Half Million Tied up in State Guaranty Fund Released

ALLRED GAINS INJUNCTION MODIFICATION

Depositors in Defunct Cisco Bank Will Benefit

AUSTIN, Jan. 31.—The more than half a million dollars tied up in state bank guaranty funds, subject of litigation since 1926, was released here today by modification of an injunction in force obtained by Attorney General James V. Allred in 99th district court.

The case was styled McNair vs. the Farmers State bank of Kemp, et al. The ruling releases $267,000 to banks which have withdrawn from the fund plan, $256,000 to depositors of nine failed state banks as follows:

MIDWEST IS FACING NEW CATASTROPHE

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 31.—A new catastrophe of nature following closely the drought of 1930 and adding greatly to the misery that it caused threatened the mid-west today as the first month of 1931 neared a close.

Ranking third for all time in lack of precipitation and third for warmth but first of all the January's in combination of the two extremes, the month just ending has delivered almost the final blow to mid-western residents.

In some sections where there was little rain in 1930 and neither snow nor rain last month, the situation has become acute.

In the southern Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and parts of other states, whole towns are suffering from lack of water. Winter crops are being ruined and diseases caused partly by the freakish weather conditions is spreading rapidly.

Temperatures yesterday were excessive in all states except the east. At Chicago a shift of the winds about noon prevented the mercury from reaching an all-time high record for January. As it was it climbed to 49 within a degree of the high mark of 50 set in 1918.

Some other high marks for the day were Cincinnati 58, Indianapolis 56, Des Moines 54, St. Louis 66, Oklahoma City 72, Little Rock 74, Bismark 54, Denver 56, Los Angeles 74, Phoenix 78, Minneapolis 46, and Wichita 68.

GOODWIN IS REMOVED TO DALLAS JAIL

DALLAS, Jan. 31.—Announcing that Texarkana men had threatened to lynch him should he be given a new trial, Bowie county officers this morning removed Dave Goodwin, under death sentence, from the Titus county jail at Mt. Pleasant and took him to the Dallas county jail here.

Goodwin is the prisoner for whom the state court of criminal appeals refused a new trial though admitting that his trial at New Boston last year had been unfair because of the menace of a mob surrounding the court house.

FRENCH AUTHORESS HONORED

Mother May Win $500,000

When Charles V. Millar, eccentric Toronto millionaire, died five years ago he bequeathed $500,000 to the Toronto woman who would bear the largest number of children in the 10 years following his death. Above is Mrs. Florence Brown, now the leading contender for the prize, with 12 or her 13 children, six of which have been born since Millar's death. She has borne 26 children during her 22 years of married life.

FOUR FACTIONS FORMING IN UTILITY REGULATION MOVE

AUSTIN, Jan. 31.—Prohibition enforcement and utility regulation promised to hold the spotlight in the Texas legislature next week. A public hearing on enforcement laws has been set for Tuesday night. There are four distinct utility factions forming. One wants a state fact-finding body with rate regulation left to municipalities and counties. One wants a state commission with rate powers.

Another wants the present elected railroad commission to include utilities. Another wants the governor to appoint the utility commission. Utility hearings may be delayed until February 13. Some members question the validity of bills upon which committees passed before then or which are enacted before March 13 despite a blanket vote changing the 30 and 60 day rule.

Others say that utility legislation was submitted as a special topic for action at any time when the governor included the state democratic platform in his message.

Bodies of Woman and Daughter Found

BLACKWELL, Okla., Jan. 31.—The bodies of Mrs. Kathryn Shaw, 31, and her 10-year-old daughter, Beverly Shaw, were found late today in their home here.

Authorities refused to discuss the case pending further investigation. It was understood the girl had been shot to death. Shaw was not here when the tragedy occurred. Assistant County Attorney Ralph Harder said he was at Enid where he operates a filling station.

Fire Destroys Gasoline Plant

BORGER, Jan. 31.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the gasoline plant of the Phillips Petroleum company, three miles north of here today. Two men at first were reported to have lost their lives in the blaze but Hugh Miller, in charge of the plant, said a careful check accounted for all employees and that no one had been killed or injured.

WILL ENFORCE STATE AUTO LICENSE LAW

Bob Hammett, Eastland county traffic officer, said Saturday that he and other officers would positively begin making arrests of autoists who operated their cars on and after Monday, February 2, without the 1931 license as required by law. In addition to the fine a 20 per cent penalty is charged on license fees not paid before Feb. 1 if the car is operated without the proper license.

CHARGES IN BUTLER CASE NOT KNOWN

Time and Place for Trial Await Formal Papers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The formal charges upon which Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, U. S. M. C., must face a court-martial will be in the hands of Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams either this afternoon or Monday, according to information at the office of the Judge-Advocate of the navy.

While none would reveal the exact charges it was considered certain that Butler's comments upon Premier Mussolini, of Italy, which caused his prosecution would be viewed in the official papers either as conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman or as conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline.

Secretary Adams said today he had not determined either the time or the place for the trial. It was believed it would be held in Washington or at one of the naval establishments near by and that the court would convene within the next two weeks. Definite announcement of time and place is expected to follow the presentation of the papers to Adams.

While the judge-advocate general's office was busy with the charges Butler's friends were even busier with plans for the defense. Major Henry F. Leonard, U. S. M. C., retired, chosen by Butler as his chief counsel, discussed the case yesterday at length with a group of Marine officers who were friends of Butler ready to be of service to him in his present predicament.

