THREE NEW WELLS ON THE TOLLE LEASE AT THE DOOR OF LEERAY

By J. B. Hitt Special to the News.

LEERAY, July 25.—Reporting three completions yesterday in rapid fire order, Leeray, the new mushroom town located northeast of Cisco, figured prominently in the report for the North Texas oil fields for the week just closed.

The trio of new wells which has added impetus to building activity in Leeray is located on the Tolle lease and in the near vicinity, approximately one and one-half miles due east of Leeray.

The first well reported in the S. E. Tolle No. 2 of the Oriental Oil company, with headquarters in Dallas, formerly the Ajax Oil company. After a period of nearly three hours, following the ignition of a 300-quart shot of nitro in the lime at 3,192 feet, the well began flowing with a rush of liquid gold that showed one hundred feet over the crown block.

At practically the same time as the Oriental's completion, the Southwestern Oil Development company, with field headquarters in Eastland, shot their Tolle No. 1 into production at about the same depth for 2,500 barrels production. These two wells are offsets. The Parker Greene No. 1, adjoining the Southwestern's well, was reported in at 600 barrels.

It reveals to you the Supreme Realism of the New Edison, the phonograph with which Mr. Edison has challenged the talking-machine manufacturers of the world.

It shows you the charm of music's imagery. It transports you to the far-away. It makes you lose consciousness of your surroundings.

This Fascinating Test

enables you to determine, in an interesting and scientific way, whether the Realism of the New Edison gives you the same emotions as the living singer's voice—as the sound of the actual instrument—or as the performance of great bands and orchestras.

Noted Psychologists endorse this entertaining experiment as the correct way to ascertain the New Edison's Realism. You, too, may enjoy this experiment. We invite you to try it.

It will answer, once and for all, your questions, "Can I have the voices of living singers at my beck and call, in my own home? Can I have the great orchestras and bands of the world exactly as they sound?"

METHODIST CHURCH HANDSOME EDIFICE TO BE OPENED TODAY

One of the Most Beautiful and Commodious Houses of Worship in the State — A Monument to Cisco Enterprise and the Energy and Devotion of the Congregation.

The opening of the new Methodist church today is a great event in the church history of Cisco. It marks the coming of a new order of things in religious circles of the city. To think of Cisco, which was but a village a few years ago, now having within its limits a church worth at least $100,000. The new building, with its equipment, cost $80,000, but it was contracted for a year ago and if the contract was to be let now at prevailing prices of labor and material, the building alone could not be duplicated for the first named price.

It is a beautiful building of brick, the architecture being of a type most pleasing from the exterior and with its art glass windows presents a continuing pleasing picture, a monument to the enterprise of the people of Cisco, and the devotion and earnest effort of the members of the congregation, coupled with the faithful work of the pastor, Rev. L. N. Stuckey.

The building has an unusually large auditorium, the acoustic properties of which are perfect. Rev. Stuckey said yesterday that the auditorium is to be open to the whole people of the city when important personages come to the city to lecture or for like purposes and they wanted the people to so look upon it.

There are organized class rooms, department rooms, a library, gymnasium, dining room, kitchen, boys' department and everything in keeping with all that is modern in church construction as developed in the larger cities.

The work of construction and equipment is not complete nor will it be for some time, but the auditorium and choir loft have been finished so that services may continue right along.

Rev. W. A. Stuckey of Stephenville, father of the pastor, will preach the opening sermon today, beginning a revival meeting to continue two weeks.

The new church is located at the corner of Broadway and Avenue A. A cordial invitation is extended to all the citizens of Cisco to attend the opening services today.

MRS. HARDING REAL NEWSPAPER WOMAN. SHE KNOWS THE GAME

Associated Press. MARION, O., July 24.—Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the republican presidential nominee, was born and reared in this city and was married to Senator Harding in the house on Mt. Vernon avenue where the Hardings now live.

While few residents of Marion county say they never thought of Warren Harding when a boy, as president of the United States, many of them, and particularly the women, say they pictured Mrs. Harding as the first lady of the land.

Many of Mrs. Harding's girlhood chums are still living in Marion. They all speak of her as "Florence." She never had a nickname, they say, but—Most everybody spoke of her when a girl as "tomboy," "harumscarum," "stubborn," jolly or "daredevil."

One thing is certain, however, Marion women are rooting for Mrs. Harding. They are rooting for her, they say, because "she has a mind of her own, generally manages to get what she wants; is thoroughly democratic, likes to give and go to parties, is interested in a hundred and one things, knows how to talk to everyone, (including men), and once she knows you, she always knows you."

