTION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 — President Roosevelt's preparation for possible Cuban intervention today moved almost every armed American vessel on the Atlantic seaboard. Sixteen destroyers received preparation orders today. The destroyer Overton was ordered from the Canal Zone to the Isle of Pines, off Cuba. These orders brought to 30 the number of armed American vessels which have received emergency orders since trouble developed this week. The Overton was dispatched to the Isle of Pines where fear had been expressed that if disorders developed inmates of the large prison there might be freed.

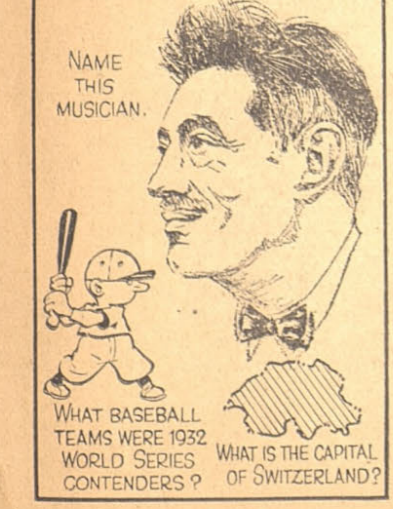

"Chiseling" Charged Gen. Johnson's Firm

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 7 — Lea Sadrics, Inc., of which Gen. Hugh Johnson, recovery administrator, is president, is facing a charge that it is not living up to the NRA code. The allegations were in a letter written on the stationery of the International Carpet Workers Union of Newark over the signature of Eric Ross, secretary-treasurer. Ross said the company violated the code by discharging an employe after he took an active part in union organization work.

Nazi Honors Go To Glider Pilot

KOENIGSBERG, Germany, Sept. 7 — A few weeks ago Kurt Schmidt was an unknown East Prussian university student, interested, like thousands of others, in aeronautics. Now he is a happy, if slightly bewildered, Nazi stormtroop company leader and the recipient of congratulations from all Reich leaders. It all happened when Schmidt quietly trundled his home-made glider out, stuffed four sandwiches into his pockets, and took off for 36 hours and 35 minutes of gliding over East Prussia, which smashed the existing record by 13 hours. No one paid much attention to flight at the start. Hundreds of young men in Germany make similar take-offs every day. But when night fell and the young philosophy student showed no intention of landing, national attention was focused on him. The following morning Schmidt already had set a new record, but he continued his flight until dusk, while newspapers banneted his progress. When he landed there was a telegram waiting from Chancellor Hitler. In quick succession followed congratulations from President Hindenburg, Prussian Premier Goering, the Reich Minister for Aeronautics, and from Propaganda Minister Goebbels. District leaders of the Nazi party, East Prussian officials, and the German Aero club followed suit. Then Schmidt, hitherto one of hundreds of thousands of rank-and-file stormtroopers, was informed that he had been promoted to the rank of company commander.

First Pictures of Valley Storm Disaster

These two pictures were taken in the stricken Texas valley district just after the disastrous storm which killed at least 100 persons and injured hundreds more, swept entire towns and completely cut off communications. These pictures, taken near Port Isabel, northeast of Brownsville, were rushed by auto over almost impassable roads to Corpus Christi and then sent to Dallas by plane. In the above photo men may be seen hunting for bodies. The lower picture shows a wrecked building.

GOD'S PATIENCE IS WEDNESDAY SERMON TOPIC

"God's Pleading Rejected" was the subject of the sermon delivered Wednesday evening by Dr. W. R. Hornburg, who is conducting the meeting in progress at the First Baptist church here. The evangelist commented on the patience of a god who waits, the love of a god who forgives, and a god who helps. "The patience of God cannot be understood," Dr. Hornburg said. "God has a purpose in each life that explains some of His mysteries and apparently unjust actions. How can a person reject a love like that which Christ gave to his people? Through this love people of this world are offered a home in heaven if they accept it." Dr. Hornburg spoke on "David's Zero Hour and What He Did With It" at this morning's service. There will be a special service for the older people at the church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. It has been announced that at that time, Dr. Hornburg will preach on "Life at Evening Time," and old hymns will be sung. Every elderly person has been invited to attend the service.

The Cisco Rotary club, in a program open to members of the Lions club, the directors of the chamber of commerce and others who wished to attend, today honored E. H. Varnell, vocational agriculture instructor and member of the club who is leaving shortly to accept a position at Arlington. F. D. Wright was program chairman for the day. Talks of appreciation, mixed with plenty of humor, most of it at the expense of the honoree, were made by Mr. Wright, Supt. R. N. Cluck, with whom, at Hubbard City, Texas, Varnell began his teaching experiences, and others. J. M. Bird, of Dublin, Texas, who succeeds Mr. Varnell here, was introduced. Present also as a guest of honor was Mrs. Varnell. About 50 business men attended the luncheon. As a central decoration feature a "Georgia Stock" plow had been set in the center of the room streamers running from it to the tables. At the end of each streamer was a card upon which was typewritten a description of some accomplishment of Mr. Varnell during his seven years in Cisco.

