ASSAULT TO MURDER IS CHARGE AGAINST TWO MEN ARRESTED

Woman Also Arrested Following Inquiry Into the Beating of John Osborne — All Waived Examination and Taken to the County Jail — Osborne Reported Improving and Possibility of His Recovery — His Relatives Arrive.

Three arrests have been made following the assault on John Osborne, Tuesday night, or early Wednesday morning, at West Tenth street between Avenue D and Avenue E.

After the finding of Osborne yesterday morning, Chief of Police Hilton sent to the house in front of which the assault was supposed to have been made, kicked in the door and arrested two men and two women.

Two persons were guarded at the city jail by the chief and Deputy Sheriff. The two men were turned over to the sheriff, following the examination of all of them by the sheriff and county attorney.

Later, warrants were issued by Justice Taylor against the two men and one of the women.

In these warrants Lawrence Adams is charged with assault to murder, adultery and selling intoxicating liquor. Red Kilborn is charged with assault to murder and Mrs. Susie Kilborn with violation of the liquor law.

All the defendants waived a preliminary hearing before Justice Taylor, and were held in jail to await the action of the grand jury. Adams and Kilborn were taken to Eastland to the county jail by Sheriff Lawrence yesterday evening. Later, Constable Leoney arrested Mrs. Susie Kilborn and went to Eastland with her on the midnight train, where she was placed in jail.

As gathered from the evidence heard yesterday during the time the parties arrested were being put through the "third degree," Osborne arrived here Tuesday night and was taken by a man to the house in West Tenth street. Later the four men were seen to come out of the house. One woman evidently came from the house also, although this fact was not directly established, but a man in a nearby hotel heard a woman in the yard cry out "My God, do not kill him."

The two men, Adams and Kilborn, would say nothing, but the one who took Osborne there was able to tell what occurred up to the time of the beginning of the assault and then did not know what happened. Both the women were examined, but a warrant was issued for each one.

Osborne, in the Payne sanitarium, was reported as improved today and there is hope of his recovery. His relatives arrived here this morning.

The officers are of the opinion that Osborne was beaten with a gun, as the stock of a six-shooter, which had been broken in two, was found on the ground where the assault was made.

Mayor Williamson said today that the parties arrested had moved into the house on West Tenth street only two or three weeks ago and that he had issued a number of search warrants and the police have frequently searched the house for liquor, but have found nothing.

WOMAN SANDRAGGED BY UNKNOWN PARTY INTENT ON ROBBERY

Mrs. Barker, about 21 years old, was sandragged last night about dark as she went out into the yard to hang out some clothes, at her residence in the Skinner house, across from the Madison hotel, says the Eastland News.

She has just come in from the yard where she had hung out some laundry and says that she saw a dark form loom over her head and then passed into unconsciousness, after being struck by her assailant.

Mrs. Barker is in the habit of wearing expensive jewelry, among them a valuable diamond ring. Before going out into the yard she had taken the ring off and left it in a glass in the house. Her purse was in the pocket of her apron but the only thing that it contained was some deposit slips. The man that used the sand bag evidently was intent on robbery, for the pocket book was taken out of her pocket and then thrown away.

Mrs. Barker was unable to tell whether her assailant was a negro or a white man.

Medical aid was summoned immediately and the physician reported that she was in no danger.

The sheriff's department was called to the scene of the assault and stayed in the neighborhood for several hours, but was unable to find any clues.

The husband of the stricken woman is a plasterer on the City National Bank building.

MAYOR IS ASSURED CISCO WILL HAVE AMPLE GAS SUPPLY

The Texas Company Which Is the Supply Company for This City Gives Promise of Plenty of Gas — Arrangements Made for Larger Pipes and Some Extensions in the City.

Col. Bahn, head of the gas department of The Texas Company, having his offices at Fort Worth, was in Cisco today and with Manager Campbell of the local gas company, had a conference with Mayor Williamson.

The mayor said these gentlemen had assured him that everything had been arranged for putting in larger mains where those in the southwestern part of the city were last winter reported too small and that some extensions would be made.

Col. Bahn said he had been allotted $100,000 in his district, which includes Cisco, for betterments in the field and bringing the supply to the cities. He assured the mayor that great improvements would be made and that there would be no question as to an ample supply.

Manager Campbell told the mayor all arrangements had been made in the city for going ahead with the work and that it would be completed in ample time for the coming of the winter's demand.

This will be gratifying news to the many people dependent upon gas for fuel, for there is a good portion of the city, particularly south of Twelfth street and west of Avenue D, where the pipes are not large enough to carry an adequate supply and there was much complaint last winter.

