CLOUDS FAIL TO COOL OFF TEXAS TODAY

The forecast of partly cloudy weather in all sections of Texas Thursday did not promise relief from the heat.

In most areas the temperature was expected to go higher than Wednesday weather reports indicated. Although Wednesday's mercury readings in Dallas were 90, it was expected to approach the 98 mark today, Dr. J. L. Cline said.

Scattered showers over the state Wednesday were light, amounting in several localities to only traces of rain.

A cool wave was expected to reach the panhandle Friday, the high pressure area coming down from Canada. The mercury stood at 34 degrees at Alberta, Canada, this morning.

H. L. Jackson Back At Home Following Ice Saw Accident

H. L. Jackson, who recently suffered a severe hand injury at the West Texas Utilities company ice plant, has been released from the Graham sanitarium and is now resting comfortably at his home on West Fifth street and H avenue, it was announced today.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson today expressed themselves as happy that he had recovered sufficiently to return home and hoped that his condition would continue to improve. They said that friends and employees of the company and the hospital had shown them every kindness possible during his period in the hospital.

Jackson was injured four weeks ago when an ice block jammed in a scoring machine and his hand was badly cut when he tried to extricate it.

4 Persons Killed As Plane Crashes

SHIP BURSTS INTO FLAMES AS IT LANDS

By United Press
GILMER, Aug. 15 — Four persons were killed when a Delta airlines mail and passenger plane crashed and burned in attempting a forced landing in a forced cotton field near here last night.

The dead were:
Andy Dickson, 29, Louisiana, pilot.
Herbert Buckeley, 23, Wichita Falls, co-pilot.
J. W. Thompson, 23, Atlanta, Tex., grocery employe.
J. P. Ivy, 45, Birmingham.

The plane was the Delata's company eight passenger ship obtained new only two months ago.

Guy Weldon, a farmer, said he was awakened by the roar of a plane's motor and got out of bed just as the ship settled down 350 yards from his home and burst into flames.

Other farmers said the pilot had been dropping flares and apparently was forced to land. Examination revealed one of the motors had dropped off and it was believed this forced the pilot to seek a landing. The motor had not been found.

Although the field was removed from any trees, the earth was soft and the plane moved only a few feet after touching the ground.

Texas Company Men To Have Stag Party

The Cisco and Abilene districts of the Texas company sales department will hold an all-day party at the Country club here Saturday, it was announced today by William Reagan, Cisco distributor.

The two zones have been conducting a contest, he said, the loser to entertain the winner at the party. So far the winner has not been announced. H. P. Wiley is zone representative for the Abilene zone and A. B. Hubbard, until his transfer to Lubbock, was head of this zone.

About 40 persons, from the two districts are expected to be present, it was estimated.

Safety Body Has No Horsemen Available

By United Press
DALLAS, Aug. 15 — The New Texas public safety commission, now in charge of the Texas rangers, was without a horseman today.

Called upon by a West Texas county for a ranger who could ride horseback to help combat cattle thieves, the commission chairman, Albert Johnson, was unable to grant the request.

"We have rangers who are as much at home in the saddle as anywhere, but it happened that all were busy," Johnson said.

Cattle rustling is becoming a serious matter with cowmen, he pointed out, saying it is reported that cattle thieves slaughter the animals in the pasture and carry them to market in trucks.

Lobo Band Plays At Cross Plains Picnic

The Lobo band today was representing Cisco at Cross Plains, where the city-third annual Old Settler reunion was being held. The band, which made the trip in a school bus, left at 8:30 this morning. Director R. L. Maddox had charge of the group.

Secretary J. E. Spencer of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce was attending the reunion also. Other Ciscoans were expected to leave later in the day.

SEE CONTROL NEED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 — The bituminous coal industry is in such control as imperatively to demand "federal control" the majority report of the house ways and means committee on the Guffey coal bill said today.

CRICKETS RAZE GRAIN
MOUNTAIN HOME, Ida., — No respect of quality, a swarm of crickets completely destroyed a 30 acre certified grain crop here just when the grain was ripening. The farmer had 120 more acres of grain cleaned off by the hordes, too, but the prize plot was the heaviest loss.

There Ain't No Such Animal, Eh?

The okapi seems to be the answer to the old refrain, "What is so rare as a day in June?" This is the first one to be shown in the London zoo, a gift from the Prince of Wales, to whom it had been sent by King Leopold of Belgium; and only two others are in captivity. Practically a one-animal zoo, the okapi combines features of the graffe, zebra and deer, and is a native of Belgian Congo.

Bookies Operate On Slower Basis Today

DALLAS, Aug. 15. — The horse race bet booking business limped along on one leg in Texas today, keeping an apprehensive eye on Governor Alfred's Texas rangers.

Less concerned by a court injunction obtained by the governor, than by threats of raids by the ax swinging rangers, the bookies generally in cities made arrangements to place bets only for regular customers.

Even those bets were arranged with difficulty because of the court injunction prohibiting the American Telephone and Telegraph and the Southwestern Bell Telephone company from supplying bookie shops with wire facilities.

Rangers reported from both Houston and San Antonio where bookies had flourished that they were closed there. In Dallas and Fort Worth they were operating under cover, although it was not known when the rangers might swoop in.

HICKMAN ARRIVES TO VIEW SITUATION

DALLAS, Aug. 15. — Ranger Capt. Tom Hickman arrived in Dallas this afternoon to look over the horse race booking situation.

The towering ranger veteran conferred with Police Chief Robert Jones, who promised cooperation of his department in furthering the governor's campaign to close bookie shops.

FATHER AND SONS DOCTORS

ESSEX, Mo. — There are five doctors in the Brandon family, Dr. J. M. Brandon, 90, and his four sons. The father has practiced medicine in Stoddard county 65 years.

Prettiest Dionne Quin to Be Chosen

Election time. High time the beauty queen of the Dionne quintuplets is chosen. Want to help? Here's how.

