Rev. J. W. Chapman, of New Kirk, Oklahoma, was called to the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Cross Plains in a vote of the membership Sunday morning. He will assume duties here January first.

The Rev. Mr. Chapman, who preached at the local church November 20, has held his present pastorate four years. He comes here highly recommended both as an outstanding preacher and pastor. He will succeed Rev. J. F. Miller, who resigned October first.

The new pastor's family includes his wife and two children, a son and daughter, both of whom are of school age.

Roy Arrowood Hits New Shallow Well

Roy Arrowood has completed a shallow well on the Barr tract five miles southwest of town, which is believed to be good for at least five barrels daily. Production is from the Grassroots sand, a depth of 378 feet.

Arrowood has moved 300 feet and started another well, which may extend the field. Dillard and Thate have also started a west outcrop on the F. W. Stacy. It is 1,290 feet from the new Arrowood location. The Dillard and Thate well is being drilled on a farm-out to Melvin Crabb.

W. D. Smith was a Dallas visitor Monday.

CROSS PLAINS TAKES ON YULETIDE ASPECT

Gaily decorated in yuletide colored lights throughout the business section, Cross Plains took on a Christmas aspect this week. The bulbs were to be illuminated for the first time Wednesday night.

Most store windows are likewise dressed with seasonal displays, giving the shopping section a holiday theme.

P-TA Sponsoring Dance Revue Friday Night In Gymnasium

Cross Plains Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor a dance revue in the high school gymnasium here Friday night, featuring pupils of Mrs. Lon Smith, of Brownwood. Mrs. Smith, regarded as one of the foremost teachers of the dance in this section of Texas, will bring to Cross Plains a selected group of pupils who are to be presented in elaborate costumes, which P-TA members say are alone worth the price of admission to see.

The program will begin promptly at seven thirty, and those who may have failed to get tickets during the advance sale will be accommodated at the door. Proceeds from an admission charge of 15, 20 and 35 cents will be used for the improvement of local school facilities.

Hector Hickman Is Laid To Final Rest

Hector Hickman, 43, of Rising Star, who was well known in Cross Plains, died Friday morning in a Brownwood hospital.

He was born on the Hickman ranch in the Blake area, was a graduate of John Tarleton and Texas A&M. He was one of the first men to advocate hairy vetch as a money crop for this section of Texas, and fathered a movement for planting of the crop which is now widely cultivated.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter; his mother, Mrs. Nettie H. Ellis; and three brothers, Bernal B. Roy Jr., and I. N. Hickman, all of Rising Star.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. White, of New Mexico, visited their parents here during Thanksgiving.

Error In Road Bond Vote Necessitates New Election

An administrative oversight by the bonding company which prepared legal instruments in connection with the $75,000 road bond election held in Commissioners precinct four, which comprises Cross Plains, Atwell and Cottonwood, will necessitate citizens trekking to the polls and holding the referendum all over again.

A representative of the bonding company met with county officials in Baird Friday and advised that the bonds could probably be sold anyway, however, since sale had been to the state public school fund at an exceptionally low rate of interest, he deemed it advisable to re-vote the issue. The school fund would not purchase the bonds with the administrative irregularity, which concerned publication of notices, and the rate of interest required by the school fund is low enough to make compliance with their requirements profitable to the people as a whole.

Re-voting the issue will likely not delay the actual construction of the road, for the state highway department is going ahead with preliminary surveys on the presumption that the will of the people which voted the bond 276 to 50 would not be changed. Too, sale of the issue has already been arranged.

The re-voting is expected to be held the last day of 1948, December 31.

Count Commissioner Claude E. Foster said yesterday: "It is to be regretted that this oversight occurred, however, the error was an honest one and I feel that the public will understand and not particularly mind another trip to the polls."

Hi-way Department Expected To Widen 36 In City Limits

Plans are said to be now in the making for widening of highway 36 within the city limits of Cross Plains. It is understood that the highway department particularly wishes to widen that section of the road from the western limits of the township to the junction with Main street.