VALLEY STORM FOLLOWED BY FLOOD THREAT

EDINBURG, Sept. 7 — The Rio Grande rose above flood stage near its junction with the San Juan river today and threatened to spread over the hurricane-swept lower Rio Grande valley where 24 were known dead. Immigration and custom officers at Rio Grande City ordered all government records at Hidalgo removed. The river stood at 25.5 feet at Roma, 133 miles west of Rio Grande City, a foot over the flood stage. Meantime Albert Evans, regional director of the national Red Cross concentrated efforts to speed relief work among hurricane sufferers. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation organization in the lower valley and the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief commission pooled resources, giving Evans authority over the entire relief organization. Pure drinking water must be provided, Evans said, and polluted streams, water systems and wells must be condemned. Clothing is needed badly. A special train from San Antonio to Harlingen brought 30,000 loaves of fresh bread and many thousands of gallons of drinking water today. Evans ordered another check of the death list in Matamoros, Mexico, across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, because of conflicting accounts. Ninety per cent loss, and to some observers total loss, was estimated to the citrus crop in the heavily damaged hurricane area. The estimates placed the loss to the citrus industry upwards of $10,000,000. Brownsville, weathering its third major storm of the season, showed the signs of the hurricane's force. Some observers said the loss there would run as high as $1,000,000. San Benito, now flooded as are parts of Brownsville, faced a property damage almost as great as that at Brownsville. One observer at San Benito said the property damage in that city and its trading territory would run around $3,000,000. Two Atkinson children, Rio Hondo.

State Developing Plans for Fishing

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 7 — The state fish commission's drive for "better fishing in Pennsylvania" has been pushed rapidly this summer. Sportsmen's organizations took the lead in efforts to eliminate water-snakes, which rank as major natural enemies to fish life. The organizations also have aided materially in improving streams. Meanwhile, the state commission concentrated its efforts on providing better angling by increasing its facilities for fish output. Two new trout farms near Bellefonte and at Huntsdale now are providing many additional trout to six-inch size and over for stocking purposes. Twenty-four ponds have been completed at Forked Springs and more than 200,000 fingerling trout placed in them. The facilities for raising small mouth and large mouth black bass are being increased at the Pleasant Mount hatchery, where more than 400 water acres are available for raising fish of various species.

"CARRY ON" IS CHALLENGE AT TYNDALL RITES

The motto of the life that was removed with the tragic death of Dr. John W. Tyndall, president of Randolph college, was the theme of the funeral oration which former pupil, standing over his remains in the chapel of Randolph college this morning at 9 o'clock delivered to an auditorium crowded with mourning relatives and friends. Some of those who heard the Rev. M. J. Johnson, of Erick, Oklahoma, had come from distances as far away as the state of California. "Carry On" was the challenge that the Rev. Mr. Johnson drew from the life of the man whose sudden death was viewed as a severe blow not only to Randolph college but to Cisco. "He was the busiest man who ever lived and he was always busy for other people," said the minister. "There is so much to do and so little time to do it in," was the thought that was behind the energy of his life, he said. He urged students and former students of Dr. Tyndall to carry on the work that he had laid down in the spirit of their dead teacher. Young Students Pail Bearers. The casket was borne into the college chapel by eight young men students. They were Richard Gardner, Joe Frederick, Ester Jones, Rodney Glasscock, Francis Bruce, Glenn Cogswell, Robert Beaman and Robert Stewart. The casket was followed by the honorary pall-bearers. As the procession moved into the chapel a quartet composed of W. F. Walker, Larry Boyd, S. E. Hittson and Harry Schaefer sang. As the casket was set before the flower-banked altar, the Rev. Mr. Lipsey, pastor of the Eastland Christian church, and like all other ministers who took part in the services, a former student of Dr. Tyndall, offered a prayer. The Rev. Mr. Johnson then spoke. At the conclusion of his sermon the Rev. H. O. Langston, of Holtville, California, prayed. There was a solo by the Rev. H. D. Boynton, of Erick, Oklahoma, blind former student of Dr. Tyndall. He sang "Jesus Savior Pilot Me." Mrs. C. R. West accompanied him. Quartet Sang. The quartet sang another number at the close of which the casket was borne from the chapel to the railroad station where it was placed aboard the T. and P. Sunshine for transportation on to St. Louis, Mich., where interment will take place. The Rev. John W. Tyndall, Jr., of Corinth, Miss., is accompanying the body of his father. Mrs. Tyndall, his widow, and other relatives and friends are making the trip by motor.

BONDS AND ANTI-TRUST LAW TOPICS

AUSTIN, Sept. 7 — Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson today called a special session of the Texas legislature to convene here Thursday noon, September 14. Issuance of "bread bonds" authorized by Texas voters at the special election August 26 and revision of anti-trust laws of the state to make them fit into the national recovery program were named as major topics for the special session in the governor's proclamation. The administration - sponsored sales tax and perhaps increased taxes on beer are expected to take the center of the legislative stage. The governor's special session can make no mention of revising the state's beer regulatory act passed by the last session of the legislature contingent on the outcome of the August 26 election and feared by some persons to be invalid. Rep. George W. Winingham, Mexia, organizer of the anti-sales tax bloc, said today he favored either Rep. Sarah Hughes, Dallas, or Rep. George Hester, Georgetown, to head the bloc in the special session. Meantime a campaign for the sales tax went ahead despite illness of Rep. Harold Kayton, San Antonio, heading the sales tax movement.