Mrs. Harding in Marion has a reputation of being a "real woman." Many residents congratulate Warren Harding more on his wife than his political career and some of them who are rooting a little harder than others for her say "she is the power behind the throne."

Mrs. Harding was born August 15, 1860, and is five years Senator Harding's senior. She attended the public schools and high school in Marion and afterwards studied music at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. As a little girl she is known in Marion as "having preferred to play with boys than girls," and many recall her dressed in full skirt and pantalettes of the time and picture her "with one pantalette up and the other down."

"Florence Kling (Mrs. Harding's name before her marriage) was one of the greatest horsewomen I have ever seen," said Mrs. Margaret Younkins, a Marionite who has known Mrs. Harding since her childhood. "She rode and drove more like a man than a girl."

Mrs. Younkins said Florence could curvy a horse, hitch up and drive just as well as any man. Marion was more accustomed to seeing Florence Kling dashing mady up the street on Billy, her saddle horse, than walking demurely along like other girls of her "set", she added.

Mrs. Frank Johnson and Mrs. Laura Dombaugh, girlhood friends of Mrs. Harding, both attested to the fact that "she had a will of her own," and told of the days when "they piled into Florence's pheasant and rode with perfect confidence behind Florence's speedy Billy."

Residents of Marion still talk of the displeasure of her father, Amos Kling, over her marriage to Henry De Wolfe, and her later determination to marry Warren G. Harding in 1891, after her first husband's death. Mrs. Harding's two grandchildren are George Warren and Jean De Wolfe of Marion.

Warren and Florence Harding were married in their present home on Mt. Vernon avenue. For more than twelve years until illness prevented, Mrs. Harding was circulation manager of the Star—her husband's newspaper. In addition she was the registration bureau of complaints, advertising manager and angel to the newsboys.

THREE-YEAR-OLD SOUNDS ALARM; 'MUYVER' WAS GONE
By International News Service.
READING, Mass., July 24.—Climbing to the top of his highchair, three-year-old Francis Irwin pulled a fire box alarm. In addition to the whole fire department, practically the entire population turned out.

The child awaited the arrival of the apparatus and to the fire chief explained: "My muvver's gone for blue berries and I don't want my house to burn."

The child dragged his high chair half a mile to pull the alarm.

LET'S START THE BALL!

Just what is meant by the term "A public spirited citizen?" Why is it that "public spirited" citizens are mentioned frequently in the newspapers, while thousands of other citizens, just as capable, remain obscured?

Whose town is it in which you live?

Whose interest is at stake in making it a good town in which to live, more than your interest?

Who will profit and be made happier by having better schools, more paved streets, good lighting, clean yards and alleys, more dwellings, up-to-date fire and police protection, a first class water system, modern sewerage ducts, beautiful parks, clean playgrounds?

"Everybody," you say.
 Exactly.
 And everybody means you.
 Geographically, Cisco is ideally located.
 It is almost exactly in the center of the principality of Texas.
 Its surrounding territory is rich in agricultural and mineral resources.
 Its future is practically limitless.
 It is bound to become a great metropolis—a great distributing, educational, social and cultural center.
 How soon Cisco becomes a metropolis depends to a very great extent upon the "public spirit" of its citizens.
 There is no reason why Cisco should ape along after so many cities where a handful of "public spirited citizens" have fought, and worked and died to build up a sluggish, half-hearted civic pride and enthusiasm.
 Every citizen of Cisco should be a two-fisted, alert-minded, intense, determined, unbeatable booster.
 Cisco is comparatively new. Its citizens, in the aggregate, are comparatively new.
 Now, while Cisco and its citizens are new, is the time to plan and build and achieve along new and modern lines.

 Right now the citizens of Cisco should be actively engaged in zoning the city, in determining what section is to be devoted to manufacturing, what section to wholesaling, what section to terminals and warehouses, what section to churches, schools and parks and playgrounds.
 In this every citizen should become a "public spirited citizen," having at heart the welfare of our children and our children's children.
 Everywhere throughout the United States today there is a disquieting paucity of dwellings.
 Many towns and cities are being retarded from natural growth and accretion because of an inadequate number of buildings in which to house newcomers, or would-be-newcomers. Cisco is no exception to this handicap, and Cisco should, at once, organize for the purpose of promoting and hastening a comprehensive building program. "Waiting for lower prices" is the excuse being offered by many communities for making no effort to take care of the strangers that knock at her gates.
 The town that scorns this excuse, the town that gets busy now, is the town that will reap the harvests of the future.
 Cisco has that chance.
 Opportunity is knocking at its door with a sledge hammer.
 Prosperity is tearing its hair for fear the citizens of Cisco are going to send it seeking elsewhere for an ideal home.
 Dissatisfied and undecided families by the thousands are waiting for our call.
 Get busy!
 Let every citizen become "public spirited."
 In place of placid and sluggish enthusiasm let us megaphone the name Cisco to the four corners of the earth.