Although no additional right-of-way has been sought it is believed that such requests may possibly be made shortly. Some property owners who are opposed to giving right of way are known to favor paying all of the present right of way and the construction of curbs and gutters, feeling that this would afford sufficient room to accommodate increased traffic.

15 Buffs Will Get Letters In Football

Fifteen players will receive letters for service on this year's Cross Plains high school football team, it was announced yesterday by coach Bill Shield.

The list includes: Alton McCowen and Charles Kunkle at ends; Gene Walker, Howard Lee Need, and Vernon Phillips, tackles; Ervyn Gale and Junior Coggins, and Royce Fortune, guards; James Brown, center; Bobby Lorne, Von-dell Hutchins, Harold Strahan, L. C. Anderson, Junior Grider and Theibert Foster, backs.

All of the lettermen will be back next year except four. They are: McCowen, Lane, Foster and Walker.

MANY FORMER LOCAL RESIDENTS LIVING IN ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO

From J. Melvin Jones, formerly of this place who now lives in Artesia, New Mexico, comes word that a number of people who once lived in Cross Plains are now in that section of New Mexico.

"They are all very much interested in the oil activity in and around Cross Plains", he declared, "and are anxious to read my copy of the Review for latest news."

LOCAL COUPLE PARENTS OF DAUGHTER BORN 24th

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Purvis of East 7th Street are the parents of a baby girl born November 24 in a Rising Star hospital. The young lady weighed eight pounds and five ounces at birth and has been named Linda Helen.

SHALLOW WELL STARTS ON O. R. LAWLIS LAND WEST OF CROSS PLAINS

Anzac Oil Corporation have moved in spudder for a shallow oil test on the O. R. Lawlis place, 10 miles west of Cross Plains. Location is 330 feet from the north and east lines of the 120 acre Lawlis tract in the Thomas H. Brown survey.

It is possible, but unlikely, that the well will be deepened to the Ellenburger in the event that commercial production is not found at 2,200 feet or less, the projected depth.

Mrs. Ileta Jones left last Saturday for San Antonio to visit her son, Pvt. Leonard Jones, who is stationed at Lackland Air Base.

Ronnie Campbell, of San Angelo, visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Payne, and Mr. and Mrs. Mack Campbell and other relatives and friends here during the

Peanut Acreage To Be Cut Next Year

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan announced Tuesday a 1949 peanut production program calling for a cut of 22 per cent in the planted acreage.

A declining demand was given as the reason for the reduction. Next year's peanut crop will be grown and marketed under rigid government controls. These were authorized by growers in a referendum a year ago.

The 1949 planting goal was set at 2,611,307 acres. This compares with 3,340,000 acres planted this year.

Brannan said the national planting goal should produce a crop of about 850,000 tons. The 1949 crop will be supported at 90 per cent of the parity prices of peanuts as of July 15, 1949. Price support aid will be limited to producers complying with their planting allotments.

The principal peanut-producing states are Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

ROWDEN DEEP TEST IS SETTING PIPE IN LIME

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Ford have returned from San Antonio where they visited last week end with Captain and Mrs. Hubert Hall at Randolph Field.

Up-Hill Fight Of Former Cross Plains Teacher And Wife Told By Dallas News

Many Cross Plains people will remember Cue Lipscomb, who taught Science in Cross Plains high school in 1928, and his wife Mary. The couple lived at the home of the late Mrs. L. A. McDonough in the southwest part of town. The following article taken from Sunday's issue of the Dallas News tells an interesting story of this couple and their 20 year effort to achieve an ambition.

By Kenneth Foree

"So long Mary," said the printed caption signed "Your gang from the composing room." It was attached to a handsome, curved-back chair.

