CISCO CASTS VOTES IN CITY ELECTION

Swiss Angry As Nazis Kidnap Journalist

SEND NOTE TO GERMANY FOR MAN'S RETURN

BERNE, Switzerland, April 2 — A grave international incident was precipitated today over the alleged kidnaping by Nazi agents of a German emigre journalist.

Foreign Minister Giuseppe Motta angrily read to parliament a note to Germany which demanded immediate return to Swiss soil of Bertold Jacob, German refugee journalist who recently disappeared from Basle and was found in a Nazi prison, waiting trial for high treason.

In addition, the note demanded severe punishment of Nazi officials guilty of the kidnaping.

"This kidnaping is a serious violation of Swiss sovereignty," Motta said. "It is capable of complete revision of the nation's destiny."

Motta said Switzerland would act first to secure Jacob's return under the German-Swiss treaty of conciliation of 1921. If necessary, he said, he would submit it to the world court.

Eastern Europe pact appears as keystone. Copyright 1935 by United Press.

WARSAW, April 2 — An eastern European peace pact which would either include Germany or ring it with potentially hostile nations emerged today as the keystone of immediate armament negotiations.

Capt. Anthony Eden, special British cabinet envoy, began a two-day series of talks with Polish spokesmen who will define their attitude toward such a treaty.

It was indicated at the outset that Poland is not prepared to enter the treaty originally proposed — a treaty which would seek to impose peace by military force and might make Poland a battlefield for contending Russian and German armies.

Col. Joseph Beck, foreign minister, and Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, the country's real leader, were expected to adhere to this opposition.

FRANCE TAKES EVERY MILITARY PRECAUTION. PARIS, April 2 — Premier Pierre Flandin said in a speech in the chamber of deputies today that "every military precaution" was being taken as a result of German rearmament and manning of the entire frontier by troops was almost completed.

The chamber gave the government a vote of confidence after Flandin's speech.

MUSSOLINI DEMANDS UNITED ACTION. MILAN, April — Premier Benito Mussolini today demanded that France, Great Britain, and Italy adopt a united course of action in the face of possible war.

The forceful Duce spoke of the three nations which he called "the European peace circuit of statesmen," and demanded that at their conference at Stresa, Italy, April 11, the foreign ministers unite for action.

WAR DEPARTMENT BUYS NEW BOMBERS. WASHINGTON, April 2 — The war department today contracted for the purchase of 15 additional bombing planes to add to the formidable fleet already in the army air corps.

A contract was let to the Glenn Martin company of Baltimore for 15 planes. These are in addition to the 70 such planes already ordered, some of which have been delivered.

Win Appointments; Cupid Gets Post. ZANESVILLE, O., April 2 — Cupid Miss Marjorie Gibson and Fred Lane combined their talents to win a civil service examination and an opportunity to be married.

Lane and Miss Gibson paired themselves in the civil service examination for the positions of superintendent and matron of the Muskingum County children's home here, made vacant recently by resignations.

Hitler's Friend At Peace Talk

Mysteriously conferring with a member of the British official party during the parleys between Adolf Hitler and British statesmen over problems stirred by the Reich rearmament was Fraulein Leni Riefenstahl, film actress friend of Hitler, shown here in emotional pose. She is virtual dictator of German movie films.

SUBMISSION OF TEXAS REPEAL DEBATE BEGINS

AUSTIN, April 2 — "On with the battle" the familiar cry of a quarter century ago, sounded in the Texas house again today as submission of prohibition repeal was argued.

Submission of some amendment to repeal constitutional prohibition was practically certain. August 24, 1935, is agreed upon as the date for popular vote. The fight waged over an effort to place in the amendment a provision — for a state monopoly on sale of distilled liquors and fortified wines.

First vote will be on this state monopoly plan. It was offered today, and a substitute was foreseen. Its backers include both drys and wets.

Billy Sunday Sees Entire World "Headin' Straight to Hell" Just As Roman Empire

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 2. — Billy Sunday thinks the world is "headin' straight to hell."

"This American nation of ours is seen as a second Rome whose grandeur slowly is crumbling by the 72-year-old veteran of the Sawdust Trail, whose voice has rung out in evangelistic halls for decades in a bitter battle against liquor and religious laxity.

Outlining his views, Sunday derided "atheistic leaders, dictatorial in power, fascist in politics, who are guiding the nation to its ultimate downfall."

"An age of American people indifferent to God, moral standards and the ideals of pioneering forefathers are aiding in the destruction of all that is American by their passive attitude," he added.

"The world is going straight to hell so fast it's breaking the speed limit," said the one-time baseball player, placing Russia and Germany in the van in this mad rush into disaster.

"The Russia which knew the absolute rule of czarism was a Sunday school compared to the government by Stalin today," he asserted characteristically.

He thinks Germany is but little better, and other nations of the world are following close behind in the parade.

Ray Hamilton Known To Stay In Memphis

GUESTS SAVED FROM DEATH IN TIAJUANA FIRE

TIAJUANA, Mex., April 2 — Fire early today threatened to sweep through the center of this pre-repeal oasis, drove scores to the streets in night attire, and left in ruins the hotel which housed the midnight follies.