Form a building and housing committee right now.
 Adopt a slogan or symbol—the best that can be devised.
 Here is one, off hand:
 Center of Industry
 Stability
 Culture
 Opportunity.

Cisco is your own home town. It is up to you Mr. Jones, Mrs. Smith, Mr. Clark, Mrs. Wilson, to make it a town of which Texas and the United States will be proud.
 Let's go!

TEMPEST IN TEAPOT.

An assistant attorney general, at the eleventh hour, discovered that election tickets in Texas could not have the union printers' label printed on them; that the law provided that no device, none of any kind, might be placed on the ballot.
 In many counties the ballots had been printed, carrying this label and had been distributed to the several boxes. In Tarrant county, members of the county committee were making heroic efforts to reach outlying boxes and have the end of the ballot, carrying the label, cut off, so as to validate the ballot.
 Such was the case in McLennan county and in perhaps many other counties. With this decision coming as it did, just a day before the election, it is far more than probable that many ballots will be cast bearing the label.
 Will the election judges track the law in its technicalities and throw out these ballots? Technically, it may be the law, but just how that should be allowed to rob a qualified voter of his franchise is hard to figure out. If it ever gets to the courts, it never will. The courts have uniformly held that the one and only point to be considered in the question of a mutilated ballot, is to get at the real intention of the voter and to hold that a printer's label on the bottom of a ballot would in any way keep the voter from exercising his right of franchise, as dictated by a free mind, is going even beyond imagination.

BUILDING IN CISCO.

With the opening today of a handsome new church edifice there will be brought to the attention of the people of Cisco, as well as to those outside, that what this city is building now it is building well. The church referred to is one fitting for any city of several times the population of Cisco.
 The large number of substantial business structures recently completed and others in course of construction, bear out the statement that the city is building well. Everything modern known to the builder is being applied in this construction.
 Many fine residences have been built in the city and more are building and still more contemplated. The improvements in this line are keeping pace with business buildings.
 The completion of this beautiful church is an evidence of the growth of the religious congregations of the city, not this one alone, as others are preparing to build.
 Cisco is proud of its churches and schools, two institutions which appeal more strongly than do any others, when parents are seeking a place to rear and educate their children. These are always considered by the class of people who make the best citizens—the kind Cisco is bidding for.
 It may be said of building in Cisco at the present time, nothing constructed but for which there is a pressing demand. Many of the buildings in the business district are leased by the time the foundations are laid and many lease contracts have been based on the architects' plans.

 With schools and churches, its good citizenship, its great and rapidly growing volume of business, its rapid development of industries and natural resources, its splendid water supply and its healthfulness of climate, Cisco stands unmatched in West Texas as a desirable place to reside and to profitably conduct a business.

THE "LAND OF THE FREE"

Alexander Berkman has been back to Russia.
 But Alexander finds he doesn't like Russia.
 Things there are not what he expected to find them.
 Emma Goldman has been sent back to Russia.
 But Emma isn't pleased with Russia.
 Things there aren't to her liking she finds.
 Both anarchists now know that soviet Russia isn't a Utopia.
 Both now realize that their foolish and mischievous dreams have ended in dread nightmares.
 But we have others, and others, in this country who are still dreaming such false and foolish dreams, and they are constantly and insistently voicing these dreams—and thus leading still other feeble minded folk astray.
 It's all pitiful, of course; yet it's all contemptible! Russia—the land freed from oppressors? Think of it! And America—"the land of the iron heel!" Contemplate it! Russia—"the land of broken fetters!" America—"the land of bars and steel!" Shall we laugh—or weep? Russia—a paradise; America—a purgatory!
 According to this misguided rhythmic sort: It's the dying day of society and government in America; it's the "Day Newborn" in Russia. This is the land of "Mammon's midnight!" that is the land of "the Workers' morn." America is a realm of tyranny; Russia is a realm of freedom. There is no "Brotherhood of Man" in the United States; such delectable condition is to be found only in bolsheviet Russia.
 And we have foolish folks who force themselves to think they believe such stuff!
 And we let these mad morials run amok—and infect hosts of other impressionable unfortunates.
 And then we wonder why unrest is growing and spreading and strengthening in this country.

