ARMS CONFERENCE COMES TO AN END

HISTORY MAKING MEETING ENDS WITH SIGNING OF TREATIES AND ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT HARDING

Final Session Brings the Largest Crowd of the Conference, and Delegates Are Applauded, Balfour of England Receiving Particular Attention — Work Characterized as Deliberate and Effective Expression of the Great Powers on the Futility of War.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The history making conference for the limitation of naval armaments and the settlement of far Eastern questions came to an end today with the signing of the treaties and the farewell address of President Harding.

With the work characterized by President Harding as "the first deliberate and effective expression of the great powers on the consciousness of peace and of war's futility," the conference went into a niche of history to await future judgment and developments.

The final session of the arms conference was called to order this morning to hear the farewell address of President Harding and to sign the remaining treaties. The final session brought the largest crowd of the conference. Scores sat in the aisles and stood around the walls. Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and other wives of officials sat in boxes.

As the prominent delegates arrived the spectators applauded, Balfour receiving particular attention. Many delegates were kept busy signing autograph albums.

The session was called to order at 10:02 o'clock. Prayer was offered by the Rev. William Abernathy, pastor of the Calvin Baptist church, which is attended by President Harding.

Amid applause, Secretary Hughes announced that the Shantung treaty with Japan was signed Saturday. He then announced the treaties to be signed and the American delegation filed around to the foot of the big green-topped table and began signing.

The signing was in the following: The United States, Belgium, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, China and Portugal.

There was pronounced applause as the seven British delegates marched around to the signing place. While the British were signing motion picture photographs were taken.

Declaring that no intrigue, no offensive or defensive alliances had wrought the agreements reached, but that reasoning with each other to a common understanding had made new relationships among the governments and new securities of peace and new opportunities attending happiness, President Harding lauded the work of the conference delegations and expressed the hope that an assurance of world betterment would result from the meetings.

CISCO PEOPLE DEMAND THAT NOLLEY QUIT

Just what was the purpose of a mass meeting of citizens at the city hall Saturday night has never been learned, unless it was to flay the city administration, the tax system, the gas company, the county officials, the newspapers and everything in general.

In fact, before the meeting had gotten well under way it almost fizzled out for lack of a leader. William Pulley of the Citizens League called the meeting to order, and the speakers rambled from one subject to another, from the tax system to the maintenance of law and order, with reckless abandon.

They took a crack at Mayor Williamson over a rumor which had been circulated about town that the city's chief executive had appealed to Austin for rangers or soldiers to maintain order in Cisco. By an overwhelming vote of the citizens the mayor was denounced the mayor and accused him of being afraid to face the citizens.

About two minutes afterward the mayor himself walked down the aisle and addressed the crowd. He emphatically denied having asked for any protection from the state and remarked that he felt perfectly capable of handling the situation here. He stated that he was willing to talk things over with any citizen, that he spent from 12 to 14 hours a day in his office, and that he could be seen there at any time. As the constituted authority here, the mayor said he proposed to perform his duties as he thought proper.

The motion was made that the meeting rescind its condemnation of the mayor for having asked for rangers or soldiers, and this was done.

The Daily News was criticized by one of the Citizen Leaguers for not having taken their side of the question on the fight against the paying of taxes and against the public utilities companies in Cisco.

Law and order speeches were made by Rev. E. H. Holmes and Rev. L. N. Stuckey. They both predicted that the hour lies struck when righteousness will reign in Eastland county, and that with Friday's outrage the day of lawlessness has passed.

Mayor Williamson in his talk stated that this was a serious hour for Cisco, and that it was no time for agitation.

"The bitterest heartache come out of such periods of agitation," he said. In denying the accusation that he had sent for state aid, the mayor said, "There is no right-thinking, decent citizen of Cisco who will start unfounded rumors of this kind."

Resolutions were framed condemning Sheriff Nolley and demanding his resignation. These resolutions will be presented to the sheriff this afternoon. The resolutions follow:

"Resolved that we, the citizens of Cisco, Texas, in mass meeting assembled, having under consideration the enforcement of criminal laws of the state of Texas within the limits of Eastland county, having fully and conscientiously informed ourselves as to the facts surrounding a tragedy enacted in our city February 3rd, 1922, in which one of our citizens was struck down by knife and gun in the hands of Sam P. Nolley, sheriff of Eastland county, Texas, and one Newt Mahaney his benchman, hereby denounce in unmeasured terms the said dastardly act, and taking further into consideration that instead of striking down unarmed and inoffensive citizens, it is the sworn duty under the law of the said Sam P. Nolley as said sheriff to preserve the peace and to protect the citizenship of Eastland county.

