At Random

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Placed end to end, the comments of political leaders on the 1935 election returns get nowhere. To an unusual degree, everyone professes to be pleased, no one admits anything. The inescapable conclusion is that both sides have found something to be encouraged about, and something to think about.

Unquestionably the republican legislative gains, particularly in New York and New Jersey, have bucked up the G. O. P. leaders tremendously. Whatever anyone may say about the total popular vote, the fact remains that numerous districts which went democratic last year, went republican this year. On that basis such drift as there was, manifestly was away from the democrats.

On the other hand, the great power developed by the democratic city machines in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania heartens those democratic doubters who had been fearful that Mr. Roosevelt would be able to count on very little next year from the industrial east.

These two aspects of the case generally overshadow the less-spectacular returns from republican Philadelphia, where the voters turned back a determined democratic drive, and democratic Kentucky, where a determined republican drive was similarly defeated.

Psychological Factors

The number of legislative seats picked up by the republicans in New York and New Jersey was not proportionately great, and not even the most enthusiastic republican claimer would refer to the result as anything approaching a landslide.

Politics, however, is not all a matter of figures. There are reasons why the returns from these two states cheer republican hearts to a degree out of all proportion to the gain as recorded in cold mathematics.

First of all, this is the first encouragement the party has had, on so wide a front, since the palmy days of the 1928 republican triumph. A few congressional districts, or an isolated state here and there have been won back, but all of these victories were within more or less restricted limits.

Even more encouraging to the G. O. P. is the fact that any gain at all was registered over this wide territory. The national election is a year away. If voters are drifting away from the democrats, say the republican calculators, a great many more can follow within the next 12 months. In short, the Republicans now find courage to hope that the tide has turned definitely. That is why they make so much of their 1935 victories.

The Democratic Picture

Looking now at the other side of the picture, democratic observers see in the election returns only one real surprise, and that surprise was favorable to the democrats.

It arose from the abnormally large majorities rolled up by democratic city machines, particularly in New York city, northern New Jersey and at some points in Pennsylvania. There were exceptions, notably in Ohio, but it is the big eastern centers of population which have worried the democrats most.

Tammany, after several rocky years, came back with a vengeance. The only two congressional elections were in New York city, and they resulted in democratic majorities far greater than those of a year ago. The Hague organization in north Jersey appears to have astonished even its own leaders by its overwhelming strength.

Taking the figures year by year, it is well established that the willingness and ability of such organizations to deliver usually has controlled the electoral votes of the states in which they are located.

Of course the conduct of these big urban machines in national politics usually is unpredictable, but their importance is unquestioned. If they can be kept solidly in line for Mr. Roosevelt in 1936, that will be big news indeed for the democrats.

Dixie Howell and Alabama Pal to Play for U. of Mexico

By CLARK LEE

MEXICO, D. F., Nov. 29. (AP)—Dixie Howell and Charley Marr, two of the greatest stars in Alabama's football history, are going to appear once more as college gridiron players — for the University of Mexico.

Now coaching here, with Dixie cast in the head-man role and Marr as his assistant, they will serve both as coaches and players when Mexico closes its season at San Antonio, December 8, against St. Mary's College of Texas.

St. Mary's asked them to take part in the game, Howell at his old backfield station and Marr in the line, at guard or tackle.

They'll Be Needed

Considering the season's record so far, the help of the two coaches will be needed, for Howell is finding the road to coaching success much more difficult than the touchdown trail he followed to Rose Bowl fame last New Year's Day.

The former Alabama backfield ace who is rated by the Tide's Coach Frank Thomas as one of the greatest of all time, if not the best, has yet to come close to accomplishing his principal objective — winning a game from an American team.

Dixie's charges made a fair showing against Occidental of Los Angeles in their opening game, which they lost by 26-7, but slumped badly against Lamar College of Beaumont, Tex., which handed them a 32-0 setback in a game here.

