JAPS ON ATTU PUT UP A STUBBORN FIGHT

Flood Waters Not as Dangerous as Greedy, Free-Lance Politicians

Legislative measures to help take graft and political racketeering out of Texas' river authorities, created as soil and water conservation agencies, is based on findings of a house legislative committee, according to information from Austin.

A bill passed by the legislature is designed to prevent such abuses and place river authorities under stricter state supervision.

How the legislature came to appoint an investigating committee and the evidence brought out during the lengthy hearing is told in an article published in this month's issue of Public Service Magazine.

The committee was appointed as a result of the free-for-all fight in San Antonio where government agencies were bidding against each other to gain control of the San Antonio Public Service company, ordered sold under the "death sentence" clause of the Public Utility Holding Company Act which is described in the article as "paving the way for unscrupulous politicians to get rich quick . . . at the expense of taxpayers and electric consumers."

The new law would prevent such deals as that involving the San Antonio property where testimony showed that Ed. M. Cape, chairman of the board of directors of the Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority, a state agency, contracted with A. J. Wirtz and D. W. Glasscock, Austin attorneys, to buy the company's stock. Wirtz and Glasscock were to receive a fee equal to 1 per cent of the book value of the properties, or $340,000 on the $34,000,000 book value.

However, before this deal could be completed, a group of taxpayers in San Antonio, who "were opposed to having their utility service under domination of a group of politicians," began legal proceedings to stop the sale.

There followed a long series of suits and counter-suits, resulting finally in sale of the utility to the city of San Antonio for $33,950,000 but with a compromise provision whereby the city was forced to lease a steam generating power plant at New Braunfels to the GBRA.

GBRA, in turn, assigned the leases to the Lower Colorado River Authority at a fee of $250,000 a year. LCRA immediately advanced payment of $150,000 to GBRA as rentals for the first year.

Up until this time, according to evidence before the committee, "GBRA did not even have a bank account and its entire assets consisted of a directors' table, 10 or 12 chairs, a second-hand adding machine, typewriter and desk."

Upon receipt of the $150,000 advance payment from LCRA, the directors of GBRA "held an all-night session and divided the ill-gotten swag" among attorneys. Cape, who holds three jobs in GBRA—chairman of the board, general manager and general counsel—received $25,000. Wirtz, in on the deal as an associate of Glasscock whom he had recommended to GBRA, received a total of $40,000, $30,000 of which was for service in consummating the deal and $10,000 was an advance payment of retainer fees for one year. Glasscock received $20,000. Lesser amounts went to other attorneys. Left to be deposited in GBRA's bank account was $11,500.

The transaction, however, was held up when San Antonio taxpayers, through trustees now operating the utility, filed an injunction suit at least temporarily blocking it and all of the fees were returned.

Another phase of the investigation dealt with Cape's compensation as chairman of GBRA. It was learned that he had been drawing a salary of $100 a month during the past five years in addition to $10 a day for attending meetings. Payments and fees were held to be illegal in a ruling handed down by Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, answering an inquiry from J. E. Winfree, chairman of the investigating committee. The attorney general previously had advised public agencies that their directors could not hold positions created by them.

Testimony also revealed that the city of San Antonio paid a commission of $509,000 on the deal for the property in addition to the purchase price, although a citizen committee, in conference with the mayor, advised him that "there was no need to pay any commissions."

Under terms of the lease, by which GBRA obtained the power plant at New Braunfels, the city agreed to buy power from the plant at the rate of $270,000 a year. Since GBRA leased the plant for $262,000 a year, the city, which also must pay interest of nearly $222,000 a year on bonds covering the plant alone, actually will pay GBRA $8,000 more a year than the authority pays it. Also in the contract is an agreement whereby GBRA can purchase the plant at the end of 30 years for its cost price, less depreciation of $133,000 a year, or for four million dollars less than it cost the city.

When Joe Humphrey, committee member, asked Russell Hill, chairman of the committee for the Taxpayers League of San Antonio, how many trips the mayor made east on the deal and who paid the expenses, Hill said he thought three trips had been made and that "the mayor made the statement that all expenses were paid by the bond dealers, including a new hat for the mayor which I figure cost the city $10,000,000."

RED CROSS ROOMS OPEN FOR WORKERS

Mrs. Austin Flint announces the arrival of surgical dressings material and says the rooms in the Reynolds building will be open at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for those who desire to aid in this necessary Red Cross work.