COMMITTEES ON THE HILBURN ROAD FUND MEET WITH SUCCESS

Committees and representatives from the Chamber of Commerce and Production are busily engaged today in raising the remainder of the fund necessary for the construction of the road to the Hilburn field.

They are thoroughly organized and have a team for each block. They are making a close canvass and are meeting with prompt response. Some of the oil and supply companies are contributing $500 each, and some jitney drivers have contributed as much as $50 a piece.

They expect to be able to make an excellent report when they conclude their efforts this evening.

Of course, they can not see all the people in the city and as this is a matter of interest to all of Cisco, and one which will prove a direct benefit to every citizen, it has been suggested that those who have not been interviewed by the committees, come to the Chamber of Commerce and Production rooms in the city hall and make whatever subscription they can afford.

TEXAS CAVALRYMEN AT GALVESTON ARE HAVING PLENTY FISH

GALVESTON, Aug. 19.—Texas cavalrymen on martial law duty in Galveston have broken a lance with the orge H. C. L., and incidentally, "army grub" at Camp Hutchings no longer can be classed as monotonous.

The succulent crab, flounder, redfish, speckled trout, mackerel and various other of the finny tribe now grace the long dining tables of the enlisted personnel at camp, and the mess sergeant has become the most popular soldier in Galveston.

The camp site, on the sea wall boulevard overlooking the Gulf, evoked speculation regarding fishing possibilities. Enterprising youths experimented with astonishing results.

Now regular fishing "details" are named by the "top cutter" and there are very few kicks registered by men picked for these details.

"LITTLE MARIE" MADE FORTUNE AS PEANUT VENDER IN NEWARK

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 19.—It was learned that Mrs. Dominica Zazzali, keeper of a fruit and peanut stand in Newark for thirty-seven years, who died recently, left property worth $185,000.

Tax officials in Newark verified her ownership of forty tenement buildings.

Mrs. Zazzali was a well-known character, and persons who passed her stand during her business hours, which were from 5 a. m. until midnight, often noticed her counting her peanuts, instead of weighing them. She, however, was not a miser and was never known to call for the rent but wait until her tenants brought her the money.

In the last seventeen years Mrs. Zazzali had only raised her rents once, and then the increase was only $1. Children in her neighborhood were always glad to see her, for she had a nickel or a dime for every one less than ten years old.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—The combined "Lisle Thread National Bank," "The Old Sox Bank" and the "Feather-Bed-Mattress Bank" now hold more than $3,000,000,000 of the country's cash.

This is the estimate of William H. Hutt, acting governor of the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank, made of the loose cash being carried around in pockets and stowed away in various places. He was addressing an organization of business men.

Even a small proportion of this three billions invested in Liberty bonds would bring them back to par, he pointed out, or if the money was deposited in savings banks it would inject new life into industry.

THE HILBURN ROAD

By tonight it will probably be definitely known to just what extent the citizens of Cisco are willing to contribute toward the construction of a good road from this city to the Hilburn field. Today the representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and Production are canvassing the business district for subscriptions.

That a sufficient sum would be contributed and the road constructed has never been doubted for a minute. There has been delay, however, in getting the work under way. It was not until Tuesday night of this week that a route was definitely determined upon, but now that this has been done, it is declared there will be no delay in the prosecution of the work.

Beginning today and continuing until Saturday night there will be a picnic and barbecue at Hilburn. A town has been laid off there and town lots are being sold. Friday is set apart to entertain visitors from Cisco and there should be many of them. The citizens should go to this picnic tomorrow, as it will not only give them information as to the kind of road one must now travel over to get from Hilburn to Cisco, but they will have evidence of what a great volume of business has already sprung up at the Hilburn field and the possibilities of its wonderful increase.

Cisco, with its excellent railroad facilities and its already established large supply houses, should have this trade from Hilburn and it can have it if it puts forth the necessary effort, first of which is the construction of this road.

Every citizen of Cisco is interested. The road will prove of benefit to all of them. The committees canvassing for subscriptions to the road cannot possibly call upon all the people and it is suggested that those who are not reached by the committees, call at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce and Production and make their contributions to the fund.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

The right of women to vote is now thoroughly established throughout the United States, this having been made possible by an amendment to the federal constitution and the amendment having been ratified by the necessary number of states, the last being Tennessee, which so voted yesterday.