The fire started in the hotel building and had gained great headway before it was discovered. The night shows were over and hotel guests were trapped as the roaring flames cut off escape.

Firemen spread nets and set up ladders, and succeeded in rescuing all guests without a casualty. Three firemen were reported injured and several overcome by smoke.

For a time it looked as though the flames, fanned by a breeze would sweep the entire main street. The damage was limited to the hotel and an adjoining building.

Rev. O'Brien Opens Second Revival Week

Illustrating his sermon on "The Highway to Heaven" by the markers of this world's highways, Rev. E. D. O'Brien held his audience in easy attention last night at the First Baptist church, where he entered his second week in the series of revival services in cooperation with the local pastor, Rev. E. S. James.

Rev. Mr. O'Brien said that there was no excuse for one going the wrong road in this earth's highways and rounding up at some town different from the one chosen as the destination. Road markers were plentifully interspersed along the highway he said so that one could almost always be sure of where one was traveling. Thus it is with the road to heaven or to perdition. The scriptures are very clear in the descriptions of the two highways traveled by the Christian or the sinner. If one is on the road to heaven it is easy to know it and the same, otherwise.

At the close of the services, four were given the ordinance of baptism. The time of the evening services were announced as changed to 7:40 for prayer meeting and 8 o'clock for the preaching services.

PET SNAKE EXPENSIVE. ST. LOUIS, Mo. — A pet snake proved expensive item to Charles Siefert, manager of a packing company, retail store here. It cost him $4,500 in circuit court when a jury returned a favorable verdict to Mrs. Jennie Jefferson, wife of a policeman, who charged Siefert frightened her with the reptile.

Once Largest Barn In World Is Razed

KEARNEY, Neb., April 2 — What once was the largest barn in the world, a 300-foot long building constructed to convince mediant ranchers of the value of alfalfa as livestock feed, is being razed.

The old barn has been ordered torn down by its present owner, William Wright, because he is convinced it is unsafe. It was built by H. D. Watson, pioneer advocate of alfalfa to convince Nebraskans that alfalfa had high food value for livestock.

Dimensions of the structure were 300 feet long, 100 feet wide, and 56 feet high. It was located on the old "1733 ranch."

Marrying Judge Is Now Taster of Beer

FRESNO, Cal., April 2 — George Washington Smith, former Fresno champion "marrying justice," today had added a new distinction — that of having "the world's softest job."

Smith, together with several other elderly men, was selected by a San Francisco brewer to test his product and to compare it with pre-prohibition brew.

All Smith had to do was to sit around a San Francisco hotel, eat plenty of meals—and drink plenty of beer.

U. S. Gov't Operates In Black For March

WASHINGTON, April 2 — The federal government operated "in the black" during March, for the first time in 24 months, as a result of increased tax collection and reduced spending.

SPURNS SHOE MACHINERY. BOSTON — For 63 years, Antone Moeffling, 77, has been repairing shoes, and not once during that period has he used any machinery. He takes pride in his fine work by hand. After learning his trade in his native Germany, he opened his shoe repair shop in Buttrick Row, Roxbury, in 1872.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 2.—Raymond Hamilton, condemned southwest desperado, and his unknown companion, made Memphis their headquarters while robbing a Mississippi bank and terrorizing that state last week, police disclosed today.

Hamilton and his friend were in Memphis March 25, three days before they robbed a bank at Prentiss, Miss., of $1,100.

They stole four automobiles, kidnaped six persons, and ran a gauntlet of 200 possums before reaching Memphis Friday morning with two other persons held as hostages and released here.

Authorities said Hamilton and his companion went on a shopping tour March 25.

Police believed the outlaw and his companion bought new clothing, went to a South Memphis hotel, registered, paid in advance, bathed, changed clothes, and left.

Hotel employees identified Hamilton from photographs. Dirty, mud-spattered clothing was found in the room.

Meanwhile Mississippi police today patrolled highways into Jackson, following a report that Hamilton would return there to free three women held as suspected accomplices of the bandit and his pal.

Books Are Sought For Colored School

Pupils of the Cisco colored school yesterday sent a plea for books for their library.

"The children really have only their text books to read," said Abigail Love Heley, teacher of the school.

She appealed to white friends of the school to give it books which they have already read. Names of donors, she said, will be placed in the books as a courtesy to the school's friends, and a list of those contributing will be published.

Pupils of the school will call for books at Cisco homes, and will have a car to transport them to the school.

Senate And House Groups Battling Over Provisions of Work Relief Bill

WASHINGTON, April 2. — House and senate conferences, in two hours of bitter argument today, failed to break the deadlock, on the $4,880,000,000 work relief bill.

Sen. Carter Glass, dem., Va., chairman of the senate conference, held out stubbornly for the original conference report which was rejected by administration leaders after New Dealers contended its provisions would make part of the bill unworkable.

Chairman James Buchanan of the house conferees battled for elimination of the disputed provision which would require $300,000,000 of a $900,000,000 public works fund to be spent for direct employment.