On another page of this paper are pictures of each of the tiny beauties. Make your own choice. Pick out the prettiest baby. They're all pretty, but surely you have a favorite among the famous children whose pictures the Daily News has been publishing from time to time.

Then get the ballot and mark an X in the square representing the baby you choose. Mail the ballot to the Daily News not later than Saturday night. The name and picture of the favorite will be printed Monday.

CITY SEEKING ESTIMATE ON TWO BASINS

The city today was working toward an estimate on the cost of settling basins for Lake Cisco, with the view of filing a WPA project for them, it was announced by City Attorney R. E. Grantham.

The announcement came after a group of Ciscoans attended a West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting at Abilene yesterday and heard a general discussion of requirements for the projects.

Grantham said he did not know yet whether the city will be able to obtain the project. The basins must cost less than $25,000 in order to come under the WPA project classification. He was trying today to get in touch with the city's engineer.

The city had some estimates, Grantham said, on a filtration plant for the lake, but now is seeking to eliminate the filter and construct only the settling basins.

It was brought out at yesterday's meeting in Abilene that projects begun under the old setup will require a new application by their sponsors before work upon them will be resumed.

There was no discussion of individual projects at the meeting, which was held to give the various cities and their chambers of commerce an insight into the work and plans of the Works Progress Administration.

Those who attended yesterday's meeting were Mayor J. T. Berry, Secretary J. E. Spencer of the Chamber of Commerce, the city attorney, and Superintendent R. N. Cluck.

Three Arrested In Poker Game Slaying

DALLAS, Aug. 15. — The arrest of Buck and Richard Terry, Fort Worth brothers who, with a third man, were brought to Dallas from Oklahoma today, apparently saw the "poker game" slaying last Sunday of Robert Williams, 40, of Lewisville, Sheriff R. A. Schmid said.

The brothers were arrested at the home of relatives near Randlett, Okla., and the third man was taken to Norman.

Oklahoma officers made the arrest on information furnished by Schmid. Charges of murder were filed against the Terrys but no charges were to be filed against the third suspect until he is identified.

Williams was shot and killed when he refused to obey orders of a man who held up a group of poker players. Two members of the robber game had taken part in the game, it was said.

Fall Fighting For Family Ranch Home

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)
THREE RIVERS, N. M., Aug. 15. — Broken but defiant, Albert Falla, former secretary of interior, announced from his sick bed today that he will fight eviction from his ranch home here "to the last count."

Mrs. Fall was to confer in El Paso with an attorney today on what legal steps shall be taken to keep the rambling adobe structure which has been the Fall family home for 35 years. A letter asking Fall and his family to leave the ranch today came a week ago from the Petroleum securities company, which had acquired the ranch several years ago on a mortgage foreclosure.

Crimeless Period Ends in a Big Way

AMARILLO, Aug. 15. — Seven burglaries and thefts here within the last few days ended the longest crimeless period on record.

For a period of five weeks there was not a single felony offense. During the period the county's crime cost had sunk to an all-time low mark.

Hot Wind Damages East Texas Crops

MALAKOFF, Aug. 15. — Hot winds and high temperatures in this area have damaged cotton, sweet potatoes and other crops severely, farmers say.

Many farmers have used poison on their cotton as a means of combatting the leaf worm which has destroyed some of the crop.

E. M. Forehand produced Henderson county's first bale of cotton this year. It came in eight days later than the first bale last year.

HOUSE LOBBY WINNER IN GAME OF HOPSON, HOPSON, WHO'S GOT HOPSON

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. — The house today apparently won the congressional game of "Hopson, Hopson, Who's Got Hopson?"

Black indicated he would wait until the rival house lobby committee was through with Hopson. Then, Black said, the utilities man would be sought in "the orderly way."

His action seemed the only way out of a confusing jurisdictional problem for which there were no precedents.

Named to Head Army Air Corps

A short, stocky airman, with a high aviation rating, General Oscar Westover, above, is the new chief of the army air corps. Assistant chief since 1931, Westover succeeds Major-General Benjamin D. Foulois, who stepped down after being cleared of charges involving army air contracts. Westover's four-year term ends in December.

BRITISH PLAN FOR PEACE IN ITALY GIVEN

PARIS, Aug. 15. — A British proposal to preserve peace in East Africa was presented to Italy today and a reply from Benito Mussolini was expected tomorrow.

Anthony Eden, chief British delegate in the three-power conference to start formally tomorrow, outlined his country's plan to Premier Pierre Laval.

Laval submitted it today to the Italian delegate, who was to report it at once to Mussolini.

Alternative proposals have been discussed in event that, as expected, the plan proves unsatisfactory to Mussolini.

The plan was said to be in documentary form and was reported authoritatively to include:

- 1 — Important economic concessions for Italy in Ethiopia.
- 2 — A proposal that Italy be given the right to colonize and exploit rich, sparsely-inhabited portions of the Ethiopian upland.
- 3 — The offer of an outlet direct to the sea for Ethiopia as a measure of compensation for its concession.

Move To Tax Small Incomes Defeated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. — Senator LaFollette pounded his senate desk in a vain plea to increase taxes on smaller incomes today when the senate defeated his proposal for raised surtax rates to yield $175,000,000 revenue.

HOUSE LOBBY WINNER IN GAME OF HOPSON, HOPSON, WHO'S GOT HOPSON

FIRST RALLIES ANNOUNCED FOR THIS WEEKEND; DRIVES FOR WETS ARE NOT STARTED

New Deal Boosts Land Reclamation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. — The New Deal advanced its $100,000,000 program to rehabilitate 50,000 acres of arid land today when President Roosevelt set aside $3,640,000 for reclamation projects in seven western states.

SCHOOL BUSES BIDS ASKED BY CISCO BOARD

The Cisco school board, in a meeting this morning, instructed the secretary to ask for bids on school buses by motor companies in this county.