Basing what women will do with the ballot, on their action in those states where women suffrage has prevailed for varying periods, it may be taken that the results in the coming presidential election will not be determined by the ratification of this amendment, for it is a fact that the women have shown no predisposition in favor of any one party and it might be said of any one issue, for the effect of their votes has not been nearly so great in favor of prohibition as had been predicted and that was one plank in party platforms which it was believed all women would endorse.

Twenty-four million women are given the franchise and it is estimated that 17,000,000 will be qualified voters in the presidential election this fall. The surprise following that election and also the ratification of the amendment, will probably be found in the small percentage of those women who will cast ballots.

All the women are not in favor of suffrage for women. There is quite a respectable number, well organized, who have valiantly fought against the ratification of the amendment.

That neither of the leading political parties is afraid of the woman vote and that both are expecting to benefit by it, is evidenced by the efforts of the democratic and republican candidates for president, both of whom used their best endeavors to induce states to ratify the amendment, the democratic candidate being the one, however, to win the victory.

Failing to induce republican states to ratify the amendment, the republican candidate has been using his persuasive powers on the republican members of the legislatures in Tennessee and North Carolina, both democratic states, to vote for ratification.

The great and outstanding feature of the final granting of suffrage to women is the heroic fight made for it during nearly a century. The first "Woman's Rights" convention was held in 1848 and from that time to the present, the battle has waged. There have been times when the hopes of the women were raised to the highest, only to later meet with defeat. But they went on with their campaigning.

In 1878 Susan B. Anthony drafted an amendment to the constitution of the United States which, if adopted, would make women eligible to vote. From that day to this, a body of the ablest women the country has known never ceased in their efforts to have the congress submit this amendment and it only succeeded after many of its proponents had passed to the beyond.

If ever a victory was hard-earned, it is this and the women of today and the future will honor those pioneers in the movement who gave their best years to its acquirement.

The Parson Speaks

— ON PATRIOTISM —

(By International News Service.)
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 19.—That throughout the country" is the declaration of Rev. Dr. Daniel F. Rittenhouse, local Baptist clergyman, sermonizing on "The Tragedy of the Hour."

"The great tragedy of the hour is that there are so many people who call themselves respectable who have no consciousness of the presence of God," said Rev. Dr. Rittenhouse. "Everybody is grasping for filthy lucre."

European nations are saying: "If that is what democracy does for America, we want none of it."

"Thousands of respectable people have no more regard for the Sabbath than heathens."

"Diamond dust and gold bars are millionaires around the neck, unless consecrated by the consciousness of the presence of God."

BITS OF HUMOR

Dodging a French Tax.

A man went to one of the big furniture dealers to buy a writing table. Choosing one of the least pretentious pieces, he asked the price. It was 800 francs, which seemed rather high. The shopman, however, added:

"We will add this little armchair. It isn't dear, only 50 francs."

"No, I don't want it. I have quite enough chairs," said the seller. "If you buy the desk alone I shall have to ask you to pay the luxury tax, which comes to 50 francs. But if you take the chair as well I shall be able to put down your purchases as a suite—office furniture. For this the tax limit is 1,500 francs, and I do not have to charge you on a purchase of 850 francs. Thus, if you take the chair you save 30 francs and have an extra piece into the bargain."

As a measure of economy the chair was bought.—Picaro, Paris.

Had Found Them Fragile

"I see by the papers that a man out West made his will on a phonograph record so that it could not be altered," remarked an Ohio state university professor.

"I can't see that this idea showed any unusual degree of wisdom. It seems to me that it would not be difficult to break a will of this kind," was the ready retort of his neighbor.—Columbus Dispatch.

The Wise Politician

"I think I'll give up making speeches and hereafter conduct my campaign for office silently."

"What's the idea?"

"I've grown tired of furnishing the opposition ammunition to use against me by shooting off my mouth too rapidly and discovering afterwards that I have said something I shouldn't have said."—Detroit Free Press.

Moving an Audience

"A successful speech carries the audience right along with it."

"Yes," replied Senator Borahum, "but at the new rates of transportation I doubt whether he can afford it."—Washington Star.

A Difference.

"Does your husband enjoy golf?"

"I can't say that he enjoys it, but he plays it a lot."—Detroit Free Press.

Described

"He's an ideal citizen."

"What is an ideal citizen?"

"One that supports any administration for the betterment of the community."—Detroit Free Press.

Singular.

"Pop?"

"Well, Junior—"

"Are politics plural?"

"No, my boy, there isn't anything in the world more singular than politics."—Youngstown Telegram.

The Difference.