"We hereby demand that said Sam P. Nolley at once resign his office and surrender back to the people the authority conferred on him by them, and which authority he has so signally contrived to disgrace.

Committee Waits on Sheriff Nolley This Afternoon

Ernest Gude, Bob Bettis and C. V. Rominger left this afternoon at 2 o'clock for Eastland, where they will present to Sheriff Sam Nolley the resolutions adopted Friday night by the members of the American Legion, and also the resolutions which grew out of the mass meeting at the city hall Saturday night.

Both resolutions condemn the sheriff for his participation in the cutting affray here Friday noon, and demand that he be removed from office.

This committee upon leaving Cisco stated that it was their intention to go direct to the office of the sheriff and deliver the resolutions to him only. They said that if Nolley was not in his office they would wait until he showed up—that no deputy sheriff or other representative of the sheriff would lay their hands on the papers.

Quit $1-a-Day Job To Look After Five Oil Wells on Farm

FRANKLIN, Ky., Feb. 6.—James Arthur Poteet, whose $1-a-day income recently was swelled to one of $51 when five oil wells were brought in on his farm near here, has "retired," it became known today when he quit his farm hand job.

With the wealth pouring in from his sixty-four-acre farm, which he purchased several years ago for a total of $10, Poteet has set out to spend part of it. He has just finished building a home, erected by his own hands at the cost of $250. The long-harbored desire of Mrs. Poteet for a sewing machine has been gratified and Poteet himself has spent $6 for a year's subscription to an oil magazine for his own enjoyment.

Poteet's new home is the first improvement that has been made on the "worthless" land which he took off a friend's hands so the latter would not have to continue to pay taxes on it.

With the five wells flowing rapidly, Poteet's income is increasing at such a rate that, Simpson county residents say he soon will be the richest man in this section of the state. News of his wealth has been spread broadcast and he is being swamped with letters requesting donations for charity.

University Professor Can Still Maintain that He Was not far Wrong

America was discovered in the 16th century.

That's what a reporter found in an attempt to refute the claim of a university professor here that the average intelligence of Americans was about that of a pupil in the sixth grade.
The questions were put to policemen, elevated conductors and others. A dozen erred in the date of America's discovery. The average of all answers were 67 per cent correct. Some university students were included.

RANGER SCHOOL TEAMS WIN FROM CISCO FIVE

The boys' and girls' basketball teams of the east ward school will go to Ranger this week for return games with the boys' and girls' teams of the Cooper ward school. The Ranger girls came to Cisco Friday and the Ranger girls won, 14 to 13. Cisco led at the end of the first half 10 to 5. The teams were evenly matched. The Ranger boys' team had it all over the Cisco boys in size, however, and won, 15 to 7. Cisco led in the first half of this game, 6 to 4. Both games were played at the high school grounds.

NOLLEY SAYS HE HIT STARKEY IN SELF DEFENSE

Eastland, Tex., Feb. 6, 1922. To the Citizens of Eastland County, Especially the Citizens of Cisco:—

With reference to the unfortunate affair which occurred last Friday in which Mr. Starkey received serious wounds, caused by knife at the hands of G. N. Mahaney, I desire to state that I was only attempting to settle some difference between Mr. Starkey and Mr. Mahaney and had no ill feeling or ill will against Mr. Starkey. Mr. Starkey was practically a stranger to me and I did not have the least idea he was going to strike me, and when he did so he almost knocked me blind, and I was only attempting to defend myself in doing what I did.

I did not know until after the difficulty that Starkey has been cut by Mahaney. I do not approve of such act on his part.

Mahaney was not at the time of the difficulty, and had not been for five or six months prior thereto, my deputy. If Mahaney has been carrying a gun for the last five or six months I did not know of it and he certainly was not carrying such as my deputy.

