SHARE-WORK PLAN HUGE SUCCESS.

As a result of the share-the-work movement the Standard Oil company of New Jersey has added to or kept on the payrolls several thousand workers. Indeed, the New Jersey company sponsored the movement, and its spokesmen volunteered the information that it had employed 1000 new men in September, and had, in addition, kept at work 3000 men who otherwise would have been laid off. Herbert L. Pratt, chairman of Socony-Vacuum, a branch of the Standard of New Jersey, made the interesting announcement that approximately 1000 men had been added to the rolls of that concern and its subsidiaries in New York or in New England during the past fortnight. His statement added that "substantial additions to employes and reduction in seasonal layoffs are being effected in other parts of the country by subsidiaries of the corporation." Political bunk is cheap, results count. The Standard share-work plan is not only furnishing jobs for the jobless but its officials are doing their level best to keep the names of all the old employes on the payroll.

STEEL BACK LOG BEGINS TO BURN.

Watch the steel ticker. In bygone years steel was the barometer of industry as well as of prosperity. Now it is announced that the United States Steel corporation's unfilled orders for October showed the third successive increase, rising from 11,950 tons to 1,997,040 tons. It is said that the showing is better than Wall Street had expected. Furthermore, that it is due to the pre-election hesitancy in buying which affected all industries. Wall Street expected little change from the September totals with opinion about equally divided between a small gain or a small loss. Democrats and their progressive-republican allies swept the nation. Pres. Hoover and Ogden L. Mills and others who are shining lights of his administration prophesied that a panic would follow the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt. After the result was announced, Wall Street came out of its trance, and the tickers began the ticking of fairly gladsome tidings. All this is a reminder that the republic of George Washington is as stable today as ever in its history. Now the diggers, from the foremost industrial executive down to the humble toilers in the ditch, are ready for places on the firing line.

OTTO KAHN "FORCED TO PAY."

Otto Kahn is said to have loved wisely but not too well, and he paid the price. According to the court news from the city of New York he paid more than $200,000 to purchase the silence of beautiful Lydia Lindgren. All this since 1913 when the Swedish nightingale came to America. A famous New York lawyer told a supreme court jury that the famous financier and backer of grand opera "had been bled through the nose to the extent of $200,000" by the nightingale and the climax of the bleeding was a damage suit for $500,000 for promises that Kahn had made and then broken. As for the nightingale, she gave a most indignant denial to the charges of the noted barrister who is handling the case for the angel of New York grand opera. "Bleeding through the nose" may be a very painful operation, that is, if the cost is a large fortune paid by the bleeding one, to be followed by a suit for damages for another half a million. There are angels and there are diggers. Angels scatter the gold, and the diggers are said to reap the harvest. Really, the Scottish poet was right, "Man was made to mourn" after the paying Winterize Now...

Get your car ready for winter weather.

Alcohol for the radiator, will save you a bursted radiator or motor block.

A battery inspection may save your car being stalled, even a new battery will cost very little now.

Proper winter lubrication will wear on your car and make it easy to start these cold mornings.

If your motor needs tuning up, the cost will be very small.

act becomes a burden. New York is a gay city. Gold diggers are said to be numerous, but most of the successful diggings took place before the crash of 1929. In that crash mighty angels of art and industry were trimmed. As producers of easy coin their numbers tumbled from the maximum height to the minimum low level. It was ever thus since Adam and Eve broke the unwritten law and were expelled from the famous garden.

GASOLINE RACKETEERS GIVEN WARNING.

George H. Shepard, state comptroller, told a representative of 50 gasoline distributing concerns that the state treasury has lost at least $2,000,000 in gasoline taxes this year through bootlegging. Furthermore, the state is so large and the industries so varied that without cooperation of citizens the state comptroller cannot enforce the law with his present staff. William B. Gaylor is the president of a Houston oil company. He swung the gavel. He placed this in the record: "The public is being defrauded, and Texas children are being denied their educational privileges. Schools are closing for lack of funds, and in some sections teachers have been asked to donate their services, and in other ways the education of youth is being seriously hampered." This meeting of distributors was called by the officers of the Texas Petroleum Marketers association. Plans were made for a state-wide fight against gasoline tax evasion. Who are the racketeers? Is there an Al Capone king of the gasoline bootleggers away down here in Texas? If so, the law enforcement agencies of the commonwealth should get busy and place behind the bars the conspirators and their chiefs. Business is business, and law is law.

through the other. A pebble may flick out an eye but we see quite well with the other. One arm may be broken, but we put it in a sling and go about doing good or evil. But get one leg busted and the other isn't worth a darn.