ROAD EQUIPMENT IS BEING SECURED AT UNUSUAL LOW PRICE

County Commissioners Receive Twelve Carloads of Left Over War Material and Are Disposing of It to the Contractors at Good Profit — Includes Most Everything Needed.

It is difficult to realize the vast amount of supplies sent by the government to France during the war, but some idea of it may be gathered from the large quantities of "junk" now being disposed of at nominal prices. Evidence of this are to be found right here, in this county, through what the county commissioners are doing.

County Judge Starnes was in Cisco Friday and told of what they are securing to be used in the construction of roads in the county. And they are securing these articles and the material at a price which will not only equip the county for the work, but which will enable the commissioners to make money on the investment.

Much of this left-over war material was, by the war department, turned over to the department of agriculture and through this the county commissioners were enabled to make their purchases.

No less than twelve carloads have been secured. They are big trucks, costing $4,500 to $5,000 and the Ford trucks, costing probably $1,300, and all were secured at a uniform price of $250. The material from the war department is scattered all over the country. The commissioners obtained a carload of dynamite from San Antonio and a carload of barbed wire from Galveston. An industrial railway came from Atlantic City, N. J.

The commissioners got the dynamite for nothing by paying the cost of putting it into sticks and paying the freight. They are selling this to the contractors at 200 per cent profit. The wire will be used where the county is obligated to fence the right of way for the roads.

One car contained 475 squares of corrugated iron which was sold to the contractors and with which they will build storehouses for cement and tools. This, too, was sold at a good profit.

The industrial railroad tells better than anything else how the government had on hand, at the close of the war, millions of dollars worth of material which had not been sent to France. This industrial railroad consists of track 24 inches wide, cars and engines for transporting material. It cost the government $175,000, and was created, ready for shipment to France, but was never sent. It is now and the commissioners secured it for 25 per cent of its value. They have leased it to the contractors for two years, at 25 per cent of its value for each year and at the termination of the contract the commissioners will have secured twice what they paid for it and have the property left. It can be used to get material from the stone quarries to the contractors' work in weather when wagon roads would be impassable.

Among the purchases was one carload of Ford touring cars, listed as "junk." The price paid for them was $25 per car. The frames, the body, the top and the engine, are all in perfect condition, but they had been "robbed." In other words, the seats, or wheels, rims or tires had been taken off to be used on other cars.

Judge Starnes pointed out one on the streets in Cisco which had been repaired in a few hours. New wheels and tires were necessary and the total cost of the car, when completed, was $210, including the original purchase price. Judge Starnes said it was as good for service over rough places as would be a new car and would last nearly as long. These are provided for the road engineers, who must travel all the rough places going to and from their work.

Two new water wagons were in one car received. These were leased for two years for $400, far more than the original cost.

In one car were sixty sets of harness. Fifty sets of these were sold for more than enough to pay for everything in the car, including twenty-four pumps, a dozen forges, the two water wagons and a lot of iron and other articles and to pay the freight.

The commissioners have a man engaged scouting for what they need. He is in Washington now. The profit they are making on this material is converted back into the road fund and will go to increase it that much more.

In speaking of the big trucks, Judge Starnes said they are using them for grading, after rains. They do not cost so much to operate as does a tractor and travel three times as fast. He said road experts claim that traveling fast makes the road grader do better work as it strikes the top dirt at such speed as to throw it ahead of the grader blade, and fill the rut instead of slowly dragging it away and leaving the rut open. He said most excellent work is being done in this way.

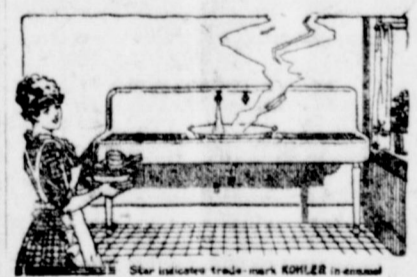

Securing this equipment and getting it more quickly than would be the case if the contractors had to go into the open market and buy it, will aid much in forwarding the work of construction on the county road system.