Adjoining were two gorgeous china table lamps from the news department. Near was a gift certificate from the editorial branch, a pen and pencil set, a tray, fleur-de-lis and a silver souvenir spoon. The reason was Mrs. Mary Lipscomb, News third-floor receptionist who had made callers, porters, editors, compositors, reporters and publisher feel as if each were the publisher, was leaving. She had about done her part of helping to finish something old Dr. Cuyler (Cue) Lipscomb of Denton started years ago.

Old Dr. Cue, father of thirteen sons but only one physician, had talked to his big, fine-looking, namesake-grandson about following his footsteps. And when young Cue came home from Baylor in 1928 he had decided to study medicine. That summer at a carnival he was introduced to brunet Mary Southerland Long, North Texas State College beauty and daughter of R. S. Long, County and District Clerk of Throckmorton County. Both paid a dime and they rode the Ferris wheel. Then Cue pulled out a $10 bill and they shattered it. Later he walked her home and said, "I'll be back to-morrow night." He was back most of the nights that summer, and in May, 1929, after he was graduated B.B.A. from Baylor, they married. But they promised their parents Cue would become a doctor and Mary would get her degree.

That summer things got bad and Cue's real estate father, C. Lipscomb, had to cash the insurance he had been carrying for Cue's medical education. So Cue, 23, got a $125-a-month job as principal at Cross Plains. In early 1930 things got worse and Cue was paid half in scrips he cashed three years later at 50 per cent discount.

That summer Cue the third was born to Mary in Albany as Principal Cue, $20-a-week employee of Montgomery Ward in Amarillo, rushed to Albany in time.

Well, others with families had become doctors. So would Cue.

"They moved to a $135 Rochester principalship and Mary, 20, tried to get a school to teach. She must help build that medical education fund. But every school board said she must have a degree.

At the end of that year they conceived an idea. They would rent father Lipscomb's Little Elm stock farm on the halves, make a pot of money and Mary would get her degree. Big Cue milked the eight cows. Mary ran the separator and delivered cream at 30c a quart in Denton before going to her classes. Their $ow had thirteen pigs the day Roosevelt was elected as Cue plowed with little Cue in his arms. Fine!

Around Easter Mary's mother sent her $7.50 for a hat and gloves but she bought 250 chickens and Cue built a brooder. Also Cue had the prettiest corn in the county. It would fatten those thirteen pigs, later their chickens and make a pot for that medical education. One Saturday night they went in to a 15c college show at which Clara Lou (Ann) Sheridan of Denton sang. Next morning there was disaster. The pigs, had gotten out, eaten the chicks, rooted up the corn. Big Cue sold the pigs to the first buyer and that medical pot was gone.

"They moved into town with the C. Lipscombs, Mary got her degree and Cue checked on his premedical credits. He needed a year's work, they said.

Cue worked at a filling station afternoons, nights and week ends for $7 a week, which wasn't enough, and Mary finally found a job back at Albany for $20 a week. So she and Little Cue went home and Big Cue, who was making all A's, was with them Thanksgiving and Christmas.

In the summer of 1934 things improved. Mary's father, her uncle, District Judge Milburn Long and Banker Tom Putnam landed her a $95-a-month job teaching English at Leuders. Wonderful! Now for that medical education. But Dean Mouraud of Baylor shook his head: Cue was 27, too old, and no Denton attacks and won. All Denton attacked and won. Cue paid $10 a month for room, ate no breakfast, had a 25c lunch at school, ate chili at Mrs. Hig's cafe at night, and Mrs. Hig's always put in eggs and never charged more. She went to see Little Cue at her parents' on week ends and sent Big Cue $40 a month. Cue, who had to sell their car for $300 to pay tuition, worked in a cafe for his meals, nursed alcoholics he hated on week ends, sold blood at $15 a pint every six weeks and made mostly A's.

"For his second year Mary borrowed $150 from the Morris Plan Bank, $200 the third. She was then teaching at Keller, Tarrant County, as close as she could get to Dallas. She made $107.50 a month. The last year she asked $350, promising to pay $67.50 monthly. The banker said no, it was impossible. But he wasn't prepared for the torrent of tears. He got the money in a rush, then begged her to quit crying.