Dixie's Team 'Is Best'

Louisiana College, which holds an unbroken string of victories over the Mexican boys, took its sixth in a row recently by the count of 27-7, but had a lot harder first than the score shows. Coach Red Waldron of the Louisiana eleven said the team produced by Dixie was the smoothest and best he had seen in Mexico since football was introduced here as a major sport in 1929.

With Marr's help, Howell has worked hard to get together a first class eleven and has succeeded in cleaning up all his games against local teams, but the international jinx which the university has been unable to shake continues to hang over the Mexicans' heads.

Mystery To Dixie

Marr, who does the line coaching and incidentally most of the talking for Dixie, is at a loss to explain the failure of the team to play up to what he considers its potentialities.

"The boys have plenty of spirit," Marr says, "and they seem ready to go places, but somehow they don't click at the right time. Of course the squad is smaller and much lighter than the average first-class American high school team, and this is an important factor."

"In addition, the Mexican players show in a game the lack of years of training which nearly every American boy has. They make too many mistakes which are little ones in themselves but prove the deciding factor in winning games. However, we are still hoping to lick an American team and believe we have a good chance to do it."

They Take Up Golf

Five other American coaches, including Reggie Root, now freshman mentor at Yale, have handled the University of Mexico in the past.

In their spare time, all of the former American football stars have taken up golf, which is played the year round in Mexico, and one of them, Bill Joss of Yale, won the national championship several years ago.

Howell is the latest convert to the game, and although he can drive consistently over 250 yards and fairly straight, he is still a better halfback and forward passer than a golfer.

Colds Cause Half of All Diseases Gas Company Says

A caution against huddling in one room with windows closed during the winter has been issued by the Community Natural Gas company, which is continuing its series of educational messages on prevention of colds by proper heating and ventilation.

The company started the winter heating season with a program of information designed to assist more comfortable and more healthful. According to investigations by the company, many colds and other respiratory diseases prevalent in this section in the winter time are due to improper house heating. After exhaustive study and advice from the medical profession, the gas company advises its customers that an even temperature throughout all rooms of the house with a certain amount of moving fresh air is one of the best preventatives of colds to be found.

"Many families huddle in one or two rooms during cold days room into a cold hall or unheated adjoining room they have subjected themselves to a condition that makes them highly susceptible to communicable winter diseases.

The common cold germ is called America's Public Health Enemy Number One, because, according to medical authority 50 per cent of all diseases are traceable to the cold germ. In order to reduce this menace, the gas company advises an even temperature throughout the home with warm air in every room.

Commercial Failures Decline in Numbers

AUSTIN, Nov. 29.—Commercial failures declined in numbers in Texas during October as compared with October last year, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research.

Total liabilities of the bankrupt firms showed only a moderate decline. There were eleven failures, declines of 15.4 and 42 per cent respectively from the preceding month and the corresponding month last year. Total liabilities of $160,000 was 3.2 per cent above the preceding month but 2.4 per cent under October last year.

been steadfast. No one questions the sincerity nor the ability of the senior senator from Texas. Texas has a pride in his work and a confidence in him that stands as a comforting assurance that courage and honesty in public life is certain of reward.

A Practical Move

THE problem of the collection of delinquent taxes is a serious one in any field of tax-supported government. Uncollectable accounts simply increase the burden to be borne by collectible accounts.

THE Cisco public schools, faced with the necessity of collecting all its revenues to carry on a system in keeping with the demands of the patrons and the times, has adopted a promising plan.

THE Cisco school system now has outstanding approximately $60,000 in delinquent taxes. If a third of this amount can be collected the services of Mr. Ragan will have been of great value to the system.

HIGH COURAGE by Jeanne Bowman

SYNOPSIS: With dramatic suddenness Ansel Kellogg, Anne Farnsworth's oldest and best friend, bursts into the midst of her trial for the murder of her foster uncle, Lee Farnsworth, and takes complete charge of her defense.