COMPROMISE BONUS PLAN CONSIDERED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The cash bonus movement has gained such proportions in congress that administration leaders tonight were considering a compromise to pay those who are now unemployed and in need instead of cashing all certificates.

Such a plan was suggested several weeks ago by Chairman Royal Johnson, of the house veterans committee, but was not taken up generally at that time as the agitation was not then as extensive. Now, however, administration leaders are frankly worried over the prospect that congress may vote a straight out cash bonus for all veterans which would cost $3,500,000 and they have seized upon this plan as the best compromise.

Congressional leaders have received word from high administration officials that this solution would be acceptable if it is not possible to check the cash bonus movement which does not appear likely now.

BANDIT ALARM TEST BRINGS COPS RUNNING

Efficiency of the burglar alarm system installed at the First National bank for protection against bandits was demonstrated yesterday morning when the system was turned on for a test without knowledge of two policemen, Officers Poe and Bryant.

The police station had been notified of the test but the two officers were not in the station at the time. Desk Sergeant Stuart stepped into the fire station department at the rear for a moment. Officers Poe and Bryant entered the station just then and the alarm sounded immediately.

Both officers grabbed guns and hiked for the bank before Stuart could intercept them. Mr. Poe taking a station in front and Mr. Bryant at the side. Noah Fowler, who installed the system, came out of the front of the building, saw Mr. Poe and assured him everything was all right.

"We did what we were told to do if that thing went off," Mr. Poe explained when the stir had quieted.

MOB VIOLENCE THREATS MADE IN 3 CITIES

Lynching Attempts Against 2 Negroes Feared

(By United Press) The spectre of mob violence in-shrouded three Texas cities tonight and two negroes were guarded from open threats of lynching. A white man charged with murder was whisked from town and taken to the Dallas county jail for safe-keeping.

The negro suspected of attempting to assault a white woman at Midland at noon today was lodged in Midland's new jail. Tonight after angry crowds gathered on the streets the negro, who had not been identified by the woman, was saved from lynching by Chief of Police Lee Haynes who rushed the suspect to a cell and assembled guards around the building hurriedly.

Violence threatened at Mount Pleasant today following the death of Willie Stewart, 31-year-old farmer, from injuries received when he was struck by a hammer thrown by Harvey Riley, negro. Hardware stores reported a sudden demand for guns and ammunition and open threats of lynching were heard on the streets.

Negro Removed The negro was removed from his cell and placed in the death cell block of the county jail. Officers were alert for signs of an outbreak tonight. A negro was taken from jail and burned at a stake near here several years ago.

Riley was reported to have flung a hammer at Joe Freddy, mechanic, in a fit of anger. The negro missed Freddy but struck Stewart who later died of the injuries.

The third threat of lynching came from Texarkana but centered about Mt. Pleasant, the same town where the negro slayer was held. Dave Goodwin, charged with killing Lloyd Elliott, 23-year-old farmer, was in jail there. He is under a sentence of death but motion for a new trial has been made for him. The appeal charged that a hostile mob surrounded the court house at New Boston when he was tried and prevented the court from returning any verdict other than death.

Persistent rumors that a group of Texarkana men planned to lynch Goodwin if a new trial was granted caused officers to take him from jail at Mt. Pleasant today and rush to Dallas. The Dallas county jail has never yielded a prisoner to a mob. A youthful mobman was shot to death there several years ago when crowds stormed the jail in a futile effort to take a killer from a cell and lynch him.

MT. PLEASANT, Jan. 31.—With hardware stores reporting a sudden demand for ammunition and rumors of a lynching heard on street corners Titus county officers today transferred a negro man accused of killing a young farmer with a hammer here a week ago, from the regular cell block to the death cell of the county jail as a precaution against possible mob violence.

Willie Stewart, 21, a farmer whose home was at Argo, about 10 miles northeast of here, was buried today. He died Thursday of injuries received last week when struck by a hammer said to have been flung at Joe Freddy, Mt. Pleasant mechanic, by a negro man in a fit of anger. Stewart was arrested but not until after Stewart's death, Thursday, were rumors heard of violence.

Gas Company Will Fight Rate Cut

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31.—E. C. Deal, president Oklahoma Natural Gas corporation, said today the company would start court action protesting the 10-cent gas rate cut order yesterday by the State Corporation commission. It was understood a restraining order against the commission's edict would be sought in the state supreme court. Deal contended the company was not given a fair hearing and were not permitted to present its complete testimony.

Gas rates were affected in 46 of the 48 cities served by the Oklahoma Natural. In Oklahoma City the reduction for consumers was from 37 cents a thousand cubic feet to 47 cents.

Chairman Paul A. Walker of the commission set Feb. 11 as date for final hearing of the company's testimony but issued the order to effect reductions on March 1 bills, unless the supreme court blocks the move.

BIG INTEREST IN ELECTION IS REFLECTED

Nearly 1,200 Paid to 6 o'Clock Saturday evening

The extent of public interest in the forthcoming city election is reflected in the volume of poll taxes paid at the city hall prior to today. The total of poll taxes paid and exemption certificates issued exceeds by several hundred the number of such receipts and certificates issued last year, according to City Secretary W. B. Statham.

