PLAINS, CALLAHAN COUNTY, TEXAS

Plains To Be Represented At Leges This Year

Plains will be well represented at the institutions of higher learning this year as possibly thirty students leave this month. Many have already gone, others are within the next few days.

Students A&M are going: Joe Paul Greenwood, Jack Lacy, Paul Newton, Ferrell Newton, Garrett and Vernon Nichols.

Students to enter Texas Technological College at Lubbock are: Clark Billy Anderson, Dick Roger Williams and Robert Eugene Newton will again attend Texas State College for Women at Denton.

Students Christian College are: Misses Mack Coppinger, Misses Plumlee and Ann Marshall, Wood Cary and Charles Mack Wood. John Tarleton Agricultural at Stephenville.

Students at Denton go Misses Lyrna Smith and Margaret Green-

Smith is planning to attend McMurry at Abilene. Coburn will again attend University at San Antonio.

Buying Hits Pace At Cross The Past Week

Little town of Cross Plains is being added to the seams from a influx of population back in mid-twenties after oil was in 1,400 feet, and then settling to a quiet, little rural way, may again experience excitement that the discovery of oil in the area has been encouraging development for two years, particularly in the Caddo pool, indications are that a new and better lease about to be made, have been selling from $10 according to reports reaching Plains, and offers for have gone over $100 per acre in close-in tracts.

Johnson Certified Senate Nominee After Close Race

Lyndon B. Johnson was certified as the Democratic nominee for the United States senate by the state executive committee in session at Fort Worth Monday.

The vote came after speeches by attorneys representing Johnson and his opponent, Coke Stevenson, argued pro and con the validity of the vote in precinct 13 in Jim Wells county.

Stevenson refused to concede defeat. Asked what he considered the last authority in his contest, he said:

"I'm thinking about the United States Senate."

Johnson, surrounded by a pushing throng of cheering well-wishers, said he would stand on his statement that he had confidence that the committee and the convention would be fair.

"That's all I ask," the congressman said.

The subcommittee's tabulation showed Johnson led Stevenson by 87 votes in Texas' record-breaking close-finish U. S. Senatorial race. It showed Johnson's total as 491-191 and Stevenson's as 494-104.

Johnson's attorneys categorically denied fraud and charged that Stevenson's forces had "cold-bloodedly added 202 votes" to the original count from Jim Wells county.

Hearing Called For Sept. 22 On $75,000 Road Bond Election

An election proposing the issuance of $75,000 worth of bonds for the improvement of precinct four's lateral roads and the construction of farm-to-market pavement from here to Cottonwood is expected to be called for the fourth Saturday in next month, October 23.

Tax-paying property owners, who hold a 1948 poll tax receipt will be eligible to ballot. Voting will take place at Cross Plains, Cottonwood, Atwell and Dressy.

A hearing is to be held in the Courthouse at Baird September 22, after which the election is expected to be called for October 23.

It is pointed out that the pavement to Cottonwood would cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, however, the Texas highway department agrees to pay one fourth of this cost, to do all engineering work on the project without charge, and to permanently maintain the road without cost to the precinct or county. The remainder of funds made available by the election—if it carries—would be used to rebuild bridges throughout the precinct, to gravel all school bus and mail routes and do needed maintenance in many isolated areas.

Proponents of the plan declare that the precinct's portion of the cost in building the pavement to Cottonwood will be saved in time merely by the precinct being relieved of the obligation of maintenance. Too, they point out, the highway department can be depended upon to keep the road in good condition at all times.

County Commissioner Claude E. Foster estimates that the levying of 15 cent tax would be adequate for the retirement of the $75,000 issue. His estimate is predicated upon data compiled by a bonding company which has agreed to handle sale of the bonds.

Representatives from the churches are to report on the progress of their various organizations and departments during the past year and make plans for the coming months.

Mr. Allen will urge the association, which has a total church membership of over 2,700, to give emphasis to the stewardship crusade being conducted throughout the state this fall. He will also display the new literature offered to the churches for use in the current campaign.

Crowd Overflows Auditorium As New School Term Is Begun Here Monday

Cross Plains high school auditorium was crowded to capacity and scores stood along the stair case and in hallways Monday morning as opening exercises were held for the beginning of a new term. Primary grades were not even summoned to the general assembly as every effort was made to accommodate the record crowd.

First day indications were that this year's enrollment would exceed that of last year, when Cross Plains schools reached a new high and were by far the largest in Callahan county. Final figure is expected to go well above 600.

Large classes in the first, second and third grades necessitated dividing each grade into two sections with six teachers required. It has often been necessary in other years to have two sections of the first and second grades but never before of the third as well.