Chapter 40 BOMBSHELL "When did you last see this revolver?" Kellogg went on. "The day after Miss Anne left, sir," said Jones. "We were that worried over her going away by herself, that we got to thinking would she do away with herself, having been treated so bad. I went upstairs and looked for the revolver, the only firearm in the house. It was still there."

beach and let her make her way back into town from there. "Your honor, and gentlemen of the jury," said Ansel Kellogg at the conclusion of John's testimony, "I have attempted to prove through these witnesses that the gun which fired the shot that killed Lee Farnsworth was never in the possession of the defendant."

"Your name," snapped Kellogg. "J-J-ake, J-Jake Sampson," answered the man, his gaze seeking the ceiling as if there was someone in the courtroom he did not wish to see. "Your occupation?" "Gunsmith."

Kellogg, "unless the district attorney wants you."

Anne glanced at the district attorney. He wore a baffled look, and shook his head, at which sign Sampson scurried from the room. "I will now call Charlie White Deer." The squat figure of a chinook was brought in. The man, visibly frightened, shrank from the quick gaze of eyes from every part of the courtroom.

The trial reaches a dramatic climax, tomorrow. A single row of corn 20 miles long is on Grady Orr's farm near Danville, Ala., and he cultivates his farm by proceeding spiral fashion until, three days later, his one-row farm is plowed.

American dance records are losing their popularity in Germany to records of the classics. Germans are buying more folk song records, too.

10 Horned Frogs Play Last Upon Home Field Sat.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29.—Ten members of the 1935 Horned Frogs football squad will don their uniforms for the last time on the home field when T. C. U. plays S. M. U. here Saturday in the No. 1 game of the nation.

Six of the 10 are due to be starters against the Mustangs, and one other fourth-year man might get the nod. Manuel "Tinky" Godwin, Hot Springs, Ark., is the one question mark. Suffering an early season injury, he has been forced to stay on the sideline much of the time, and has not been available as a starting lineman.

Other seniors in the forward wall are Capt. Darrell Lester, Jacksboro, all-American center; Tracy Kellow, Lufkin, fiery-topped guard; and Wilson Groseclose, Abilene, 215-pound right tackle who rates as one of the conference's best.

Lester came to T. C. U. as an end, but was moved to the pivot post when Coach Francis Schmidt found himself without a center. Darrell was a natural for the position, made the all-conference as a sophomore, all-American as a junior, and will undoubtedly repeat in both roles this year.

Kellow, although he weighs only 172 pounds, is one of the best defensive men in the conference and is even more outstanding on offense. His interference running is a great factor in the Frogs' power attack.

Groseclose, right tackle, is regarded by the T. C. U. coaches as the equal of any tackle in the conference. He is one of those steady, dependable performers who are often overlooked from the stands. But the coaches and players know him as the best offensive blocker in the circuit and a defensive man who ranks with the best.

Three of the four starting backs will be winding up their home gold career.

Sub-Capt. Jimmie Lawrence, hard-driving right halfback, from Arlington, will cut a big slice out of the Purple eleven as he plays out his eligibility. He has been the heart of the Frogs' power attack and one of Sam Baugh's best targets in the forward passes.

Taldon "Tilly" Manton, full-back, Fort Worth, is the work horse of the Frog squad. He picks up sorely needed short yardage, blocks for the other ball carriers, protects the passer, throws one himself once in a while, and place-kicks on occasion. Coach Dutch Meyer will look for a long time before he finds a better man for Manton's place.

George "Dutch" Kline, of Gregory, left half, is the third senior back. Kline has been troubled with injuries much this season, but he is a shifty, hard driving back, a good blocker and an excellent pass receiver.

Rex Clark, Longview, valuable left half, alternates with Kline and has furnished some fine speed for the Frog attack this season. Melvin Diggs, Weslaco, senior end, was a regular until he broke his ankle last year. Harold Fulenwider, Waldo, Ark., relief half-back, is also a senior.