At 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Statham said that 995 poll taxes had been paid and 216 exemption certificates issued making a total of 1211 citizens who had qualified for participating in the city election next April. The full number of voters who have qualified themselves cannot be determined until Monday or Tuesday, however, due to the fact that many payments were placed in the mails Saturday and receipts cannot be issued until they arrive at the secretary's office. Many other citizens paid their poll taxes in person at the secretary's office after 6 o'clock Saturday evening, the office remaining open until 9 o'clock to take care of those wishing to obtain their receipts.

Payment of ad valorem taxes has been good, Mr. Statham said. Such payments have been about on par with previous years.

Payment of state and county taxes poll taxes and automobile license fees at the temporary collecting office maintained in the First National bank the past week was heavy. Saturday, the final day for the payment of license fees without penalty and poll taxes, witnessed the expected rush. The bank closed its doors at 3 o'clock but it was five o'clock before the last of those waiting attention from Deputy Collector C. S. Karkalits and Mrs. Katie Richardson had been waited upon.

Series of Lectures Rising in Interest

The series of lectures "The Bible in Art," being delivered at First Presbyterian church by the Rev. B. C. Boney has climactically risen in interest, beauty, and the attendance of Cisco's population. Friday evening, "The Captivity of the Jews" and "The Birth and Early Ministry of Jesus" were the subjects of the double-lecture; and prodigality marked the appreciative comments of the departing audience at the close of the lecture: "That hour seemed more like two minutes." The most beautiful presentation of scripture I ever heard," "I have learned more scripture in these three evenings than in years of trying to just read it." "Aren't those pictures just too wonderful for words?" and "I never dreamed that the Bible could be made so clear in so short a time." There are two more double-lectures: "Jesus the Minister to Mankind," and "The Suffering, but Triumphant Lord," will be presented with the illuminating assistance of 47 masterpieces Sunday evening beginning at 7:30. This will be the greatest number to be displayed during any one evening, and is like the unfolding of a great drama. The lectures are open and free to the public. Monday evening will close the series it is announced.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON Jesus, the Great Physician.

Text: Luke 4:38-44; 5:12-16

And he arose out of the synagogue, and entered into Simon's house. And Simon's wife's mother was taken with a great fever; and they besought him for her.

And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her; and immediately she arose and ministered unto them.

Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them.

And devils also came out of many, crying out, and saying, Thou art Christ the Son of God. And he rebuking them suffered them not to speak: for they knew that he was Christ.

And when it was day, he departed and went into a desert place: and the people sought him, and that he should not depart from them.

And he said unto them, I must needs go and preach in the cities also; for therefore am I sent.

And he preached in the synagogues of Galilee.

And it came to pass, when he was in a certain city, behold a man full of leprosy; who seeing Jesus fell on his face, and besought him saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

And he charged him to tell no man; but go, and shew himself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, according as Moses commanded, for a testimony unto them.

But so much the more went there a fame abroad of him: and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by him of their infirmities.

And he withdrew himself into the wilderness, and prayed.

means at our disposal for treating disease. To neglect proper means of physical cure and to expect God to work miracles of healing would seem to be quite as unreasonable as to refuse to eat food and expect God to maintain our physical lives. The whole field of healing is one regarding which there can be little value in a dogmatic attitude.

Healing Soul Is Chief Aim

The wonder-working power of Jesus does not seem amazing when one thinks of the wonder of the man himself. One thing many people will believe — namely, that any miracle of healing that Jesus performed was in harmony with some higher law of his being, and of spiritual power operating in a physical world.

When one considers that such discoveries as the radio have come into the world only after many centuries of its existence, is it unreasonable to believe that future centuries may reveal quite as great wonders in the spiritual organization and forces of life?

Moreover, just as the laws and principles of the radio were present in the world centuries before they were discovered, so the spiritual laws and forces, that saints and prophets may discover in a far distant day are operating in our present life if we had power to understand them.

One thing is sure, the supreme ministry of Jesus is the ministry of healing for the soul. If the power of the Gospel does not reach our lives and transform them, there can be little hope of effectual improvement through spiritual

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Feb. 1, Jesus, the Great Physician. Luke 4:38-44; 5:12-16.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of THE CONGREGATIONALIST.

Our lesson presents Jesus as a great physician in the healing of physical ills. Leaving the synagogue, he entered into the house of Simon whose mother-in-law was seriously ill with a fever. The record is that Jesus manifested his healing power by rebuking the fever, which left her so quickly that she was able immediately to arise and minister to her guests.

In the evening of the same day, many who were sick with various diseases were brought to Jesus, and the record is that he laid his hands on them and healed them. The second portion of the lesson tells also of the miraculous healing power of Jesus in the curing of the dreadful disease of leprosy.

How are we to interpret these lessons which are confined almost wholly to the curing of physical diseases? To discuss the miracles is of little value, because if we could explain the records they would cease to be miraculous. The power that Jesus manifested might be likened to the cures that frequently occur through the power of mind over matter or through the spiritual or hypnotic influence of some strong individual. But the cure of leprosy cannot be regarded in that complacent way. The stories are of miraculous healing.

Miracles Only Minor Part.

On the other hand, there is little evidence in the ministry of Jesus of the healing of bodily diseases as a continuous or chief function of his ministry. Had this been the case the records of the New Testament would be confined almost exclusively to miracles of healing, for the extent of bodily illness in any community is always very great.

As a matter of fact, the miracles of healing form a relatively small part of the New Testament, and they do not by any means overshadow the greater and deeper ministry of Jesus in specific ministry to the soul. He is above all the Savior from sin and the bearer of the griefs and sorrows of his fellow men.