In his third summer Cue got on as an extern at Scottish Rite Hospital and was fascinated with bone work. That would be his specialty.

Mary paid that $350 note by March 6, 1938, when she had to quit teaching. Tommy Lipscomb would arrive in June. It isn't exactly clear how they made it through his internship at Baylor, but Baylor let him go six weeks early to Possum Kingdom, May 1, 1939, and became the company doctor, where three others had quit. He made $300 a month, paid off $500 in debts; then in June, 1940, was taken to the Denison Dam in the same capacity at $500 a month.

"Things were fine save two: That bone specialization, then Uncle Sam. Dr. Cue went into the army in 1942, became flight surgeon in Newfoundland while Mary taught school in Granbury to support her parents. Her father had a stroke.

Major Cue Lipscomb came back in January, 1946. They talked it over. They had some money and bonds; yes, he must specialize in orthopedics. If necessary, Mary would work again. He began a 3-year residency and prices spurted. So in August, 1946, as Dr. Cue and young Cue sold blood and Dr. Cue nursed, Mary came to The News she recently left.

Late next month big Dr. Cue Lipscomb at 42 will be associated with Dr. Louis Levy, Fort Worth orthopedist; the dream of old Dr. Cue will be realized and a rugged 20-year battle to make a doctor concluded.

Edd Morgan returned to his home here Friday after a weeks visit in Houston.

Billy Mack Coppinger of Abilene visited here in the home of his parents over the week end.

Mrs. Tom Colvin of Coleman was a guest in the home of Mr. and Roy Arrowood over the week end.

Cross Plains Defeats Baird 14 To 12 Thanksgiving Day

Cross Plains high school Buffaloes rounded out the 1943 football season Thursday afternoon with a 14 to 12 victory over the Baird Bears, played before a large Thanksgiving audience on the county-seat campus.

Although conceded little chance to overwhelm the favored Baird eleven, coach Bill Shield's athletes took a lead early in the second quarter and were never headed. A spectacular passing attack, engineered by Bobby Lane, playing his last game for the Purple and Gold, set up both Cross Plains tallies. Too, it was Lane's accurate pitching that accounted for the extra points which proved to be the margin of victory.

Charles Kunkle, Harold Strahan and Alton McCowen alternated in snagging Lane's throws, completing 11 of 21 forwards, two of which were for points after touchdowns.

Baird scored first in the opening stanza when Jack Yarbrough powered thru the line and raced 70 yards to pay dirt. An attempted place kick for conversion failed.

Cross Plains received the kick-off and piled up two first downs before being forced to punt. Lane lofted a mighty spiral to Yarbrough who permitted the ball to bounce and fumbled in attempting a quick grab. Cross Plains recovered on Baird's 40 and marched straight down the field to knot the score. Strahan bull dozing thru line for seven yards on the pay-off thrust. With the score tied, Cross Plains was offside on the first conversion attempt and penalized five yards. On the second attempt Lane passed to McCowen over the double stripe and put Cross Plains ahead seven to six.

A few minutes later in the same period the Cross Plains Buffaloes carried to Baird's 16 yard line. Lane flented as to run and threw a strike to Strahan in the end zone for another touchdown. Again the conversion attempt was from Lane to McCowen and the score was 14 to six in favor of Cross Plains.

Baird received the kick-off and advanced straight down the field to score, the tally being made on a pass to Mobley. Attempt to pass to Ashlock went incomplete. Scoring ended at this juncture, however, the remaining two periods offered spectacular play with both teams threatening at least once.

The victory gave Cross Plains and Baird a tie for third place in conference standings, however, local partisans were of the opinion that had the local athletes been clicking all season as they did on the beautiful Thanksgiving afternoon they would have been hard for any outfit in the league to handle.

The Baird line which had been widely acclaimed all season turned in another fine performance, however, in the second half it was frequently punctured for appreciable gains. Vondell Hutchins gave a preview of what fans may expect of him next season when his elusive galloping brought the large Cross Plains crowd to its feet with surprising gains.

