

CONDITION IN THE SOUTHWEST BETTER ACCORDING TO BANK

Federal Reserve Review for the Month of June Shows That Developments During the Month Had Clarifying Effect — Agricultural and Livestock Conditions Satisfactory.

Associated Press.
DALLAS, July 27.—Developments that produced a favorable and clarifying effect upon the business situation in the southwest were witnessed during June, stated the monthly review of business and industrial conditions in the eleventh federal reserve district by the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas for that month.

"Improved crop conditions, the passing of the spirit of hesitancy and suspense with respect to the outcome of the Chicago and San Francisco conventions, and the growth of a more optimistic view on the part of business and banking interests of the policy of loan restrictions inaugurated under the council and advice of the Federal Reserve Board," said the Review, "have all contributed to a brighter outlook.

"Industrial and business enterprises which at first were inclined to view with alarm the discrimination applied by the banks in apportioning credit, as during the war, on the basis of essential needs, are finding that most of their fears are groundless, and as a general rule are accepting the new order of finance not only willingly but with a conviction that the ultimate result will be to secure for business a firmer foundation and a sounder basis for building up an enduring prosperity.

"A quiet tone continued to dominate mercantile transactions in June. Buying in the retail, as well as primary markets was conducted with the same spirit of caution and controlled by the same discrimination in favor of immediate needs as obtained in May, although toward the end of the month increased interest was displayed in the matter of future requirements. No price fluctuations of major importance were recorded during the month.

"Agricultural and live stock conditions were on the whole satisfactory. A larger yield of grain than was anticipated seemed to be assured. Cotton, though favored by marked improvement of growing conditions, was in many sections of the district attacked by the boll weevil and other insects, and the size of this year's crop, already conceded to be a short one, will depend upon the weather. The acreage in cotton but dry weather during the remainder of the season.

"Labor conditions have gradually been improving, according to reports received. The slackening in construction work and various other industrial activities has had a tendency to stimulate competition for employment, resulting in a greater efficiency as well as supply of labor.

"One problem of immediate and pressing importance confronting the district at this time is the matter of obtaining freight cars to move the new grain crop. With an estimate production of 17,000,000 bushels of wheat in the Panhandle alone, the demand for prompt action in providing transportation facilities to move it is dictated both by the danger of losses from weather and the necessity for releasing credit tied up in the crop.

"In a detailed review the report stated that the reappearance of the boll weevil to a serious extent had been reported from fifty-four Texas counties which usually furnish forty per cent of the state's cotton production, and the ultimate extent of this loss will depend upon the weather. The acreage in cotton to June 25 was estimated to be 111,356,869 an increase of 331,000 acres over 919. While this Texas acreage indicates a probable yield of 3,173,000 bales for the state, the report said, ravages of boll weevils and other pests threaten to cut production to a much lower figure.

"The review stated that wheat harvesting made good progress, with excellent production and good quality but extremely short acreage. A bumper corn crop equally as good as the 202,000,000 bushel yield of last year is assured in Texas by general rains the report predicted. Conditions have also been

ANOTHER BIG BREAK IN WHEAT AND CORN IS RECORDED TODAY

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 27.—Sensational breaks in prices took place today in the wheat market. At the finish trading showed losses of eleven and three-quarters to fourteen cents per bushel in addition to the extreme drop of yesterday of eight cents. The new crash is due chiefly to selling of stop loss character by discouraged holders. March delivery closed at 2.37 against 2.51 last night.

KANSAS CITY, July 27.—Wheat futures dropped thirteen and fourteen cents and corn futures were down five cents at the close of the grain market here today.

MUCH DEVELOPMENT AT LEERAY DURING THE COMING MONTH

By J. B. Hiatt
LEERAY, July 27.—Among the many wells in the Leeray district nearing critical depths and which will soon be watched with close interest are the Ajax's Good No. 3 and the Nussbaum No. 1 of the Mid-Kansas company.

Production in the Good may cause great interest since it is located within a few rods of the depot of the Cisco & Northeastern railroad, and may be classified as a townsite well in reference to its close proximity to Leeray.