This fact, it seems to me, it is very important to grasp. To regard Jesus chiefly as a great physician in a worldly sense, fulfilling the functions of the doctor of medicine, is to miss his supreme significance as the physician of the soul. But is there in Christianity a legitimate and effective ministry of healing in the physical sense? Should healing be a normal function of the church today?

Upon this question there is, and there will long be, wide divergence of opinion. Among those who advocate healing as a function of the Christian church and ministry, there are varied conceptions as to how and to what extent that function should be performed.

Many believe that all diseases are subject to healing by spiritual means. While to others faith healing means little more than an effort to discover and apply the spiritual laws dealing with the influences of mind and soul that affect bodily conditions. The extremes of opinion are represented by various groups who preach and practice the gospel of faith cure on the one hand, and men like the late Dr. George A. Gordon, on the other hand, who have criticized certain efforts to administer physical healing through the minister rather than the doctor as "the practice of medicine by the unfit."

Without entering into the deeper and mystic aspects of the matter concerning which we may make many spiritual discoveries in the future, it would seem reasonable to suggest that in relation to all physical states and conditions we should exercise common sense and avail ourselves of all the causes in our physical condition. The Gospel in the richness and fullness of its meaning is a gospel of spiritual health.

The Old Time Family Doctor

In the rush of so called modern methods of living, the traditions of the Old Time Family Doctor have been largely lost sight of. The Doctor of your grandfather's day was always looked to as one of the foremost men of the community. He was next to the minister or priest in the minds and hearts of his people.

His knowledge was largely obtained through study by lamp light in his own home. The diseases in his day were classified in a comparatively small group but honored as he was in his day, his methods would not endure today.

The physician of today who is qualified to advise, counsel and serve you must be one who is thoroughly informed on many phases of modern medicine and science. He frequently attends special clinics. He devotes much time to special research and observation work he is qualified to do much more than the Old Time Family Doctor.

Naturally it costs the physician a great deal of money to keep abreast of the times in his profession. It follows that he must make his collections fairly promptly. It is usually true that the more attention a physician gives to study and research, the less attention he gives to making collections.

Statistics prove that modern medical science has materially lengthened the span of life. Show your appreciation of the very great service the medical profession is performing for humanity by paying your physician's bills when they are due.

BUILDING RECORD OF 11 TEXAS CITIES.

Eleven Texas cities spent nearly $90,000,000 on new buildings and repairs of old during 1930 and more than one-third of the total was for new homes and new apartments—

There appears to be a mental depression in Texas as well as a slight financial depression. Think of this taken from a report issued by the American Motorists association.

GROWTH OF THE NATURAL GAS INDUSTRY.

Texas is the greatest of natural gas producing states. A reminder that Fort Worth voted overwhelmingly in favor of municipal ownership of the gas distributing system, in the first election on public ownership ever held there.

Western Gas company officials of El Paso announce arrangements are completed for immediate construction of a $6,000,000 high pressure natural gas line, extending 275 miles westward from El Paso to serve Douglas and Bisbee, Arizona and Cananea, Sonora, Mexico.

Only a decade ago natural gas was of importance in few sections of the country. Development of transmission was a dream of the future. Lines 100 miles long were considered only remote possibilities.

More than 4,000 miles of pipe line now under construction will be completed during 1931 and will add 500,000,000 cubic feet a day to new markets not now accessible.

Loboes Wallop Eagles for Third of Past Week

EXTRA PERIOD REQUIRED TO SETTLE SCORE

League Leaders Suffer First Defeat by 17-12 Score

The Cisco Loboes accomplished their second case of revenge during the current basketball season last night by administering the first defeat to the 1931 Abilene Eagles cage crew. The game was forced into an extra period after Abilene, trailing throughout the game staged a last period rally to tie the score 13 all. The Eagles, however, failed to count for a single point in the extra three minutes while both Yeager and Preston ramp up field goals to put the Loboes four points ahead. The score was 17 and 13. The game was played at Abilene.

Yeager was high point man for the game with 9 points. Jack Smith, Abilene scoring ace, was second with 6.

The Loboes led up until the last few minutes of the final regular period. At the end of the first quarter the score was 9 to 4 in their favor; at the end of the half 11 and 5; at the end of the third period, 13 and 7 and at the end of the fourth 13 all.

Third in Row.

The game, incidentally, was the third in as many evenings that the Loboes played and won last week. The victory over the Eagles gives them a tie for second place with Breckenridge and further fortifies them in the position of being strong contenders for the Oil Belt League title. Abilene defeated the Cisco boys in a hot contest at the local gym several weeks ago. Previous to that the Loboes had succumbed to the Eliasville cage crew, a defeat which they avenged by downing the Eliasville crew at Eliasville Friday evening.

Two of the hardest fought games they have played this season marked the Loboes' and Lobo Queens' invasion Friday night of Eliasville. The Loboes, by superior foul line shooting, won a smoking fracas with the Eliasville team, 18 to 15, thereby Eliasville quintet here. The score in the former game was approximately the same.

Chuck Van Horn was the high point artist of the evening, accounting for 10 of his teams' 18 points. The Loboes took the game when they tossed six of seven free shots through the hoop while the Eliasville team converted only one of the same number of chances into a score.