Frogs Work to Stop Wilson in Saturday Game

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29.—How to stop Bobby Wilson? That is the question facing the Horned Frogs as they go about their practice sessions this week. They have successfully answered the questions of how to stop Jack Robbins of Arkansas; how to stop Homer Pitner of A. & M.; how to stop Lloyd Russell of Baylor; how to stop Hubert Jurecka of Texas; how to stop Bill Wallace of Rice.

The Frogs believe they can stop Bobby Wilson. Or, at least, if they can't stop him, that they can chalk up markers faster than Wilson and Company.

Of course, the Frogs may be wrong. That is the reason why more than 30,000 persons will throng to Fort Worth next Saturday to see the Christians and the Methodists fight it out for the Southwest Conference flag—and maybe a chance at the mythical national title.

The Frogs came out of the Rice game with only a few bruises. Dutch Kline, who started at left half, was taken out of the game early in the first quarter, after he had bruised his hip. But he will be ready to go Saturday.

Capt. Darrell Lester suffered a bad cut over his eye early in the game, but played all but the last few minutes against the Owls. "He played even better after his head had been taped up than he did before," a Houston sports writer observed.

The week's work will be devoted to polishing both defense and offense. Those who have seen the various conference teams in action report that the Mustangs have the best line of any of the seven teams. The defensive record of S. M. U. is outstanding, and the Frogs knew they will have to be at their top form if they score against the Mustangs.

The game will be played on a dry field, in spite of the rain, unless rain is falling at game time. The field is covered with a waterproof canvas which will not be removed until just before the opening whistle.

Mustangs and Frogs Tangle in Grid Classic

Two mighty elevens boasting undefeated, untied season records, and lineups dotted with all-America candidates, will clash when the Mustangs of Southern Methodist meet the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian at Fort Worth, Tex., November 30. Sammy Baugh, star T. C. U. quarterback; Bobby Wilson, sensational S. M. U. back; Darrell Lester, T. C. U. center; and Truman Spain, S. M. U. tackle, are expected to play a big part in the tussle. The game may have an important bearing on selection of one of the Rose Bowl teams. (Associated Press Photos)

LOBOS LOSE FINAL GAME TO ANCIENT RIVALS 42-0

The Cisco Lobos ended their season yesterday afternoon against their bitterest rivals of the Oil Belt with their worst defeat. The score at the end of the contest was 42 to 0 in favor of the Abilene Eagles. The light Cisco team played gamely, but they were ineffective against the heavier Abilene eleven, paced by the swift feet of Ray Moser and Oil Belt with their victory trail by the power of a charging forward wall and a coterie of driving backs. The Eagles scored immediately after the ball changed hands on the opening kickoff. The Lobos received but could do nothing with the Abilene defense. Stansbury kicked deep into Abilene territory where Couch received and ran the ball back to the Eagles 37. Harris and Couch drove down the field in a success of off-tackle smashes to the 8-yard line and Moser ran it over standing up for the score. A 15-yard penalty temporarily halted the Eagles on their next touchdown march, which started after Wende of Cisco had recovered a fumbled punt on Abilene's 40-yard line and three passes and a line play had failed to gain. Couch opened the campaign with a 25-yard center. The 15-yard assessment was for holding on the next play. With the ball back in Abilene country Couch overcame the set-back when he tossed a pass to Moser for a touchdown.

Break Gives Score
The Eagles scored again in the second quarter when an Abilene player recovered a fumbled Cisco lateral on the Cisco 15-yard line. Two plays scored the touchdown. The Lobos threatened for the first time after one of Stansbury's punts was killed on the Abilene 4-yard line, 75 yards from the point of the kick. Abilene punted out on their 35 but intercepted a Rylee pass on the next play to retrieve the ball and pull out of a danger spot temporarily. But a 15-yard penalty against the Eagles forced them back to their 17 where Couch fumbled and Rylee recovered.

The Cisco threat fell helpless against an unyielding Abilene front, however, after Stansbury passed to Rylee for 7 yards, placing the ball on the Abilene 13. Stansbury lost six yards on a fake and two passes were ineffective.