The Nussbaum test is an offset to the Baggitt well of the Church interests, of Fort Worth, which acquired acreage in the Baggitt tract from Greenwood-Tyrell company, Baggitt No. 1, located about three-quarters of a mile north of the townsite of Leeray, was the first producer in the district, coming in last January at 1,700 barrels.

Production at present is about 1,800 barrels. This well and forty acres was sold to the Church interests for the reported price of $300,000.

Next month promises a large amount of development in the Leeray district. More than a score of wells will reach the pay and many of the rigs now awaiting tools will be the scene of action.

favorable for other crops with the exception of fruit, pecans and Irish potatoes.

"Reports from all sections of the district," continued the review, "are to the effect that steady improvement in range conditions noted in the month of May continued throughout June, and at this writing the situation is better than it has been for many years." From the lowest level of the year to the highest level of the year was the range of prices during June on the Fort Worth market. Live stock inspectors throughout range country reported a heavy movement of cattle and hogs to market during the month.

Passing to lumber the review said: "A widespread curtailment of lumber production, which, if continued, may result in a serious shortage in building material this fall, was the most prominent development in the wholesale lumber market last month. Some of the smaller mills have shut down entirely, while a greatly reduced schedule has been placed in effect among mills generally which are still in operation." Prices current throughout the district, the higher points tending to meet prices established in the first cutting wave.

Texas oil fields recorded a gain both in production for the month and daily average production, while in north Louisiana there was a decrease in both items, according to the oil section of the report, which stated that the daily average yield of the district for June was 322,467 barrels. Drilling slumped, there being, according to the report, 169 less completions in the district than were made in May. At the close of the month 2,837 wells were being drilled in the district.

Wholesalers of the district reported to the bank that retail merchants continue their previous policy of caution in buying during June. The volume of retail trade was below that of May, despite June sales. In transportation, the report added, the problem of securing cars.

The message, addressed to Luther Nickels, said: "While I do not agree with Mr. Bailey in many things, yet I do know where he stands. NEW SWITCHBOARD FOR LOCAL EXCHANGE NOW BEING PLACED

The telephone company has a large force of men engaged in overhauling the wreck of its former exchange, destroyed by fire Sunday night, in an effort to find if there is anything left which will facilitate the work of establishing the new switchboard.

This board, of eight sections, arrived from Fort Worth last night and the work of installing it began once. It will be placed in the company's new building in West Seventh street, for temporary use.

Charred timbers and bent and twisted metal tell how intense was the heat in the old exchange when the fire was destroying it. Representatives of the company installing the new switchboard are here from Fort Worth and Dallas and were looking over the wreck this morning.

The smaller cables, coming from the main cables, leading in from the streets, are burned and twisted out of shape. Each of these cables contains many wires, each wire leading to a separate phone. All these must be taken up and connected and led into the new switchboard. Only a limited number of men can work at this task and it therefore requires much time and this is what will cause the greatest delay in getting the city phones into operation.

Manager Pettit is hopeful, however, of shortening the time specified to close between now and the operation of the exchange.

The facts in the case came out when Mrs. Mitchell sought to have Knipow placed among the mounts of Troop 1, state guard, in the armory here. She said Thurman was much attached to the horse and having no near relatives who would suffer through his death, he decided to provide for the animal's care in case he did not return. The surplus above the cost of the horse's keep goes to Mrs. Mitchell.

Knipow is suffering from a sprained tendon but is recovering and is expected soon to become a part of Troop 1's outfit where he is a great favorite.

Rescue From Reaction of the War He Says is the Greatest Need of the Nation — Shies a Rock at Opponents of the Volstead Act — Deplores Class Distinction.

Associated Press.
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 27.—Rescue from reactions of the war was described as the greatest need of the nation in the address of Governor Coolidge, accepting formally the republican nomination for vice president.

He said the chief task lies before us to repossess the people of their government and property.

He found another source of the gravest public concern in the reactionary tendency to substitute private will for public will.

He said he had seen disposition on the part of some individuals and groups to inquire whether they liked a law and if not to disregard and prevent the execution by methods of direct action. Ob servance of the law is the greatest solvent of a public ill, he said.

He deplored the attempt to create class distinction.