But the Lobo Queens lost their engagement by the same margin that the boys won theirs. The set-to-between the girls sextets was featured by the sparkling rally that the Queens made in the last period to overcome half of the lead of six points held by the Eliasville girls. Gladys Purvis was high point for the Cisco team.

This defeat is the first to be suffered by the girls this season and mars a record in which is included victories over Breckenridge, Ranger and other teams.

FROG QUINTET SEEKING CROWN

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs and Southern Methodist's Mustangs meet on the hardwood floor in Dallas Monday night with the conference leadership at stake. These who have seen both teams in action agree that the winner will be the team that does the most efficient guarding. Pictured here are the Frogs' aggregation of guards, headed by Capt. Atkins and Green, usual starters, and Brannon and Vaught, sophomore reserves. In the upper right is Ad "Too Tall" Dietzel, elongated pivot man for the Frogs and just now at least high-point man in the conference.

BIG DAM CHATTER

The burning question in the minds of the athletic constituency of Cisco at the present is "Who will coach at Cisco high school next year?" Answer to this question can come from but one source—the school board. So far the board appears to know little more about it than others. The state of mind in which the board finds itself at present appears similar to that of the maiden with a score of eligible young bachelors at her feet.

According to reports of the board's predicament enough writing paper has been used in applying for the position of coach at the Cisco high school to print one day's circulation of the Daily News. In fact there are more applicants for coach than prospective football players. Everybody in the world except the editor and others who get passes to the games, seems to want to coach football at Cisco next year. This department is informed that more than 30 applications are on file.

The board is faced with a problem that has more than one side. It must consider not only the ability of the man selected to coach the Loboes, but it must also consider his popularity with Cisco fans, his teaching ability and his moral character. The combination was a happy one in Coach W. B. Chapman, who is resigning.

Only a short while remains for making the selection from the long list of applicants before the spring training season gets under way. Preparations for next year's football schedule must begin.

The Cisco Loboes are stepping right along in their basketball schedule this season. After a false start in which they dropped two games the Loboes have snapped out of it with a vim and right now are treading on the heels of the league leaders. In the county interscholastic league race the league race the Loboes are leading with a perfect record. Both Ranger and Eastland have succumbed to the Loboes attacks.

Some confusion exists relative to the purpose and meaning of the Oil Belt Basketball league. For the benefit of those who appear to understand that the Oil Belt league contest counts in interscholastic league standing the bald statement that it does not should be sufficient correct the impression. The league is a local organization, separate from the interscholastic league except that games played between teams of the same county in the Oil Belt league will count in the interscholastic league standings as well as in the league standings. So far as the league is concerned, however, it will have no bearing on the state race. Games between Cisco and Abilene, Abilene and Breckenridge, Cisco and Breckenridge or other Oil Belt league teams from different counties will have no effect upon the interscholastic league's standings. Games between Cisco and Ranger, Cisco and Eastland and Ranger and Eastland, however, will count in the standings in both organizations, because these teams are located in the same county.

EXTRA SESSION IS THREATENED WITH DEADLOCK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The fate of the proposed $25,000,000 appropriation for 1931, which was introduced by the house on Jan. 29, is in doubt today. The senate has refused to take it up, and the house has threatened to adjourn for the week unless the senate agrees to take it up.

rather sizeable majorities, went on record against that proposal yesterday. Today the fate of the appropriation was thrown into a conference between house and senate, with senate conferees instructed to insist upon it and house conferees ordered to stand against it. The house has won out in such conferences hitherto this session, but a victory this time will be practically meaningless in view of Robnison's organized move to keep adding the item to other appropriation bills.

Tho of the minority party, Robnison now is in control of the senate through the full support of his party there and a following among western republicans. House leaders are concerned by his threat, realizing its portent.

They were confronted with the alternative of continuing to vote down the relief program and facing the certainty of a special session or yielding to a compromise. They are divided in their councils with the probability they will go to the white house with their dilemma.

Democrats sought to get around the Red Cross refusal to administer the proposed $25,000,000 appropriation by offering to vote the money to President Hoover, to the war department or to charitable, fraternal and religious organizations. Republicans ejected every proposal.

The controversy now has gone far beyond the bounds of this one appropriation. Robnison's ultimatum involves several other measures. These include the $15,000,000 food

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS.

MOM'N POP.

For GINGER'S SAKE

BEGIN HERE TODAY Life was never dull with Ginger Ella Tolliver around. Whenever there was a threat of it, Ginger got a new idea. Thus she suggested a Junior Country Club to save the younger set of Red Trush, Iowa, from utter boredom. It was to be exclusive—no parents, no babies. Accordingly Ginger, whose father was a minister but whose stepmother, the former Phil Van Doorn, was both wealthy and intelligent, purchased the Mill Rush farm, a 10-acre tract with an old house on it, which she proceeded, with the assistance of her friends, to overhaul and furnish.

Red Trush seized the idea with enthusiasm. The younger set would paint Iowa nights a deep rose red. One day, while the habilitation of the club house was going on, an artist called at the Tolliver kitchen and offered to do a portrait of Ginger in exchange for a meal. After he had shaved off his beard, Ginger found to her amazement that he was both young and good looking. And he had talent. He had studied in Paris, and his name was Bard Holloway.

Ginger, never at a loss for ideas, thought it would be a good one if Bard remained a while in Red Trush. She would see that he got enough commissions for portraits, which would be better than hobnobbing through the country, and he could do the mural decorations at the new club house. So, very cleverly, she got her stepmother to prevail on Bard to accept an invitation to stay at the Tollivers', and with this accomplished she took him to Mill Rush and got him started on the decorations.