PWA Administrator Harold Ickes meantime asserted Glass was suffering a misapprehension and was failing to take into account the indirect employment created by PWA projects.

Liquor Stores To Lose Drug Permits

DALLAS, April 2. — Liquor shops and night clubs that have been masquerading under the name of pharmacy companies will be deprived of their pharmacy permits, W. H. Cousins, Dallas, secretary of the Texas pharmacy board, said today.

Four "drug stores in Fort Worth and three in Dallas have been notified of their permits and others will be treated similarly as a result of their illicit liquor business, he said.

Huge King Ranch Is Divided For Heirs

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 2.—The famous King ranch, the largest ranch property in the world, today was divided among the heirs of Mrs. Henrietta King.

Mrs. King was the wife of the late Capt. Richard King, founder of the original property in 1853.

The ranch, which recently had been valued at about $40,000,000 consists of approximately 2,500,000 acres.

Senate Passes Texas Centennial Bill To Appropriate 3 Milions For Huge Party

AUSTIN, April 2.—The Texas senate today finally passed a $3,000,000 Centennial appropriation bill sponsored by Sen. Ben Oneal of Wichita Falls by a 17 to 12 vote.

Oneal's substitute allots $1,000,000 for constructing central exposition buildings at Dallas, $200,000 for equipping them, $500,000 for advertising the Centennial, $200,000 for equipping a memorial museum to be constructed on the University of Texas campus $1,100,000 for local Centennial celebrations and memorials.

A seven member commission of control is created in the bill to oversee expenditure of all Centennial aid provided by the state. It will supplant the control over Centennial financing heretofore held by a Texas Centennial commission.

Portuguese Plan Mystery Flight

While conducting tests and preparing their new plane for a long flight, George (left) and Alfred Monteverde, Portuguese aviators, sought to cloak their enterprise in mystery. It is reported, however, that their plan was to attempt a non-stop flight from Philadelphia to their native land.

Traffic Class For Violators Huge Success

WASHINGTON, April 2. — Cities which send their traffic law violators to school rather than jail have found the system a success, the American Automobile Association has reported.

The Association based the finding on a survey conducted by its Safety and Traffic Engineering Department.

President Thomas P. Henry of the Association said the schools have proved meritorious in several types of cases, including juveniles, adult offenders who "would have been indifferent to a fine," and where a fine would have constituted a hardship.

Violators' schools are conducted in Berkeley, Los Angeles, Oakland, Piedmont, San Francisco and Tracy, Cal.; Wichita, Kan.; Detroit; Minneapolis; St. Louis; and Portland, Ore. Henry said plans were underway for establishment of similar institutions in other states.

"These schools are based on the general accepted principle that education is an important factor in any comprehensive program for the reduction of highway fatalities and injuries," Henry said. "Magistrates constantly are faced with the fact that quite a large proportion of violators do not have a proper understanding of traffic regulations, of causes of accidents, or of the principles of safe driving."

Generally, he said violators turned over to the schools are juveniles or persons whose infractions have not been serious enough to warrant a severe penalty.

Subjects studied in the schools include: Cause and prevention of accidents; traffic regulations; enforcement; proper car care from a safety standpoint, and safe driving practices.

Examinations are held on the subjects and some schools require a good mark on test papers before releasing the violator. Most of the schools hold their sessions once or twice a week in the evening.

C. of C. Directors To Meet Tonight

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce will hold their regular board meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 7:30 this evening. It has been announced by Secretary J. E. Spencer.

625 BALLOTS CAST BY 3 P. M.; PRESENT ADMINISTRATION IS UNOFFICIALLY SAID IN LEAD

Cisco voters today went to the polls to cast their ballots in the municipal election after one of the hottest campaigns carried on here in recent years.

By 3 o'clock this afternoon 625 votes had been cast. The voting opened briskly at 8 o'clock this morning, with more than 200 ballots cast during the first two hours. Threatening skies and a norther apparently had little effect on early balloting although the voting began to fall off a little by 11 o'clock but picked up again after lunch.

With two tickets, in which there were a total of six names on the ballot, observers said unofficially this afternoon that the "ins" apparently were leading by a wide margin.

The prediction was based on "just a look around" at the voters who came to the polls, it was explained, and not upon any actual count of ballots. Counting of the votes was scheduled to take place after the close of polls at 7 o'clock tonight.

During the morning hours adherents to the cause of the present administration were claiming a majority of the votes. Observers believed, however, that there might be a strong tide of anti-administration votes later in the day.

The voters were given their choice between the ticket headed by Mayor J. T. Berry and that of Former Mayor J. M. Williamson. On the first ticket were also Commissioners H. A. Bible and W. J. Foxworth. With Williamson were W. W. Wallace and L. F. Mendenhall, seeking places as commissioners.

The administration ticket had based its campaign upon a "look at the record" platform, with special emphasis being placed upon the reduction in city indebtedness since it came into office.

The Williamson faction had advocated more employment for Ciscoans through projects financed by federal funds, a settlement of back waters rents, and promotion of a garden campaign with low water rates.