BATTLESHIP IOWA WILL BE USED AS A
FLOATING TARGET
Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 27.—The once famous battleship Iowa, which played no small part in the destruction of Cervera's fleet at Santiago, is being prepared at the Philadelphia navy yard for what naval officers say will be one of the most unique target experiments ever attempted.

Proceeding unmanned, but under her own steam and controlled by radio, probably from seaplanes, the old sea fighter will become the objective of the two big guns of the Atlantic fleet super-dreadnoughts in Chesapeake Bay late this summer. This will be the first time that American warships have used a moving craft for a target except in actual war.

Two of the Iowa's coal burning boilers are being converted to burn oil so the ship may continue under way with no one aboard once her fires have been started burning and her engines placed in motion.

It is expected that the unique practice will give the gun-pointers of the Atlantic fleet an opportunity to test their ability under conditions as nearly like those to be expected in battle as can be obtained. Smoke screens will be thrown around the Iowa during the runs and the course will be changed at will through the radio control system, necessitating a change in range on all the firing ships, exactly as would occur in action.

The Iowa has already been stripped of some of its guns and much valuable metal and the practice will be continued until the old vessel, a mass of twisted metal, sinks beneath the waves to join the old Texas, which, as the San Marcos, was used for a stationary target years ago.

The battleship Ohio has been turned over to the bureau of steam engineering for purposes of experiment in radio control and a staff of expert technical officers has been placed on board to arrange the Iowa practice.

SMASH IN ENGLAND
SHOWN BY NUMBER
BANKRUPTCY CASES
Associated Press.
LONDON, July 27.—English people have determined upon a policy of strict economy resulting in a considerable increase in the number of bankruptcies during the last few months. These failures have occurred not only in London but also in the provinces. Business men, however, are confronted by the fact that the aggregate number is far below the total for pre-war years, figures for 1919 being 737 as against 2,856 for 1914.

While many reasons are advanced for this state of affairs, the most acceptable one in business circles is the attitude of the buying public which has decided only to purchase absolute necessities. In consequence, traders who have purchased large stocks of goods at fancy prices in anticipation of quick and handsome profits, find themselves with "white elephants" on their hands and a non-buying public.

The goods had to be disposed of frequently at a big loss.

The recent bankruptcies included a number of demobilized men who started business with the proceeds of their gratuity and small savings. These men, for the most part, were inexperienced in the ways of trade and when a severe test came they were forced to close their doors.

A woman proprietor of a high class millinery shop in Bond street explained recently that wealthy women who before the war bought generously in such specialty shops as hers, were unable to do so now, because of the tremendous increase in the cost of living, wages for servants, etc. These women now are only purchasing the necessities, the business woman added.

From every trade comes the report, that shop keepers and business houses generally find themselves with an overstock of goods, purchased in hope of a big buying season this spring and summer.

RAT-KILLING CATS
Associated Press.
CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, July 27.—J. W. Howard, a farmer residing near Aberdeen, five miles southeast of this city, claims the champion rat catcher of Texas. Two cats trained to bring their kill to the house recently killed thirty-five rats and a rabbit in four nights.

The first night they killed nine rats, depositing them in a box on the back veranda; the next night's tally was eleven rats and a rabbit; eight rats were killed the third night and seven the fourth night.

Rats have multiplied so rapidly in the country districts that they are destroying cotton by gnawing bolls from the young plants. Farmers are planning a campaign of extermination in order to save their corn and other stored grain this fall.

Charles Grassmuck, a farmer, tore up flooring in his house in order that dogs might be used, and between the dogs and himself accounted for 120 rodents in and around the building.

SANDY HOOK, July 27.—Clear skies, a smooth sea and a seven-knot wind from the northwest were conditions at 8 o'clock this morning for the final cup race, and promised to develop another drifting match.

Charles Nicholson, designer of the Shamrock, hoped the race would not be determined by a fluke of wind, but that the contest would demonstrate the sailing ability of the sloops.

He added that any challenger has little hope of victory if it has to concede a heavy time handicap to the defender.

The Shamrock sailors believe they have no chance to win and are ready to return to England. They do not wish to remain here for further sailing of the Shamrock against the Resolute and Vantier after the cup race is decided as has been suggested.