While it is true that Cisco has always delivered its quota of dressings and other articles on time, the fact of the matter is that practically the same body of willing women have been performing these war tasks for the past two years.

Too much cannot be said in praise of these women, the Daily Press thinks, but the appearance of new workers at the rooms now would be of distinct service to the government and encouraging to the faithful ones. It should not be forgotten that this is "everybody's war."

AMERICAN CASUALTIES.
WASHINGTON, May 18.—The names of an estimated 5,000 casualties of the last four weeks of the Tunisian campaign are expected to be added officially to the total of more than 80,000 battle casualties of the first 17 months of the war.

MONTAGU LOVE DEAD.
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 18.—Montagu Love, who deserted his first job as British newspaper illustrator to become a character actor of stage and screen, is dead at 63 after a long and colorful theatrical career.

SINK MERCY SHIP.
AUSTRALIA, May 18.—The Australian hospital ship Centaur, brightly lighted and plainly marked with the Red Cross, was sunk by a Japanese torpedo off Brisbane early Friday with a loss of 299 persons, it was announced today.

TEXANS PACED NATION

Texas' man in the street paced the entire nation in the purchase of war bonds in the Second War Loan drive.

Frank Scofield, state war bond administrator, disclosed that bond sales to individuals, partnership and personal trust accounts nearly doubled the fixed quota.

Sales to small investors totaled 199 per cent in the 11th federal reserve district which comprises all of Texas and parts of Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona. Texas has 254 of the 311 counties making up this district.

The district had a goal of $400,000,000 for all bond sales in the war loan drive. It handed Uncle Sam a cool $572,451,600 to make it hot for the axis in translation of bonds to armament and ammunition. This means the goal was oversubscribed by 43 per cent.

Banks, institutions and governmental departments invested heavily in the war loan drive, but the individual investor—the man in the street—emerges as a great factor in its success, the No. 1 bond salesman declared.

"This shows beyond a doubt that the average man has wholeheartedly accepted his responsibility in the people's war," Scofield added.

VISIT JUNIOR COLLEGE AND LAKE CISCO

A number of seniors from the Rising Star high school are visiting the Cisco Junior college today, with the thought in mind of enrolling in the school during the summer, or for the fall term. After visiting the library, office and auditorium, they expressed a desire to visit the biology, botany and chemical laboratories.

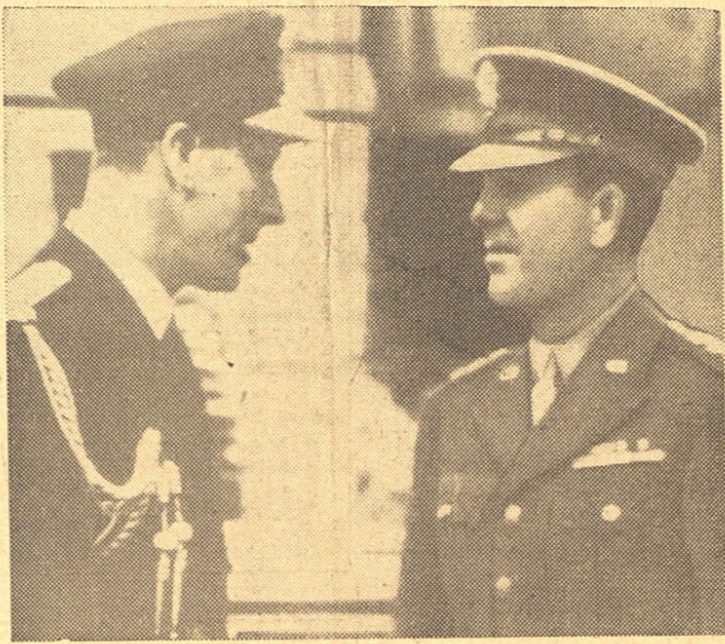

The girls found courage to inspect the skeleton, counting his bones, and were especially interested in viewing the embalmed specimens of queer fish and animals used to illustrate these subjects. They enjoyed looking at the butterfly collection, but did not seem especially interested in the smelly chemicals in the chemical laboratory.

The group will spend a part of the afternoon swimming and skating at Lake Cisco, where so many school classes are holding their picnics this year.

President R. N. Cluck and Registrar C. J. Turner welcomed the visitors and showed them over the buildings.

Those registering as visitors were James Fred Cook, class president; Nita Whitlock, class reporter; Wanda Maxwell, Poly Johnagin, Dadie Morris, Stella Earp, Lucile Smith, John Canofax, James Wolf, Milton Cox, Bob Reynolds and Jack Jones.