The announcement of the action came after the board had ironed out difficulties in a situation that had threatened temporarily to disrupt a plan for bringing high school students from eight outlying districts to Cisco during the 1935-36 school year.

At the same time, Superintendent R. N. Cluck announced that the project calling for repairs on the West Ward school building was progressing rapidly and that an approval on it was indicated.

It was said that the approval, which calls for approximately $15,000 in repairs, is one of the most complete and accurate yet to be sent to the WPA headquarters.

The school recently approved a plan to bring boys and girls of high school grades in outlying districts to Cisco high school, purchasing two school buses for the purpose. The buses would pick up students from Reich, Friendship, Bluff Branch, and Cottonwood on one route, and Shady Grove, Pleasant Hill, Grapevine, and Central on the other.

Seek Reason For Delay of Projects

AUSTIN, Aug. 15. — Unable to understand why Texas projects are not approved by the president's advisory board, W. M. Massie, chairman of the state planning board, announced today that Cal. Paul Wakefield, planning board representative in Washington, is being asked "why."

"We have a list of these projects in our office and consider them good. We intend to find just what the trouble is and we have wired out Washington representative to contact the members of the advisory board and find out why Texas projects should be held up, he said.

"Our Texas unemployed should not be kept from work any longer than necessary. Texas is a large state and has a great many unemployed citizens and I can see no reason the projects should be held up."

Bride of 5 Weeks Clubbed to Death

LORAIN, Ohio, Aug. 15. — Mrs. Dorothy Mulich, 22, bride of five weeks, was found clubbed to death in the bedroom of her home here today.

Relatives found the body. Police said there was no clue to the identity of the assailant. They were searching for her husband, an unemployed laborer in the hope he could throw light on the mystery. No instrument with which the crime could have been committed was found.

Nude Body Found In Shallow Grave

CHATSWORTH, N. J., Aug. 15. — The nude body of a man the victim of a mutilation operation was found today in a shallow lime-filled grave in a woods near here.

Say Enmity Between Mrs. Johnson, Family

GATESVILLE, Aug. 15. — Testimony today in the trial of Mrs. Ethel Johnson indicated the defendant and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Blankenship, were not on friendly terms the night before the tragedy, Mrs. Johnson is charged with murder in connection with the shooting of Mrs. Blankenship.

With the special amendment election only a little more than a month away, dry forces today announced the beginning of a concerted drive here, with speeches in the cause of prohibition to begin Friday.

So far, three separate dry rallies for Cisco have been announced for the next few days. Wet forces have not yet announced any meeting.

On Friday afternoon the Flying Squadron will be here with a program at the Moberly park at 2 o'clock. Attempting to reach young people, the program will be on the idea "Vote Against Whiskey for Texas Youth."

H. H. Hargrove of Dallas, said to be one of the most dynamic speakers of the state, 13-year-old Joe Simpson of Houston, and T. C. Gardner of Dallas, for many years a leader among young people, will be in the group. The Flying Squadron is touring Texas and speaking in more than 300 cities and towns, it was said. A loudspeaker will be used at the rally.

Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. Rev. G. B. Dosier, who has been holding a meeting here, will speak on behalf of temperance at the Nazarene tabernacle. He announced today that his lecture will be on "The Devil's Prayer."

Rev. Mr. Dosier recently made a study of crime in Chicago and said that he would use some of the examples of noted criminals and show methods of Chicago police at his lecture.

On Monday afternoon at 3:30 J. Bryan Bradbury, Taylor county state representative, and Thomas E. Hayden, Jr., Abilene attorney and chairman of the prohibition forces in the 24th senatorial district, will speak on behalf of prohibition on the streets here, it was announced today.

CONFERENCES OF EDUCATORS ARE SUCCESS

LUBBOCK, Aug. 15. — Department of education officials have termed the statewide series of school officials conferences being held under the direction of State Superintendent L. A. Woods, as highly successful.

The conferences are an experiment in efficiency in acquainting Texas' 35,000 school officers and 60,000 school and academy instructors with new laws, proposed changes in administrative detail, and new regulations.

"The plan replaces our old hit or miss procedure of depending upon letters and random contracts," C. M. Elwell, member of the state department of education staff said.

"In five meetings of this tour," Elwell added, "we have contacted approximately 8,000 people, and indications are we will reach the greater part of those who train the state's more than 1,000,000 school children subjects under discussion this year are, the proposed teacher retirement fund; a "free text book" law, which would enable all students whether in public or private schools to have state textbooks; new high school tuition law; widened attendance schedules and ages, and Texas Centennial music plans.

"This coming year will be the best yet for music in Texas if present public school plans to that end are carried out," Superintendent Woods said here.

The meeting here was the seventh of the series.

WEATHER

West Texas — Partly cloudy to night and Friday, local showers west portion, slightly cooler Panhandle Friday.

East Texas — Partly cloudy to night and Friday.

Farmers' Opportunity to Improve Land

Farmers of this area will have their chance in promoting an enterprise that is designed to aid this territory more than perhaps any other single project when they made a trip to Lindale to ask for a soil erosion camp.

Repeatedly Cisco's request for such a camp has been received with a "No," on the grounds that it is not needed. The farmers hereabouts remember the dust that blew last spring. They know that a part of it came from their own farms. They can see cuts in the land where water has washed away land that once was smooth. They know how badly the area needs to prevent erosion.

Erosion control officials could hardly turn down the request of twenty farmers who had traveled across half this great state to ask them to save their land from the elements. They would think twice before they would send back such a delegation to land that would decrease in value without some sort of erosion control program.

The delegation, to be organized by J. M. Bird, agriculture expert of the Chamber of Commerce, and the Cisco Boosters, would be more than a piece of showmanship or a stunt. It would be a chance to show the officials that the farmers themselves are interested in saving their land rather than the business men interested in an increase in revenues from the camp maintained in this vicinity.