The Eagles scored again near the last of the second period when Harris carried the ball over from the three-yard line in the culmination of a drive that began at midfield where Abilene intercepted a pass.

Lobo Drive
The Eagles scored once each in the third and fourth quarters. The second string of the Abilene team was unable to hold the Lobos at the beginning of the fourth period, although the Cisco team had suffered injuries to practically every man on the squad in a game battle against the superior odds of the Eagles. Rylee centered off tackle for almost 20 yards on two plays and Beasley raced 35 yards to take the ball to the Abilene 35. The first team was rushed back to the field to stop the threat, which they did at their own 30-yard line. The Eagles scored their final marker on a 70-yard drive.

Starting Lineups Were:
CISCO — Burnam, le; Wagley, lt; Merkett, lg; Ivie, c; Rainbolt, rg; Barnes, rt; Wende, re; Stansbury, qb; Rylee, lb; Beasley, rh; Wood, fb.
ABILENE — Merman, le; Alsbach, lt; Campbell, lg; Jones, c; Hayes, rg; Joeris, rt; Dodd, re; Couch, qb; Moser, lb; Cumpton, rh; Harris, fb.

Vienna Official's Criticism of Duce Rouses Austrian Regime

VIENNA OFFICIALS DC 24
By ROBERT F. SCHILBACH
VIENNA, (P) — Ernst Karl Winter, vice-burgomaster of Vienna and fearless commentator on political matters, embarrassed the federal government by writing publicly that "the Italian adventure in Ethiopia is highly unpopular in Austria."

This frank expression was so critical of an authoritarian regime which has allied itself closely with Italy that police promptly confiscated the little magazine in which Winter had aired his view.

Winter was appointed to his post by the late Chancellor Dollfuss, who told him to bring about a reconciliation between former socialist workers and the government. He has been attempting to pacify the socialists, but his political independence frequently has caused uneasiness at the chancellery.

"The Ethiopian policy of Italy," Winter wrote, "has created a wide gap between England and Italy, which shows that despite Stresa, the irrational element in Italian fascism is still prevalent."

"Italian fascism, for the sake of a colonial adventure behind which the prestige of a single person stands, does not hesitate to put the peace of Europe at stake."

Says Duce Ignores History

"After due consideration of all political, military and economic aspects, the Italian adventure must be regarded as absurd, Mussolini today, takes the same attitude towards Ethiopia which England took towards Transvaal, or France towards Morocco, without, however, remembering that half a century has gone by and that many a thing has happened in the meantime."

"It's a dangerous play which 'Il Duce' has made and it may end in catastrophe for his regime if his plans fail to be realized."

Considering Austria's situation from the point of view that the League of Nations decided on economic sanctions which may gradually turn to military sanctions, Winter came to the conclusion that there is no other possibility for Austria "but to stand solidly with both feet, and without restrictions, in the League of Nations front."

"What ever may happen, to fascist Italy goes the sad glory of having started a new war which may develop into a second world war."

Nazis Also Denounce Italy

"Italy again is driven by the same insatiability which drove the then nationalistic Italy into the world war after it had safely determined the winning side, and which also induced this same Italy to counteract the peace feelers extended towards France by the Austrian Emperor Charles through the mediation of Prince Sixtus of Bourbon."

Another rebuke for the government's pro-Italian policy came from the outlawed but still active Austrian nazis. In a pamphlet, distributed in Vienna and throughout the provinces, the Austrian Hitlerites condemned the Italian policy towards Ethiopia.

"Italian troops, in the midst of peace, have crossed the frontiers of another member of the League of Nations," the pamphlets stated.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

We often hear people express sympathy for some one who has fallen into misfortune. This sympathy for another is literally "suffering with" the other. The sympathizer has usually had some previous similar trouble that enables him to put himself into the present sufferer's place. So he can in a measure share experiences with his friend. And the one in trouble can get some consolation from this expression of sympathy.