K. N. can tell you all about it.

F. E. Harrell has had a spiritual rejuvenation. About the middle of last week he looked over his vine and fig tree, including the flock of goats grazing in the pastoral peace of his Lake Cisco ranch, and decided to go west. There was nothing wrong with the vine and fig tree and there was nothing wrong with the goats. But there was a whole lot wrong with the market tables. Even the farm board had a surplus. He offered to furnish the chevon for a barbecue if someone would supply the bread and the sauce. But even that failed.

In disgust Mr. Harrell went to Snyder.

Monday he was back in town, his face beaming like the full moon. For two days he had tasted the joys of prosperity. Snyder was crowded with people. The gins of the town had processed 25,000 bales of five-cent cotton. The staple had yielded almost a bale to the acre on numerous farms. Cotton pickers were so thick in the streets, he related, that the crowds reminded him of the oil boom days in Cisco. The banks were liquidating frozen obligations and make new ones. The farmers were netting profits on their bales and everybody was happy and spending money.

Even the merchants were advertising in the newspaper.

Oh what a joy it must be to revel in a picture like that.

Somebody must have heard that Roosevelt and Garner were elected.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

The process of getting well is a wearisome routine of watching days. When one is deathly sick nature has a kindly way of concealing the tedium. One is too blamed sick to notice the time.

But when a person has to lie in bed for days on end, with one leg hoisted to the ceiling in a contraption of cords and pulleys, as sound as a dollar except for the little matter of a busted bone, the tedium approaches the torture of that region whose flames are reserved for the hides of good drinkers and bad politicians.

All of this is by way of preface to the news that K. N. Greer has graduated.

K. N., you remember, was once upon a time gallant enough to step out of the way of a rabble of laughing youngsters. The gallantry was costly, for K. N. stepped backwards off the curbing on our Main street and snapped one of his pins just above the knee.

He was removed to the Graham sanitarium where the ministrations of Dr. E. L. Graham restored the damaged bones to their normal relationship and encased the leg in a plaster cast. Plaster casts have their disadvantages. Getting an itch under one of them is like swallowing a chigger.

It takes an operation to scratch the spot. Guy Dabney a few weeks ago had his shoulders all dressed up in one of the forms after he had been in an automobile accident. He looked like a football player who had forgotten to remove his shoulder-pads. When the cast was removed it was found to have been scored like a washboard and Guy had no fingernails.

But as I said K. N. has graduated. He has been removed from the hospital to his home. The shift occurred yesterday and this morning Mrs. Greer informs that the patient is as happy as a kid with a red toy. You folks who have had broken legs ought to go out and console him for missing the duck season.

The Maker of men gave us two nostrils, two eyes, two hands and two ears. The apparent purpose of that creative forethought was to provide a reserve in case one of the members suffers damage or extinction. A cold may stopper one nostril but we go right on breathing

Mothers find relief from the burden of colds

When Colds THREATEN

With new VICKS PLAN for better CONTROL-OF-COLDS

If a Cold DEVELOPS

THE PROOF...in Results..

In clinical tests among thousands last winter in schools, colleges and homes—Vicks Colds-Control Plan cut the number and duration of colds in half—saved almost two-thirds of the time lost from school due to colds—reduced the cost of colds more than half!...The satisfaction of hundreds of thousands of enthusiastic users confirms these tests.

Vicks Colds-Control Plan was introduced last winter, along with the new aid in preventing colds—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. This new formula is the ideal companion to Vicks VapoRub, standby of mothers for two generations in treating colds—externally. Together with certain simple rules of health, these preparations form Vicks Plan for better Control of Colds. How you can follow it in your home is fully explained in each Vicks package.