FORD PLEDGES COOPERATION, FRIENDS SAY

(Copyright by United Press, 1933) BIG BAY, Mich., Sept. 7 — Henry Ford has pledged cooperation with the NRA as far as possible but hesitated to sign the automobile code for fear that it may "injure small parts suppliers." Ford's attitude toward the NRA was presented unofficially by fellow members of the exclusive Huron Mountain club where the auto manufacturer is vacationing. PRESIDENT FORCES COAL AGREEMENT WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 — Weeks of wrangling over a bituminous coal code ended today after President Roosevelt intervened and drove a bargain for embattled spokesmen of capital and labor on wage and hour provisions. The president instructed Recovery Administrator Johnson to reconcile a third point of dispute over unionization in a code and submit it to mine operators and union leaders today. Objections, Johnson said, will be received by 6 p. m. tomorrow and the code will be promulgated Saturday. The president also decided the administration policy in the case of Henry Ford, who refused to sign the automobile code. It will be simply to wait the public's reaction, Johnson announced.

A NARROW PROPOSAL.

The Texas Outlook's editorial opposition to a legislative suggestion to require all textbooks furnished by the state for use in Texas public schools to be printed in Texas is a sensible stand against a proposal that snacks of chauvinism. To require the publication of such textbooks in the state is to require that the state accept for the instruction of its children many of inferior quality because of the greater expense that would be imposed upon the publishers of books that are preferable. The state of Texas cannot have all the apples fall into its lap.

Lawmakers may well ask themselves if they would not be denying the children of Texas much of the best in educational literature and texts by demanding that no books purchased by the state for free use in the schools be printed outside the state.

There is no objection to a requirement that preference be given the book of two equally good publications which is published within the state. In fact, it would seem the duty of the state purchasing agency to award that preference.

But a proposal limiting all state purchasers to the publications of Texas firms, regardless of quality, savors more of the lobbies than an earnest desire to provide the best for Texas school children and Texas publishers.

ICKES FIRM ON OIL ORDER.

Sec'y Ickes has no intention of compromising with Texas upon its problem of adjusting Texas oil production to the federal figure allotted Texas by the president's advisory committee. He denied an appeal from Texas yesterday that more time be allowed the state in which to adjust its production downward from the 1,200,000 barrels daily allowed as the code went into effect to the 975,000 barrels allotted under the schedule of the advisory committee.

The commission issued the temporary order, reducing field allowables by 25 per cent effective today at 8 a. m. It will go ahead with its statewide hearing as required by Texas law.

The federal order put the commission between a rock and a hard place. Besides the difficulty arising from the requirement of Texas law that a 10-day notice be given before a proration hearing can be held, it was confronted with an apparent conflict between pronouncements from two federal sources of authority. To both of these it must subscribe or find itself in contempt.

No doubt, as a District of Columbia jurist held in declaring the farm recovery act constitutional, an emergency does confront the nation and the welfare of the people is supreme to other considerations. Emergencies are no respecters of persons or opinions.

School Publication Opposes Bill to Require Textbooks Printed in Texas

By RAYMOND BROOKS, Capitol Correspondent. AUSTIN, Sept. 7. — The bill to require that textbooks used by Texas school children, and paid for by state tax money be printed in Texas, was opposed and condemned in a signed editorial in the September Texas Outlook, publication of the Texas State Teachers' association.

The editorial was signed with the initials "R. T. E." apparently those of R. T. Ellis, secretary of the teachers' association and editor of the magazine. The bill had proposed to require all book firms to print their Texas state free textbooks within the state, allowing them to send in the electrotyped page forms for the purpose...

reasons why we think a measure requiring the printing of these textbooks in Texas should never be enacted into law: Publishers who own printing presses and equipment will be at a disadvantage in competing with those who do not, and as a result, some of the best textbooks could be considered for use in Texas schools.

If Texas printers will make the price right they can have a large part of this business without any special law. Texas, it is added, has immense export commodities that must find markets elsewhere, and we should do nothing to alienate the friendship of those with whom we must trade.

Blame "Lobby Racketeers" — "Whether justified or not, it is the belief of a goodly number of those most interested in providing textbooks for the state that the lobby racketeers used this bill to their own peculiar advantage. Apparently the shakedown was so large that a repetition of the effort to pass the measure must be expected."

Following the editorial was an editor's note that said: "House Bill No. 836, requiring that textbooks for the public schools of the state be printed in Texas was considered by the executive committee of the Texas State Teachers' association, and the report went out that the committee had endorsed the measure. The motion approved, providing that books printed in Texas should be equally as good and cost no more than in other states. Without this proviso, the maker of the motion opposes the bill."

These are the views expressed to the body of public school teachers in Texas supported out of tax money and can be regarded as the expression of the teachers' association to the extent that they are expressed in the official publication of the association by one of its elected officials.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

Yesterday's news story of how a deer, marooned on a mountain ledge in New York, escaped in its own fashion after hundreds of men had worked to get it to safety across a narrow bridge is just an illustration of the fact that somebody is always trying to do for somebody else what the somebody else can better do for himself. If the deer had wanted to get across the chasm by way of the moss covered bridge the would-be rescuers had built for him, he would have walked across it without any coaxing. As it was he finally became so disgusted with antics of the keepers that he slid off the ledge, thereby proving that it wasn't a dangerous place after all and perfectly safe for a self-respecting deer that wanted to enjoy the peace and privacy of his natural habitat.