Voting today was said today to be "about as usual" in number, with perhaps a larger turnout in comparison with the number of poll taxes paid.

SENATE ROOM IS CLEARED TO OBTAIN ORDER

WASHINGTON, April 2 — The senate, angry because of confusion in its usually dignified chambers, ordered all visitors removed from the public galleries today.

Sen. Key Pittman, dem., Nev., presiding, ordered out the spectators. It had been about 10 years since drastic steps had been taken to preserve order. The visitors who included several groups of school pupils from Washington on their Easter vacations, milled about in the corridors.

Sen. Royal Copeland, dem., N. Y., who was attempting to explain his pure food and drug bill, suggested a quorum call bring back senators who had left during the confusion.

Charge Trial Is Used Against Huey

NEW ORLEANS, April 2.—Charges that newspapers were using the income tax trial of State Rep. o'je Fisher as a political weapon against his friend, Sen. Huey Long, were made in federal court today by Hugh Wilkinson, defense attorney.

Red-Tipped Canes Are Given Blind

EL PASO, April 2 — White canes, tipped with red were presented to 37 blind and nearly blind men, women and children in this city by the El Paso Lions club.

The canes were to aid the blind in crossing the street with the minimum amount of danger. They were tipped in red so bystanders could identify the person who carried them as blind and offer to give any necessary aid.

Events of World-Wide Interest

Canada sees its famous Dionne quintuplets made "special wards of His Majesty the King" by the Ontario Legislature. Minister of Welfare David A. Croll is made special guardian and he appoints the quint's father, Oliva Dionne, and Dr. D. A. Dafoe active custodians. As they reach 10 months of age the flock of teething babies is turning from bottles to spoons and menus. Detectives move in to guard from kidnapers. Maybe this is to defend against a known plot—Or maybe just against the human nature that might walk off with the only known big enough bundle of sweet babyhood.

Greece's government prosecutor demands death sentences for 14 of the 28 leaders of the recent revolution that failed. Among those facing the Athens court-martial are Colonel Saraphis and Lieutenant Colonel Tsigantes, officers of the rebel army. A court-martial in Canea will try 109 others, including a woman and the famous Versailles Treaty drafter and several times Premier, Eleutherios Venizelos, the revolution's alleged director, who is in safe refuge in Italy with no thought of returning—So the veteran statesman's head is not in jeopardy, although his heart doubtless is.

U. S. Secretary of the Interior Ickes discloses that low-cost housing is the item out of a multitude that claims his personal major interest. The director of the $3,700,000,000 PWA program, who will also play a chief part in the new $4,800,000,000 work-relief undertaking, working in shirt-sleeves at his overpled desk, stresses the doctrine that conservation must become a principal concern of the government, and low-cost housing is to him conserving the human resource. He confides how he gets through his demandful day—He never lets his sense of humor get off the job.

Japan, officially out of the League of Nations, specifies the activities with which it will continue to cooperate. These are the World Court, International Labor Bureau, the Disarmament Conference and the Opium Division. One important item is not mentioned in the ceremonies of withdrawal, the subject of the Pacific islands, formerly Germany's, mandated to Japan by the League. Tokyo says nothing of handing back these entrusted strategic bases along with its badge—Does "mandate" mean holding trust, or it is a deed?

Radio Pictures, Motorcar Sleepers Forecast

Reproduction of news dispatches and pictures by a radio attachmen for home use, within 18 months, and the general use of motorcars with sleeping accommodations, are among developments forecast by Allan Brown, director of the Association of National Advertisers, in a talk at the Advertising Club luncheon in the Hotel Statler, Boston, March 26.

Mr. Brown had just returned from a trip across the country, on which he had visited many of the important research laboratories and had inspected their latest achievements. Among these were new radio families apparatus and new streamline cars with space for unfolding a bed.

He foresaw the day when the first of these inventions would compel present newspaper organizations to turn into news gathering services for radio transmission of bulletins and pictures. The new sleeping car automobiles he predicted too, would exert a considerable influence upon hotel and wayside cabin business.

All inventions such as these, he declared, while unsettling existing forms of business, introduced all sorts of new opportunities for men of vision and initiative. For men of this type, he insisted, there never had been a greater opportunity for success than at the present moment.

In traveling over the United States, he said, he had been impressed particularly with the fact that people everywhere were waiting to buy things that are better than they have been in the habit of obtaining. In the same way they cherish a universal desire to better themselves in order to appreciate life more completely.

"There is always a ready market for something that is better, something that does an old job in a new and better way," he reiterated.

Referring to advertising Mr. Brown set up one standard for the preparation of copy. "Put the arguments used in your advertisements in the mouth of an actual salesman, talking to a customer in a store," he said. "Would such a salesman say to a woman who wishes to buy soap: 'Madame, use this soap and you will be surrounded by admiring youths?'—No, he would not.

"What we need in advertising is straightforward statement of facts concerning the product, its price and its real uses."