"Either," questioned the teacher of a member of the juvenile class, "what is the difference between electricity and lightning?"

"You don't have to pay nothing for lightning," came the prompt reply.—Everybody's Magazine.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Back in the fourteenth century they built their castles high, but not as high as their hats. And he milliners must have used ostrich plumes in creating their latest modes.
Today, as far as hats are concerned, millinery designers of the United States which have taken the lead over Paris, in creating for the women of the world adornment for the head, have gone back to the fourteenth century. They are modeling the new fall millinery after New York's slyscrapers.
At the big style show held recently in New York, cloud sweep creations were much in evidence. Fantastic ostrich gaudy creations of a wealth of ostrich plume and other weird modes were exhibited.
The extremists' creations were much in evidence at the show. The general idea seemed to be to pile as much plumage and ribbon together as possible and dub it "hat—latest mode."

Judge E. A. Hill Endorses

G. G. HAZEL

For County Attorney

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF EASTLAND COUNTY:

I, the undersigned District Judge of Eastland County, being acquainted with the public and private life and record of Mr. Greene Hazel, present County Attorney, unhesitatingly commend his candidacy for re-election for the second term for this office. I have investigated the question of bonds and bond forfeitures about which his opponent has so much to say, but I unhesitatingly declare that Mr. Hazel's department was in no sense responsible for the taking or approving of any bonds, and in fact has nothing to do with bond making until after bonds have been forfeited. I find that suits have been instituted by him to collect forfeited bonds. Because of experience and service, I believe that to defeat him for this office at this time would be an act of great injustice to Mr. Hazel who is asking only for the Democratic Second Term.

MAN WHO EVADED DRAFT GIVES UP; HANGS SELF

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 19.—Conrad Janke, who evaded the draft at the outbreak of the world war, then conscience-stricken and fearing arrest and imprisonment, surrendered himself to police in New York several days ago, hung himself with his necktie in his cell at the jail here. Janke failed to register for the first draft, registered in the second draft and then fled to Panama. He returned after the close of the war. When he surrendered he said he had been under the impression, no matter where he went, that federal officers were following him and that life under these conditions was unbearable. He said he felt relieved after surrendering. He became despondent after being placed in jail.

DIDN'T WORK ANYWAY. WHY WORRY OF ALIMONY?

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 19.—Alimony means nothing in the life of this Cleveland woman. She was testifying in her own behalf in Common Pleas Court, seeking a divorce.

"Since you haven't found your husband," said Judge Foran, "I'm going to let the Bureau of Domestic Relations try its hand at it."

"It's no use," answered the woman. "Well, maybe we can get alimony for you, too," added the judge.

"I don't want alimony," she retorted. "Just give me a divorce. He never keeps a job anyway, so I would be out in the long run."

The woman will get her divorce, the judge indicated.

TAD'S TID BITS

(Written for the International News Service)

NEW YORK, August 19.
FREDDIE WELSH RETURNING
The former lightweight champion of the world, Freddie Welsh, is putting on his fighting togs, ready for a return to the roped arena. Freddie has been working quietly for a few months and feels that right now he is ready to don the pillows with any lightweight in the world, bar Leonard.

"I don't feel that I can hop right back and beat Leonard," said Freddie last night, but you can place a little bet that I'll make any of the others step. I weigh 135 pounds this morning, and can get down to 133 without the least bit of trouble.

"If early hours, hard work and temperate living count for anything, I'm hitting a thousand."

Well say this for Welsh. If he can't lick most of the hams around here who pose as lightweight contenders, then he ought to get a pick and stay in a trench.

REMEMBER BUCK HAGAN, DON'T YOU?

Dear Tad—I don't say that my man was the greatest milt artist that ever dusted off a canvas, but I'll say that he made a name they won't forget in many a day.

Buck Hagan is the wonder I refer to, the boy who made Billy Gibson's old Fairmont Club famous. Buck never entered a ring without some kind friend slipping a yellow pillow, a pair of crutches or a coffin into the ring with him.

Between bouts Buck was a manager and had a hole by the name of Big Jim Dugan under his wing.

Buck trained Jim for six months once to meet Peter Maher. The night of the fight Buck got his man into the ring and just before the bell rang he whispered in his ear:

"Jim, go right out now and kill that big donkey."

Jim turned to Buck with a look of surprise on his face and piped:

"And why should I kill a man that never harmed a hair on me head?"

One minute later Billy Joh chimed off ten over the postulate form of Dugan.

When he came to, Jim asked: "What did that blatherskite have in his hand?"