Dick blew a curling wreath of smoke rings from his pipe upward toward the star-spinkled sky. Then he answered slowly, contentedly, "We'll never find a better place in the city."

EVE really longed to tell Dick of her investments, but she felt she could score a greater triumph by waiting until her gains were substantial. Not that she wished to flaunt her success, she assured herself, but she must be able to justify her desire to earn her own money.

which gives the annual average acreage, take 66 per cent of this which figure is the county adjustment factor and finally take 54 per cent of the remainder to get the individual farm allotment.

Hog Raisers Warned Hog raisers who contemplate selling pigs and piggy sows to the government are again warned that it is necessary to have a permit from one of the commission firms before the hogs will be received by the packing companies.

A new ruling requires permit to be made out to original owner of the hogs and this permit must be presented at time of sale. Cooperative shipments may be made provided original permits in the name of the individual producers accompany the shipment.

NO CHANGE IN PLANS TO OPEN COLLEGE TERM

There will be no change in the plans for opening Randolph college next Monday as a result of the tragic death of Dr. John W. Tyndall, president, in an automobile accident near Altus, Oklahoma, Monday.

"We feel that that will be as Dr. Tyndall would wish it," said Dr. Clark. "The school will open for the 1933-34 term next Monday, September 11, and there will be no change in the plans for conducting the school which were made before Dr. Tyndall's death."

He asked that all prospective students who had made private agreements with Dr. Tyndall in connection with their attending Randolph the forthcoming term make an explanation of these agreements at the administration office where efforts will be made to work out satisfactory arrangements.

"Dr. Tyndall really gave his life for the school," said Dean E. B. Isaacs, "and we want to carry on as he would have wished it."

They said that no announcement would be made concerning the projects that Dr. Tyndall had been working on in connection with his program for developing Randolph into a large institution of learning. Some of these were undertaken in a private capacity and on his own initiative and what decisions are to be made on them rest with the faculty, it was explained.

But the school will continue without interruption, they reiterated.

THREE MAJOR ISSUES FACE LEGISLATURE

By RAYMOND BROOKS
Daily News Capitol Correspondent.
AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—The legislature scheduled to convene next week, will take up recovery and relief measures of many aspects in work that will require one full 30 day session, and probably a second.

The governor's office indicated the special session will be called probably Monday, Sept. 11. That is the day on which the official canvass of returns in the state relief bond, beer and other elections will be made and the four constitutional amendments promulgated.

One of the first acts will be the issuance of part of the authorized $20,000,000 public works and relief bond issue. Many members of the legislature have indicated their belief that the first issue will be restricted to from six to ten million dollars.

Legislation regulating the expenditure of the money, even to the extent possibly of expanding or changing the organization of the state relief and rehabilitation commission, will accompany the enabling act. Along with this will be tax legislation to provide paying off the bonds that will be issued.

Taxation Opened
The entire subject of taxation will be opened up. Gov. Ferguson has announced she believes beer should pay more tax than the $1.50 per barrel rate fixed in the pre-enabling beer act of the regular session, which legalizes the sale of beer in Texas Sept. 15.

Advocates of a retail sales tax, and of several plans of shaping this revenue bill, will be active in the session.

A third major activity of the session will be re-shaping the anti-trust and "combination in restraint of trade" laws to fit into the nation recovery act. This will bring on days of argument and discussion in both branches of the legislature. A recent newspaper canvass of the house and senate members indicated more than half the lawmakers will favor conforming state laws to the national policy for the emergency period; but the type of legislation required will find many divergent and clashing views.

Revision of some of the sharp injustices of 30 per cent salary cuts, particularly to the lower-paid brackets, of state workers will be undertaken, if the legislature raises new tax revenues with which to pay the bill.