I have no interest in the defense of Mahaney and am ready at all times to do my duty with reference to seeing that a speedy trial is had of the matter in order that justice may be done. Mahaney is no more to me than Starkey and I am willing for the law to take its course.

I regret very much this unfortunate occurrence but desire to state that I felt like, and feel like now, that I had a right to protect myself from assault at the hands of any man.

With reference to the hasty and ill advised accusations made against me by the American Legion, of Cisco, that I have been and am protecting gamblers and bootleggers, I desire to state that I court the fullest investigation of said false charges, and insist that the grand jury and all law-abiding citizens of this county use every effort to find out the truth or falsity of such accusations. I am ready and anxious to aid in any possible way to stamp out bootlegging, gambling and any other crime.

Yours very truly,
SAM NOLLEY.

NEWT MAHANEY IS NOW IN JAIL AT FORT WORTH

"Newt Mahaney is held a prisoner in the jail at Fort Worth," declared Deputy Sheriff C. S. Looney this afternoon.

"Friday night when the mob formed in Cisco to go to Eastland, I telephoned from here to the jail in Eastland, and Jailer Pack Kilbora took Mahaney to Weatherford on the early morning train.

"Saturday I was asked to go to Weatherford to see Mahaney. I saw him as the prisoners in the Weatherford jail were being fed Sunday morning and talked to him.

"Sheriff Brown of Weatherford told me that he did not want to assume the responsibility of guarding Mahaney against any possible mob, and he took him to Fort Worth Sunday night on the train which leaves here at 11 o'clock.

"You may tell the people of Cisco positively that Newt Mahaney is in jail at Fort Worth."

CONSTABLE IS ARRESTED EASTLAND, Feb. 6.—Constable R. L. Faircloth of Ranger was arrested today on four charges, two of drunkenness, one of abusive language and one of aggravated assault.

OVERSON WILL AVAIL HIMSELF OF CISCO AID

The grand jury will meet in called session at Eastland Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of taking action on the charges against Sheriff Sam Nolley and Newt Mahaney growing out of their assault on L. J. Starkey in this city Friday noon.

County Attorney Ove Overson was in Cisco Saturday night conferring with local attorneys and with witnesses to the cutting affray Mr. Overson says that he will take advantage of the offers of Cisco attorneys to assist in the prosecution of these cases, and that if the witnesses will verify on the stand the statements they have made concerning the beating and cutting of Starkey, there will be no doubt of a conviction.

A warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace Baten. Saturday afternoon against Sheriff Sam Nolley, charging him with assault to murder. The warrant was placed in the hands of Boss Wood, chief of police of Eastland, word from that city this afternoon was to the effect that Wood was not qualified to serve the warrant, and that a deputy in the sheriff's office had given bond in the sum of $14,000.

Word from the hospital at 2 o'clock this afternoon is to the effect that Mr. Starkey is resting very well today and that his condition seems to be improving.

SHALLOW WELL TO BE SPUDDED IN THIS WEEK NEAR PUTNAM

Dr. Gidham and Messrs. Martin and Brown are putting up a rig on the 100-acre Isonhour lease one-half mile west of Putnam, and will spud in for a shallow well early this week.

At 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon thirty minutes after the hour set for his wedding to Miss Fern Hubbard of this city, Harry A. Joyner of Ranger was found in a room on the third floor of the Daniels Hotel dying from the effects of poison. He died in the Humbleton hospital this morning at 5:20 o'clock, without having regained consciousness. Miss Hubbard is almost prostrated over the affair. What were to have been her happiest moments have turned into those of her greatest grief. While every indication points to suicide, she will not believe that her lover took poison with any idea of ending his life.

Joyner, who was an employee of the Humble Pipe Line Company, being a telegraph operator in the offices at Ranger, came to Cisco Saturday afternoon and registered at the Daniels. He spent the greater part of the afternoon at the Hubbard home with the girl who was to be his bride the following day. He left for supper, and returned to the Hubbard home about 8 o'clock Saturday evening. Then he and Miss Hubbard came up town and did some shopping at the local stores.

They returned to the house shortly after midnight, and Joyner left for his room at the hotel about 10:45. Iva Daniels, night clerk at the hotel, says that Joyner called for his key and went up to his room about 11 o'clock. Unable to get into the room at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, the maid on the third floor of the hotel called the office, and an alarm was sounded into the room. Joyner was strangled out on the bed, clad only in his underclothes. Efforts to arouse him were futile, and Dr. E. L. Graham was summoned.