YOUTH WITHOUT JOB TURNS TO BE ROBBER, CAUGHT, HE REPENTS

Raymond Weir, of Paterson, N. J., sixteen years old, tried to enter the fifth avenue mansion of Mrs. Andrew Carnegie the other night. He fell from the window he tried to enter and was caught by a private detective. He told his story to the International News Service correspondent.

(Written for International News Service) By Margery Rex.

NEW YORK, July 24.—While many go out to conquer the world, woman must wait and watch and weep—and incidentally wash and iron and sweep and sew—that man may come home to quiet and order. Thus he will, while amassing dollars, have in his home someone to save his currency, plan for his comfort and cater to his whims.

Wives and mothers are famous for that sort of service, to say nothing of grandmothers, maiden aunts and sisters.

Of course, when seventeen-year-old Raymond Weir, of Paterson, N. J., and more recently of New York City, left home to support himself in this wild mad village of ours the $14 a week he began to earn sounded like real money.

Raymond has today a royal purple first pay envelope with largesse. The other night he fell off Mrs. Andrew Carnegie's second-story window ledge while trying to enter and rob—so Raymond avers—her Ninetieth street villa. He now rests in the Tombs.

Between the moment Ray received his first pay envelope with largesse of $14 and the instant of crawling into the back yard of the philanthropist's window, Raymond learned bitter, hard, cruel facts about life. He acquired more philosophy than funds.

The downy bloom of youth is on Raymond's cheeks. His hair is a regular carrot color, and his pale face—his health is not good—is powdered with green-gold freckles.

"Money seemed to go further when I was home," said Raymond sadly. "My mother manages somehow. When my father died all he left us was a house. My mother rents that and she lives in West Paterson, and my two sisters work in the silk mills. They get along all right."

"I learned to be a typist, but got a stenographer's job over there, and knew it was too much for me. My lungs aren't good, and for six months last year I was at a cure on a farm. I got a lot better, but didn't have enough experience for the job I had. I knew I would lose it and the folks would be disappointed. So I quit. They thought I was lazy, I guess. So I came to New York."

"I got $14 a week. I started looking for a place to board. I took the first place I looked at. Ten dollars a week it was. Then I had to pay about two dollars a week for laundry—more when I sent all my clothes. I bought stuff and fixed my own lunches to take to work."

"Somehow, I didn't have much money left. I got kinda discouraged. It seemed awful not to have anything and work all the time. Then I would think about my mother and sisters. They work, too, and what do they have? Then I was made to take a physical examination and didn't pass."

"That night I sat a long time under the windows in that house. I thought about the job I lost. I didn't know whose home it was. I got in through a yard in Madison avenue. There is a stoop on the side of Carnegie's house and I climbed up. I fell and that was the last thing I remember. I don't know exactly why I tried to get in. I don't know what I would have done if the windows hadn't been locked."

Raymond talked briskly and in a manner sufficiently straightforward, and it is easy to see why a sick boy might sink under conditions that slagger many heavy men—with high costs today.

"A sound mind in a sound body" is a true saying, and Raymond can hardly grasp the seriousness of his position today.

Seventeen years old and in the Tombs under $500 bail—in health that would not permit him to work even if he got a job at good pay.

"I'd like to get out and go home. My mother was here to see me, and she would be glad to have me back. I would work hard for her."

Raymond's pale face has the transparency of delicate health, and his general look is too frail for a boy of seventeen. But he has the aggressiveness that accompanies sandy hair usually.

"I wonder if my mother could have got on on that $14 a week better than me—do you suppose?" Raymond sighed. "But Paterson ain't New York—is it?"

BOOTLEGGING FROM CANADA CANNOT BE STOPPED BY CANNUCK

Associated Press.
 OTTAWA, July 24.—As long as profits from bootlegging are what they are, and the only deterrent is a fine of $200 or so there will be big money in the bootlegging game and it will be very difficult for the authorities on either side of the international line to stamp out the traffic.

That is the summary of opinions expressed by Ottawa officials as to the situation regarding smuggling of liquor from Canada to the United States. Further, high officials of the Royal Canadian mounted police say that while they are doing all in their power to check infractions of the federal laws in this respect, it is really for the American authorities to see that liquor does not reach the thirsty souls beyond the imaginary line 3,000 miles long.

The situation apparently is that from three provinces in particular there is a large trade in bootlegging to the United States. These are Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia. At the same time a respectable quantity of fiery liquid is finding its way across from the Maritime Provinces and from Manitoba.