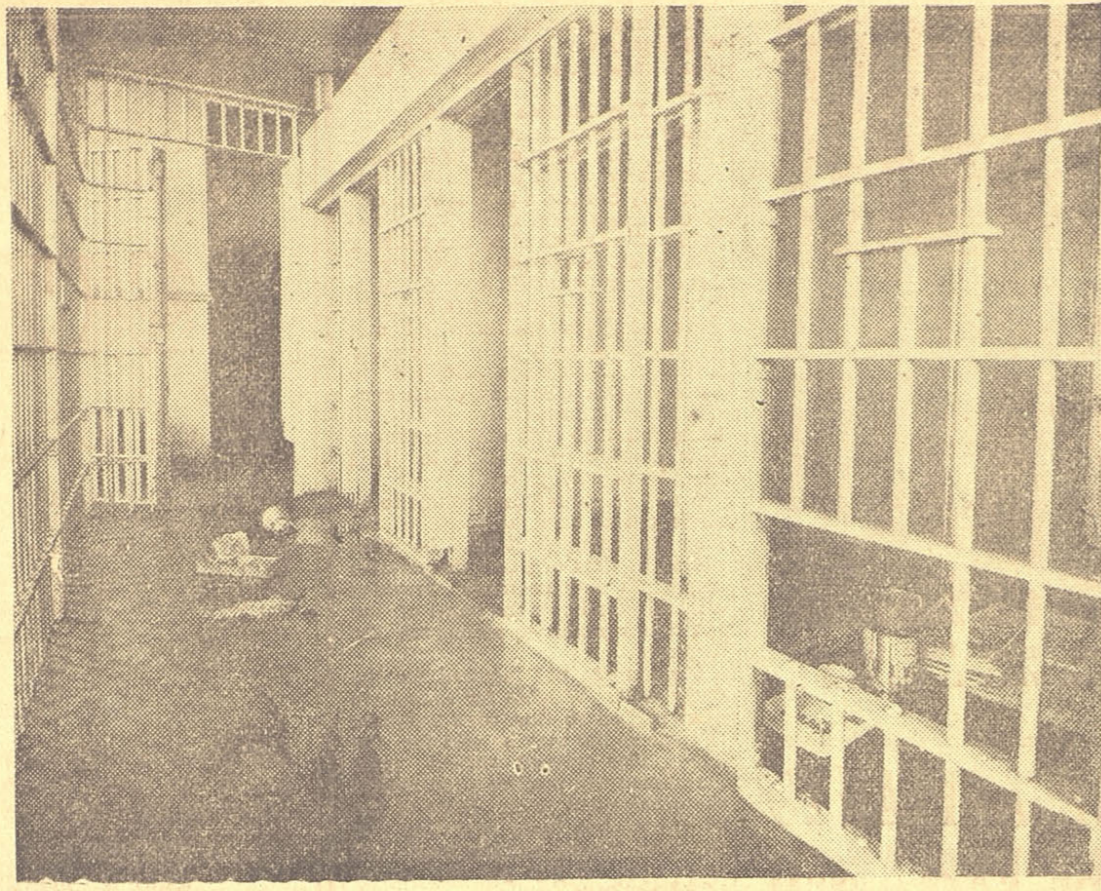

The senate will act on the confirmation of John Wood as member of the Texas highway commission; of Henry C. Mever as member of the board of control; of George Simpson as state auditor and E. C. Brand as banking commissioner.

How Bailey Escaped Dallas Jail

Here is the jail corridor and the cell from which Harvey Bailey, notorious criminal, escaped at the Dallas county jail in Texas. At the right may be seen the hole through which Bailey crawled after sawing three bars. On the floor of the corridor, is the remains of Bailey's breakfast which a trusty was bringing him when the escape occurred. Below are Jailers Young and Morrow, locked in a padded cell by the escaping convict.

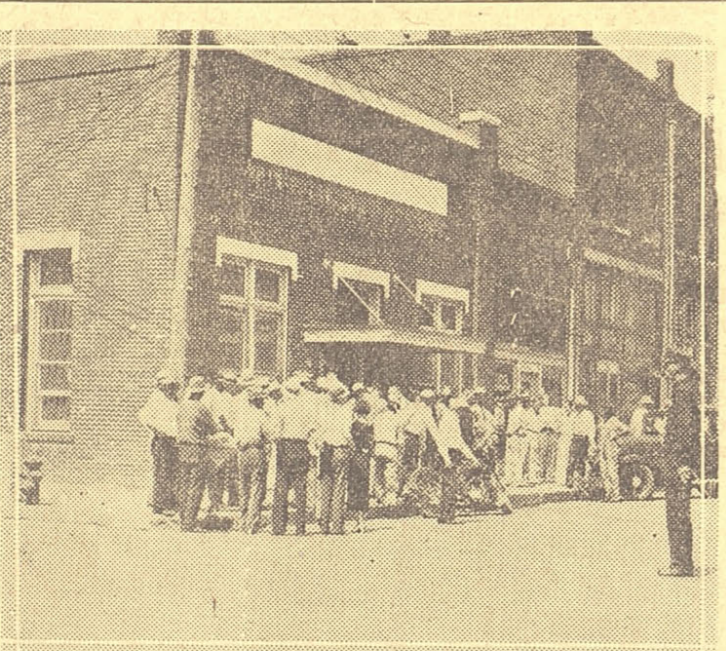

Nick Tresp, jailer, was forced to accompany Harvey Bailey in his own car, and was saved by Ardmore officers who captured the convict. He and Tresp were handcuffed together.

Where Bailey Was Captured

Above is the scene in front of the Ardmore jail when Harvey Bailey, notorious criminal was captured, after a wild 15-minute chase through the streets, pursued by Chief of Police Hale Dunn. Dunn fired three times at the alleged kidnaper and finally wrecked Bailey's car in curbing it. Below, at the left, is Nick Tresp, Dallas jailer, who Bailey kidnaped and who was handcuffed to Bailey during the flight from Dallas. At the lower right is Dunn.

ALIBI DEFENSE PREPARED FOR BAILEY, BATES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 7.—Plans for alibi defenses for both Harvey Bailey and Albert L. Bates in their trial on charges of kidnaping Charles F. Urschel, multi-millionaire Oklahoma City oil man, have been announced by their attorneys.

Several witnesses will be brought here to testify in the federal court trial September 18 that Bates was in Denver the night of July 22 when Urschel was kidnaped.

Others will testify that Bailey was "several hundred miles from here out of the state" said James Mithers, attorney for the gunman and associate counsel with Ben Laska, of Denver, for Bates.

While the defense strategy was being announced the guard at the county jail where the two desperadoes are being held was strengthened.