Yours, Jerry, the Cent.

CANADA CAL'S CHIRP

We know now why a vessel is always spoken of as "she". The paper says: "After the race the Resolute came in and was tied up to her buoy."

Doctors can discover no raison d'etre for the vermiform appendix. But since the country went dry, the little finger is coming back into its own. You know it was a superfluous member in the old days.

Why, what ever made the little finger a superfluous member?

"Because we never used the little finger in measuring a drink of rye."

Blessed are the meek and humble of heart; for they shall inherit the earth and can devote the rest of their lives to paying off the mortgage on it.

"Have you ever seen the Custer massacre depicted on the screen?"

"Oh, yes. I've often seen Chaplin do that stunt with the custard pie."

TO RAZE CANTON WALL FOR AUTO SPEEDWAY

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 19.—The walls of Canton City are to be pulled down to make way for an automobile speedway, declared K. C. Li, one of the industrial princes of China, departing for the Far East. "China has 6,000 automobiles, and she should have six millions."

GREAT WHEAT CROP HELD UP IN KANSAS BY A CAR SHORTAGE

International News Service.
CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Kansas is ready to pour a golden stream of grain into the world's flour barrel and cannot get freight cars. The tremendous wheat yield, which is estimated at 147,000,000 bushels and which has exceeded only once in the history of the State, is piling up, while the wheat shipping roads are suffering from strayed equipment and diminished facilities.

Reports to the Chicago Board of Trade show that during the third week of July the Santa Fe, for instance, had nearly 16,000 box cars less than it had a year ago. Governor Henry Allen wired the Interstate Commerce Commission that at the present rate the 1920 crop would not be moved for two years. So acute is the car shortage that wheat loaded is worth 12 to 14 cents a bushel more than the same quality of grain in an elevator close by.

"This situation shows the necessity of having a world open market where wheat for future delivery may be traded in and thus prevent gigantic losses to the farmers," said Leslie Gates, "president of the Chicago Board of Trade. "Without the stabilizing effect of dealing in wheat for future delivery where the law of supply and demand is the dominating influence it would be impossible to provide even distribution of the crop."

In 1914, the record year, Kansas produced 150,000,000 bushels of wheat. The average yield per acre this year is 15.46 bushels, which has been exceeded only five times in thirty-five years.

AMUSEMENTS

JUDIA

Mitchell Lewis, clad in reindeer parka, fur mukluks and other apparel worn for the character of "Burning Daylight," the Jack London novel Metro is picturizing with Lewis included in a notable cast, strode across one of the open stages at the Hollywood studios while this production was being made, when one of the directors halted him with a friendly greeting.

"Why the hurry?" asked the director. "Oh, just running over to see King Solomon at the palace before I go back to the Arctic circle. It's not every day I get a chance to visit the Asia Minor either. Living in Alaska has its disadvantages."

The director stared at him amusedly for a moment. Then the big star explained that he wanted to see one of the big, spectacular scenes from "Old Lady 31," which shows a vision of King Solomon's court.

"Burning Daylight" will be shown today at the Nudis Theater.

VICTORY

Vivian Rich, whose entry into the film firmament as a William Fox star recently was marked with flattering success, will be the attraction of the Victory today. In her latest photoplay, "A World of Folly," a society drama.

The play tells the gripping story of Helene Blair, whose husband neglects her for his business. When she invites to her home the handsome and unscrupulous Duke Tremaine, soon champagne, when she met when he rescued her two children from peril, the tongue of gossip begins wagging. At the request of her husband Helene notifies Tremaine not to call again. Tremaine, who is affianced to Jeanne, ignores the request and one day forces his way into the house. Helene's husband receives a mysterious telephone call and, when he rushes home finds Tremaine with his wife. Tremaine escapes. Blair denounces his wife and a separation follows. Later everything is patched up satisfactorily—but only after several sensational scenes.

PERSONAL MENTION

When more of the connecting residence streets are paved it will be possible to keep Main street cleaner and more sightly. As it now is, mud from side streets is carried to the paved section following even light rains, thus keeping the central thoroughfare buried under a coat of dirt and dust.

Less Than Half May Control Destiny of Nation in November Election—Women of Other Nations Jubilant.

By MILDRED MORRIS

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The women's seventy-one years' battle is won! Approximately 26,883,588 women become full-fledged voters, through the act of the Tennessee legislature, yesterday in ratifying the Eighteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution, and a political factor to disturb the politicians of the country.