Twenty three teachers will comprise the local faculty this year. They are divided as follows: nine in high school, 11 in the local ward school and three in the Pioneer ward school set-up.

"Notwithstanding the fact that we encountered several disturbing problems in completing our faculty," said Superintendent A. J. McCuin yesterday, "everything now seems to be worked out and indications point to a genuinely successful school year."

Dairying Discussed By 25 Farmers Here In Meeting Monday

Twenty five local farmers met with a representative of the Banner Creamery of Abilene in the Cross Plains City Hall Monday night and discussed the possibilities of grade "A" milk sales, and how such an arrangement could be worked out here.

The meeting was in the form of a question and answer session and from the standpoint of questions asked and the number participating it was felt that interest here is unusually keen.

Those interested in bringing their herds and barns up to grade "A" specifications and making sales daily to the Abilene concern were urged to visit other nearby communities where such an arrangement is now in effect, and meet again with the company's representative in the City Hall here Thursday, September 16, between nine in the morning and five in the afternoon.

Fred Tunnell, Cross Plains banker, who attended the meeting Monday night, told the Review that it is his opinion that the sale of grade "A" milk appeared to offer profitable possibilities and that the advantages to be derived seemed to justify the investment.

3 New Busses To Be Delivered Sept. 28

Eastern labor troubles which delayed shipment of three busses ordered by Cross Plains schools more than four months ago have now been eased and delivery promised for September 28 in Cleveland, Ohio. To hasten receipt of the vehicles which are badly needed here, trustees will send drivers to Cleveland to bring the busses to Cross Plains.

The new units all possess upholstered seats, large heating systems and very latest type of safety equipment.

Until the new busses arrive the routes upon which they are to be run are being served by hold-overs from last year.

Prohibition Again To Be An Issue In Burleson's Belief

Congressman Omar Burleson, Representative from this district, believes that within five years prohibition will again be a paramount issue before Congress of the United States. Some folks think legislation of this kind may be introduced in the next session of Congress but may not get much attention for several years, he opined.

A resolution adopted recently by officers of the WCTU and other groups in El Paso, asking that alcoholic beverages not be served to draftees, was expected to be sent to Washington offices of Rep. Ken Regan, 16th district, and Sen. Tom Connally, but a check this week showed that it has not arrived yet.

Attempt Completion On L. L. Montgomery Deep Try Near Here

Having topped the Ellenburger and set pipe, Anzac Oil Corporation was attempting completion yesterday on their number one L. L. (Doc) Montgomery, nine miles west of Cross Plains, in vicinity of recently discovered Ellenburger production on the Heysler tract.

Rotary equipment was moved away and cable tools placed over the hole to penetrate the saturated section. This is the same procedure as has been successfully employed by Anzac previously in this locality.

Definite verdict on the well is not expected to be known for several days, however, well informed observers are optimistic regarding possibilities of the test.

Bottom hole depth was not immediately announced.

New Coach Starts Work With School Here Wednesday

Robert W. Shields, former Rice Institute football player, was named to coach Cross Plains high school football and serve as principal by the board of trustees here in regular meeting Tuesday night. Shields assumed duties Wednesday.

Shields played two years of varsity football at Rice Institute before entering the army during the war. After being discharged from military service he came to Abilene and has been a student at McMurry, attending classes in the daytime and serving on the Abilene police force at night. He is a man of about 30 years of age, married and the father of three children.

Shields will be the first South-west Conference athlete ever secured to serve as coach in Cross Plains.

WMU Meets Monday After Summer Recess

Members of the Baptist Women's Missionary Union met at the church Monday afternoon after a three month recess during the summer. Mrs. A. J. Mathis had charge of the study hour when twenty members took up schedules for coming sessions. Two new members, Mrs. C. H. Dawson, and Mrs. Charlie Williams, who recently moved here from Graham, were added to the membership roll and welcomed into the organization.

On Monday, September 20, at three o'clock the two circles, of which the group is composed, will again meet at the church in a Royal Service program with Mrs. J. H. Strahan of the Lottie Moon Circle in charge.

A cordial invitation is being extended ladies of the city to be present and enter into activities of the organization. Mrs. Joe Baum, reporter, said.

Report Erroneous That Movie Star To Drill Oil Try Here

Recent reports that W. A. Moncrief, Fort Worth operator, and Bing Crosby, movie star, would drill an oil test in the Baum field five miles west of Cross Plains, were denied Thursday by M. S. (Mel) Ingelwright, who is associated with E. E. Fogelson in all production in the field.