GEN. JOHNSON LAUNCHES "BUY NOW" CAMPAIGN

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, in a Labor Day account of his stewardship, launched a "Blue Eagle Buy Now" campaign Monday, predicting that if the public meets the challenge the nation will be "out of this depression before the snow flies."

The fate of the people now is in their own hands, Johnson said, as "the national recovery act has done its part."

TEXAS CROP CONTROL MOVE HAS STARTED

AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—Texas crop control action under emergency federal authority, far more extensive than the entire cotton plow-up, has been started according to notice received by Texas officials and business men.

Bankers and representative business men and state officials have been summoned to a conference in Dallas tomorrow with government representatives to consider a mandatory 60 per cent reduction in cotton planting next year. The plow-up campaign in Texas amounted to only 25 per cent of this year's planting. The sixty per cent reduction would cut an average 4,000,000 bale crop to 1,600,000 bales.

It was explained here that since the government had power to buy cotton this year and take it out of production, the same law gave it ample authority to curb the planting of the next crop.

Action to restrict the planting had been urged officially by Texas, and by farmers and business men in a recent statewide conference here, when Commr. J. E. McDonald was ordered to Washington. Mr. McDonald was authorized to press a four-point program for stabilizing the price of cotton, and lifting it from the present nine-cent level to 20 cents. The program called for further plowing up this year, for government buying for uses non-competitive with the crop, for liberal credit authority for carrying cotton, and for restrictions of the 1934 plantings.

Announcement of the government restrictive program was made to the railroad commission hearing on cotton rates and truck-railroad competition.

NEW "HOT OIL" RACKET FOUND IN E. TEXAS

By RAYMOND BROOKS
Capitol Correspondent

AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—A "hot oil" racket in the East Texas oil field, found out through payment of the state production tax by the purchaser rather than the producer, is being investigated on behalf of land and royalty-owners believed to have lost their share of four million barrels of oil a year in the past.

Some of the state tax payments legitimately are made by purchasers. In other cases, sources of the oil was concealed in reports made only by the purchasers. Some of these showed "miscellaneous purchases" that ran into hundreds of thousands of barrels per quarter.

Representatives of royalty interests have been checking these "blind" tax reports, and were preparing to appeal both to the comptroller, who receives payment on the oil, and to the railroad commission, which has power to regulate reports on production and purchases for additional safeguards.

The commission, at its hearing this week, proposed a "rule nine" that would provide the producer should be privileged to witness checking of all pipeline runs. But in cases of an unscrupulous producer, aiming to sell oil without accounting to land and royalty owners for their parts, investigators were not certain whether this rule would be adequate.

The state has been getting its production tax money on this oil, due to its power to check the runs of pipeline and the input of each refinery. But where the receipts have been listed only as "miscellaneous purchases, without showing whether by truck, by pipeline or from what source, or what lease, the royalty owners have not been sure they received accounting for all the production in which they had an interest.

Investigators said that in the past, before the federal regulations were tightened, the land and royalty owners were afraid to make an open complaint against an operator, lest he subject them to still greater losses.

PERMIT IS NOW REQUIRED FOR DRILLING WELL

A new rule, effective August 30, has been laid down by the railroad commission under which no oil well, with certain exceptions, may be drilled in Texas until application has been filed and hearing held. Deputy Oil and Gas Supervisor Omar Burkett said Saturday.

The new regulation changes what was previously required to be merely a notice of intention to drill into a permit which must be obtained from the commission before drilling can be started, he said.

In cases where proper waivers are obtained an offset well may be drilled before a hearing is held provided it is shown by the applicant for applying that provision the commission announced that a variation of ten feet in lines would be held to be equidistant.

Illustrating application of the new regulation, a person desiring to drill a wildcat well, or a well that is not offset to any other production, must file an application to drill and await a hearing on the application and the granting of a permit before he can start operations.

Varnell Resigns to Take Arlington Post

Resignation of E. H. Varnell, for eight years vocational instructor in the Cisco high school and agricultural director of the chamber of commerce, and employment of J. M. Bird, of Dublin, as his successor, was announced officially Wednesday.

Mr. Varnell will go to Arlington, Texas, as district supervisor of vocational instruction and a member of the faculty of the North Texas Junior Agricultural college. His resignation from the Cisco post becomes effective today. Already he has obtained a residence at Arlington and plans to move his family to their new home during the latter part of the week. Mr. Bird will move his family into the Varnell home here.

Mr. Varnell's removal from Cisco has been received with distinct regret by the citizenship with whom he had become almost a civic figure during the eight years of his work here. He had been considering the position to which he now goes for several weeks before definite acceptance of it was made last week.

Successor Well Qualified.
Mr. Bird comes to Cisco well qualified to fill the place vacated by Mr. Varnell. He is a graduate of A. and M. college, as is Mr. Varnell, where he majored in animal husbandry and received his degree in vocational education, and has done post-graduate work at Iowa State. He has done half the necessary work toward a master's degree. During his last year at A. and M. he was chosen one of three members of the International Livestock judging team, a rare honor.

Last year at Dublin his judging teams won first in plant production, second in dairy judging and fifth in livestock judging at the state meet, placing higher than all other teams and winning the sweepstakes.