Bard thought "Joie de Vivre" would be a good name for the club. It was adopted. And he thought it would be splendid if they could import Nicolo Calleno from Chicago. For Nicolo was handsome and he could cook and sing and strum a guitar. He would make a picturesque addition to the club. He would be a knockout on the opening night, for which a dinner dance was planned. So he sent for Nicolo. But on the morning of the dance there arrived at the Tollivers not one Latin youth, but what seemed an army of them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIV The strangers did not listen. They had a letter to come to Red Trush, they had taken the cab at the station as instructed and it had brought them to this house. Before they perceived an open door, which was symbolic of the welcome they had anticipated. They surged noisily forward, try no re-enforced by Hamill, drove them back. But when Ginger and Bard ran bravely down the flagstone path the defense yielded and a wave of laughing, gesticulating, joyous Italian engulfed them. Bard planted himself between the onrush and the astonished Ginger.

"What does this mean? Where did you come from? Where is Nicolo?" They shouted loud explanations in cheerful Italian, proffering a letter, the very letter which had brought them hither, and which would explain all. But it was only Bard's own letter to Nicolo and explained nothing. When he protested his unwillingness to accept it as a card of admission, it appeared they knew no English, but Italian only, that they had come by the letter, and ended with a triplicate of the telling Mediterranean shrug which says so much.

Bard was implacable. "You can't speak English? Then we don't want you. Back in the car with you—take them to the train, try—ship them right off to Chicago!" he ordered hotly. "We don't understand Italian."

Thus driven into a corner, it developed that they knew a little English, and if given time and patience could perhaps succeed in making themselves faintly understood. And in a few surprisingly well-worded and grammatical sentences they explained that Nicolo could not come, that he had a job, a very good job, in a speakeasy which the union did not control. Not being able to accept the invitation himself, he had generously passed it on to them, his particular chosen and bosom friends and boon companions. "But why three of you?" ejaculated the bolder artist. "We only want the best."

No matter! He could have three for the price of one. Were not six hands better than two? They were boon companions, they could not be separated, and as proof they embraced one another. They wished to see the country, they had never before heard of Iowa, they needed a change from Chicago. They would sleep three in one bed and work all for the price of one. "There's plenty of room in the attic," whispered Ginger, eager to relieve Bard of the terrific responsibility thus thrust upon him. At the sound of her small voice, with the usual Latin partiality of her sex, especially a pretty one, they surrounded her in a large, perspiring, laughing flood. They bowed, they beamed, they kissed her hand. They swore they would serve her for nothing, they were her slaves, they would work as one man and for practically nothing but her smile, with the exception of a little food, a place to sleep and perhaps a piece of change now and then. Little Angelo, there, was a musician. He could play the piano so it would stir your heartstrings like the harps in heaven. Also he could play the violin, but alas, he had no violin. Also he would wait on the table, and was very handy about the grounds. Pietro was a cook. He could cook dishes for the palates of the gods and Italians, than which there is no better taste. He required almost nothing in the way of ingredients, and he was so sanitary and so hygienic as to put the average Board of Health to shame. Benito—it was Benito who did almost all the talking—Benito, in a great smile that engulfed his immense features like a tidal wave, announced that he was a singer. "Do you suppose he really can sing?" whispered Ginger. Benito heard her. The tide of smiles receded from his face. With a large wave of his moist hand he swept his colleagues away from him, drew back a step or two to allow for the proper expansion of his perfect lungs, and suddenly, like a great torrent, he deluged them with the strains of O Sole Mio, rising into greater and gladder crescendos that brought Phil and her husband, and at a distance, Gooby, rushing to the door. Ginger covered her ears with her hands. "Stop him!" she called to Bard but Bard was powerless. "Stop him," she cried to try Ford, who was doubled up on the running-board, helpless with laughter.

She appealed to his fellow countrymen. But they were standing back raptly, heads lifted heavenward, softly beating time with one warm hand upon the other. "O sole mio," exulted the great voice, and died away at last, like the reverberations of summer thunder, into a pleased laugh of self-satisfaction. "Could he sing?" Amazed Phil and Mr. Tolliver approached the strange group. "Ginger, my poor child," began Phil, but stopped as the three newcomers surged forward to kiss her hand.

"Oh, Phil," cried the harassed girl, half weeping. "I meant it for a surprise, and it hasn't turned out at all right." "Surprises so often don't," said her father gravely. "We only wanted one," explained Bard nervously. "A small pretty chap I knew in Chicago. He plays and sings, just a youngster. We never anticipated an invasion like this. We—we are terribly disconcerted." "So are we," agreed Phil, with difficulty restraining her laughter. "Tell me, dear," she said to her husband, "does the parsonage also share its bed and board with black shirts?"

"Oh, Phil, darling," protested Ginger, "we don't expect them to stay here. We'll send them out to the—Joie-de-Vivre for a few days and then hustle them back to Chicago. They can't stay here." "We told try to meet one little Italian boy and take him right out, but when the Roman Army descended upon him he thought he'd better come and ask me about it."