By the time the doctor arrived, Joyner's jaws were set, and his breathing was very irregular and heavy. His heart action was stimulated by the use of hypodermics, and a stomach pump was used. His system had so absorbed whatever poison he had taken, however, that the doctor was unable to ascertain what he had swallowed.

It was at first thought that he had been drinking some corn liquor and that he was suffering from acetone poisoning. But friends of Joyner declare that they never knew of his having taken a drink of any intoxicating liquor at any time, and the nature of the poison may never be known.

An inquest was held this morning, and the verdict was that Joyner came to his death by poison, the nature of which is unknown.

Dr. Graham, after working over the man for half an hour, declared that his condition was critical, and he was removed to the hospital at Humbleton.

Miss Hubbard at her home this morning stated that she and Joyner had been keeping company for more than a year, and that two weeks ago they set the date for their wedding, which was to have occurred at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Christian church parsonage, the Rev. E. H. Hollman officiating.

Mr. Joyner came over to see her three or four times every week, she said, and they had never had any trouble of any kind. When he left her home Saturday night, she said, Harry seemed to be in the best of spirits. There had been no parental objection to the wedding.

Miss Hubbard says that she never knew of Joyner taking a drink, and she refuses to believe that he took poison.

Miss Hubbard is 18 years of age, and has been attending the Cisco high school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hubbard, who have lived in Cisco for two years.

Joyner was 28 years of age, and has been working for the Humble Pipe Line Company for several years. He was a veteran of the world war, and was a charter member of John William Butts post of the American Legion in this city.

His mother died in this city about a year ago. He leaves two sisters and one brother. One sister, Mrs. C. E. McCarty, resides at Mexia, the brother, W. M. Joyner, is with the Humble Company at Mexia, and another sister, Miss Lillian Joyner, is attending St. Mary's academy at Austin. These relatives will arrive in Cisco this afternoon, and pending their arrival no funeral arrangements have been made. This morning in a trash can which stood just outside the door of Joyner's room at the Daniels Hotel was found a small bottle, which evidently had contained a thick greenish liquid. No trace of any bottle having contained liquor or poison of any kind could be found in the room. Joyner's grips and his clothes were thoroughly searched. In his pockets there were marriage license, a bill for containing money, a gold watch and a box containing a wedding ring.

CAPPER ON NEWBERRY.

That so bright a man as Senator Capper, of Kansas, should be unable to shake off certain campaign fallacies and view the case on its merits, when explaining his vote against Truman H. Newberry, is a surprising thing.

Mr. Capper accepts the statement that the senatorial campaign in Michigan in 1918 was a contest between Mr. Newberry and Henry Ford, and that the republicans, being hard pushed, were led to financial excuses which otherwise would not have been indulged in.

Any man who has examined this case in detail could have told Senator Capper better. The Newberry campaign started in the latter part of 1917. It was well under way in 1918. The money spending was going so strong as to become a scandal before Mr. Ford's name was mentioned. The object of the money spending at that time, as is well known in Michigan if not to the United States senate, was not to defeat the democrats nor to keep Mr. Ford out of the senate (since Mr. Ford at that time had not been mentioned for the office), but to drive certain prominent republicans out of the contest.

Hasn't Senator Capper read in the testimony the gleeful letter of Mr. Newberry referring to the belief that "Osborn is running out of ammunition?" The Osborn thus being crowded to the wall is a former governor of Michigan, and a republican of quite as good standing as Mr. Newberry ever enjoyed. Another republican of unimpeachable standing in the party backed out of the race was Ex-Gov. Warner, at present member of the republican national committee. Still another representative Michigan man whose friends most certainly would have offered him had it not been for the Newberry avalanche of coin is Representative Kelley, whose service in congress has been sufficiently conspicuous to receive and deserve favorable attention from his fellow citizens.