Marland Boosts Oil Tax Revenue

Gov. Marland of Oklahoma signed the gross production tax measure sponsored by him and fought most vigorously in both houses of his legislature. The tax was increased from three per cent to five per cent, effective April 1. And it will "apply to business beginning the first of the month." Oklahoma needed the money. The governor made up his mind that gross production taxes on treasure wealth would be a fine source for supplying the increased revenue. Those who opposed the tax in senate and house entered vigorous opposition but this former oil multi-millionaire is something of a warrior and he won over all opposition on the inside or the outside.

Spring

The DARK BLOND

By CARLETON KENDRAKE ©1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MILlicENT CHASE, secretary to GEORGE DRINGOLD, finds her employer in his office dead. Millicent has a notebook in which Dringold had begun to dictate a confession.
In panic she rushes away, registers at a hotel under an assumed name.
JARVIS HAPP, a stranger, offers to help her. He seems her to be a highly priced where she is transformed into a brunet, then takes her home and introduces her as his secretary. She meets HAPP's son, NORMAN; his stepson, ROBERT CAISE; and MISS HAPP.
Millicent falls asleep and wakes to find a note under her door reading: "The woman in black enters in here. Millicent Chase, sees the woman in black arrive away and follows in Robert Caise's car, but runs out of gas. She goes to the chauffeur's quarters and finds his wife.
At morning Robert Caise comes to Millicent's room and threatens her. Norman interferes. Caise leaves and returns with a detective.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XVII
THE officer nodded to Norman Happ and said, "All right, you can get out."
Happ said, "This is my father's house."
The officer turned to Caise. "You too," he said.
"But," Caise protested, "I—"
The officer scowled, strode to the center of the room and said, "Listen, both of you guys, this is no place for you to pull your heroics. Get started, and give us a chance to get this thing cleaned up."
Norman Happ stepped past Millicent toward Caise. "I've got something to say to you, Bob," he said.
The officer jerked his head toward Millicent. "Come over here," he said. "I want to talk with you."
She followed him to the window. Young Happ and Robert Caise stood behind her by the doorway, talking in low undertones. The officer glanced at them, frowned, shrugged his shoulders, turned to Millicent and said, "What's your name?"
"Millicent."
"Millicent what?"
"Grabes."
"How long you been here?"
"Just a day or two. I haven't even got settled yet."
"You're working for Happ?"
"Yes."
She took a deep breath, then faced him and said, "Really, I'm very much upset. All of these things can't make a great deal of difference. Mr. Happ knows all about me. Won't you please get your information from him?"
"Well, why don't you tell it?"
"Because I can't see that it's any of your business, and there are certain reasons why I don't care to go into all of those details about my private affairs."
"Oh, all right," the officer said. "What time did you go to bed last night?"
"Really," she told him, "I don't know. I was very tired, but I had some things to do after I entered my room. I sat down in the chair and fell sound asleep. I woke up later—I don't know how much later. I was cold and cramped."

"NORMAN HAPP, standing by the door, turned and came striding over toward them, "Miss Grabes," he said.
She turned to face him.
"I just wanted to tell you, Millicent," he said, using her first name with what seemed to Millicent to be a tender note in his voice, "that this man encountered Bob Caise in the corridor. He asked Bob Caise to bring him to his father's secretary. That's the reason Bob brought the officer here."
The officer frowned, and stared at young Happ. "What the devil has that got to do with it?"
"I simply wanted her to know," Norman Happ said, "why it happened that Caise seemed to have brought you to her."
"He brought me here because I told him I wanted to be brought here."
"Exactly," Happ said.
"Look here," the officer told him, "you two get out of here. I'm doing this questioning, and I'm thoroughly capable of doing it."
Happ bowed, moved toward the door, turned and smiled at Millicent. Then he and Caise left the room, closing the door behind them. The officer stared in frowning concentration at the doorway for a moment, said, "That was a funny way for him to act. He acted almost as though he was giving you some message."
"Oh, did you think so?" Millicent asked innocently.
"Yes," he said. "I thought so."
"But you heard just what he told me. I didn't see anything strange about that."
"Is he," asked the officer, "in love with you?"
"Why, the idea," she gasped. "I've only been here for a day! I've talked with him only once or twice."
"Who'd been beating up on young Caise?"
"The side of his face looked as though he'd been slapped, and he'd either stopped a punch on his jaw or else I don't know a socked jaw when I see one."
"Certainly," Millicent said. "I didn't sock his jaw, as you call it."

HE let his eyes soften slightly with humor, and said, "How about his face? Did you slap his face?"
"Yes," Millicent said defiantly. "I slapped his face, if you want to know."
"Why?"
"It was a personal matter."
"How personal?"
"Very personal."
He stared at her for a minute and then said, "You don't know what time you went to bed?"
"No."
"Did you hear anything unusual afterwards?"
"Oh, no."
"This is your room?"
"Yes."
"You couldn't hear a small caliber gun fired back in the chauffeur's room, anyway," the officer said.
"A small caliber gun?" she echoed questioningly, trying to avoid the appearance of sparring with him, yet seeking to draw him out and save herself as much questioning as possible.
"Yes, a small caliber gun. Someone shot Harry Felding with a small caliber gun."
"When?" she asked.
"Probably around half-past four or five o'clock this morning."
"Oh," she said.
"Someone who was waiting for him inside the room where he sleeps. Felding had been out. He'd taken one of the cars—probably Bob Caise's car. He'd run out of gasoline and come back to the house. Apparently, he'd walked back. We found Caise's car down the street. It was out of gas. Harry Felding opened the door of his room, and someone popped him with a pistol."