COURAGE IN POLITICS

When Grover Cleveland was a candidate for the presidency and a scandal was started in which he was said to be involved, party leaders, greatly excited, went to him and asked what they should do. "Tell the truth," he said. The people loved him for the courage he displayed and elected him.

When Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor made up a "blacklist" of congressmen who would not do his bidding and support him in legislation he was asking for, on that list was the name of Congressman Blanton, of this district. The word went forth to every union man that Blanton must be defeated. The district was flooded with Gompers propaganda. Mr. Blanton met the issue squarely, never receded a step and never hesitated to say just where he stood. He has been elected by a large majority over his opponent.

When organized labor's representatives asked the gubernatorial candidates in Texas where they stood on the question of the open shop, they received but one direct reply. That came from former Senator Bailey and he told them very emphatically that he was opposed to it, that he favored the open shop and throughout the campaign never ceased to fully explain his position in all his speeches.

The other candidates for the gubernatorial nomination either tried to get on both sides of the question, or remained silent. They were apparently afraid to meet the issue and thrash it out as did Bailey. The result was that Bailey led in the voting, receiving about one-third of all the votes cast in the state. Many people evidently admire his courage.

Former Senator Bailey contended that the farmers produced what they had to sell under open shop conditions, but when they went in the market to make necessary purchases they had to take goods produced under closed shop conditions and consequently paid an enormous price. They felt the rule should work both ways and favored the open shop and voted for Mr. Bailey.

HEROISM OF WOMEN

So many occasions have arisen where the heroism of women has been proven, that the fact has become one of general acceptance on the part of the American people, whose daughters have given so many evidences of it.

Such acts of heroism are told in the daily press, read and dismissed, as being of only general run of news, but when an instance of this kind occurs in the reader's own community, then is realized what it really means—his devotion to duty and the desire to aid and save others.

A Cisco telephone operator, Miss Minnie Reed, only a young girl, during the devastating fire Sunday night, remained at her post, did all that could have been done in an effort to sound an alarm, and being forcibly removed from the operating room, went back the first and second time in an effort to do what she knew should be done, entering a room filled with smoke and flame and being removed the last time just before the roof fell in, completely burying the switchboard where she had been working but a moment before.

This is the kind of heroism the memory of which dwells with the people who have direct knowledge of it.

DIFFERENCE IN DOLLARS

Two kinds of dollars are existent today, each having widely different purchasing powers.

A "commodities" dollar, spent for food, clothing, building materials, labor or other necessities and luxuries will buy only about 62 cents worth of what it would before the war.

But an "investment dollar," spent buying well selected stocks and bonds, will buy a return in the shape of interest nearly what $1.50 would in pre-war days.

"It can also be stated that investment securities are today the cheapest of all purchases," says the Guaranty Trust Company of

New York, in discussing the situation. "There is an unusual opportunity for those who have funds to invest."

That many men and women having savings to invest are taking advantage of the situation is indicated by the experience of one Illinois public utility company. In the first five months of 1920 an average of 1,000 per month of citizens of Illinois became stockholders, the majority of them purchasing from $100 to $500 of stock. A recent compilation showed that there are now over 270,000 owners of public utility securities in that state and this ownership is growing rapidly.

Character is just like clay. The ideal is the mold. For that very reason character is determined by our ideals.

It is the hardest thing in the world for a barefooted man to get a clear idea of the golden slippers.

History is but the record of a few masterful spirits working in the midst of a mass of incompetent people.

Be cheerful. There is no outdoor valley whose borders are not touched by the hills.

There is no longer any question about the growth of Cisco. The only problem confronting the chamber of commerce and production and the business men generally is: "How can we best supply the horde of newcomers with places to hang their hats and rest their heads?"

HOW MANY WOMEN WILL VOTE?

How will women vote this year, and what will be the measure of increase in the grand total of presidential ballots, by reason of woman suffrage? In the states in which women have been voting the results show their electoral minds have gone along for the most part willingly with their men folks, and it is expected they will continue coupling with the masculine element.