OUT TOO LATE.
FT. WORTH, May 17.—Eight persons, including two Army Air Forces officers, received serious injuries in the collision of two automobiles at 3:50 a. m. Tuesday at Long and Northwest Highway.

DEVERS TAKES OVER — Lieut. General Jacob L. Devers, right, greeted by Lord Louis Mountbatten in London, as he takes over command of U. S. Forces in European theater of operations. He succeeds late Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews.

CHINESE ART—Alison Stilwell, 22, daughter of Lieut. General Joseph W. Stilwell, commander of American forces in China, Burma and India, demonstrates her art in Chinese manner at Loo gallery, New York. Proceeds of exhibit under auspices of United China Relief go to Chinese war orphans.

SURE OF A WALK—Judy Conover, left, and Lois Drummond of East Orange, N. J., agreed that if Mrs. Adolph Schmidt would buy a War Bond, they'd walk her Boston terrier, Snooty, every day until vacation time. So Mrs. Schmidt bought a $5,000 bond and that put the girls top bond sellers in their school.

PICNIC A COMPLETE SUCCESS

About 500 people attended the get-together program and luncheon at Lake Cisco Sunday afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock with bugle calls for eats at about 5:30. Women of the canteen, instructors and their families, visiting soldiers and Ciscoans, formed the group.

Younger members of the party enjoyed swimming and other forms of recreation before the call to mess was sounded. Local Cisco women and those from Cisco Ordnance Training Center canteen arranged the great stacks of food that piled the table from which it was served cafeteria style to the lines that later formed to take their plates to some convenient shade or bench.

Women chatted as they busied themselves getting acquainted with each other, while the men did odd jobs of carrying water and mentally staked out certain food items that especially appealed to them.

Visiting soldiers who were the guests of various personages were invited to make themselves at home and they seemed to enjoy the event.

Following the meal, E. L. Jackson acted as toastmaster, while Ernest Hittson led the group in religious and patriotic songs. Sim Ledford and his scout troop helped in various capacities.

Mayor Edward Lee welcomed all in his inimitable, jovial manner, saying that Ciscoans found delight in extending a neighborly hand to the women and instructors of the school.

Mrs. Eleanor Phillips, supervisor of women at the school, spoke a few words of appreciation for the cooperation of the local women committee, while Supt. J. R. Crawford and Coordinator Harry F. Grossman were recognized, but declined to speak. Rev. J. R. Wright was recognized and Rev. L. W. Seymour spoke the benediction.

Cisco women and women of the canteen spread their lunches together, each group furnishing their proportionate share.

There was food for all—seemingly enough for twice the number—but the fact that people were hungry and the food was good, left very little to be carried away, which was a compliment more impressive than mere words.

Among those who aided in preparing and serving the food were the following:

Ciscoans—Mrs. E. L. Graham, Mrs. Karl Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Drumwright, Miss Merle Shook, Mrs. John Shertzer, Mrs. W. W. Wallace, Mrs. R. B. Carswell, Mrs. Rex Moore, Mrs. Geo. Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fee, Mrs. Alex Spears, Mrs. Charles Clark, Mrs. Andrew Watson, Miss Alice Bacon, Mrs. Pat Cartwright, Mrs. R. R. Jones, Mrs. Homer Hensley, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Nance, Mrs. A. E. Jamison, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kleiner, Don Rupe, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Donohoe, Mrs. W. H. LaRoque, Mrs. E. L. Jackson, Mrs. Edward Lee, Mrs. R. N. Cluck and Miss Fern Hart.

From the Canteen—Mrs. Bernice Grieger, Mrs. Z. M. Lockhart, Mrs. W. B. Peoples, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brittain, Mrs. Rachael Glidwell, Miss Kate Chambers, Mrs. Vera Doyle, Miss Edna Hightower, Mrs. Opal Ehrhridge, Mrs. L. M. Barron, Miss Vera Hale, Mrs. Eula Grantz.

"VETO BUGABOO."
WASHINGTON, May 18.—House advocates of the Ruml plan today accused President Roosevelt of raising a "veto bugaboo" but said they would go down the line for the skip-a-year tax plan anyway.

NUTCRACKER OPERATIONS OF YANKS SUCCESSFUL, THOUGH DENSE FOGS HAMPER DRIVE

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Japanese defenders of Attu Island, entrenched along a rocky ridge, are offering stubborn resistance to a two-pronged American attacking force, the Navy announced today.