Furthermore, the trip would be an outing, a sort of short vacation, for the men who made it. It would be an opportunity for them to get away from their own work and own problems for a couple of days and return better fitted for work, just as the business man returns refreshed from his vacation. The cost would be nominal, in that the present plan is to take a school bus which would hold twenty men comfortably.

The Chamber of Commerce has shown its interest in the project by asking for a camp in the fact of defeat. The Boosters have shown their interest by helping to organize the trip. It is now up to the farmers, whom the project would effect most vitally, to make the effort that will win approval if anything will.

Texas Cotton Growers Interested

Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly signed an order at Houston which, in effect, will enable ginners to obtain bale tags under the Bankhead act and to move their cotton to buyers. Judge Kennerly held that the temporary injunction granted by Federal Judge Randolph Bryant at Sherman on July 19 restraining government agencies from compelling cotton ginners to comply with the Bankhead act was inoperative. He ruled that the plaintiff who obtained the injunction had failed to place bond of $100,000 fixed by Judge Bryant. This very important order was signed after Judge Kennerly named a committee of attorneys representing two factions of ginners and the government to work out an agreement. In directing the attorneys to find a solution for the problem satisfactory to all concerned, Judge Kennerly said to former

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Somebody cut the Blue Eagle's throat and the poor bird's recovery is uncertain. She was sickly even before it happened.

The story should be called "Little Lessons in Leadership" or "Dirty Work at the Crossroads." You can't quite be sure which should be the title and which the sub-title.

The Senate Finance Committee's resolution continuing the NRA is a fatal dose of chloroform if Congress persists in administering it. How a committee supposedly dominated by the administration came to report it out, 15 to 4, is one of the New Deal's strangest tales.

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, who helps Joe Robinson try to run the Senate for Roosevelt, is the committee's chairman. He worries a lot over the likelihood that Huey Long—an NRA foe—will enter his state next year and block his re-election.

There's great resentment against NRA and much non-compliance in Mississippi. Pat's heart just wasn't in it when it came to a fight for the Eagle.

The boys went to the White House and Mr. Roosevelt fumbled the ball all over the Oval Room. Accounts vary as to what was said, but all agree the president at no time put his foot down and demanded committee support for the administration bill.

After that the ball was Pat's and he acted as if someone had told him to rush it back through the administration's own goal posts.

He appointed a drafting committee to formulate the resolution. The committee consisted of himself and two of NRA's ablest, most implacable foes on the committee—Benjamin Clark of Missouri and Dast Hastings of Delaware.

This sub-committee produced its resolution and several staunch administration members of the full committee got the idea it was just what Dr. Roosevelt wanted.

THE resolution's intrastate commerce clause, as the NRA legal division sees it, would destroy nearly all NRA codes. Its extension for less than a year would sentence NRA to a slow but certain death. Its 30-day period for code revision is another fatal dose.

And NRA will die in any event if Roosevelt isn't empowered to impose codes of wages and hours, as the committee resolution doesn't provide and the administration NRA bill did.

But there's still some chance that NRA can be revived and saved between the Senate floor and the House—if the supreme court doesn't slip in a coup de grace in the meantime.

The only fellow who showed up as a bright boy in the whole performance was Senator Clark—who has had a violent hate on NRA from the beginning and came to the party with the sharpest knife.

CERTAIN Old Guard Republicans on Capitol Hill are secretly spreading the idea that Al Smith might be a good presidential candidate on a 1936 "fusion" ticket. One in Congressman Walter Andrews of New York, who often reflects the views of Congressman Jimmy Wadsworth. Meanwhile, some of Al's closest friends here say they're willing to bet F. D. won't be renominated.

Vacation Thoughts From Washington

Governor Dan Moody representing ginners favoring continuation of Bankhead act rule.

"Try to work out a plan so that the ginners can get their bale tags and stop this trouble about the cotton crop being held up. I don't think injunctions against collectors do any good. Try to get together."

Well, Moody and his fellow attorneys drafted an agreement which contains a four-point pact.

Secretary Henry A. Wallace is not worried over unexpected increase in production. Indeed, he is in a very optimistic mood. He sees no reason why producers should feel any uneasiness over the first estimate of the cotton crop predicted by his department of a total production of 11,798,000, 500-pound bales, or 2,100,000 bales more than last year. He gave positive assurances that "adequate credit facilities would be made available for adequate marketing of the crop." He declared that if world consumption were maintained at present levels, foreign and domestic mills could be expected to require considerably in excess of 11 million bales of American cotton. In addition he said that the stock of cotton held by the government, amounting to approximately 5,000,000 bales would not be available to purchasers except at a price in excess of 13 cents a pound.

Caucus critics of the New Deal policies of the Roosevelt administration appear to be lined up against the Bankhead act as well as all acts involving processing taxes. It was ever thus. "The hit dog always yowls."

Textile kings at home and abroad demand cheap cotton. Exporters of cotton demand cheap cotton. For 75 years cheap cotton was furnished to the foreign textile kings in the days of slavery. On and after the close of the war between the states white and black cheap labor produced cheap cotton for the textile masters of New England and Old England as well as the textile kings of continental Europe.

Now why should the growers furnish the land, the seed, the labor and do all the sweating and gambling to fatten or batten the coffers of those far from the land where the fleecy staple grows? Why not a division of profits?

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER

United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Aug. 15— Terms of 16 of the state's 31 senators will expire before the next regular session of the legislature opens. Six of the 16 already have decided that they will not be candidates for re-election. A difference of six votes would change the result in the senate on most disputes, policies and measures. Two of the retiring members of the senate will run for seats in Congress. They are W. R. Poage, Waco, and John S. Redditt, Lufkin. There is the possibility that Sen. Gordon Burns, Huntsville, may run for congress opposing Congressman Nat. Patton, Crockett. Friends say, however, that Burns will seek re-election to the state senate and may run later for congress, after clinching a full senatorial term.