In June, 1918, six months after Mr. Newberry had started his campaign for the first time was mentioned as a possible candidate. In fact the proposal was made that he be nominated on both tickets and elected as a non-partisan, although he had always been a republican. In furtherance of this idea republicans and democrats undertook the circulation of petitions to place his name upon both tickets. It was at this time that President Wilson requested Mr. Ford to accept the nomination should it come to him. Mr. Wilson, in making that request, had no means of knowing whether Mr. Ford would receive one nomination or both, nor could he tell which nomination would come to him. All he asked that if nominated he accept, the automobile manufacturer up to that time having been decidedly averse to entering politics.

If the money spending in behalf of Newberry had started then it would give some color of plausibility to those who claim much money was needed to enable Newberry to beat Ford. But a scrutiny of all the facts demonstrates that the business of slipping $50 bills to "unsuspecting" citizens was aimed not at Henry Ford alone but at any or all, republican or democrat, who might dare to aspire to the senate against Mr. Newberry.

It is quite remarkable that Senator Capper is not aware of this.

AN ORATORICAL WONDER.

Representative Ansofrage, republican, of New York City, is one of the oratorical wonders of this congress. In fact if, the truth were known, it is possible that Ansofrage as a spell-binding speaker, can outdo anything in the house that stands on two legs. He has the New York habit of doing things with a rush and lam developed to a state of perfection that it is marvelous to behold.

This Gothamite one day last week was given one minute to address his colleagues, and, according to the Congressional Record, his oratory so captivated the house that he was applauded five times. It is doubtful if even William Jennings Bryan, in his most eloquent flights of speech, can lay claim to ever having won applause at the rate of one outburst every 12 seconds.

There is, of course, widespread interest to know what it was Mr. Ansofrage said that was so enthusiastically received in the lower branch of the national legislature. Well, here it is: "I merely ask unanimous consent to revise and extend my remarks."

Representative Lanham, of Texas did not think any applause was included in the "consent" and spoke right out in meeting and said so, which was a serious breach of congressional etiquette as understood by some congressmen.

The Marriage Name. (Breckenridge American.)

There has never been a law to compel a woman to assume a man's name at marriage, but custom, which is often stronger than law, has decreed it and the efforts of those who would change it are likely to come to naught. There have been isolated cases where the husband has assumed the name of the wife and civilization has survived the shock.

Probably the country will endure even if the agitation now going on for women to retain their maiden name should be successful, but what is to be gained? The title "Mrs." with the husband's name, at once identifies the woman as a wife—an honorable position, and one that may often protect her from distasteful advances. If she still retains the "Miss," how are strangers to know her marriage status? It is not a question of female independence of the man she has honored with her hand and heart. If the women want to keep their names, they will do it. Mere man will not say them nay, but he cannot help wondering what all the fuss is about and what the agitators find so objectionable in being known by the name of the one man they have chosen as their mate.

The WEDDING of POCAHONTAS

Of course, you know the story of how Pocahontas saved the life of Captain Smith when he was about to be killed by the Indians. But have you ever heard the true story of the wedding of Pocahontas and John Rolfe, about a year and a half later?

The marriage ceremony was curious because it combined many crude Indian customs with the English ways, which were very much the same then as now.

The wedding was celebrated in the only church in Jamestown, Virginia—a crude little building of stone and logs. The inside walls were covered with sweet-smelling evergreens; great clusters of flowers and scarlet holly berries were placed here and there till the church was as gay and fragrant as could be.

The bride Pocahontas was dressed in a long, loose robe of hand-woven white muslin and from her head hung a long white veil very much the same as brides wear now.

Fastened loosely around her feet was a rich robe given her by Sir Thomas Dale, the Governor of the colony, and heavily embroidered by Pocahontas and her maidens.

A gaudy fillet was bound around her head and held in place feathers and wings of birds of gorgeous colors. Her wrists and ankles were adorned in real Indian style with bands of Indian jewelry—carved and twisted bands of metal and beads in bright colors. The wedding procession started

Down The Street They Walked some distance from the church. Down the streets of the little village they walked, Pocahontas with the Governor in front, the entire council, and the five English women of the colony next and all the nearby Indians last.

Into the little chapel they marched and the marriage service was read by the minister of the Church of England.

Afterwards bread and home-made grape wine was served to all and a gay little party drank the health of the happy bride and groom.

Pocahontas always proved to be a real friend to the Virginia colonists and they were glad to have her marry one of their number.