In its first detailed account of the Attu campaign, now starting its second week, the Navy reported that despite dirty Aleutian weather, our troops have managed to establish their positions on the island.

"Operations against the Enemy are continuing," the Navy said.

The military situation, the Navy said, has clarified sufficiently to permit disclosure of some of the details of the American landings on that Japanese island base.

It disclosed that the operations were confined to the northeastern and southeastern ends of the island, which is 233 (nautical) miles from Amchitka, nearest U. S. base.

Prior to the landings of the main American forces, scouting parties were put ashore at Blind Cove, in Holtz Bay, which is on the northeastern side of Attu, it is said.

Subsequently the main bodies of troops began landing at two points—the Holtz Bay area on the northeastern side and at Massacre Bay, on the southeastern end of the island.

The operations were carried out with the support of a bombardment by accompanying naval surface forces. The naval guns blasted at enemy installations in both areas while Army planes, presumably operating from Amchitka, raked enemy positions in the vicinity of Chichagof Harbor, near Holtz Bay.

After the landings, both columns of American troops advanced inland, apparently in a "nutcracker" operation. But they encountered stubborn enemy resistance, especially from many machine gun nests installed in the rocky terrain of the island.

The Japanese, having the initial benefits of well-established defense positions, as well as familiarity with the islands' terrain, are probably taking advantage of adverse weather conditions to hold up the American advance.

Experts pointed out that Kiska has an average of 280 days of fog a year and that although this month and the next are the best there are few consecutive days of even reasonably clear weather.

Furthermore, they said, the fog gets so thick that even gun flashes could be obscured.

STRIKE BILL FAIR TO ALL GOOD CITIZENS

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Top-flight government officials fought alongside the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations today against the Connally-Smith anti-strike bill which they contend would hamstring the war effort. The bill which has already been approved by the senate and now awaits house action would outlaw strikes, compel unions to file membership and financial statements, and require 30 days' notice and a secret ballot among workers before walkouts could be called in any industry.

GREATEST BLOW.
LONDON, May 18.—The Ruhr Valley flood caused by RAF blasting of three dams on the Eder and Mohne rivers was described in reports from Europe today as Germany's greatest catastrophe of the war, with thousands drowned and whole cities inundated or isolated by surging waters.

DEFLATED.

The psychological victory in the North African campaign is as great as the military victory. A momentous thing has happened, coming almost out of a clear sky. Nazi Germany is deflated.

War correspondents, impressed by an almost unbroken series of German victories in this war, could hardly believe their eyes as they saw 200,000 Axis troops giving up mentally and morally before they were licked militarily. The licking would have come just the same, but the astonishing thing was the way those supermen "jumped the gun" in holding up their hands as they had done in the final stages of the last war. There was resistance, of course, but nothing like what the victors had every reason to expect.

"I have seen more German trucks this day," wrote a correspondent, "than I had seen in all the months of this war, every one of them filled with prisoners in a hurry to surrender. It is fantastic, crazy. I talked with a British major who was at Dunkerque. He couldn't understand it. They had plenty of guns, they had good positions, they had millions of mines. They could have made a hell of a fight. But they just packed up. Nobody seems to know why."

Something was wrong with those Germans, and something must be wrong in Germany.

One way to get Italy out of the war is to bomb her cities, including Rome, like the cities of England and France were bombed. The people of America do not believe Italy can be depended upon, and that the champion betrayer should be given lots of the medicine it so eagerly dosed out to others.

NURSES.

The nurse situation is getting out of hand. Some hospitals are closing off rooms and wards with desperately needed beds because there are not nurses enough to take care of the patients. Others are overcrowded with patients who get barely enough care because a short staff has too much ground to cover.

Moreover, the need for nurses both here and overseas is not going to stop for a long time. Right now the army needs 2,500 more a month and the navy asks for 500 more a month.

The problem has gone beyond the bounds of professional nursing, which requires long training. Any woman, even unskilled, can help greatly by offering her services. In cities where the Red Cross trains nurses' aides, they take over the routine hospital tasks, giving the trained nurse more time to use her training where it is most needed. Every hospital can use hard-working volunteers in some way.

At the same time women who are graduate nurses but who retired some years ago can come back with a little brush-up work to take over the jobs in hospitals and doctors' offices, permitting the young nurses with up-to-date experience to go into army and navy service. Taking care of sick civilians and wounded servicemen is a tremendous task, but it's a task in which thousands of women who never dreamed of nursing as a career can help now.