He stared at her frowningly and said, "It was one of those little toy vest-pocket pistols."
"I'd call it a toy. It was one of those little automatics that's made to fit into a lady's handbag, but it did the job all right—one shot—right smack through the heart."
She shook her head slowly and said, "I didn't hear any shot."
"Okay," he told her. "I'm sorry I bothered you, but I'm just making a check-up on everyone. It doesn't look like an inside job. You don't know anything about who his enemies were, or anything of that sort?"
She said slowly, "I've been here such a short time, you know."
"Yes, I know," he said, and turned toward the door. In the doorway, he turned and said, "Looks like a stick-up of some sort. You didn't know whether he was carrying any money with him, did you?"
"Mr. Happ would be the only one who would know that—that is, Mr. Jarvis Happ, Norman's father."
"Okay," he said, and left the room.

SHE waited until she heard his steps diminishing down the corridor, then ran to the closet and groped around until she found the leather key container.
She knew that she must get rid of this tell-tale bit of evidence. She held it in her hand, stared helplessly about her. The door to the corridor seemed to be more a source of danger than of safety. Should she leave the room carrying this key container, she might run into Bob Caise.
She turned toward the window, looked down into the yard, with its walk, its ornamental shrubbery, and its wrought-iron fence separating the yard from that of the house adjoining. There was a summer house, a fountain and a pond of water at the base of the fountain, a pond in which there were water lilies and fish.
Millicent stared steadily at the pond. She believed it was possible to toss the key container out of the window so that it would hit the pond.
She raised the window, estimated the distance carefully, held the key container balanced in her hand, so as to determine its weight.
She heard steps in the corridor. Someone was approaching her door. She gave one frantic glance back at the door, then turned to the window and tossed the key container out toward the pond.
She stood watching it with fascinated eyes. It sailed in a long arc. For a moment she thought it was going too far. Then it dropped rapidly, and she heard a sigh of relief as she saw it splash into the pond.
She stood there in the window, watching the splash subside into eddying waves which rippled the sides of the pond. Suddenly she felt her eyes compelled downward and to one side.
There, standing beneath the window, watching her with a peculiar cynical smile twisting the corners of her mouth, was Cynthia Happ.

10,000 Delegates Expected To Attend Southern Baptist Convention in Memphis

Fred W. Allsopp, general manager of the Little Rock, Ark., Gazette, says: "Did you ever stop to think what a big part advertising plays in business? The department store considers advertising a necessary part of its expenses. So much so that the average department store in its annual budget assigns a certain percentage for that purpose. Then, think of the household articles that would never have been heard of but for advertising. My lady's brand of face cream, the tooth brush you use, many articles in daily use on the dining tables; almost everything that we eat, drink, wear, or enjoy are made known to us and popularized through advertising. The candidates make himself known through advertising. In fact, advertising is the greatest force in the world, and newspaper advertising tops all the mediums and newspaper advertising performs a great public service. It shows people what to buy for their comfort, their convenience and their enjoyment. It shows them where to buy safely and economically."

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 2 — Upwards of 10,000 delegates or "messengers" are expected to attend the annual Southern Baptist convention here May 15-18. The large number of delegates—perhaps the largest ever to attend a convention of this kind—will come from 18 states and the district of Columbia. Each of the 24,000 churches under the organization is eligible to send a messenger.

The states include Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Southern Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North and South Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, Arizona and Maryland.

Memphis is almost the exact geographical center of this territory. Dr. Hight C. Moore, educational secretary of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board and recording secretary of the convention said here.

He was accompanied by Walter M. Gilmore, of Nashville, in making preliminary arrangements.

Dr. J. B. Witherspoon, professor of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., will preach the convention sermon the opening night, Wednesday, May 15.

Dr. R. S. Jones, field secretary for foreign missions, Richmond, Va., will deliver the principal talk on foreign missions, "Thursday" night, May 16, and will have charge of the program.

The convention will open with registrations at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church, Shreveport, La., is president of the convention and will preside. Dr. L. R. Scarborough, president of Southern Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas, is first vice president; Dr. John J. Hurt, president of Union University, Jackson, Tenn., is second vice president, and J. Henry Burnett, Macon, Ga., layman, is associate to Moore as recording secretary.

ST. LOUIS GETS SHOW

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The National Dairy Show, premier event of the nation's dairy calendar, will be held here next fall. Simultaneously, the International Association of Milk Dealers, International Association of Ice Cream Dealers, and the Dairy and Ice Cream Supplies Manufacturers Association, will convene here. It is probable the event will be held Oct. 14.