Senators J. W. E. H. Beck, DeKalb; E. J. Blackert, Victoria; Ernest Fellbaum, San Antonio; and Clint Small, Amarillo, will not be candidates for re-election, it is understood.

Others whose terms expire are Wilbourne B. Collie, Eastland; Tom DeBerry, Bogata; Arthur P. Duggan, Littlefield; John W. Hornsby, Austin; Will M. Martin, Hillsboro; Will D. Pace, Tyler; Ken M. Regan, Pecos; Roy Sanderford, Belton; and Albert Stone, Brenham.

Membership in the senate always calls to mind the story of the senate chaplain who prayed to "make us all truthful and honest," after the senate was convened with a bare handful of members in the chamber.

Senators notoriously are late in reaching the senate. When the secretary knows they are in Austin, he registers them as being present. Five were in the hall when the lieutenant governor rapped to start a session. The secretary scanned the hall, gulped and mumbled a roll call. A quorum was reported "present."

The lieutenant governor requested gallery attendants to stand for the invocation. The first words were a plea for truth.

A fictitious quorum does no harm. If any measure were acted upon under the circumstances, any absent member could vitiate it by a motion to correct the record of proceedings. Without the fiction sessions would be long delayed.

Specifications for bids on highway beautification projects sound like a latin conjugation. Prices are asked on Ulmus Americana, Quercus Virginiana, Vitex Angus-castus, Ichnera japonica and others with names reading like a prescription.

Translated into ordinary language the high sounding terms mean that the state highway department intends to buy a lot of plants to be placed on highway 2 in Hays county, in Travis county on highway 20, and in Williamson county on highway 2. The proposed work will start No. 15, to assure proper planting season.

Jim Holloway, the original "Roosevelt man" in Texas, is in Austin after touring much of the south—still wearing a "Roosevelt" tie clasp.

Long before the professional politicians began climbing on the Roosevelt band-wagon, Holloway was hosting the New York candidate for nomination. One of his effective bits of campaigning was a postcard poll of Texas legislators. It showed so strong a sentiment for Roosevelt that the politicians were soon talking the same way.

The state capital will be nearly ing the most people through newspapers who are able to buy, ready to buy, and looking for merchandise they are in a receptive mood to be sold on.

"Third, the advantage of reaching a concentrated market. By this I mean an investment of the advertising dollar into a market that affords the greatest possible number of sales prospects for the number of messages delivered and read."

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Aug. 15. — President Roosevelt's policy of lending government money to farmers to permit their getting the benefit of using electricity at low cost has now taken on new meaning for Texas farmers.

Only one farm out of 50 in Texas has electricity available, despite the fight of power companies against public development on the ground that they already were performing a full utility duty.

Lower Colorado river authority is starting a $20,000,000 project that will prevent floods, and when built, will be available to furnish cheap power over an area extending beyond San Antonio to the vicinity of Victoria; to Dallas, Fort Worth, Brownwood, San Angelo and Palestine. The Lower Neches, the Sabine-Neches, the Guadalupe, the Upper Colorado and Central Colorado and the Red Bluff projects, and the possibility of Red river and Brazos watershed projects hold potentialities of public power development in many other regions.

Through the rural electrification administration, of which Morris L. Cooke, is administrator, the government has set up plans by which farmers can create public agencies and borrow money for the construction of power lines to their farms from dependable sources of cheap power.

That means a hook-up with each public power development in Texas. It means power will be within the reach of 85 per cent of the farmers, on terms that the federal government deems easy and encouraging. President Roosevelt insists farmers are entitled to the benefits of the greatest boon of modern civilization, yet only 2 per cent of them in Texas have that advantage now.

Four different ways of getting power to the farms have been outlined by the rural electrification administration. They are:

1. Through farm cooperatives, on a profit-sharing basis.
2. Through the state, or a political subdivision, a power district or municipality.
3. Through utility companies without government aid.
4. Through lines built wholly under federal auspices.

Governor Allred's utility regulation bill provided for setting up power districts, which might own central generating plants, or buy from some central source.

The chief way of getting electricity to the farms will be through the farmers' cooperatives, organized according to federal plans and securing federal loans for construction of community lines from public sources of power. Existence of these will cause utility companies to begin counting the wholly undeveloped rural market outlet in Texas.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

EACH DAY OF THE WEEK WAS NAMED FOR THE PLANET WHICH WAS SUPPOSED TO RULE THE FIRST HOUR OF THAT DAY.

SATURN	SAT.
SUN	SUN.
MOON	MON.
MARS	TUE.
MERCURY	WED.
JUPITER	THUR.
VENUS	FRI.

THE ENGLISH CUCKOO IS THE WORLD'S MOST INDEPENDENT PARENT! IT LAYS ITS EGGS IN THE NESTS OF OTHER BIRDS, SHIRKS THE DUTIES OF BROODING, AND MIGRATES TO AFRICA BEFORE THE YOUNG ARE GROWN... LEAVING THEM IN THE CARE OF FOSTER PARENTS.

ABOUT 45 PER CENT OF THE EARTH'S EXISTENCE HAS BEEN WITHOUT EITHER PLANT OR ANIMAL LIFE!

THE ancients arranged the planets thus: Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, the Sun, Venus, Mercury, and the Moon. They assumed that each hour of the day was ruled in turn by one of these planets. Thus, Saturn ruled the first hour of Saturday; also the eighth, fifteenth and twenty-second hours. The twenty-fifth, beginning the next day, fell to the lot of the sun, therefore that day was called Sunday.

Post Office For Eastland Foreseen

Special to Daily News

EASTLAND, Aug. 15 — Eastland's chance for a postoffice brightened Wednesday with receipt of wires from Tom Connally, junior senator at Washington.