TAXPAYERS.

Spokane, Wash., has tackled a new experiment in the realm of human nature, and has come out on top. It is a demonstration apparently indicating that people will be honest even about their taxes, when put on their honor.

It was time for tax assessments on farms and personal property and it was hard to get deputies for the job. So the assessor decided to take a chance on human nature for once. He sent blanks by mail to all the taxpayers, with instructions, asking them to assess their own property. There would be a good deal of cheating, he figured, but maybe the saving of costs would make up for it.

To his astonishment, the property owners didn't seem to cheat at all. When the returns were all in, the honor system had produced $600,000 more than last year. The cost per assessment was only 10 cents instead of $1.25.

So honesty gets a good advertisement, and it wouldn't be surprising now if this plan were used in other places.

CANDIDATES.

Though 1944 is still far away, the presidential candidates are already out campaigning. Some are doing it openly, some indirectly, but the purpose is the same.

One state is particularly well supplied, having no less than three eminent citizens anxious to serve the country. All shades of opinion on post-war cooperation are represented. Senator X is in favor, Senator Y is against. Governor Z is not on record on this ticklish subject, but is uncompromisingly in favor of home and mother, and against sin.

An old technique, this of Governor Z's. It may work again. But just now it looks as if he had a poor opinion of voters' intelligence. He is at any rate not following in the footsteps of Abraham Lincoln.

LIBRARIES.

The United States embassy has just opened an American library in London for use of Allied officials, research institutions, business and newspaper men. This sounds strange. London has many good libraries, why a special one for Americans? Granted that this one contains many books and periodicals not easily obtained elsewhere, why not give the material to libraries already existing? Why a new one?

The answer is that the American library, like the American drugstore, has ways of its own, not known elsewhere.

American libraries are almost alone in their "Open Shelf" principle—and many older libraries even here still operate on the principle that reading should be made as difficult as possible. The easy browsing around open racks of new and attractive books, looking at this, dipping into that, reading an hour and going home with an armful of books easily obtained by merely showing a card, is still unknown in most parts of the world. One of the funniest stories of the last war was that of the librarian of the American Peace Commission to get for Woodrow Wilson a book he wanted for a few days' reference. The mere idea of taking a book out was almost too much for the staff of the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris. It "wasn't done." But finally it was.

So it's natural that business and newspaper men and army officials used to American library methods should want a library of their own.

Americans who toe the line and aid the war effort in every way they can, are becoming fed-up with men of the John L. Lewis type — some of whom hold federal positions. Is there any good reason why native-born Americans should be treated differently from enemy aliens, when their acts imperil the safety of the nation?

STELL OF ANSON DISTRICT LEGION HEAD

Training for post-war activities and citizenship and expansion of Victory Crops work in high schools were the things emphasized at the American Legion convention at Breckenridge, Sunday, when A. L. Stell, of Anson, was elected to head the 17th district body for the next year.

Chaplain James R. Wright of Cisco preached the sermon Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Dr. J. W. Dansforth, of Fort Worth, national executive committeeman from Texas, gave one of the outstanding addresses. The state commander, Capt. Charles Maisel of Borger was another important speaker at the convention. The next session will be held at DeLeon, in August.

Those attending from Cisco were Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Huestis, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Poe, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Nance, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mrs. E. T. Personette, Mrs. Irene Hallmark, Mrs. H. N. Lyle and Miss Mamye Estes.

Legs More Revealed As Hosiery Becomes Parachutes

WITH large quantities of hosiery material being used for parachutes—happy landing gear for our Paratroops—stockings become increasingly precious. As a result, legs will be about as bare this Spring and Summer as Eve's when she wandered through the Garden without a worry about such problems.

In their new revelation, care of the legs now comes into the same sphere of importance in beautification routine as hair, teeth, face and hands—since they have become similarly exposed to view.

Because it is now more essential than ever that legs be free of hair or fuzz, if attractiveness is to be preserved, this condition has brought depilatories and epilator wax into the limelight so, in this Springtime review, it seems timely to explain their different properties and effects as well as those of lotion stockings, a natural companion piece, now generally referred to as "Victory" stockings because every time a pair is "painted on," more material becomes available for our Airborne troops.

Depilatories, in cream and lotion form, are for the woman-in-a-hurry and lack in lasting quality, as compared with epilator wax, what they offer in time required for application, although the time difference is only a matter of minutes.