It now seems likely that the nineteenth amendment, giving women the right to vote in presidential elections, will be ratified, with Tennessee joining the suffrage states to make the necessary thirty-six, or three-fourths. In the last election women voted for president in the twelve states of Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Kansas, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming. The average percentage of the population voting in those states was 41. In the last preceding election in which men alone voted, that of 1912, the percentage of the population voting was 38.

The Taft-Roosevelt-Wilson campaign of 1912, with women voting in seven states, showed a voting percentage of 32. The highest voting percentage in the woman suffrage states of the west was that of Montana, being 38. Finland, in which in 1913 women voted for the first time for president east of the Mississippi river, voted 57 of her population, as against a percentage of 37 in 1912, when only men voted.

The figures indicate that women take as readily to the ballot box in the east as in the west. The rate of increase has ranged in the twelve states from the lowest, 107 in Arizona, to 146, the highest, in Illinois. If conditions were practically the same in all the states, with women having nation wide suffrage, the increase in the vote on their account should be .135.

But the disposition to vote varies in the different states. The solid south, for instance, has never voted higher than 118 per cent of the population. The antipathy to woman suffrage is so general in the southern states that it is not at all likely they will do other than lower the average for all the states of the voting population.

On the basis of these figures the increase in the presidential vote this year should not be much over 13 per cent, bringing the grand total to about twenty and one-half million.—Washington Post.

OUR LITTLE BROTHERS

We pity those who do not love animals and birds and do not care to make pets of them. There is something about the association with the creatures of a so-called lower order which seems to enrich and deepen our humanity. The friendship which you enjoy with a faithful little dog, or the love you bestow on a good horse, or a useful old house cat—all these do not lessen our ability to love and care for little children and other humans, but rather enlarge our sympathies for all beings of the earth. These humble creatures with their faculties so different from ours, are able to give us something besides their service. Their trust and friendship contributes a special appreciation of life.

No one need be deprived of the joy of friendship with the "other creatures." If you have no pipe even for a dog or cat, you can at least make acquaintance with the squirrels, pigeons or birds. There is happiness in winning the confidence of these little fellows that nothing else can bring. To feel the burnished breast of the doves push against your hand as you offer them corn, or the church of the squirrel's little paw when he asks for a nut—that is not only great fun and kindness to dumb animals, but it is also a splendid heart tonic. The other day we saw a man who had tamed a sparrow (it) it would come at his call and sit on his shoulder, and we seldom have beheld a happier human face.—Criso State Journal.

THE VERSATILE FARMERETTE

"Harvesting is a real man's job," says the New York Tribune, "and yet the farmerette has proved a woman is just as apt as a man at it." The Tribune goes further. To prove its contention it prints a picture of a woman feeding corn fodder to a cow with a pitchfork.

The picture in question is, however, perhaps the least notable of the pictorial representations of farm life. The one we fancied most was that of a group of young women garbed in sports clothes of approved style and cut engaged in giving a mandolin concert. It has been our privilege to observe a good many women engaged in the humdrum tasks of the farm. We never saw one garbed in sports clothes and we never knew one who could play a mandolin. The Tribune has sounded a new note in rural art.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE POLISH REPUBLIC

Poland is to have a receivership. Parliamentary government disappears, and power is vested in a "National Council of Defense," headed by three generals—Pilsudski, Lesznowski and Haller—and Poland's aptly named premier, Grabski. This is the outstanding news from the eastern front, despite all the misleading military bulletins sent out from Warsaw, which report local victories against the bolsheviks as "crushing defeats" and retreats as "consolidation of the lines." England and France have led one more border state to destruction. While thousands starved, the fields have been left untilled and a great army has been taken from production and driven far across the Polish line into Russia to fight bolsheviks at the behest of French capital and British imperialism; and our own American war department has abetted the crime by "selling" surplus army supplies to the Polish legions, on credit terms which made the sales a virtuoso gift. The Polish republic has not had a fair chance.—The Nation.