From scrimmage Cross Plains had a net gain of 217 yards to 239 for Baird. The Buffaloes piled up 13 first downs to nine for the Bears. Cross Plains completed 11 of 21 passes for a total of 124 yards, while Baird collected on four of 11 serials and getting one intercepted. Penalties slowed the Baird aggregation. They suffered four for a total of 63 yards while Cross Plains went unpunished. Baird lost the ball on fumbles thrice and Cross Plains once.

For the season Cross Plains had a percentage of exactly 500, winning four games, losing four and tying one.

Oil Price Hike To Mean $3,000 More Monthly For Area

Sinclair's increase to $3.00 per barrel for pipeline oil, which went into effect Wednesday of last week, is expected to mean around $3,000 more per month for oil produced in the Cross Plains locality. ### Dillard And Thate Begin Shallow Test

Dillard and Thate spudded Tuesday on a fourth try for wildcat production from shallow stratas on the Carlos McDermitt ranch, 11 miles southwest of Cross Plains. The test will be taken to a depth of 550 feet, in quest of the Amrada sand. Other tests drilled by Dillard and Thate in this locality have shown good possibilities for the formation, however, as yet no commercial production has been encountered.

Legless Veteran Is Champ Farmer

Any mis-step by former servicemen seems always to enhance the value of an otherwise dull news story for metropolitan newspapers. Almost invariably the veteran status is magnified. Little is ever written of the millions of former GI's who have quietly taken up their various jobs and are enviable citizens. For this reason the following item released by the Veterans Administration seems particularly newsworthy.

Ralph G. Neppel, legless veteran of World War II, has just harvested one of the best corn crops in Iowa, the Veterans Administration said Saturday.

Neppel, 25, traveled from McCloskey General Hospital, Temple, Texas, to the White House several years ago to receive the Medal of Honor from the President. The medal was in recognition of heroism in a Birgel, Germany engagement in 1944 in which he lost both legs above the knee.

Upon his discharge from the hospital, Neppel went to his home at Carrell, Iowa, married and moved into a house presented to him by citizens of the state.

Fitted with artificial legs, he does most of his own farm work, runs the tractor on his corn picker, operates his other farm machinery.

County Agent's Column

By Oliver F. Werst

Hog Feeding

Several people have asked the agent about balanced rations for hogs lately so he decided to write a few lines on hog feeding. Whether you are feeding bred sows and gilts or market hogs the main principle is to feed a balanced ration.

There are two principles that should be remembered when feeding a bred gilt. These are: first, complete nourishment of the gilt and her growing pig embryo; and second, economy. In other words, the ration must be both balanced and cheap and fed in amounts which will satisfy the demands without waste.

Corn alone is an unbalanced ration. So is maize. Some things that might happen from feeding of corn or maize alone are as follows: A tendency for the pigs at birth to be weak and under developed; a large portion of dead pigs at birth; a feverish, irritable condition of the gilt at farrowing time; frequent trouble in giving birth to the pigs; a tendency to develop the pig eating habit; and inability to secrete a good supply of milk for the pigs after birth. Some pigs were farrowed in Callahan County this last spring that did not even have the ears developed. Corn, barley, rye, wheat, milo, and oats must be balanced with protein feeds and with green pasture, when available, for the production of bone, blood and muscle. Bred gilts should be fed about one and one-half pounds of concentrates per day for each one hundred pounds of live weight, while mature sows can be fed a little less than this amount depending upon their condition.

A good protein supplement should be fed along with the farm grown grains. A 40% protein supplement is the best to feed and it is the best practice to feed it free choice. If protein supplement is not fed, one gallon of skimmed milk per pig per day will balance the grain needed for growing and fattening pigs. A brood sow can use one and one-half gallons of skim milk per day. Where this much milk is fed no other protein feed is necessary.