The well was to have been located on land owned by I. M. (Doc) Tension, however, the royalty was said to be under different ownership.

Apparently plans were once made to drill the well but were revoked after application for permit had been filed with the Railroad Commission.

Statewide Effort To Reduce Accident Toll Launched By Dr. Cox

A state-wide effort to reduce Texas' child accident toll of about 900 lives yearly through participation in the national child safety campaign in September was set forth by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, as an immediate public health objective calling for concerted cooperation by all public health and medical authorities and interested civic organizations within the state.

"The needless loss of a single life, or the crippling of even one child, is an exorbitant price to pay for any neglect of this problem," said Dr. Cox.

The importance of such a campaign is evidenced by the fact that accidents are now the leading cause of deaths among children more than one year old. Among children 5 to 9 years old, the death rate from accidents was 25.7 per 100,000, as compared with a rate of 4.6 for rheumatic fever and organic heart disease, the next cause; and among children from 9 to 14, the accident death rate was 20.8 and that for rheumatic fever and organic disease 7.2.

The outstanding improvement in the death rates from all non-accident causes during recent years is the result of the advance in medical science and concentrated efforts in the field of child health. The premise of the child safety campaign is that efforts now must be intensified to bring about a somewhat comparable reduction in the number of child accidents.

School men won't predict that it's an indication of things to come, but Abilene high school will not have a pep squad this year for the first time in more than 30 years. Superintendent Nat Williams, formerly of Cross Plains, announced that lack of interest and the necessity of employing another teacher which would seriously strain the school budget, were determining factors in abandoning pep squad activities.

Veterans' News

World War II veterans still can reinstate their National Service Life Insurance, the Veterans Administration says.

Some veterans are under the impression they can no longer obtain this government insurance. World War II veterans who can pass a physical examination may reinstate their lapsed insurance at any time.

The deadline for reinstating NS-LI without a physical examination was July 31, 1948, VA explained. Prior to the deadline, a veteran could reinstate lapsed insurance by certifying that his health was as good as it was when the policy lapsed.

This deadline confused some veterans who feel that they cannot reinstate lapsed insurance since the deadline passed. That is not correct, VA said.

Veterans may reinstate their insurance at any time by passing a physical examination. If the policy has lapsed than three months, it still can be reinstated without taking the physical examination.

The average age of World War II women veterans is slightly higher than that of their male fellow-veterans, VA reports. The feminine average is an even 30 years, while the average age of the men is 29 years and 9 1/2 months.

The number of veterans of all wars reached 18,744,000 on May 1, 1948, VA says. Of these, 14,887,000 served in World War II. The remainder were veterans of World War I and other wars.

When the nation's population of veterans and members of their families reaches its expected peak of 60,000,000 in 1955, VA predicts that the number of veterans of all wars will be 17,300,000, and the number of persons in their families, 42,900,000.

BOYCE HOUSE

When I was on the staff of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, there was a dog show I was assigned to write up. For three days, I was out there in the big, barn-like exhibit hall where there were 200 dogs and they barked and barked all day long.

After three days of that, I was back in the newspaper office writing the closing account of the show when I heard, or thought I heard, a bark. I assumed it was imagination and kept on writing. In a moment, I heard another bark.

Listening to all that barking for those three days so worked on my nerves that I was "hearing things." I looked guardedly around the office to see if anyone else had noticed such a sound but all were busy and I was just lowering my head to the typewriter when my glance caught the eye of Mark Burrows, the "suburban editor", and he tried to keep from grinning but couldn't. He had been doing all the barking.

I grinned, too. It's quite a relief to know that your imagination is not playing tricks on you.

A boy showed such marked indifference to his duties that his employer said, "I regret to do so but I must discharge you." The youth pleaded, "Mr. Brown, it will handicap me all through life to lose this first job, please don't fire me!" So at last the employer said, "All right; go back to work." The boy said, "You mean I'm not fired?" "That's right" was the reply. "Then I resign" announced the boy.

A noted criminal lawyer of New York City declared that he had saved over 50 persons from the electric chair, yet not one had ever sent him a Christmas card.

More memories of a columnist's sojourn in California for a few months, nine years ago:

Of amusements, there is no dearth in Hollywood--(isn't that sentence a dilly?) At least, there was plenty to see when I was out there--a Pacific Conference football game every Saturday afternoon, a "pro" grid game Sunday afternoon, two athletic clubs, each of which presented one card of boxing and another of wrestling each week, and two theatres which showed a combination of top-notch motion pictures and flesh and blood performers. Think of seeing a feature picture and also seeing, in person, Frances Lankford, Kenny Baker and Ken Murray, all for only 50 cents!