But a big word in the meaning of sympathy is this word "sharing." It does not consist in looking down in pity and wondering how the victim could have come into such a plight. Nor can the word be fully defined in terms of wishing luck or relief upon the unfortunate.

There is no sharing in that. And even if one does enter into the distressful emotion of his brother he has not completed his sympathy, because his brother's feeling is not all of his misfortune. There is some need along with it. Sympathy is completed by a sharing of the other fellow's need; in other words I must need with him, I can usually do that by sharing with him the goods that satisfy the need. Then he and I will come to a common level; if the goods are insufficient each of us will now have only partial need; if they are abundant neither will be left with any need and so we will be on a level. Sympathy then is a practical human expression. It will do a great deal for our turbulent world. But if you have sympathy for the needy of this community you will find some mite or some heap to give them. If you sympathize with the hardships of Randolph College you will meet your material obligation to it. If you sympathize with the low spirits of some friend you will take the time and have the patience to cheer him out of his blues. This is not that hypocritical kind of sympathy that is scorned by the one who is suffering. Rather it is the kind that wins respect by its sincerity and wins gratitude by its serviceableness.

I believe it is Emerson who has written on Uses of Great Men. Of course they are hardly great unless they are useful. But at the same time I think it is hard to know just how much we can use their greatness without commercializing it. Yesterday I sat amidst the congregation that had gathered in memory of Randolph Clark. The large number of his descendants, the many friends with whom he had associated through the years, the churches from which members had come, and the colleges whose representatives were present were some of the impressive evidences of his unmeasurable usefulness. These individuals and institutions will continue to draw inspiration and power from his memory.

But how contemptible to turn the name into mere advertising advantage. It was Robert E. Lee who refused the use of his name to sell a nefarious business. It is deplorable to use acquaintance-ship or friendship with a great man as an inducement that will promote one's selfish advantage in position or income. Yet with what different motives we will be claiming to have known Brother Randolph. Organizations will use his name for a generation or two to promote their success.

Fortunately I believe that nothing unworthy can very well be promoted in the name of this man. If it should be undertaken the enterprise will suffer from the inconsistency; the attempt will react to its own hindrance. But the worthy enterprise, the church that was established by his evangelistic zeal, the college that has been founded out of his educational vision, these are the most enduring and most serviceable monuments that one could desire to leave after him. But if such an enterprise is not to prove unworthy of claiming relationship with Randolph Clark it must be undertaken in his sacrificing spirit. If an institution is to honor his name and make use of his influence it must enter into its task just as unselfishly and just as heroically.

Radio waves are reflected from layers of ionized air high in the atmosphere, scientists say.

"HUDDLED"

CLOSED DOOR!

Many families "huddle" in one or two rooms, during cold days, around a small open flame heater with windows and connecting doors tightly closed. If you are a "huddler," you are violating one of the most important rules of personal hygiene and good health!

Stagnant air is depressing and fails to produce the stimulating effect of air in motion. Connecting doors left open between adjoining rooms, when the entire house is adequately heated for comfort, provide a natural circulation of pure, warm air from one room to the other. Without adequate circulation air may become as foul and unhealthy as that of the tenement slums, even though the home may be the most beautiful in the neighborhood.

If you heat only one or two rooms at a time . . . if you "huddle" in these rooms with connecting doors tightly closed, sudden temperature changes are unavoidable. Your family goes from an overheated room where the temperature has climbed past the point necessary for comfort, into a cold hall or unheated adjoining room. Then, shivering and chilled, they return to the heated room. This happens many times a day and each time they have unnecessarily subjected themselves to conditions that make them susceptible to highly communicable winter diseases. America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, finds a fertile field in an inadequately heated and poorly ventilated home.

Don't "huddle" in one or two rooms during the short winter season. . . . Guard the health of your loved ones with adequate heat and proper circulation of pure, warm air in every room in the house.