BRIEFLY, HOW VICKS PLAN WORKS

When colds threaten—At that first feeling of stuffiness or nasal irritation—Nature's usual signal that a cold is coming on—use Vicks Nose Drops at once! They soothe irritation and aid Nature's functions in throwing off the infection that threatens. They prevent development of many colds. If a cold has developed, Vicks VapoRub—(now available in Stainless form, if you prefer)—is the proved, dependable treatment. Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, its double action—continuing through the night—brings quicker, surer relief. Use of the Nose Drops during the day adds to comfort—helps shorten the cold.

TOLL BRIDGE SUIT INVOLVES INDIAN TREATY

By WINSTON W. COPELAND United Press Staff Correspondent

DALLAS, Nov. 15. — Whether an old Chickasaw Indian treaty made in 1876 still is valid is the question involved in the litigation and sensational maneuvers over operation of a free bridge across Red River north of Denison, Texas. A copy of the Indian treaty, providing that no other means of conveyance shall be operated in the immediate vicinity of the toll bridge, is owned by W. J. White, part-blood Indian from the Cherokee reservation in Georgia. White is now connected with Democratic national headquarters here.

White, interested in the affairs of his race, carefully preserved the old treaty and the treaty creating the Chickasaw nation. Last year, in violation of the treaty, Gov. William H. Murray, of Oklahoma, created nation-wide attention when he personally supervised state militia in keeping open free bridge newly erected beside the toll span. Texas Rangers were rushed to the bridge to protect interests of the state of Texas.

According to the Indian treaty a franchise was granted to B. F. Colbert by the Chickasaws to erect a toll bridge and "that the said B. F. Colbert, his heirs or assigns, shall have the right to exclude any and all corporations, companies and persons from building any toll bridge within two and one-half miles of the said bridge; and also to exclude all persons, corporations and companies from establishing any kind of ferry or conveyance across the said river during the existence of said toll bridge." The contract was approved Oct. 17, 1878.

Penney Employees Meet at Ranger

Employees of the J. C. Penney company stores of Cisco, Breckenridge, Ranger, and Eastland were entertained last evening with a turkey dinner in Ranger. Eugene Shockley of Cisco was among the speakers on the program which was given after dinner. A quiz, which was conducted in the form of a contest in which everyone participated, was directed by Mr. Steyer of Eastland. Those attending from the Cisco store were Mr. and Mrs. Mitt Williams, Miss Lillian Jobe, Mrs. C. F. Stephens, Miss Louise Karkalits, M. B. Johnston, Eugene Shockley, and Mrs. Jack Pippen.

Lumber Output Still Increasing

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. — Output at lumber mills in the Southern Pine area increased for the third consecutive month, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. October production per unit averaged 181,646 feet, an increase of 7.2 per cent over the previous month and a decrease of only 8 per cent from production during October a year ago.

Unfilled orders dropped each succeeding week since the high for the year was established on October 1. At the close of October, unfilled orders averaged 585,609 feet per unit as compared with 674,752 feet at the close of the previous month, a drop of 13 per cent. Unfilled orders were one fourth greater than those at the close of October last year, however.

Will $3,800 Be Paid Teachers This Week?

The School Board is earnestly requesting merchants and business men who can possibly do so, to pay their school taxes immediately so that they will have money to pay the 34 teachers and school employees their salaries due last week. There is no way of securing this money unless by taxes paid and paid now—otherwise the Board will be forced to withhold checks until there is money received from this source.

Is $3,800 in the hands of these teachers and employees worth anything to the business interests—if so, it is up to them to encourage this request from the school board in order to meet the salary payment due last week of approximately $3,800, and another due in twenty days of the same amount.

THE BATTLE OF HASTINGS—1066 A. D. "Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by J. Scott Williams... inspired by the surging fury of the Norman hordes under William the Conqueror, in their merciless onslaught against the English in the Battle of Hastings, October 14, 1066. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted" That package of mild Luckies