Overcame Her Nervousness

"A few years ago," writes Mrs. Charles Sivil, of Hartshorne, Okla., "I was weak and run-down. It seemed that nervousness was about to get the best of me. My mother told me about Cardui and that is what I decided to take. After I began taking Cardui, my appetite will better. I gained strength and was less nervous. By the time I had taken two bottles, I felt fine. First, better appetite, and then more strength and a feeling of well-being! Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

TEN YEARS WITHOUT LENIN

The TOMBS OF LENIN AT MOSCOW

NO country ever before glorified a man in postage as has Soviet Russia in one of its latest issues. Usually a country's hero is portrayed on one particular stamp, but Nicolai Lenin, former dictator of Russia, is presented in a series of six stamps on the tenth anniversary of his death. These stamps reveal six stages of the man's life, from childhood up, ending with one illustrating both Lenin and Stalin, his successor.

The U. S. S. R. has named this issue "Ten Years Without Lenin," commemorating the decennial of the man's death in 1924. During his dictatorship Lenin had refused to permit his portrait on a postage stamp. (Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

17-Year-Old Debt Of $2 Finally Paid

MOUNTAIN HOME, Tex., April 2 — A 17-year-old debt owed by the county to I. R. Cobb of Mountain Home for services he rendered as an election judge in 1917, was recently paid.

The bill, which had been forgotten by both Cobb and the county, amounted to $2.

Historic Cannon Is Rediscovered

CROCKETT, April 2. — A 15th Century cannon has been "rediscovered" here. The rusted weapon was found about 10 years ago, but nothing was thought of its importance as a historical relic and it was lost again.

FOG DELAYS TRIP

CLEVELAND — Gov. Frank Murphy, of the Philippine Islands, will carry back to his island residence a memory of Cleveland fog. En route from Washington to attend a reception in his honor at Detroit, Gov. Murphy's plane was forced by fog to remain several hours at Cleveland airport.

Claims Worry Is Cause of Mishaps

DALLAS, April 2 — Worry is the greatest single cause of accidents, in the opinion of J. B. Hynal, representative of the U. S. bureau of mines.

"Financial worries, domestic worries, and worries over health are responsible for a big percentage of accidents that occur every year," Hynal, whose home is in McAlester, Okla., told a conference of cement company officials here.

"A workman who is worrying about how he's going to pay his bills, or whether his wife is going to be home when he returns from work, isn't mentally alert, and is liable to an accident.

"Automobile drivers who worry about something get careless about driving, and pedestrians who worry don't watch where they're going, and traffic accidents are the result."

SOVIET PLANS NEW HIGHWAYS FOR FAR EAST

By JOSEPH HBAIRD
United Press Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW, April 2. — An extensive program of highway building, river and harbor dredging and commercial air transport operation, as well as a new trunk line railroad, are parts of the Soviet Union's plan to strengthen its Far Eastern district against aggression.

Having in mind the fall days of 1931 when Japanese troops moved northward through Manchuria with scarcely any resistance the Soviet government is trying to make a strong bulwark of its territory north of the Amur river.

The Bulwark
Some of the stones in this bulwark will be:

1. A system of strategic highways connecting the east and west coasts of north Sakhalin; in Kamchatka and in the Birobidjan Autonomous Republic, wedge-like salient on the Manchurian border; and in parts of Central Asia.
2. The deepening of the Amur river, boundary line between Russia and Manchuria, to accommodate more traffic and thus relieve the load on the Far Eastern railroads.
3. Dredging and modernizing of Vladivostok, Nicolaevsk-on-Amur and other important ports to permit the entry of deeper-draft vessels and accelerate the handling of their cargoes.
4. Construction of more river boats and wharves to accommodate them.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS.

HORSESHOE IN TREE
BEATRICE, Neb. — A rusty horseshoe was found imbedded near the heart of a white elm tree here by J. W. Burks, 95, who has preserved a section of the tree containing the oddity. Burks, who has lived in this vicinity more than 70 years, recalled the shoe was hung on the tree when it was a sapling about as thick as his wrist. He planted the tree in 1882.

BONES OF WHALE
SAN DIEGO, Cal. — Bones of a whale more than 1,000,000 years old were found 170 feet above the present sea level. Workmen excavating on the site of the exposition to be held here this summer, dug up 12 feet of vertebral column. An expert estimated that the whale was 70 feet long, and lived during the pliocene period of geological history.

WHO BUYS YOUR shirts and socks

More than 8 per cent of all men's shirts, stockings, underwear, neckties and handkerchiefs are purchased by women. Why? Men prefer to have their wives and mothers do the shopping because they realize that women are better shoppers—that they have a sixth sense for qualities and values.

How do women keep themselves informed? They have formed the habit of reading the advertisements in the newspapers. And they read them regularly, whether they want to buy anything or not. Then they know exactly where to go to purchase what they need, and they know to a penny just what they will have to pay.

From the advertisements any one can learn where to buy clothes, better foods, better household goods, better EVERYTHING. Read them carefully. They have news and suggestions for you!