NEW CLEVELAND LABOR PLAN

The settlement of disputes is the smallest part of the regulation of industry. Labor disputes are really an effect and not a cause; they come about when one side or the other stops doing business and looks around for some way of getting a little coin without work. So long as both sides keep at work they usually find that there is plenty of money to go around. And that is the great point in this Cleveland plan—the parties talk of work first and disputes second. But they have passed the talking stage; they are working and learning. It is not all smooth going—they have not all boarded the express for Utopia. But the majority are out to find the best ways to get at the right wages, the right standards, and the best means of production, and all are gaining their knowledge in a strictly Missourian spirit. Both the employers and the union men are learning a great deal every day in the week—as all school pupils should when they go to a school.—The World's Work.

Conserve the Oil

The chief geologist of the United States geological survey estimates that there are only about 7,000,000,000 barrels of oil still in the earth in this country. Our annual consumption at present is in the neighborhood of 400,000,000 barrels, which by 1925 will have risen to about 650,000,000 barrels annually. At this rate our resources will be totally exhausted within fourteen years, and at the end of that time, unless some action to prevent it is taken in the meantime, we shall be under the necessity of importing our petroleum from foreign countries.—Coleman Democrat Voice.

May Be for the Best

The price of commercial gas at the wells in the Eastland district has been increased from three to six cents, it was announced at Austin this week. The increased price will make the gas sufficiently valuable to justify owners of the wells in conserving it more carefully, and while it may cause slightly higher domestic rates it will tend to protect consumers against a future shortage of this splendid fuel.—Brownwood Bulletin-Banner.

Don't Live Just Exist

Ole Hanson had a $7,500 a year job. He was mayor of Seattle. He says he resigned in order to obtain "a living wage at something else." If it were impossible for Ole Hanson to live on $7,500 a year then what happens to the millions who live on $300 a year.—Fort Worth Record.

Progressive Cisco

Progressive business men of Cisco are reported to be improving the highway leading from that town into the new oil field opened up in the Cross Plains Rising Star section. Ahlens is asleep at the switch. Something should be done, and done immediately, to capture at least a part of the trade of this new territory for Ahlens. If not a railroad, then a first class highway should be built. Shall Ahlens let other towns capture this new territory?—Ahlens Reporter.

CENSUS TO INCREASE HOUSE MEMBERSHIP, NEAR FIVE HUNDRED

Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Unless the membership of the house is increased from 435 to at least 500 to meet the increased population shown by the 1920 census, 10 states will lose one or more representatives, according to Representative Siegel, of New York, chairman of the census committee which will frame the new apportionment Bill. Those states are:

Indiana, Iowa, and Missouri, which will lose two congressmen each; and Illinois, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Nebraska, Vermont and Virginia, which will lose one congressman each.

Mr. Siegel explains that if the house membership is retained at its present figure, it will be necessary to increase the population basis in each congressional district beyond the 311,000 or major portion thereof now fixed. If this is done, he says, the 10 states named will lose one or more of the present districts because their populations have not increased in proportion to those of other states.

On the basis of the estimated population of 198,000,000 for the whole country in 1920, an increase of approximately 14,000,000 in 10 years, Mr. Siegel says 65 or 66 new seats in the house must be created if the 10 states are to retain their present numerical representation. While precedent warrants the increase Mr. Siegel declares there is strong opposition to it on the part of some of the present representatives, while others favor reduction to as few as 296 members.

Mr. Siegel expects the work of framing the new apportionment bill in accord with the new population to begin with the reconvening of Congress in December and he anticipates that the measure will be passed early in 1921.

Every decade since 1790, with the single exception of 1840, the house membership has been enlarged to keep pace with the growing population. Now the house floor is crowded when all members are present, seats nearly fill the chamber; the old individual desks have been discarded and an increase in membership probably will have to be solved by narrowing the width of the seats.

Ten years ago the house membership was increased from 291 to 435 on the basis of a population of 91,972,266 and the only exception to such a procedure occurred in 1840 when 10 congressmen were knocked out by the apportionment, the membership being fixed at 232 after having been 242 for 10 years.

The last apportionment kept in tact the numerical strength of all state delegations besides providing for certain increases, but even then several congressional districts fell short of the maximum basis of 211,000 population.

900,000 worth of new amusement houses were under way.

Many of the new playhouses are wiping out old flats and dwellings urgently needed for homes, social welfare investors declare, and as a result the housing shortage is becoming more acute.