"Quite wisely," approved her father. But Ginger, though shocked, rallied quickly. "As long as they are here we may as well make use of them. They say that Pietro can cook. Let him. We'll order a barrel of macaroni and specialize on Italian dishes." "We'll dress Angelo up like a baby Mussolini in masquerade and let him wait on table. And I think if we take this Grand Opera across the river his singing will make a pleasant music for us in the interludes of dancing." "We can't waste them, now they're here. Take them out, try, and tell Jenky to put them right to work. Turn the attic over to them."

Ginger Ella did not usually bother herself greatly on the subject of clothes. She was far more interested in what she should eat than wherewithal should she be clothed. In the earlier and more stringent parsonage days she had been bound by certain rigid regulations as to Sunday and every-day dresses and shoes, but in her new suburban affluence the days of the week were as one to her. So, also were dresses. Such preference as she had was all for the thing that could be got into, and out of, with the least exertion of time and effort. A sudden scrupulous attentiveness to details of dress is the unfailing weather-vane of a young girl's fancy. On the occasion of the formal dance at Joie de Vivre, all of a sudden the color, cut and character of clothes took on significance to Ginger.

HEALTH BOARD APPEALS FOR COOPERATION

A request that the citizens cooperate with the health department in efforts for prompt and efficient disposition of garbage was repeated Saturday by the board of health. Complaints from a number of residences that garbage was not being removed prompted an investigation which revealed that in many instances the citizens were not doing their part in removing accumulations of waste, the board said. "We will appreciate reports from citizens when their garbage is not properly taken care of," the board said, "and will see that such conditions are corrected. "But for the best results in taking care of garbage it is essential that the citizens do their part by putting refuse in cans that have good bottoms with tops that are kept closed and keeping these cans in accessible places," the board continued. "Many garbage cans are kept in yards which are enclosed by fences so that the garbage collectors cannot reach them. The collectors are under no obligation to collect the waste if it is not accessible. Alleys Blocked "In many instances accumulations of trash, automobile fenders, tree branches and so forth have been piled in alleys in such a way that the wagons have difficulty in getting through. The garbage men are not required to move this trash and the residents should see to it that it is taken away. Cans and other small trash must, if it is taken up by the wagons, be placed in suitable containers. "If the public will cooperate as suggested the service will be materially improved. Another survey will be made later to determine what results have been obtained. "It is well to point out at this time, also, that the time for flies and mosquitoes is approaching. If Cisco is to be kept free of these pests not only officials but every resident must use the utmost diligence to see that breeding places are cleaned up, that no open water is left standing unprotected and that cow lots and other places of the character where flies breed are kept cleaned and oiled. "The board earnestly solicited the assistance of the public in keeping Cisco the cleanest city in the state."

SEATTLE SEEKS SNIFFERS TO SPOT PERFUMES

SEATTLE, Jan. 31.—Wanted: men with long, sensitive noses, unmarred by contact with keyholes, jugs, mash barrels, and pocket flasks, to fill position of official perfume sniffer. When the revised tariff went into effect this month, the customs bureau found it had no man on the force whose sense of smell was delicate enough to "spot" different brands of perfume and label them by their odor. The new tariff provides for a 75 per cent duty on perfume, with other duties dependent upon the brand, strength and type of perfume. The government has plenty of sniffer men but none that could perform in the following manner: Chief perfume sniffer, standing third in line at the pier as the ship docks, lifts his delicate, quivering nostrils as he seeks traces of incoming perfume. "Anybody have any perfume to declare?" he should ask. The passengers line up, and he walks quickly from one to another. "Hum-m, that's Jasmine, duty $4.23. Night of Passion, duty $2.92. Flowers of Orient, duty $3.75. Amber Royal, a very good grade, duty $9.57."

HUNTING AND FISHING BIG U. S. INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Hunting and fishing in the United States are not mere pastimes; together they constitute a billion-dollar industry. This is according to the estimate of the senate's special committee on conservation of wild life resources which has been conducting a nation-wide survey, under the chairmanship of Senator Frederic C. Walcott. The investment in Federal and State lands and equipment devoted to wild animals, birds and fish, of men capable of naming intoxicating liquors by their "smell" but

Guiding Huge Liner, Like Leviathan, to Port Tests Skill of Pilot, Skipper, Crew

Given fair weather, you can set jasses begin grinding. Gangways were unrolled by the Leviathan's crew. She is being guided into the harbor by the pilot and skipper. On Monday night the huge liner will be in port. As the night mist condenses into a low-hanging cloud, she beats up the jerry coast and bursts out of the fog—three planes of smoke trailing astern, her red-white-and-blue funnels leaning at a rakish angle, the snowy superstructure riding swanlike atop the coal-black hull, writes James Howland in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

That man will be the "Leviathan" pilot? None but her pilot. An hour before dawn, he paces the deck of the pilot boat, waiting for a gleam to announce his ship. Red and green navigation lights on the bridge are his first cue. Less boldly shine the chains of portlights, sparkling necklaces, as the passengers are about to rise for an early breakfast.

After the incessant pounding of her pistons for six days, the grey-horned vessel passes on her back, and barely parting from recent land, she winks, smokes and the pilot to a suspended ladder. Her scales the overhanging cliff and is greeted by Commodore H. A. Cunningham. Stewards and sailors through the decks fore and aft. Derricks are oiled. The idle engines chafe to be off.

From the flying bridge, I saw how the pilot and ship's officers managed the "Leviathan." The job of navigating her up is known in nautical parlance as "trimming the ship."