Depilatories are applied generously to the affected parts, allowed to remain on for a few minutes and then removed with soap and water. Depilatories dissolve hair above and to the surface of the skin whereas epilator wax removes hair from beneath the skin as well.

Epilator wax takes a little longer to apply but, because it removes the hair "bulbs" from beneath the skin, regrowth is slower, the effect is longer lasting, new hair usually returns in less quantity and finer texture and, in most instances, each following application has even a longer effect. Two a year generally suffice.

Epilator is an odorless compound with a wax base, especially prepared by Madame Berthe, Fifth Avenue specialist in hair removal, who gives the following instructions for its most effective use: Heat the epilator wax in a pan until soft and semi-liquid; apply warm, not hot, with the back of a teaspoon; allow to cool to a soft wax-like consistency, grasp the end firmly and then, in a single, quick pull, zip it off against the grain of the hair. Small sections of about two by five or six inches should be treated and repeated on similar sections until the entire affected area has been covered. Long hair should be cut to about one quarter inch before application. In removing facial hair, the entire surface of the lip, chin or one cheek may be treated in a single application because of their small surface areas. Epilator wax may be re-used until it becomes too clotted with hair.

Choo Choo Johnson, glamorous "Cover Girl" whom you have probably met on Red Book and other covers, prepares for a day on the artist's pedestal by zipping off a strip of epilator wax to make her legs clean and attractive and (right) zipping on a pair of sheer Victory stockings—fresh from the bottle.

After using either a depilatory or epilator, the skin should be rubbed with good quality witch hazel. This leaves a smooth, non-greasy surface to which Victory stocking lotion will adhere without streaks or spots.

As a result of laboratory development through the Winter, Victory stocking lotions this Spring are improvements of last year's issue and new claims are made that they apply without streaks or spots; will not rub off against clothing or furniture and can only be removed with soap and water. Victory lotion stockings are daintily scented with a fragrance reminiscent of fresh linen taken from an old spicewood chest.

So, in anticipating our need for new helps to allurements, that will not take too much time from our full program in war aid activities, the patient workers in the cosmetics laboratories, offer, this Springtime, an epilator that quickly zips off unattractive fuzz from newly bared legs in a few minutes, and, Victory "stockings," zipped on just as fast that will not run and cost only a few cents a pair.

CHANNEL CATS GROW LARGE, LAKE CISCO

Some men can do one thing well and there are others who do many things successfully, but Harvey Thurman seems to be one of those men who do any number of things. In addition to running a successful service station, Thurman is a farmer, stock grower, gardener and fisherman.

And his status as a fisherman seems to be well established by the fact that yesterday and last night Thurman brought in from the lake a 24-pound cat fish and a smaller one of about eight pounds — this in addition to a number of smaller ones, that the ordinary fisherman might think were well worth talking about.

WALT PRESTON WRITES PRESS FROM TUNISIA

Staff Sgt. Walter Preston, who is with the armed forces abroad, writes the Daily Press as follows:

Dear Sir: Just a few lines to let you know that everything is fine in Tunisia. The main purpose of this letter is to let all of my friends in Cisco know that I have been reading of the fine work they are doing there. This concerns the Training School and the Service club operated for the boys in uniform.

I have been receiving the Daily Press and it is just like a letter from the boys that I have played ball with — that may be in the Solomons, Australia or on the other battle fronts. Please tell them through your paper that I am still holding down that right end. My love to every one.

KEEP 'EM ROLLING

WAR, 1943 style, is war on wheels. Men, weapons and materials vital to victory must be moved swiftly, safely and without delay.

But each day accidents at grade crossings in America injure or kill 19 motorists and delay 38 trains a total of 22 hours—a drain on manpower and time that a nation at war simply cannot afford.

Will you, as a patriotic driver, enlist in the nationwide campaign now under way to stop these accidents? Here's how you can help:

1. Be extra careful—wartime careful—in all your driving.
2. Be especially alert when approaching a grade crossing.
3. Be sure the way is clear before you cross the tracks.
4. LOOK, LISTEN and LIVE!

Help keep 'em rolling for victory!

For, you can't do your best at a war job without the proper clothing. And Penney's and its people are making every effort to provide you with the new clothes you need. Clothing that's sturdy—smart—thrifty—clothing for all the family.

There are over 1600 Penney stores but each is a local institution. Each employs local people, pays local taxes, caters to local tastes.