The theater builders assert that the immense sums pouring into places of amusement are justified as the new construction guarantees them a profitable return on the investment.

Although there are 500 running theaters in the greater city and 650 in the entire metropolitan district, eight new theaters costing more than $12,000,000 are planned in Long Acre—Times Square district, three in Greenwich Village, four large houses and a score of smaller theaters in the Bronx, three in Washington Heights and five in Brooklyn.

There are now 115 theaters operating in Brooklyn.

DEPORTED "REDS" IN RUSSIA WOULD LIKE AMERICA ONCE MORE

Former Russian Correspondent of London Paper Tells of the Tyranny of Soviet Government—Radicals Realize How Much Better is Free America.

Written for International News Service by Ambrose Lambert, former correspondent in Russia for London Daily Express.

LONDON, July 27.—I have just returned from Soviet Russia after a prolonged visit, and am not a bolshevik, I remained too long to become one. Russia is the place effectually to cure any tendency to bolshevism, providing you stay long enough. There is not one, I venture to say, of those Russians whom the United States deported back to their native land who would not give his or her heart and soul to be back again in the United States. I met several of them, and managed to learn their real views. I will not indicate their identities, because of what I know of the conditions in Russia.

Had the duration of my stay in Russia been the fortnight to which Litvinoff (whom I personally like as I like many others whom I met) in his cleverness limited me in his permission to visit Soviet Russia, I should probably have come away convinced that everything in the bolshevist garden was lovely, and communism was a working ideal multifarious in its realization by oppressive capitalism.

But I was permitted to stay on with the unintended result that I caught sufficient glimpses of the real naked conditions to realize that bolshevism deserves no place in the scheme of western democracy and that its greatest enemies, the men who over-advertise it and create for it an attraction, dangerous only by making a mystery of it.

The truth about Russia today is that the tyranny of a minority under Czarism has simply been replaced by another minority tyranny every bit as ruthless, but without the glitter, glamor and bright lights of the imperial regime. The bolsheviks number, according to their own figures, not more than 600,000. They are ruling a population of 129,000,000 because they happen to be the only disciplined and organized force that exists in Russia today. There is considerable analogy in the state of Russia and that of Ireland, where the terrorist group constitutes such an infinitesimal proportion of the population.

Facts have to be faced, and the bolsheviks are ruling at least sections of the big cities, such as Petrograd and Moscow. They are not ruling the peasants, who are revelling in a prosperity of food and paper money, but suffering from an acute poverty of essentials of life such as clothes and salt. The question naturally arises: Why do not the peasants—numbering as they do, over a hundred million—revolt? The answer is obvious—lack of organization. The same answer applies to the decreasing multitudes in Moscow and Petrograd.

In addition, there is the terrorism. The famous secret police of czarist days has been replaced by the secret police of the bolsheviks, both admirable as instruments of repression. Public physical outrages—that is, wholesale slaughters—no longer exist in the big cities. Yet there continues the policy of secret arrest, imprisonment without trial and without charges, and the fear of the secret police, or extraordinary commissions, as it is euphemistically termed, is over every man and woman living in Russia today.

There is no personal freedom in Russia today save for the elect and those who want to eat and live, and therefore join or pretend to sympathize or be of the elect. General Brusiloff is no more a bolshevik today than he ever was. He joined them for two reasons, the first a public one—his resentment as a Russian against outside interference. The second and dominating reason was that he is an old man who has lost practically everything he possessed in the world and needed a job to eat and live.

In Soviet Russia one's life is regulated by tyrannical rules. The word home has practically been eliminated. You live where you are told to live, and with whom the authorities tell you to live; you move only and when they tell you to move. There is no free press, nothing but bolshevist newspapers and publications. Private property and the right of individual domicile have been abolished. Everything in theory and very nearly in practice, belongs to the state; even the children whose physical care is, however, the one oasis in a huge desert of misery. If there is anything to eat they get it. That must be said to the credit of the bolsheviks.

Personally I was treated with every consideration. I like the bolsheviks I met. I like their constructive program as it is outlined on paper and by word of mouth.

It would make any sincere wisher for the future welfare of a great country enthusiastic, but the trouble is that it is only on paper.