At Windsor and in the surrounding districts the mounted police are carrying on a constant campaign against the illegal liquor vendors, and many have been hauled into court and condemned to pay fines from $200 up. One parched Detroit man, however, is said to have parted with $500 for three cases of Scotch whiskey, which reached him via the "underground route" a short time ago, so that the profits in the illegal trade are known to be enormous.

Information from Windsor and district intimates to the authorities here that some farmers in that vicinity have found it more profitable to smuggle liquor across the border than to farm, and have let their farms run to weeds while they pursue the elusive dollar via the bootlegging route.

Quebec, it is stated, is the mecca for thirty thousands of Americans every week-end, and automobiles passing back and forth carry their loads of human and other freight, bound for the Sahara across the border. Under those conditions, Canadian police authorities admit that it is practically impossible to enforce the stringent liquor laws at present in force.

The chief reason for the difficulty of enforcement, according to an official of the Royal Canadian mounted police, who have under their jurisdiction the carrying out of all federal laws, is the fact that many people are not in sympathy with the liquor legislation, and the securing of contraband liquor is regarded in many quarters as an achievement, rather than a disgrace.

However, if the carrying of liquor into the United States from Canada is to be prevented, it is estimated that it will have to be done by an army of customs inspectors and police on the American side of the line rather than in Canada.

TEXAS SPRING CALF CROP WAS GREATEST KNOWN IN THE STATE

Associated Press.
 FORT WORTH, July 24.—This spring brought the greatest "calf crop" the Texas ranges have ever known, is the tenor of reports to headquarters of the Texas Cattle Raisers' association here.

The relief came at a time when disaster threatened the cattle industry, according to officials of the association, and the re-appearance of the calf means the end of the "great drought" that depopulated stock ranges of the south-west, he said.

Scant pasturage in 1915-16-17 forced Texas cowmen to market their cattle, with the result that herds were reduced everywhere and no yearlings were coming on to fill the depleted ranks. Rains began to fall about the time of the signing of the armistice, and since then there has been moisture in West Texas. Restocking of the ranges began immediately with the result that this spring's calf crop, according to the reports, has been the largest since before the drought.

Texas cattlemen are declared to be handicapped in disposing of their old cattle by money conditions, but general conditions of the ranges were never better, according to the reports which are to the effect that cattle are fat, ranges green, despite the summer sun, and shipments to market are normal.

Trunk Mystery

Associated Press.
 NEW YORK, July 24.—The mystery surrounding the death of an unidentified young woman whose body was found yesterday in a trunk in the American Express company's warehouse has been shifted to Detroit authorities for solution.

The trunk which concealed the woman's body for more than a month, was sent to Detroit from whence it had been shipped here June 10.

Cisco evened up all old scores with Eastland by taking them to a grand cleaning in Saturday's game, 17 to 3. It was a listless and uninteresting contest right from the start, either due to the weather or the lifeless way in which Empire Doyle, who usually snaps his decisions out like a pet machine gun, called the plays. There was less "pop" both in the grandstand and out on the field than is usually displayed in a funeral service. Everything was off except the Scouts' batting clothes, and they had them on with all the trimmings.
Hardin, erstwhile hurler for the Scouts, who was peddled to Eastland for a cash consideration some while back, started the game, but Maloney had to jerk him in the second after five successive hits, broken only by a free ticket given Beard, netted Cisco four runs. Cheaves relieved him with the bases full and John King at the bat and King kept the music going by driving one over the center fielder's head for three sacks, scoring Kotzeinick, Beard and Flagg. King himself scored on Griesenbeck's sacrifice fly to center. Cisco came back in the fourth and fifth and piled up nine more runs, due chiefly to the hitting of Thrash with men on the bases.
Kotzeinick kept the judges well in hand at every stage of the game and was never in the least of trouble. The big surprise was given the fans when Lewis, "Jack of all trades" on the Eastland team, went in in the eighth to relieve Cheaves in the box, and a still bigger surprise was received when he pitched the best ball of either of his unfortunate predecessors. A one-handed, jumping catch made by Lewis of Flagg's drive over second, was the prettiest of the season, robbing Jimmie of what should have been a sure hit. King pulled down a nice one when he ran back for Lewis' long fly and did a tumbling act in making the out, but he held the ball.