Not long after the wedding, the bride and groom went to England and their friends wished them joy and a safe return.

TO JOG YOUR MEMORIES

SEVERAL of Tom's classmates had gathered on his porch steps on their way home to discuss the new teacher.

"I felt so ashamed today," said Jim, "when Miss Maud asked those review geography questions I realized that I had forgotten almost all I ever knew."

"So did I," confessed Helen, "and I felt sorry for what Miss Maud must be thinking of Miss Jones' teaching. We all knew so little."

"Well, it wasn't Miss Jones' fault," spoke up Tom. "She was a good teacher, it's just that we'll have to do next and all the nearby Indians last."

"This game is a geography help," she said, "Tom, you begin. Name a city in the United States that begins with an A. The next boy must tell you what State it is in and if he does this correctly, he in turn names a city commencing with B. Helen must tell what State that is in, because she sits next, and then she must name a C city. So the game continues until the alphabet is used up."

For a time the children played this memory jogger, laughing at each other's mistakes and puzzling over details of location. When Mother saw that they were tiring of this fun, she suggested a new game.

"This game will aid your spelling," she explained. "It also has to do with geography. The first child names a city, State or country. Now you must all be on the alert to discover which was named—city, State or country and the next child in turn must locate it and then name a new place whose first letter shall be the last letter of the place just named. This game may be played with many variations. Some one may name a city and the next person must name another using the second letter of the name, the next child must begin his city with the third letter of the name, the fourth child with the fourth letter, etc., until the first place is entirely spelled out in the initial letters of new places. Then a new place may be named."

If your memory needs jogging, try these games and you will find them a great help—and at the same time lots of fun.

The HANDY BOY AT HOME BY CHARLES A. KING, STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, PLYMOUTH, N.H.

MOUSE WHIRLINGIG

THE "Mouse Whirlingig" is an interesting project for the boy who keeps pets and who likes to fix things up for their comfort. For the mouse seems to enjoy running on the wheel which turns by his weight as he runs upon it; even though he travels miles every day, the fact that he never loses his interest in attempting to reach the top of the wheel shows that it is anything but a hardship to him.

The top of the cage is 7/8" x 9" x 9", the back, 7/8" x 9" x 11 1/2", the bottom 7/8" x 9" x 8 3/4", may be of any kind of soft wood, or a wooden box of about this size may be used, though the latter would be open upon only one side instead of three sides as shown in the sketch.

Cut a door or hand hole about 3" x 6" in the back and fit a door or cover that can be opened easily and closed securely and nail pieces together. Make the 7" wheel of the whirlingig of a piece of heavy paper packing board, or of a piece of very light wood. Make the spindle of a piece of straight round wood, a dowel, for example, and 10 1/4" long. Bore a small hole in the exact center of each end and drive a 1/4" No. 16 brad into each hole for about half of its length. File the head off and make the brads as smooth as possible for the whirlingig turns upon them. Make the hub of the wheel of a piece of 3/4" square wood through which a 3/4" hole should be bored; fasten this upon the spindle at the height to support the wheel. For it depends upon the hub to keep the wheel fastened firmly to the spindle. Balance the wheel by supporting the spindle horizontally upon the brads; turn the wheel, and if one part of it stops at the bottom every time, either cut the wheel away at that place or drive a nail in the opposite side to make the wheel balance.

Bore a small hole at b in the under side of the top to receive the brad in the top of the spindle; it may be easier to bore through from the top, but in any case it must be bored at the right slant to permit the brad to turn easily. The block d should be made of a piece 3/4" x 1" x 2" long with a hole bored at a to receive the bottom brad of the spindle; this also must be bored at just the right angle to permit the brad to turn easily in it. With the top brad of the spindle in the hole in the top, and the bottom brad in hole a of the base block b, place the latter upon the floor of the cage and move it until the wheel turns freely, at which place the block should be fastened by a couple of 1" brads.

Cover the three sides of the cage with wire netting not coarser than 1/4" mesh as indicated in the front view; place a square baking powder or spice tin upon its side and fill it loosely with cotton to serve as a bed chamber, strew some sawdust on the floor, provide a small dish for drinking water, and the cage will be ready for the mouse. If he shows a tendency to gnaw out the wire netting may be extended around the inside, or a piece of tin may be tacked around the back or upper edge of the wheel and dangle a piece of cheese or other delicacy there, which will encourage them to attempt to reach it, with the result that the wheel will turn, after which no coaxing will be necessary.