John D. McRae and Mayor C. W. Hoffmann received the following wire: "Pleased to advise your city has been designated by joint committee for federal building and site, Tom Connally."

Announcement was made in Washington Tuesday night that the Eastland building and site had been approved in a list of 35 public buildings projects aggregating $59,868,900. According to Washington dispatches, the project will be financed from the $80,000,000 emergency construction fund authorized under the second deficiency act approved Monday by President Roosevelt.

THAT GOOD GULF GASOLINE

Meet Good Gulf!

If you haven't had Gulf gas in your tank lately, try it just 3 weeks and discover what it can do.

Then see if you don't agree with an army of amateur "testers"...

750 said "Put 'er there!"

750 car owners agreed to fill their tanks with Gulf for 3 weeks—to check it against their regular brands for (1) mileage, (2) starting, (3) pick-up, (4) power, (5) all-around performance.

Result: Pals for Life

At the end of 3 weeks, 7 out of 10 owners found Gulf better in one or more of the 5 points—many on all five.

Why? That's easy! Gulf is 5 good gasolines in one. Controlled refining gives it not only 2 or 3, but all five ideal gasoline qualities.

Try That Good Gulf Gasoline—and you'll stick to it for good!

SUN-TAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JO DARIEN breaks her engagement to BRET PAUL, college athletic star, because Bret objects to her taking a job as hostess at Crest Lake Inn, fashionable summer resort owned by wealthy DOUGLAS MARSH.
Jo goes to Crest Lake. Marsh's eccentric mother dislikes her and causes difficulties. These are increased when PETER FRAGONET, film actor, arrives. Fragonet pays Jo marked attention, asks her to marry him as soon as he can secure a divorce.
Bret Paul comes to Crest Lake as the guard BABS MONTGOMERY, school acquaintance who is jealous of Jo, is also there.
Fragonet leaves and returns when his film company order takes to make part of a motion picture at the resort. Jo becomes friendly with LOLA MONTGOMERY, actress.
There is a party for the film company. Next morning Babs tells Jo that she (Babs) is going to marry Douglas Marsh. Soon after Marsh, prompted by his mother, asks Jo to leave Crest Lake. She agrees to go immediately. In the corridor she meets Mrs. Marsh.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXIV

"At least for a time, Tubby," Jo smiled, found it hard to keep the tears back at the thought of leaving such a truly devoted friend. "Unless you want to go to Hollywood with me."
"Holly—you're really going to Hollywood?"
"I think so, Tubby . . ." Jo rose from her chair and walked to the window. "I can't think of any reasons why I shouldn't." She turned to the other girl suddenly. "It'd be grand to have you there with me."
Tubby shook her head. "Not me, Jo."
They were both silent a moment. Then Tubby added slowly, "Be sure to drop me a line once in a while, Jo. And I'll do the same."
Jo managed a laugh. "Don't be so serious about it, Tubby. After all, Hollywood isn't in Russia. You've had such a grand time looking out for me—that's the real reason you don't want to see me go."
"I guess you're right, at that," grinned Tubby. She walked quickly to Jo, kissed her on the cheek. "Well . . . so long, Jo."
"So long, Tubby, and good luck."
With eyes that were filming suspiciously, Jo saw Tubby hurry toward the door, and into the hall. Then the door was closed and Tubby was gone and Jo Darien had never felt quite so alone in all her life. She realized now that she had depended much on Tubby Davis. It had been nice to have Tubby worrying and fretting and helping to fight battles. But now that was all over . . . just when she needed Tubby most of all.
Steeling herself, Jo turned to the window, gazed out across the green lawn.
"I don't need anyone but myself," she whispered slowly. "Not anyone."

wouldn't go with Fragonet. To accompany him to the cinema city would only encourage him further, and Jo was afraid of that somehow.
She had just completed her note to Marsh and sealed it when a knock sounded at her door. Her first thought was that it was Tubby again, with some last bit of advice. Smiling in anticipation of this, Jo swung the door wide.
But instead of the short round figure of Tubby Davis she was confronted with the tall, dark Peter Fragonet. Without waiting for her to speak he walked into the room and closed the door behind him.
"Well?" he said, smiling down at her. "Are you coming with me?"
Peter struck Jo, and she blurted out, "No . . . I'm—I'm returning to town with Tubby."
FRAGONET raised his eyebrows. "That's odd. I'm sure I saw her leaving the Inn to catch the 1:30 train." He took Jo's hands quickly. "Look here, Jo, why should you be afraid of a man who's so much in love with you that he'd jump at your least word?"
"You—you took me so completely by surprise," she faltered, trying to meet his eyes.
"I meant to," Fragonet laughed easily. "I knew all along that you were afraid—more of yourself than of me, I think."
"But I need time to think, Peter. After all, the plane doesn't leave until tonight."
Fragonet shook his head. "No . . . the plane we're going to take leaves from the Crestmont airport in half an hour. I wired the studio last night to send up a special plane. You see, I—"
He stopped suddenly, and Jo saw that he had discovered the envelope addressed to him. He took it up in his slender fingers. "Of course you don't mind my reading this, since it's addressed to me?"
Before Jo could protest he had slit the envelope and was extracting the note. He read it quickly, his face brightening.
"Then you were planning to go to Hollywood all the time!" he exclaimed. Dropping the letter to the floor, he took Jo's shoulders in his strong brown hands. "What difference whether you go alone, or with me, Jo? Why shouldn't we return there together?" His voice dropped to almost a whisper. "There isn't a chance for you to escape me, Jo. I want you more than anything in this world, and I want all Hollywood to know that you're going to be Mrs. Peter Fragonet."
He shook her gently and rushed on. "If it's the actor you're afraid of, then I'll stop acting. I mean it, Jo. You're more to me than all the picture laurels I could pick up in a lifetime."
"But, I—I don't love you, Peter."
Fragonet tossed his head impatiently. "Don't talk of love now. Listen, I know what you've been through here. If you can't call me anything more, then call me your friend." He stood back, glanced quickly at his strap-watch. "Hurry, Jo! We've just 25 minutes to get to the airport. The car's outside." He strode to the bed. "Are these your bags?"
Dazedly Jo watched him take up her luggage.
"Yes," she said slowly.
(To Be Continued)