That is Russia today. They have not the capacity for self-government. They are children in sympathy, suspicion and cruelty.

PERSONAL MENTION

Judge J. L. Shepherd went to Stamford yesterday on legal business.

G. G. McKinney, a well known farmer who lives six miles southeast of Cisco, was in town yesterday.

F. W. Strango left early this morning on a business trip to Stamford.

Mrs. B. Honea, wife of M. J. Honea, died last night at her home on the Carbon road, three and one-half miles from Cisco. She had been ill for some time and her death came as no surprise to the family. Funeral services will be held at the home and the remains will be interred in Corinth cemetery.

J. R. Crumble, manager of Lake Dothan, will go to Dallas tonight to spend a few days with his mother.

Word from J. H. Huddleston states he has arrived at Branson, Colo., where he is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. J. E. Sullivan.

ENTERTAIN MEMBERS OF THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The members of the First Baptist church were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McCarty last Friday evening. The host and hostess met and graciously welcomed their guests on the spacious porch, where later interesting book and flower contests were held, while in the beautiful reception rooms, the younger set assisted in entertaining by giving musical numbers. An original rhyme by Mrs. Rose Evans on the choir was a source of surprise and delight to all. Delicious refreshments were served. About fifty guests enjoyed the unsurpassed hospitality of this lovely home on this occasion.

PEACHES AND WATERMELONS

D. M. Sawyer, 1006 West Sixth street, returned yesterday from Athens, where he had gone to assist his daughter in gathering and shipping the peaches from a 30-acre orchard. He said she was one of the few having a good crop of peaches in that section this year, there being an average of not more than half a crop. She received for No. 1 peaches, $3.25 per bushel and for No. 2, $2.00 to $2.50 per bushel. But, Mr. Sawyer said, he never saw such a watermelon crop as they have over that way, nor such large melons.

AMUSEMENTS

Judia Theater.

One of the most elaborate ball room scenes ever screened is shown in Cynthia Stockley's "April Folly," Marion Davies' latest Cosmopolitan Production, which is being leased by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and will be shown at the Judia Theater tomorrow. The scene takes place on a ship at sea. The deck is transformed into a Chinese garden, with hundreds of Chinese lanterns and tropical plants creating an Oriental atmosphere. Scores of "extras" take part in the dance, attired in lavish gowns, some of them including actress friends of Miss Davies who appeared before the camera for "the fun of it." Miss Davies herself, who because of her experience in "Chin Chin" and the "Ziegfeld Follies," is thoroughly at home in any topsy-turvy revel, is a vision in a shimmering costume that will delight the ladies.

Victory Theatre.

Reports from the West Coast studios of Fox Film Corporation, where the new production, "The Orphan," was staged, indicate that this William Farnum picture is flawless in its "atmosphere." Mr. Farnum will open in "The Orphan" at the Victory Theatre today.

In his effort to attain absolute authenticity of setting, the director, J. Gordon Edwards, canvassed an area of many miles to find a suitable location.

The lumber for a cottage of a hundred years ago had to be brought from Oregon. The sets of a later period involved an intricate process of adzing boards in order to give them a rough-hewn appearance. Then, it was necessary to paint and repaint the scenery in order to secure an illusion of age. Word had gone out from the executive offices of the Fox Company to spare no expense in making this production uniquely truthful.

National Airline

Prospective brides may find valuable hints for happiness in "A Temperamental Wife," starring Constance Talmadge and which will be seen at the National Airline tonight.

Taking the part of Billie Billings, pretty, wealthy and afflicted with an unreasonably jealous nature, Constance Talmadge has a novel assortment of experiences, both before and after her marriage to the firm Senator Newton from Nevada. Rather sickly before marriage, by the time the solon has experienced some of his jealous wife's eccentricities he is in a most vigorous physical shape and able to whip his weight in wildcats and Bulgarian counts, who should know better.

Judia

Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) is again under the Harry Garson banner after his big success in D. W. Griffith's "Broken Blossoms." He was especially engaged to play the role of the detective in "Eyes of Youth," in which Clara Kimball Young is the star, and he has one very big scene with Miss Young. "Eyes of Youth" will be presented at the Judia for the first time today.