Less than one-half of the 26,883,588 voting as a unit can control the political destinies of the nation next November. They will decide what part they will play in the nation's affairs and whether a new era has begun—an era of petticoat political power—remains to be seen.

Women throughout the world will join their newly enfranchised sisters of America in celebrating the victory. A great jubilation is planned for October. It will be held in the fetunda of the capital and will be the occasion of presenting to the government marble busts of Susan B. Anthony, Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton—the three women who began the struggle and died in it.

President Wilson may take part. All the women's organizations of the country will join in making it an historic event.

The amendment added to the constitution today has been before congress longer than any other successful amendment. It was in 1875 that Susan B. Anthony made the first draft of it. Three years later it was introduced in the United States Senate by Senator Sargent, of California. From 1887 to 1912 it lay in congress without action or even debate. It was until June 4, 1915, thirty-one years after it had gone before congress, that the amendment was finally passed.

No struggle in American history was more dramatic than this battle of the women, which began in 1848, when Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton called, in Seneca Falls, N. Y., the first women's rights convention, and ended today with favorable action by the legislature of the state of Tennessee. It was a struggle to the heroic women who dedicated their lives to it was a struggle for freedom. They were jailed and jailed for their efforts, but they fought on, ready to die for their cause.

It was in 1848 that Susan B. Anthony rose as a leader of the movement for political freedom. The pioneer militant was Susan, a woman whose force and courage won her the admiration of noted men of her day. With Elizabeth Cady Stanton—a dominant lady was Elizabeth, with her great girth and splendid double chin—and Lucretia Mott—sweet-faced Lucretia, who found time to mother her own brood of children and some of the neighbors, notwithstanding her activities abroad. She stumped the East and had her say, despite the howlings of the mob. The trio were looked upon as freaks of their sex and horribly shocking.

They became the butt of every newspaper humorist and sarcastic editor. In their day gentlewomen devoted themselves to only such lady like accomplishments as reading Jane Austen and rocking the cradle.

After the Civil war Susan's little band attempted to secure an interpretation of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments. In 1872 Susan decided to test her rights "as a free born citizen." She went to the polls and insisted upon voting. She was arrested and refused to pay her fine, but she was not put in jail.

After they began their struggle in 1848, the suffragists waited twenty-one years for their first gleam of hope. It came from the prairies of the new-born West. The infant state of Wyoming, grateful to its pioneer women who had braved the wilds and the Indians along with their men, bestowed upon them the full privileges of the franchise. No other state followed its action a quarter of a century later, when three other western states—Colorado, Utah and Idaho, in 1894, made their women full fledged voters. Washington joined the equal suffrage column sixteen years later, California in the following year, and in 1912, Kansas, Arizona and Oregon fell into line. The following year the women of Illinois won state and presidential suffrage. In 1914 the women of Montana and Nevada received full suffrage, and three years later the women of New York were granted the same privileges. The women of Oklahoma, South Dakota and Michigan joined them in votes a year later.

The mantles of Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott fell upon Alice Paul, Anna Howard Shaw and Carrie Chapman Catt. The youngest and most picturesque of the three is Alice Paul, who, like Susan and Lucretia, is of Quaker ancestry and a militant. She was born thirty-five years ago—on the same day as Joan of Arc—this fighting Quakeress. Wholly without political experience, when she entered the suffrage movement a few years ago, she is now acknowledged by the master politicians of the capital to be one of the most astute political leaders in the country. As head of the militants, once held up to ridicule and contempt, she held the whiphand in the suffrage situation in the last few months and gained recognition from even the white house, once so much annoyed by her tactics.

She came to Washington in 1913 with Lucy Burnin, a striking red haired young woman of Irish ancestry, who inherited her forefathers' gift of oratory. Both were fresh from activities with the militant in England. They had been jailed and forcibly fed in London.

Their arrival in Washington was the beginning of a "reign of terror" for the administration and the politicians. The picketing of the white house began. Alice and her "suff women" were jailed. They were forcibly fed, but remained undaunted. They left jail to resume their picketing. After that the life of the militants alternated between picketing the white house and going to jail. The battle was only half won when the amendment passed congress. Special session of twenty-nine states had to be called to secure the necessary ratifications necessary. In all but five of the thirty-six states to be won campaigns against government and legislatures were necessary.

Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan fought for the honor of being the first state to ratify. They took action within a few hours of each other six days after the amendment had been passed. Kansas was the first full suffrage state to ratify. New York the second and Texas the first southern state to take action. The state of Washington was the first half of the final chapter in the struggle March 22 last, being the thirty-fifth state to ratify.