. . . Community Natural Gas Co.

Tune in each Thursday night at 6:30, WFAA-WBAP, for vital facts to help you guard your family against the common cold germ.

The Aftermath of Sudden Death

By A. J. BRACKEN in the Reader's Digest
 After the sensation created by "—And Sudden Death," The Reader's Digest was bombed by proffered "follow-ups." But we thought enough had been said. Then, from an embalmer in the village of Chappel, Nebraska, came the following — poignant in its emotional sincerity, impressive in its photographic directness. As in the case of the previous article, we caution the sensitive reader not to read too much of it.

Three little kiddies, poor little tykes, the oldest only seven. They hardly know what it is all about. This time it is a young mother returning home, with her husband and children, from a happy visit. Kiddies are playing in the back seat of the car. Bang. Crash! A sickening twisting and tearing and it is all over.

Just two drunks in an old car coming over the top of the hill on the wrong side of the road, but what slaughter. We work feverishly all night attempting to place a new nose and one side of the face on this mangled body which has been the loving mother of these three small helpless children, now in the hospital, two not expected to live.

We secure a recent picture of this mother and by long hours of patching and filling those mutilated features and showing the body under indirect light we keep from the loved ones the horrible picture of this mutilation.

The Lonely Pedestrian
 Such a freak. We found his arm, hanging on the latch of the car door, torn completely from the socket at the elbow. The mangled body lay doubled up in the ditch nearby.

Just an old man walking along in the dark on the wrong side of the road, the car coming over the brow of the hill, headlights shooting up. Not a chance of escaping it.

Just three happy boys on their way across the country to Detroit. Constantly driving, day and night, with a change at the wheel every four hours, but endurance lost and we pick them up on the side of the road where they have crashed a telephone pole and overturned. Not an easy thing to telephone the poor father out on the Coast and inform him that the body of his boy lies in our mortuary.

A wig that matches his hair, plastic art and dermasurgery restore the body to almost lifelike appearance, but we cannot bring back that youthful smile or happy laugh which he carried when he left home. These are only memories to his loved ones.

We natives all knew that was a mean corner, properly marked with a turn sign, but such a sharp turn. To take it at more than 20 miles was unsafe. He must have been going 50 at least. No one saw it happen. They found him with the car overturned, the sharp edge of the runningboard, where it joins the rear fender, resting on his head. Why do they always have their heads smashed up so? I wonder if this isn't the hope of every embalmer when he receives an auto accident call: "I hope the head is all right." They usually are not.

Such a great fine fellow in the pink of health and prime of life. And his poor young wife. . . . We put her to bed when she arrives and try to make her comfortable until we can finish our work, so she will never know what he looked like when we found him.

A babe to come soon, who will never know a father except by tales which are told.

The lunch for school was in the back seat, the case of eggs for the grocer intact, but the beautiful life of a little schoolgirl was gone forever.

A foggy morning, a narrow bridge. The sharp, splintered end of the bridge rail drove through the windshield and tore away one side of her face.

Poor little brother, who had been driving, how heartbroken and sorrowful. It was hard to see, and how was he to know that he should have pulled to the side of the road and stopped until the fog lifted, even though they were late for school?

Loose Gravel

Not much to do this time. The whole thing was on fire when we arrived. We could see his tracks where he had come over the top of the hill and hit the loose gravel. The warning sign was up so the Highway Department had fulfilled its duty, but there it lay where it had skidded and turned completely around and over. A twisted mass of hot iron, that fetid smell of burning flesh and a few bones to tell the tale.

How will we prepare these remains for burial? Well, how would you?

And so it goes, on and on, in this small town of not quite 3,000. Add what befalls us here to the tragic toll in metropolitan cities and the countless towns larger than ours, and we have a very faint idea of what is happening on our highways.

Over 36,000 killed this way last year. Will it be more next year? And will you be one of that number? Why won't you?

Daily Press Want Ads Click.