Catch one or two mice and place them in the cage; if they do not learn how to run on the wheel, bore a hole through the top of the cage over the back or upper edge of the wheel and dangle a piece of cheese or other delicacy there, which will encourage them to attempt to reach it, with the result that the wheel will turn, after which no coaxing will be necessary.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF CISCO HIGH SCHOOL

CISCO, TEXAS, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1922.

NUMBER 20

AS IT SEEMED TO A FISH

By One of Them

I felt big the night I graduated from grammar school. Just think of it, going to high school in a few days! Please try to imagine yourself in my place...

Then my heart sank a little (about to my "stummick"), and when I heard him say that we must buy our English book, which would set us back one bone and two bits, my heart sank still lower, for I was penniless.

When I went to the freshman room, everything looked nice to me, even the fandy, smiling teacher in charge.

Just about the time we were beginning to feel comfortable a number of boys and girls gathered around the door and began calling us "green fishes."

When I went to the English class, the teacher looked at us, and it is most probable that she thought we would make good writers.

I leave study hall with the plea to the teachers who insist on giving us written work almost every day. "Please have pity on the poor 'fishes.'"

MARVELS OF SCIENCE

Mr. Godbey spoke in assembly Tuesday morning on a recent invention, the vacuum tube amplifier.

In 1915 a tube amplifier was invented similar to this one, but it is most not so complete as this invention is.

Parents will probably be interested in finding out how our students came out in the recent examinations, for they came out very well indeed. The high school had a passing average of 81 per cent, while only 19 per cent failed.

INFORMAL PHYSICS

Because of the small size of his physics class, Mr. La Roque has adopted a unique plan of teaching. As there are only seven students in the class, he is able to give them expert special instruction.

This gathering might be called the "Scientists of the Square Table," compared to Arthur's "Knights of the Round Table."

LATIN VERBS OR BALANCED RATIONS

My first difficulty in high school was deciding whether I would take Latin or D. E., but after much distress, I finally decided to take Latin.

When I came my first day in high school, which was a greater success than I had expected, and still not such a great one, either.

Getting acquainted with all of my subjects was another misunderstanding I had. The only subject I dreaded so very much was Algebra.

AMUSEMENTS

THRILLING MID-AIR SCENES ACTUALLY TAKEN AT NIGHT

Night flying as part of a story had never been shown in pictures until the release of "The Girl from God's Country," a story of the North woods written by Nell Shipman and with the leading role enacted by the author. For the night flying scenes in this picture every sun-arc lamp in Los Angeles was used. These lamps are so blinding that it is almost impossible for a pilot to gauge his distance from a plane. Only once before has this been attempted and then by Locklear, who, blinded by the lights and miscalculating his distance, crashed to the ground and was killed. "The Girl from God's Country" is at the Judia Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

MABEL NORMAND IN NEW ROLE AS IMP

Comedy is so abundant in "Molly O," the Associated First National Pictures attraction which is the current release at the Victory theater that the fact should not be lost sight of that primarily the production is one of a very dramatic and thrilling story. It is the story of a gritty girl's fight for a place in the world, and a happiness that she could never attain if she permitted environment to overcome her.

Mack Sennett's name has become almost synonymous with hilarious comedy, so that the dramatic quality of the production comes as a revelation to those who do not recall that he was the producer of "Mickey," the picture which several years ago, with Mabel Normand as the star, established a precedent for success which has never since been equalled.

Molly O, the heroine, is too jolly a character to be able to keep genuine fun out of her life in spite of her extremely pathetic position. Nevertheless the story of her courtship and marriage, the failure of the union and then the reconciliation, is as dramatic and thrilling a story as has ever been placed on the screen.

The pilot of the ship of state who promised to put into Normalcy is probably beginning to search the charts to find out where the durned port is, anyway.

Williams-Cole.

The following account of the Williams-Cole wedding will be of interest to a host of friends in Cisco, as Mr. Williams, who is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Williams, of 208 West Fifth street, was born and reared in this city.