The school board in electing Mr. Bird said that it was confident it had chosen a worthy successor to Mr. Varnell, who has set a standard here admittedly hard to meet. He is recognized as one of the best vocational instructors in this section. Mr. Bird's selection, however, is yet to be confirmed by the chamber of commerce which pays a portion of the salary paid in the position. Came Here in 1927.

Mr. Varnell came to Cisco February 1, 1927, from Titus county where he held a position as a circuit vocational instructor. He is a graduate of A. and M. college, of the class of 1921, and lacks only six weeks work of his master's degree.

During the eight years that he spent in Cisco he developed the vocational department of the high school and the agricultural department of the chamber of commerce from nothing to agencies of wide and fundamental influence.

Among his important activities have been: Promotion of a soil conservation program through which thousands of acres of farm land have been terraced and farmers led to think in terms of conserving soil and water; work in marking the most important of the various activities carried out.

Plant propagation work, including introduction of new and improved varieties of seed; top-working and budding and grafting of native pecan trees, in the course of which between 50 and 100 boys and farmers have been trained to do this work and a general improvement in crop varieties.

Encampment.
Organization of the annual F. F. A. district encampment five years ago. The encampment this summer drew 300 from points as distant as 265 miles.

Organization of the Cisco community canner under chamber of commerce auspices two years ago.

Organization of the county dairy show five years ago, later developed into the Eastland County Livestock show.

Conduct of two evening schools annually of various rural communities about Cisco.

Holding an average of 35 night meetings a year with farmers and older boys in rural communities.

Organization of excursions to Spur Agricultural Experiment station at Spur, Texas, annually the past two years.

Sending judging teams of vocational boys to state and district judging contests at A. and M. college and elsewhere each year, during course of which his teams have won a number of state first places, including a state dairy contest which sent the team to the national contest at Memphis, Tenn.

Cooperation with county agents in the conduct of community fairs and in sending exhibits to the state fair at Dallas and the Fat Stock show at Fort Worth. The county has been in the top seven counties at the state fair for the past five years winning first place once and second place once.

Sister of Mrs. Dean Dies at Ft. Worth
Miss Amy Maud Atwood, sister of Mrs. T. J. Dean of Cisco, died Sunday morning in a Fort Worth hospital. Miss Atwood became seriously ill August 25, although she had not been in good health previous to that time.

Miss Atwood was a teacher in the Ft. Worth public schools for twenty years. She was in charge of primary work at the E. M. Daggett school. She was born in Arkadelphia, Ark. After her graduation from Nash College at Sherman, she taught school at Graham and at Big Spring. Survivors include her two sisters, Mrs. T. J. Dean of this city, and Miss Ethel Atwood of Fort Worth; a niece, Mrs. E. E. Lennon and a grandniece, Miss Betty Dean Lennon, also of Cisco. Funeral was held Tuesday at Big Spring.

HAD BUSY WEEK
HERRILL, Wis., Sept. 7.—Fromm Brothers, Inc., fox breeders famous for their million dollar shipments of pelts from here to New York, fought forest fires away from their preserves, added 329 acres to their present range covering two full sections, and announced a 13 1-2 per cent increase in wages for 10 employees all in the same week.

EVEN SHORTER HOURS WILL BE LABOR DEMAND

AKRON, O., Sept. 7.—Organized labor will demand still shorter working hours than provided in NRA industrial codes, William Green president of the American Federation of Labor, declared Monday in a Labor Day address here.

"We firmly believe that the hours of labor set in the industrial codes thus far provided for major industries have not reduced working time sufficiently so they would absorb their share of the unemployed," Green said.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 7—Workers were urged in a Labor Day address by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, Monday to organize to prevent breaking down of maximum hours and minimum wage code provisions after the recovery act expires.

"Wage workers," he said, "must bear in mind that to continue improved conditions of employment secured through the NRA beyond the terms of the act will depend upon their power through organization to prevent representatives of great industries resuming unfair practices of competition and the imposition of conditions of labor which produce unemployment and thereby buying power."

REGULATION OF TRUCKS MAY BE SESSION ISSUE

AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—Reports lacking official confirmation have promised one of the chief legislative battles of the session starting next week will be over more stringent regulations of trucks on the highways.

Extent of the possible legislation ranges from total repeal of the authority to operate revenue trucks on public-owned highways, to safeguards of the life of people by reducing the width of the trucks permitted on the roads.

The annual toll of lives is running again into high figures for people crushed to death on highways by trucks, and in wrecks in which trucks figure.

Capitol comment deals with the campaign declaration of Gov. Ferguson in both her first and her second election will be revived in a message to the legislature. Those campaign planks were scorching denunciations of the use of highways, paid for by the public, as private revenue sources. Indirectly, other arguments insist the present lengthy restrictions and regulations against the common carrier and revenue trucks, may be modified in some respects, while perhaps putting in some safeguards for other drivers who venture upon the state highways.

Have Many Friends
The truck lines, and the motor industry generally, has many friends in the legislature; and regulations and restrictions, even to the present basis where as high as 200 people have been killed by trucks in a single season, have been extremely hard-fought.

Immense business interests are involved. Though truck lines operate over highways paid for and belonging to the public, and in which they can acquire no such vested rights as ownership of, say, a railroad line, the state permits for operation of trucks are property, subject to being bought and sold, and often represent large sums of money. The state can regulate the method of operating trucks, but it has been pointed out that after the creation of monetary value in the truck line permits, it cannot destroy that value, or "take property without due process of law," or paying for it.