No sooner is an order uttered and transmitted than three different men write it down in logs and note the exact minute. The navigator is at hand to see that every order is properly repeated until it reaches the quartermaster at the wheel. A third officer stands beside the quartermaster and assures himself that commands are properly executed. A second officer takes charge of the men at the telephones and the engine room. A third officer is in charge of the second officer's staff of officers stands at the bow, assisted by a third officer. Another commands the aft part of the ship. Cadet officers attend their sections.

15 SCHOOLS IN WEST TEXAS BAND CONTEST

ABILENE, Jan. 31.—Plans have been inaugurated for the third annual West Texas high school band contest, according to Prof. D. O. Wiley, conductor of the Simmons band and director of the contest. Fifteen West Texas high schools have indicated their intention of entering the tournament and a number of others are expected to enter, according to Prof. Wiley. These 15 will represent Lubbock, Reno, Breckenridge, Dalhart, Ball, Snyder, Colorado, Midland, Pecos, Wichita Falls and Abilene.

R. A. Dioso, director of the Magnolia Petroleum band of Beaumont, will act as judge. The contest will be under the supervision of the School of Music at Simmons and all auditions will be held in the Simmons auditorium.

This contest is affiliated with the National high school tournament and winners in the respective divisions will be eligible to enter the national meet at Tulsa, Oklahoma, in April.

The schools will be divided into four classes. These which come from high schools of more than 750 enrollment will be in Class A, those from schools which have from 250 to 750 students will be in Class B, and those from schools of less than 250 will be Class C. These from high schools which have had a band less than one year will be Class D contests.

This contest corresponds to the local meet held in the high school building.

The first West Texas contest was held in 1929 with Cisco winning the Class A division and Balldog the Class B. Last year the contest was held in connection with the W. T. C. C. tourney.

J. C. PENNEY LEADERS SEE SURE REVIVAL

Mr. P. F. Glenn, manager of the local J. C. Penney company store returned to this city Friday from Dallas where he has been attending the annual spring convention of the J. C. Penney Co. Commenting on the convention which was one of eight that are now being held all over the United States, he said, "The keynote of the convention is the sure revival. Reports made by member businesses, carefully studying the general business conditions all over the country, were presented and every indication is for a steady, sure return to national prosperity on a sound basis which should last for many years."

"Striking charts, depicting what has been going on in the retail trade world, in the various lines and departments, were shown and how the better organized business organizations throughout the country have taken hold of the present situation.

"It is unlikely that the country has ever seen greater values for the dollar than are now being shown by sound organizations. Excess production and distribution costs have been wiped out of the business world and the retail market is showing a steady recovery. Speculation, not alone in the stock market, but in general merchandise lines was a primary cause of the passing depression but the new efforts are along lines determined by sound analysis of demand.

"Employment will to a more normal basis as the new values in nearly all lines restore buying confidence. There is no doubt that the year has seen many conspicuous examples of returning payrolls.

"In general, people are in a replacement market at the present time. For the past several months they have been using up their reserve supplies of clothes, furnishings, and other items which make up their normal buying requirements.

"Business judgment dictates renewed and replacements as to today's prices."

Commenting on the style trends in women's wear, Mr. Glenn said: "The well-dressed woman can maintain her wardrobe on a far smaller amount of money today than she has been able to in the past ten years. New styles emphasize the return of feminine lines, the long skirt for formal and semi-formal occasions, and feminine lines around the shoulder.

WRITER ENVIED FOR HIS TRIP TO ST. HELENA

By JOHN D. MONTGOMERY

Although I was apprehensive of the Bencanabura fight I spent my last evening out in Goom, knowing that a million people, at least, would give anything to have a chance to fly over the route.

I met a young German who was in charge of the local Scandia flying company office. The Scandia flying company is a private mail-carrying company and has its own fleet of biplanes. He took me to the Gooms field, close to the Straneger's club and told me of his various adventures.

I was awakened at 4:30 and soon was at the flying field. Exactly at six, our plane rose from France Field into the air and shot across the tethers at 100 miles and hour. A few miles down the coast from Balldog, we passed over the Lepor Colony where 402 victims are receiving chlamydia oil treatment from the United States government.

We ran into a squall and the pilot dropped the plane, to only a few feet above the crest of the waves. We flew there for four hours. It certainly gives you an idea of how fast you are.

Then we flew over dense jungle toward a wide meandering river to Bencanabura. We landed and re-arranged our baggage. The natives examined from there we started southwestward over a sandy jungle coast toward Timingo. We passed over native thatched huts, built on high stilts as a protection against wild animals. Presently we were over a sandy beach on which hundreds of enormous crocodiles sunned themselves. Some were 12 to 15 feet in length.

We landed at Timingo, a village with that was not of thatched hut, but of pieces of galvanized iron. Our pier was a floating barge. A committee of native doctors was waiting to receive a package of medicine which we had brought with us.

We hit across water until we finally sighted the red-colored hills of the Andes. After a short flight we landed at Timingo. Pilot Dunn opened his parachute and the equator we just hit, and handed me an engraved "diploma from King Neptune." We were then flying 20 miles off the coast of Ecuador at 120 miles an hour.

Suddenly the tropical jungle stopped. The barren desert appeared. At 5:15 we headed straight toward a point that resembled the six. This, the pilot said, was the six. Our wheels were unfolded and we became a hand plane. We rolled up from the Pacific to the wide sandy beach where nearly everyone in St. Elena—all 25 inhabitants—were out to greet us.