Friday's Games
Eastland walked away with the opening game of the series by getting next to Cruise in the third inning of Friday's game for a collection of five hits and four runs, too long a margin for the Scouts to overcome, although Johnson, who relieved Cruise in the last part of the third inning held Maloney's men completely in his power, allowing only one hit with only one extra man facing him the remainder of the game.
Cisco made two runs in the fourth on King's two-bagger and Fuller's drive for three sacks after Griesenbeck was safe at first on an error. They did nothing more until the ninth, when Ward loosened up and walked Griesenbeck and Fuller, the first two men up, Thrash reached first on an error by Gross, and Anderson poled out a two-bagger scoring Griesenbeck, Thrash a crossing the plate when Johnson singled to left. The rally was stopped, however, when Cheaves relieved Ward and struck out the next two men.
The double umpire system prevailed for the first time during the season and the work of both men was very satisfactory.

Dallas Essex Sets the World's Dirt Track Record

1,261 Miles in 24 Hours; Averaging 52 1-2 Miles Per Hour

Made by Privately Owned Essex, Which Previously Had Traveled Over 12,000 Miles

But That is Only One of Hundreds of New Records Established by Essex in a Nation-Wide Week of Tests

A new world's 24-hour dirt track record is the contribution of a Dallas Essex to the Nation-wide week of performance tests, in which Essex set hundreds of new marks for economy, speed, hill-climbing and endurance.

The 24-hour record Essex is privately owned by a Dallas resident, and it already had seen 12,000 miles of typical Texas service.

Yet it broke the world's 24-hour dirt track record for both stock and non-stock cars, traveling 1,261 miles at an average of 52 1-2 miles an hour.

Doesn't this feat establish the same ability, speed and endurance for every Essex that was shown by the Essex stock chassis which set the official world's fifty-hour record of 3,037 miles?

At Ft. Worth, a stock Essex, officially observed and checked, made the run from Ft. Worth to Waco—202 1-4 miles—in 4 hours 45 minutes 30 seconds. Eight bridges and culverts were washed out, forcing detours through plowed fields; five miles of road was being graded, but nothing could stop or delay the Essex.

Another Essex stock touring car made a new road record from Cisco to Rising Star—44 miles—through sand, oil field ruts and mountains in 1 hour and 12 minutes. The best previous time ever made on this road was 1 hour and 50 minutes.

And at Banham the Essex showed 27.2 miles to the gallon on an officially observed economy run.

IS THERE ANYTHING LEFT FOR THE ESSEX TO PROVE?

Economy

Waco—A stock Essex on an economy test showed twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Mineral Wells—Essex stock car, which had already been driven over 8,000 miles, made 22.2 miles per gallon of gasoline from Palo Pinto to Mineral Wells over rough and hilly roads.

Terrell—Essex stock car ran seventy-two hours without stopping on an average of twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Speed

Wichita Falls—An Essex stock car, which had already been driven 22,000 miles, made the run from Wichita Falls to Arthur City and return—sixty-one miles—in 1 hour and 22 minutes over typical oil field roads.
Mineral Wells—Essex stock car, already driven more than 8,000 miles, made the run from Palo Pinto to Mineral Wells—twelve miles—in 17 minutes over oil field ruts, sand and mud.

Endurance

Dallas—The unequalled endurance of the Essex was given in a 168-hour run, during which the motor never faltered. Seven days and nights without a moment's rest, and in as good condition at the end of the run at it was at the beginning.
Terrell—An Essex stock car ran 72 hours without missing.
Hillsboro—Stock Essex ran 45 hours without an adjustment.
Bonham—Stock Essex ran from 11 a. m. Friday to 4 p. m. Saturday—longer than your car will run in an average week.

DOESN'T THIS SETTLE THE QUESTION?

Light Car Economy With High-Grade Performance

All over the Nation for a whole week the Essex was put to every conceivable test to show you what you may reasonably demand from a motor car. You will probably never want to drive your car at a mile a minute, but if you should the Essex will give you that speed and more. You will never run your car seven days and nights without a stop, but you should know that Essex endurance will stand this continuous grind. You may not care to drive with the greatest economy, but you should know that the Essex will give you more than twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline. You may not care to set a record with your car, but you should know that the Essex holds thirteen official records, and that it sells for less than $2,000.00.

AMUSEMENTS

Like most screen players, Harrison Ford, the handsome leading man receives lots of letters daily from fans and admirers. Mr. Ford is of the handsome, youthful type that appeals especially to the young ladies. The bulk of his mail usually consists of daintily scented notes. But since the first of the year, Mr. Ford has been disturbed by the contents of some of these letters in feminine hands.