If truck regulations is submitted to the legislature, it is sure that those for it, and those against it, will spring into their customary pitched battle during this session.

Bids Called Upon Highway Projects

AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—Bids for the construction of $1,000,000 worth of highway projects in Texas under the national recovery plan were called for September 18 Tuesday by the state highway commission.

Fifteen of the 17 projects called for grading and drainage structures over approximately 140 miles of state highways.

MOM'N POP.

"GOLD DIGGERS" BETTER THAN "42ND STREET"

"Gold Diggers of 1933." Warner Bros.' all-star, dramatic musical spectacle, said to be even greater than "42nd Street" as the most lavish entertainment of the decade.

opens next Tuesday at the Palace theatre for four days run.

A fitting sequel to the sensationally popular picture "42nd Street" which started new styles in screen fare, "Gold Diggers of 1933" according to Hollywood information exceeds its great predecessor in beauty in catchy tunes and "whistling" music, in comedy and in its story values. Its list of stars is even more imposing; the chorus ensembles, directed by Busby Berkeley, are more spectacular; its songs by Harry Warren and Al Dubin, will appeal to even wider audiences.

The names of Warren William, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler (Mrs. Al Jolson, who sprang to screen fame over night in "42nd Street," Dick Powell, Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee, Ginger Rogers and Ned Sparks head the superlative cast ensembled by Warner Bros. for "Gold Diggers of 1933." Mervyn LeRoy who directed "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang" and "Elmer the Great," directed from the Avery Hopwood story adapted by Erwin Gelsey and James Seymour.

"Back of Back-Stage" is a "back of the back-stage" story, a dramatic and amusing insight into the lives and loves of the people primarily responsible for the staging of a great New York show. It is an intensely human story climaxed by a triumphant and spectacular "show" in which Busby Berkeley's choruses of 200 picked beauties are lavishly displayed in dance ensembles unequalled in the history of stage or screen.

It is, furthermore, the story of three gold digging show girls into whose capable hands the problem of finding an "angel" for the show that will give them employment and opportunity, is entrusted. The tricks and trades behind many a Broadway success, are disclosed in a whirlwind of exciting incident and amusing situations. The song writing scion of a proud family eventually involves both his severely proper older brother and the family lawyer in the intricacies of showmanship. All in all, it is a dramatically sound comedy drama enhanced by the generous production values of the "big show."

The chorus featured throughout is a collection of beauty gathered from the whole nation and trained under the guiding genius of the man responsible for the chorus ensembles already famous in "The Kid from Spain" and "42nd Street" as well as in numerous New York stage revues in recent years. The numbers originated for "Gold Diggers of 1933" mark the high spot in Hollywood's donations to the world's entertainment. Nothing like them in beauty, spectacle and daring has been seen before.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 7.—When Neils Hansen, who lived a hermit life aboard a houseboat here for years, died there were few persons who took an interest, but when it became known that, though bereft of pennies, he had left an estate of $11,033, eighteen persons advanced claims. No relatives have been located, and Hansen did not leave a will. The administrator, Sidney C. Johnson, disallowed all claims, but three have been appealed to the probate court. The claims total $18,000.

to Albus, Okla., in regard to plans for establishing a broom factory at the local school in which young men could work their way through the college. This project for which plans were practically complete, was expected to be carried out in spite of Dr. Tyndall's death if Mr. Tompkins is not too seriously injured to continue it.

Ambitious Plans
The educator's death cut short plans for the development of the school of a much more ambitious character. They included establishment of a pant factory on the campus under contracts with a large company in the east to supply materials and take all products, in which at least 200 students could work their way through the college. Plans for this, together with plans for various other enterprises, were undertaken in a private capacity by Dr. Tyndall and the school would make no announcement regarding them today.

It was emphasized, however, that school would open next Monday as planned and that there will be no changes in the plans for the session.

Dr. Tyndall became associated with Randolph college as dean of the Bible department, two and a half years ago. He was elected president, last spring and immediately plunged into an ambitious program which was aimed at making the school a four-year senior college within a few years. Little was said of the program he had in mind until it was outlined to a mass meeting of the citizens at the city hall during the summer. He was looking forward to the opening of the 1933-34 term with prospects of a great increase in membership, and only a few weeks before his death he and Mrs. Tyndall had returned from an extended tour of middle western states from which numbers of students had been promised the school this year.

Dr. Tyndall's interests were not confined to Randolph college. On the contrary the college was an intrusion into his life work, but an intrusion which he welcomed because of the great interest that he had quickly developed from his first associations with it during short Bible institutes which he conducted here beginning in 1928 and continuing until he definitely joined the faculty. At the time of his death he and Mrs. Tyndall were engaged in moving their home to the residence of the president on College Hill.

Known as one of the outstanding Bible authorities in the country, Dr. Tyndall was editor and publisher of a nationally circulated Bible magazine, "The Bible Expositor" which he edited here and published at St.

Louis, Michigan. He also owned and conducted the largest Bible correspondence school in the United States "The Metropolitan Bible Correspondence School." The headquarters of this as well as of the publishing company he was understood to be planning to move here.