NICHOLS-ROGERS NUPITALS SOLEMNIZED.
Mrs. B. W. Stansbury today announced the marriage of her sister, Frances Nichols, to A. D. Rogers Jr., in Kilgore Saturday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Bowman L. Cavern, pastor of the St. Luke Methodist church of that city, and attended by only a few close friends.

Miss Nichols is well known in Cisco, having lived here prior to moving to Austin several years ago. At the time of her marriage she was employed in the East Texas Oil and Gas Division of the Railroad commission.

Mr. Rogers is the son of Mrs. A. D. Rogers of San Antonio and is connected with the Tyler, Texas, Oil and Refining company.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans the couple will return to Tyler where they will make their home.

BIRD IN AIR 10 MONTHS
CLEVELAND — Flights of the arctic tern, a bird which flies 22,000 miles from the North Pole to South Pole in 20 weeks, were described by Mrs. J. M. Rommer, amateur Cleveland ornithologist, in a talk before the Women's City club here. She told also of the remarkable man-of-war bird, which remains in the air for 10 months at a time catching its food on the wing.

Two Nationally Known Educators Will Be Teachers In Texas For Summer Session

AUSTIN, April 1. — Through the cooperation of the state department of education, division of trade and industries, the University of Texas is enabled to bring to the 1935 summer school two nationally known educators, Dr. Charles A. Prosser and Thomas H. Quigley, to serve on the faculty for the first term, June 4 to July 15.

Dr. Prosser is director of Dunwoody Institute, Minneapolis, Minnesota. He is the author of several books and magazine articles on vocational education. He is one of the writers of the Smith-Hughes law and was the first director of the Federal Board for Vocational Education. Mr. Quigley is head of the department of industrial education, Georgia school of technology, Atlanta, Georgia. He has gained national reputation through his work in part-time education and apprenticeship training. Miss Laura Murgoodyear, chief of the university bureau of industrial teacher-training said:

Because of the prominence of the visiting professors in the field of vocational education, it is expected that a large number of school administrators and principals of high schools will enroll for the courses, according to university authorities. C. E. Rakestraw, regional agent for the southern states, office of education, will spend at least one week on the campus. E. L. Williams, professor of industrial education, Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, will be on the teaching staff also. This is made possible by the concentration of the state industrial and commercial teacher training agencies, Miss Murray and Ray L. Martin of the university bureau of industrial teacher training, division of extension, will teach courses as usual. T. H. Shelby, dean of the division of extension, Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, and G. H. Fern, state director of industrial education, will assist in making the program the best vocational program ever offered in Texas, Miss Murray said.

Professor Presents Views Upon Germany

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 2 — Adolf Hitler, German Reichsfuehrer, is safe from criticism, believes Dr. F. K. Kruger, of Wittenberg college here, who has just returned from an extended visit to Germany. Dr. Kruger was a guest professor at the Hochschule Feur Politik, in Berlin. Class barriers have fallen astonishingly, Dr. Kruger said. He pointed out that although the people are poor, free or inexpensive operas keep their minds off lack of material possessions. Religious questions, which have caused wide dissension during the ascent of Hitler to power, are fast disappearing, in the opinion of Dr. Kruger.

FARM SALE SUCCESSFUL
PLATTEVILLE, Wis. —Returns totaled $7,800 at a recent sale on the farm of Frank O. Robinson, east of here, which P. A. Bishop, Platteville, said surpassed any sale in his 35 years experience as auctioneer, for keep bidding and high prices for farm products. A 12-year-old mare sold for $152, and a five-year-old mare for $186. A corn binder sold for $44; a grain binder for $61, and a two-row cultivator for $54.

2,000 VISIT ALTAR
BELOTT, Wis. — Nearly 2,000 residents of this and neighboring communities came in one day and night to visit an altar erected in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cacciatore here in honor of St. Joseph, who was credited with restoring Mrs. Cacciatore's health after it was believed a serious illness had carried her beyond medical aid. The Cacciatore's pledged themselves to honor the saint annually if she regained her health.

HEADS XAVIER UNIVERSITY
CINCINNATI — The Rev. Dr. Denis F. Burns, S. J., of Chicago, has succeeded the Rev. Dr. Hugh F. Slocum, S. J., as president of Xavier University here. The Rev. Dr. Burns formerly was regent of Loyola university law school.

We Must Continue To Lead...

We have been leaders in Cisco and in West Texas in the cleaning business for the past 13 years. Every modern method and device that would make for better cleaning for our customers have been installed as soon as these things have been proven worthy. Our contention has been that Cisco people were entitled to the best... they must have it regardless of cost to us.

BETTER WORK AT SAME COST

Each year we have added to the efficiency of our work. Better cleaning but no advance in price is always our slogan in this shop.

ADDED EQUIPMENT

We have added a new pressure filter to our equipment which eliminates all foreign matter from the cleaning fluid. You will notice the difference, especially in all lighter colored materials and white. That yellowish cast in solid whites will not appear, but rather that snow-white which is so hard to achieve with dry cleaning. You will get it now. We still lead with one of the most modern plants in West Texas.