JUST PASSING
 Two o'clock in the morning. Is that the phone? There it goes again. I grope my way sleepily to it. Hello . . . yes, I understand . . . a wreck on the highway two miles east . . . We'll be right out. What a sight. One car, a new one, now a tangled heap of scrap off on one side of the road, shattered glass everywhere. The crowd has gathered and they have dug one body out and it lies a bloody, grotesque, twisted thing under the pale light of the moon. Another lies groaning and mumbling, "My back is broken I think." We lift him as gently as possible to the ambulance cot and hurry to the hospital. He dies two hours later calling for "Edith."

How did it happen? The report is they were trying to pass a car against a too close oncoming car. What does it matter. We go back for the dead body and in the operating room under the strong light we find that we have a job on hand trying to embalm this poor thing, to put it back together as best we can in an attempt to relieve the terrible heartache of those loved ones who will hasten to see him. What a mess. Ragged bones sticking out through torn coat sleeves, head crushed to a pulp. Can we make it look like a human being and resemble the fine strong young man that it was only an hour ago? It is just our job and we're getting used to it.

Does it make us gun-shy of this fast driving? Well, we wish all the speeders could spend a night with us, occasionally, in the operating rooms of the mortuary.

Your School Needs Help NEEDED $20,000 TODAY

Five years have gone by without you knowing all the hardships confronting your school's financial condition. Your board of trustees, realizing the burden of taxes through conditions affecting your ability to pay, have been very lenient on delinquent tax matters. In fact, lenient to the extent that today more than $60,000.00 or twice the amount of the annual tax levy is past due and outstanding. The seriousness of this condition can readily be seen and reason calls for immediate one hundred per cent co-operation in adjusting this local and community problem, which effects our sixteen hundred school children tomorrow, together with the value of your investment today. This condition can be corrected without embarrassing or offending the citizenship and patrons through a co-operative spirit.

The facts involved creating conditions herein and the adjustment of same, necessitates the employment of one experienced in tax laws, who can efficiently serve the tax payers as well as your school board. For this service we have employed Mr. Rex Ragan to assist Mr. Walker in working out the many difficult problems in tax matters.

Mr. Ragan comes to you highly recommended by tax payers as well as government authorities, engaging him. A great deal of time, deliberation and thought have been given the matter and we sincerely ask your co-operation, to the extent of your ability. Mr. Ragan's duties are to pursue every available effort to collect the many thousands of dollars on unknown and non-resident property and to assist and work with you in arriving at some definite plan of settlement that will come within the law giving you the greatest advantage possible. His several years experience in this chosen profession is at your disposal and the board of trustees heartily endorse the introduction of Mr. Ragan, as one trained and experienced and anxious to help you, thereby effecting a harmonious program in a community interest. Sincere co-operation is needed.

YOUR SCHOOL NEEDS HELP NOW. NEEDED $20,000.00 TODAY. In our call for financial assistance today, this month, do what you can. The schools are our own schools. The problem, our problem. Let's work together. An effort on the part of every individual is our wish and hope.

Respectfully submitted for your consideration and approval, by the board of trustees.

Ex-Wife Found Shot Dead and Beaten

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Nov. 29. (P) — The shot and beaten body of Mildred Hook, 22, sought since her former husband, Douglas Van Vlack, had abandoned her, was found under a railroad culvert today near Berger, Ind. Officers said that a bullet taken from her head was similar to those fired from Van Vlack's pistol. Van Vlack was held here on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Highway Patrolman Fontaine Cooper.

Thanksgiving--Day
What is it and what does it mean to us?
The first Thanksgiving Day was in November, 1621, by the Pilgrim Fathers.
All down through the years since that date we have as a Christian Nation set aside this Autumn day as the end of Harvest Time to give thanks for the golden grain and the blessings that come with it as a Nation and as individuals.
How proud we are of this opportunity to give sincere thanks for the prosperity of Cisco and its community and we are truly thankful for the loyalty and confidence of our customers and friends.