Miss Elcey Hoaston Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cole, of Greenwich, Conn., and Pasadena, was united in marriage to Stuart Llewellyn Williams, of Ballinger, Tex., at the winter home of her parents, 1330 Oakland avenue, this afternoon at 4 o'clock, the wedding being one of the most charmingly appointed of the season.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Robert Freeman, pastor of the Pasadena Presbyterian church, in the presence of about 200 relatives and friends, the bride being given in marriage by her father, T. F. Cole.

The bride was attended by Miss Helen Wilkins of Chicago as maid of honor, and her other attendants were Miss Evelyn Miller and Miss Helen Miller, of Evanston, Ill.

Wesley Benton Tourtelotte acted as Mr. Williams' best man, and Robert Smith and Fred Cole, brother of the bride, were the masters of ceremonies.

The bride was very lovely in her wedding frock of white satin and old lace, made with a court train. Her long tulle veil hung from a coronet of lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Wilkins, was gowned in apricot-colored chiffon, made with touches of old blue. She wore a blue picture hat and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and Scotch heather.

Miss Evelyn Miller and Miss Helen Miller wore frocks of apricot taffeta, with girldes and hats of old blue.

The color scheme of the decorations was apricot and blue, and was carried out with quantities of Ophelia roses, blue blossoms and greenery. The decorations in the living room, where the ceremony was performed, included an improvised altar, with a background of palms and flowers, the aisle leading to the altar being marked with white posts topped by flowers, and connected with white satin ribbons. The bride's table in the dining room was decorated entirely with white flowers.

Music for the wedding was furnished by a trio, violin, piano and cello, who played the conventional wedding music during the ceremony and also played during the reception and supper which followed.

Miss Cole attended Miss Burnham's school, at Northampton, Mass., and is a graduate of the Mount Vernon School at Washington, D. C. She also studied in Europe.

Mr. Williams was in the United States flying service during the war, being stationed for a time at Ross Field, Arcadia.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams will be at home to their friends in Ballinger, Texas, after February 15.—Pasadena, (Cal.) News.

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

All of a sudden she heard someone say in a deep, gruff voice, "Woof! Woof!"

Mary Jane's Adventure with Grizzly George

ONE day Mary Jane went away out in the woods near her house. She was having a lovely time, picking wild strawberries in a clearing among the trees.

All of a sudden she heard someone in a deep, gruff voice say, "Woof! woof!" Mary Jane was awfully scared at first, but when she looked around, she saw it was only Grizzly George, the Bear.

George's full name was Pablo Vicidomini—but everybody called him George, for short.

George said, "Mary Jane, don't you know you shouldn't come away out in the woods and eat up all my personal, private strawberries? I was saving these berries for Mrs. George and our two children, Rutherford and Gwendolyn. Your mother can get you lots of strawberries at the grocer's."

Mary Jane told George she was sorry and would never do it again. Then

Mary Jane and Grizzly George got to talking about good things to eat, and Mary Jane told George about how they had Mary Jane Syrup on their pancakes, and spread on bread and everything, up at her house every day. And how you could make the finest fudge you ever tasted in your life out of Mary Jane Syrup.

And then Mary Jane promised George that she would come to visit him and the missus and the children, and she would bring a great big can of Mary Jane Syrup along, so that they could all have a real treat together.

And then Mary Jane shook hands with George and ran all the way home, so as to be there in time for the golden brown biscuits spread with Mary Jane Syrup that her mother had prepared for supper.

The American Legion has taken up the fight of the prosecution of the Sheriff of this county and his assistant in the brutal attack upon one of our members and a citizen of this city. We are going to prosecute this case to the fullest extent of the law with unceasing efforts. We are going to wage a fight against certain law enforcement officials we have to contend with in Cisco, both as to the city and county forces. We are going to wage a fight against certain law enforcement officials we have had to contend with in Cisco, both as to the city and county forces. We are going to wage a fight for the enforcement of law and order in Cisco and Eastland county.

To carry on this work to a successful conclusion we must have money. Different individuals and organizations have been kind enough to offer us support in our undertaking in every way possible. We greatly appreciate this support; however up to this time we have declined to accept financial assistance. Recent matters have arisen which have drained our finances. We need money. We appeal to the citizens of Cisco for financial support.