IGNORING Jo's frantic accusation, Mrs. Marsh's sharp gaze took in Jo's bathing suit, the daring white one she had bought so breathlessly at Lytzen's.
"I'm sure," said the old lady acidly, "that I can't be deceived by my own eyes. Even the clothes you wear—"
"Stop it!" Jo cried, her nerves cracking. "I won't stand your insults, not even for this last day here. I won't! I won't!"
She might have forgotten herself even more completely had not Tubby appeared and grasped her elbow hard, opened the door and steered Jo forcibly inside.
But just before she closed it, Jo's "buxom friend" turned again to Mrs. Marsh. "Haven't you done enough?" she asked angrily, then gave the door a short, hard slam to cut off whatever answer Mrs. Marsh may have had.
But Tubby was almost as exasperated with Jo Darien as with Mrs. Marsh.
"Can't I let you out of my sight a minute without your getting into trouble?" She heaved a deep sigh. "I honestly believe you were fitting yourself out for murder just as I arrived."
"It wasn't that bad . . . but she did drive me to the point where I didn't know what I was saying—or care." Jo looked up at her friend. "It's all over, Tubby. I'm leaving Crest Lake."
"But I thought you'd decided to stay?"
"I had. But this new decision wasn't mine," Jo told her.
"You mean Marsh has freed you?" asked Tubby unbelievably.
Jo nodded. "Very gently. But nevertheless that's what he did."
"Why—why—" Tubby couldn't find expression for a moment. "I'll bet a doughnut I know who's behind this."
"That doesn't make much difference, does it?"
The other was silent. "Well," she said finally, "let's pack our duds and get out of here then. You needn't think I'm going to stay any longer if you don't."
Jo looked at Tubby. "Remember that I told you I didn't think I'd return to the university?"
"Yes . . ."
"Well, I don't think I even want to return to the same town, Tubby. Can you understand that, too?"
Tubby nodded. "I—I guess so. You mean this is where we split up?"

Jelly of the Week

—BY ALICE BLAKE

Rose Geranium Jelly
1 1/2 cups geranium tea
3/4 cups (1 lb. 7 oz.) granulated sugar
1/2 cup bottled fruit pectin
Pink coloring

To prepare geranium tea steep about 1/2 doz. clean geranium leaves in 1 1/2 cups freshly boiled water; strain. Add juice of 1 lemon if tartness is desired. Tint a delicate pink with small amount of coloring, using a coloring that fruit acids will not fade. Measure sugar and prepared tea into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Seal at once with hot paraffin. Makes about 5 six-ounce jars.

BRITAIN SEALS SPIES' PAPERS ON NAPOLEON

LONDON, Aug. 15 — Secrets of Great Britain's espionage network in the days of the Napoleonic Wars are believed to have narrowly escaped being revealed for the first time in Sotheby's sale rooms in London.

Their probable publication was prevented when the Foreign Office unexpectedly gave warning that the document in which the secrets are believed to be contained would be liable to confiscation under the Official Secrets Act. As a result, there is considerable likelihood that they may be taken to the United States for sale.

Included in Peer's Papers The documents are a part of the papers of Lord Stuart de Rothesay, British Ambassador in Paris early in the 19th Century, and belong to the Earl of Abingdon, who was offering the entire lot for auction. They include a series of 52 letters from the Duke of Wellington to Stuart de Rothesay between 1814 and 1830, chiefly dealing with France after the fall of Napoleon; correspondence of great importance between Stuart and Admiral Lord Berkeley, chief commander on the Portuguese coast from 1810 to 1812; "official letters and dispatches from Portugal, 1810-13"; and letters from Lord Nelson and the Duke of Wellington.

Foreign Office Intervenes

All these papers were withdrawn from sale as a result of the intervention of the Foreign Office. It is understood that the reason for the intervention was that the Foreign Office is anxious to prevent documents regarded as of state importance from passing from hand to hand, with the risk that all trace may be lost of them.

Lord Abingdon stated that as a result of the unexpected holdup of the sale in London he might be forced to send the documents to the United States for auction.

Some Documents Made Public

In modern times the secret papers of all British envoys abroad pass automatically into the hands of the Foreign Office. After a certain lapse of time they are placed in the Public Record Office, where they are open to students. The public has access to documents from 1895 backward. Some documents of a particularly confidential nature however are not sent to the Record Office or else are kept under seal.

Any references to the British intelligence system, however old they may be, are withheld from students if they give the names of British spies and their organizations abroad. This rule holds good even if everyone mentioned has been dead for a century or more. Among documents sealed in this way are some giving details of the use made of Indians in Canada and the prices paid by the British government in the distant past for enemy scalps.

5 Months Rise In Cattle Price Seen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 — Cattle prices are expected to average much higher the remainder of this year than last, says a report of the bureau of agricultural economics.

The report attributes the increase to the fact that slaughter supplies during the next five months will be somewhat smaller than in the corresponding period of 1934 and because of improved consumer demand.

Higher prices for better grades of slaughter cattle are in prospect from now until late fall or early winter, and prices of the lower grades also may advance, especially if there is a strong demand for cattle for feeding and re-stocking, the report predicts.

On the other hand, the bureau says that prices of the better grades of slaughter cattle during the first half of 1936 may average less than in the corresponding period of this year, due to the probable increase in marketing of grain-fed cattle.

A much stronger consumer demand for veal and beef this year is reported. Indications point to further improvement during the coming months, it was said.

Old Tire Allowance Still Holding Good

In answer to inquiries, Dudley Lee of Lee and company said today that liberal trade-in allowances are still being made for old tires traded in on Star Master Service tires, now available for purchase under the new Star easy payment plan.