A good mineral mixture should be available for pigs at all times. It is usually a safe policy to also include one pound of the mineral mixture in each 100 pounds of ground mixed feed that is fed to brood sows or other hogs. Bone meal and salt are excellent for hogs.

Vitamins, green pasture, together with farm grains, and a protein feed and minerals should grow healthy hogs. Hogs need a certain amount of vitamin D. This is the sunshine vitamin. Small, dark pens are highly unsuitable for hogs.

Turkeys

Turkey raisers should remember to save some good stock back for egg production. If you are planning on raising your own hatching eggs you should pick out a few good hens and toms to keep. The good turkeys will bring you the best price on the market but they will also produce your best stock for next year. The poult that hatch from eggs from slow developing turkey hens will also probably be slow developing, so keep some good breeding stock.

Breeding stock that should be kept should be the fast feathering and fast developing kind. They should have strong straight legs, and should have a long wide breast and a deep body. These birds should have clean clear eyes and be free from disease. In a personal talk with Dr. W. C. Banks a few days ago he said that most of the big crow in turkeys is a hereditary factor. Banks is the Extension Veterinarian of A&M. He said that only a small percentage of big crow is caused by some obstruction in the craw.

These factors along with good turkey management should bring the producer a little profit in the pocket.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foster have gone to Abilene to visit their daughter, Mrs. J. H. Day, who has had surgery in Hendricks Memorial hospital there.

Some of the favorite touches given by the writers for Western story magazines and for the cowboy movies are treated rather roughly by George Hendricks in his book "The Bad Men of the West" (Naylor Company, San Antonio).

Very few of the famous real-life gunfighters actually fired two guns at the same time, nor did they fire from the hip.

Of approximately 250 gun-fighters whose records Hendricks studied, Billy the Kid was the only one who preferred the double-action .45 to the single action. To fire the double action pistol, all you do is pull the trigger, the mechanism automatically lifting the hammer, then causing it to fall.

With the single action gun, the user had to pull the hammer back with his thumb and then squeeze the trigger with his finger. However, the experts usually altered the mechanism so the weapon could be fired merely by pulling the hammer back with the thumb and then letting it fall back, not using the trigger at all. In fact, usually the trigger was filed off.

But it would be almost impossible for the fiction writers to think up situations more exciting or unusual than actually happened, as related in Hendricks' book.

For instance, Red Kelley's final fight. Kelley was credited with having killed Bob Ford, who was the slayer of Jesse James. Kelley and an enemy met at very close range, each went for his gun and each seized the other by the wrist of the gun-hand. As they struggled, each fired three times before they fell heavily to the ground with Kelley on top. His adversary finally was able to free his arm sufficiently to level and fire, killing Kelley; but the victor was so exhausted from the struggle that he could neither throw off Kelley's body or wriggle from under it but had to ask to be liberated by spectators.

One time, a bad man got the drop on the famous Texas Ranger, Captain Bill McDonald, ordering "Hands up." McDonald slowly raised his hands but just as they reached the elevation of his hat he grabbed the brim and sailed the hat into the other's face, then whipped out his six-shooter and shot him.

Captain Harry Wheeler of the Arizona Rangers found himself in an even more difficult position. He was unarmed and two outlaws leveled their pistols on him. "Wait a minute," he said, "while I tie my boot," and after he had tied the boot, as he was raising up, he threw a handful of sand in their eyes, grabbed a gun and covered them.

Care In Handling Rabbits Advised

Tuleremia, or "rabbit fever", is transmitted to human beings through the careless handling of wild rabbits, and according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, every wild rabbit should be handled with extreme care from the time he is bagged, until he is placed on the table.

"If a rabbit is diseased, careless handling can cause tuleremia. This serious disease is transmitted from rabbits to human beings, usually through direct contact with the infected animal or with objects contaminated by the meat of fur." Dr. Cox said, "Each year many persons contract tuleremia because they fail to use proper precautions in the handling of the rabbits which are killed for food."