"I hope you don't think me conceited," he said recently, "when I tell you that during February I received no less than ten proposals of marriage through mail from women and girls whom I have never seen. Of course, I know it is Leap Year. And I know that a majority of them weren't meant in earnest. But, nevertheless, I think it's a pretty serious matter for a young girl to sign her name to a letter of that sort. And I'm not sure but what a large number of women approach marriage itself in much this same reckless spirit."

"This has been brought home to me lately by the picture in which I have been playing opposite Miss Ethel Clayton. It is called 'A Lady in Love' and tells of a girl who marries a rascal without knowing a thing about him and later lives to regret it. She is just the same type of girl who writes proposals of marriage to motion picture players whom they know by name and picture only."

"A Lady in Love" is a Paramount Areraft production and will be shown at the Judia theater on Sunday and Monday.

Victory Theater

"The Orphan" is the significant title of a new and stirring William Fox production, in which William Farnum is to be presented at the Victory theater, beginning Monday for a run of two days. The story is from the pen of Clarence E. Mulford and was directed by J. Gordon Edwards.

In this picture, Mr. Farnum portrays the character of an outlaw in the mountains.

The picture abounds in tense situations throughout, according to reports received from the west, where the scenes were filmed.

The company includes Louise Lovely as leading woman, Henry J. Hebert, G. Raymond Nye, Olive White, Carrie Clark Ward, George Nichols, Earl Crain, Harry De Verre and Al Fremont.

WHAT IT COSTS THE PEOPLE TO PUBLISH TALK OF CONGRESS

Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The cost of publishing the Congressional Record, the government publication recording daily everything that is said and done in congress, as well as some things outside, was $587,640 last year, practically the same as for 1918, but about $300,000 less than the 1917 cost.

These figures were given recently by Russell O. Beene, accountant at the government printing office, in answer to an inquiry of Representative Magee of New York as to the possible saving that would result from the discontinuance of the record. Mr. Beene gave the cost for 1917 as $891,790.88 and for 1918 as $587,640.

Cornelius Ford, the public printer, was asked for an explanation of the high figure in 1917, but confessed his ignorance unless it happened that congress "did more talking" that year. Mr. Ford said that in 1917, congress was in session 280 days; in 1918, 267 days, and in 1919, 279 days.

The printed pages in the Record for these years were 452,511,964 in 1917; 562,672,587 in 1918; and 455,130,450 in 1919. The cost of paper has increased greatly within the past three years but the use of a lighter and less expensive quality has helped reduce the aggregate cost of the paper used. For 1919, the paper cost was $130,000, as compared with $182,000 in 1918, and $309,600 in 1917.

BACK TO THE FARM IF YOU WOULD NOT SUFFER FOR WANT OF FOOD

Associated Press.

DALLAS, July 24.—Something must be done to keep the people on the farm and to enable them to make more than a bare living or there will be a real shortage of food, Congressman Hutton W. Summers declared here recently in an address before the Dallas Advertising league. "And I doubt whether we will get the necessary reconstruction legislation before we have eaten up the narrow margin of food surplus," he warned.

Mr. Summers said that at the time of the Revolutionary war, four per cent of the inhabitants of the United States lived in towns. This had grown to eighteen per cent at the time of the Civil war, and has now reached fifty per cent, he said. "I want to warn you city builders," he added, "you are taking the stones from the foundation and building them into a fragile but gilded superstructure."

Right back to the high cost of living is the question of where enough food is going to be found, he declared. If the farmer is successful with his crop, then he must sell to the highest bidder, Mr. Summers pointed out, as the financial interest which backs up industry has failed to work out a system for financing the farm so the farmer himself shall profit. There must be equality of opportunity to secure equilibrium of population, and the farmer boy will have to be able to get as much net profit as he can get any other place, if he is expected to stay on the farm. Mr. Summers insisted that democracy in government cannot be preserved unless there is democracy in business opportunity.

Farmers Build Granaries

Special to the News.

PLAINVIEW, July 24.—Not to be overcome by the intricacies of ear delivery, farmers of this section are building granaries on their places and in the towns where they trade, to hold the overflowing grain fields. Kress, Petersburg and Runningwater are all in line in this innovation. The production has been considerably more than forecast earlier in the year.

Raising Fine Hogs

Special to the News.

PLAINVIEW, July 24.—C. S. Eberling and son, Ernest, on their place seven miles west of town, are building up a fine herd of hogs. They have recently made a number of purchases of pure bred stock to increase their nucleus. Last week they sold a nine-week-old pig to a Marble Falls breeder for $165.