The most popular feature of the time payment plan is the fact that no carrying charge is made or no interest added. Payments, as light as the customer likes them, can be spread over a period as long as five months, Lee said.

Star Tires are guaranteed up to 18 months against all road hazards and all defects, as well as premature wear.

Ford 'Guest House' 35 Per Cent Finished

DEARBORN, Michigan. - To accommodate the increasing number of tourists who, the year around, travel to Dearborn to see Ford basic operations at the huge Rouge Plant, Henry Ford is re-erecting there what was the huge, gear-shaped rotunda of Ford Exposition at the Chicago World's Fair. It will form, when finished, the visitors' entrance to the plant, which, in itself, is a veritable permanent world's fair, and the greatest single industry in the world. Construction of this permanent building in a 13 1/2-acre park opposite the Ford Administration building here is 35 per cent finished. It is planned to dedicate the completed structure to the public about Thanksgiving. The steel framework, weighing 1,000 tons, is in place and work is well along on laying the 140,000 square feet of Indiana limestone which form the walls.
In the foreground are shown some of the busses which carry thousands of visitors monthly on tours through the Rouge Plant.

MALARIA Speedy Relief of Chills and Fever

Don't let Malaria tear you apart with its racking chills and burning fever. Trust to no home-made or mere makeshift remedies. Take the medicine prepared especially for Malaria - Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.
Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic gives real relief from Malaria because it's a scientific combination of tasteless quinine and tonic iron. The quinine kills the Malarial infection in the blood. The iron builds up the system and helps fortify against further attack. At the first sign of any attack of Malaria take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Better still take it regularly during the Malaria season to ward off the disease. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is absolutely harmless and tastes good.
Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic now comes in two sizes, 50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2 1/2 times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money. Get bottle today at any drug store.

Ensemble Vogue Spreads to Furs

The fur coats move into the fashion spotlight again, carrying ensemble suggestions with them. Among up-to-the-minute styled coats, these attract wide popularity. Cut on swagger lines, the nutria coat at left is of fingertip length, unbeloned and lined with soft, spongy woolen material matching the biege frock. At right the colorful woolen scarf made of the novelty plaid that lines the mink paws coat provides another attractive ensemble idea.

Prison System Head Favors Probation

HOUSTON, Aug. 15. — Lee Simmons manager of the Texas prison system, favors passage of the amendment providing for adult probation, as a great aid in handling crime problems, he informed Judge Langston B. King in a recent letter.

"My experience, both as an officer and as general manager of the prison system," Simmons said, "convince me that there are many men who should be placed on probation by the district judge who tried the case, as the judge can learn practically all the facts from the various officials, the family and acquaintances of the man being tried."

"In my judgment," he said, "it would be better to parole certain prisoners, keeping them under the supervision of the court, the judge having authority to send them to the penitentiary when they fail to comply with the conditions set out by the district judge, keeping in mind, of course, always the interest of the citizenship."

The proposed amendment has been endorsed by the Texas Bar association and of the judicial section of the organization, which is composed of district judges.

UNCROWNED RULER OF HUNGARY

FROM the 800-room palace at Budapest, where once lived proud Hapsburg royalty, Admiral Nicholas Horthy extends his regency over a humbled but hopeful Hungary. The kingdom still exists by law, but no crown rests on the head of its leader. Instead, Admiral Horthy has been endeavoring to unify and reconstruct his country, while his people show a growing sympathy toward the exiled Hapsburgs.

Admiral Horthy, who had distinguished himself by valorous service during the war, became regent in 1920, when the short Bolshevik government of Bela Kun was forced out and Rumania withdrew its forces from Budapest. Under Horthy's leadership, and with the aid of such men as Count Bethlen and those who followed him, Hungary has grown in national prestige.

In 1930, Hungary celebrated the 10th anniversary of Horthy's regency, and at that time issued the commemorative stamp shown here.

SYRIAN CHIEF OF STATE SEES SNUB EFFORT

PARIS, Aug. 15 — The only Chief of State carrying on a lawsuit in France nearly lost his chance of winning because of the diplomatic obstinacy of French customs officials.

To make it worse the Chief of State in question is—or ought to be—a particular friend of France, for he is President Ali bey el Abed of Syria, a French mandate.

The Syrian president bought in France an American automobile and ordered a special body from one of France's most noted builders. When it was delivered, the body showed no signs of being particularly fresh and the president charged that his investigation showed that it not only was not a new specially-built body, according to specifications but was one that had been made two years previously and shown at so many automobile shows that it had become decidedly worse for wear.

The car accordingly was shipped back to France as Exhibit A in a suit brought against the body-builder to recover the purchase price.

It was at this point that the customs stepped in and refused to admit the car unless customs duty of 100,000 francs were paid.

The President of Syria protested that the car was necessary as an exhibit in his lawsuit; that it had come from France in the first place; and that heads of states of foreign countries, like ambassadors, enjoy the right to bring in foreign merchandise for a year, a time limit which is regularly and automatically renewed indefinitely.

The customs service retorted that it was not interested in the reason why Ali bey el Abed wanted to bring the car into France; that whether or not the car went from France to Syria, it was a foreign car and as such of a foreign country because Syria being mandated to France, was part of the French Empire.

After long argument, the customs service finally decided to allow the President of Syria half the privilege of a chief of state, and bring his car in duty-free for six-months — also, presumably, with limitless privileges of renewal, which makes the distinction highly academic.

"I've learned more than I could in four years at college," enthuses Ann B. Sibley (above), who disappeared a month ago from Antioch college at Yellow Springs, O. When found by detectives, the pretty Chicago co-ed was working as a freak show Barker in Coney Island, New York's famous amusement resort. Twelve hours a day, seven days a week, she harangued pleasure seekers for $12 a week.