Dr. Cox said that one of the first precautions recommended is to shoot only the healthy rabbits with enough energy to run away from the hunter as he approaches. A listless rabbit that fails to run is probably sick, and should not be taken by the hunter.

A second important safeguard is for the hunter or the housewife to use rubber gloves in cleaning and preparing the rabbit for cooking. The gloves should be sterilized after using, and the refuse and paper that has touched the rabbit should be washed thoroughly after the meat has been set to cook.

Adequate cooking is a final safeguard that should be observed at all times. To destroy any germs that may be present, the meat should be cooked at boiling temperature for at least twenty minutes, regardless of whether it is to be fried or baked later.

By observing these safety rules, Texans may enjoy their rabbit hunts and rabbit dinners without fear of tuleremia.

TAKE NOTICE that an election will be held in Commissioners' Precinct No. 4 of Callahan County, Texas, on the 31st day of December, 1948, on the proposition and at the places more particularly set forth in the election order passed by the Commissioners' Court on the 29th day of November, 1948, which is as follows:

WHEREAS, heretofore on the 1st day of September, 1948, the Commissioners' Court passed an order fixing the time and place for a hearing on said petition, to-wit: September 22, 1948, and directed the County Clerk to issue a notice of such time and place of hearing to inform all persons concerned of their rights to appear at such hearing and to contend for or protest against the order of such election; and

WHEREAS, the County Clerk has heretofore duly executed said notice by posting true copies of said order of hearing in three public places within said Commissioners' Precinct No. 4 of Callahan County, and another copy thereof at the Courthouse door of said County for ten days prior to the date fixed for the hearing, and said notice has also been published in a newspaper of general circulation published in said Commissioners' Precinct No. 4, namely "Cross Plains Review", one time, on the 17th day of September, 1948, which was at least five days prior to the date fixed for said hearing; and

WHEREAS, this Court, having met at the time and place set for the hearing of said petition, proceeded to hear such petition and all matters in respect to the proposed bond election, to hear the contentions for and protests against the calling of such petition, and found that the said petition was signed by more than fifty of

WHEREAS, pursuant to the hearing held on said date and from the evidence submitted at said hearing, the Court determined that the proposed improvements would be for the benefit of all taxable property situated in such Commissioners' Precinct No. 4, and that it is desirable and necessary to issue the bonds of said Commissioners' Precinct No. 4 in the amount of Seventy Five Thousand ($75,000.00) Dollars to construct said improvements; and

WHEREAS, the notice of the election called by the order passed by this Court on September 22, 1948, was published for a shorter period of time than directed by law; and

Timely Tips

1. Apples are plentiful now - eat apples for health - they furnish minerals, roughage, vitamins, especially vitamin C which prevents scurvy and helps maintain good condition of teeth and gums.

2. When the first norther begins blowing, try adding apples to muffins and griddle cakes. Place a slice of apple on top of the batter, after pouring it into the muffin cups. Sprinkle with a pinch of sugar and cinnamon. Two cups of well chopped apple added to the griddle cake batter and baked in the customary fashion should produce delightful results.

3. Economical apples also form the basic ingredient of equally economical salad dishes.

4. Most apple combinations, in addition to being tasty, are economical. Try apples and sweet potatoes, or apples and cabbage, or fried apples with onions or carrots.

If the deer is properly castrated in the field, it will help in frozen food locker and but the meat supply, says R. Snyder, extension meats specialist of Texas A&M College. The and loins make fine, tasty roasts, but other cuts of the carcass will make fine sausage.

To get the most out of the carcass, take the neck, the and the lower cut of ribs, you have some fine meat sausage. Use two parts of deer to one part of fresh pork three parts of deer meat as you get a little drier sausage. 50 pounds of meat season with ounces of salt and three ounces of black pepper. And one ounce of sage will give it a tangy flavor.

Snyder suggests seasoning coarse cuts of meat before putting it in a sausage mill. In this way, the seasoning is ground