They were always introducing notables at the ringside at the fights--such as Rochester, who was managing a heavyweight, and the old-time Olympic champion, the Indian, Jim Thorpe.

Then there were the big road shows, such as "The Man Who Came To Dinner." The principal character was supposed to have been based on Alex Woolcot and the famous critic and writer played himself. But the night I went, he was sick and they had to make a substitution. Some of the people didn't stay but got their money back at the box office. I remained however and the substitute was wonderful. He made a better Woolcot than Woolcot did. I didn't know until I read the paper next morning who I had seen. He was Kaufman, the man who wrote the show.

Life has embarrassing moments. Here is one of many I've encountered:

Back in the early 1920's, a reunion of Texas Rangers was held in Ranger. There were men who had served on the frontier, 10 years after the Civil War. I was the rather young editor of the Times and I invited half a dozen of them to go into the drug store and have something to drink. After the sodas had been served, I handed the young lady attendant a dollar bill but she pushed it back with the remark, as she looked right at me: "We're not charging you old Confederates anything!"

Around The Yard

If you put in a little extra work around the yard about this time of year, you can get things in shape for planting the cool weather flowers and shrubs.

Both bluebonnets and gladioli can be planted until the middle of September, says Sadie Hatfield, extension landscape gardening specialist of Texas A&M College. She also says that pansies sometimes bloom early if they are planted now and protected from the sun until cool weather gets here.

Flowers that withstand cold can be planted now in flats, cold frames or frame gardens, and later transplanted along about October. Some of the flowers Miss Hatfield refers to here are snap-dragons, stocks and calendulas. Others that don't quite stand up to the cold as well are petunias, ageratum, sweet alyssum, late cosmos and periwinkle. But they do well if there is a late fall season.

Now is a good time to get the soil ready for planting trees and shrubs in the winter. While you are about it, this is also a good time to underpin your house. This means planting shrubs around the edge of the house to keep the cold winds of winter from blowing under the house. And shrubbery will make the place more attractive all year round, too. Underpinning can also be done by means of bricks or boards. If you like to mix the mortar, put in cement or flagstone walks around the house, suggests Miss Hatfield.

When the field work slackens up, it is a good time to tighten the clothes line. And a good place for the clothes line is in the service area near the house — not out in public area, says Miss Hatfield.

Upright or Chest Type

Families who are thinking of buying a home freezer often ask which is the better choice, the upright or the chest type. The upright or vertical style opens like a refrigerator and the chest type is often called the horizontal style has a lid which opens from the top.

Bernice Claytor, extension home management specialist of Texas A&M College, says each type has some advantage over the other. The upright type is more convenient for some families and others find the chest type more satisfactory. One of the advantages of the upright freezer is that it takes up less floor space than the chest type of the same capacity, but you must allow for space in front of the freezer for the door to swing out. However, although the upright freezer doesn't take up so much floor space, it does put more weight on each square foot of the floor than the chest type. Sometimes it is necessary to put extra supports under the flooring to take care of the weight.

At a first glance, the upright type seems to offer the same convenience in reaching stored food than a refrigerator does. But when the freezer is full so that all the shelves are packed, you have no convenient place to put the package in front while getting those from the rear.

Some of the upright home freezers have drawers to overcome this difficulty but drawers take up storage space. And some of the

FIGHTS CANCER

CHICAGO—Dave Gottlieb, above, president, has announced that Coin Machine Industries, Inc., will sponsor a new fund-raising campaign for cancer research. Association's drive last year raised $250,000 for Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, topping all other donations. CMI represents manufacturers, suppliers and operators of coin-operated equipment.

Chest types have baskets for lifting out food. These baskets are handy unless they become too heavy to lift out easily. And, like the drawers in the upright freezers they too take up some of the storage space.

Because cold air is heavier than warm air, a freezer that opens on top has a natural advantage over one with a side opening, in holding the cold air and thus saving fuel. In trying to overcome this disadvantage manufacturers of upright freezers have had to construct them differently from chest freezers. This generally makes the initial cost of a properly constructed upright freezer higher than that of a chest freezer of the same size. However, Mrs. Claytor points out that the operating costs of both the upright home freezer and the chest type is said to be about the same.

Finally, Mrs. Claytor advises taking measurements before buying a home freezer to make sure not only that the freezer will fit the place chosen for it, but also that you can get it there. Be sure it can be moved through doors, halls, or around corners where necessary. And be sure the floor is strong enough to support it when filled to capacity.

Buck Gibson, who played football the last two seasons with Cross Plains high school and has transferred to Rising Star, was ruled eligible for play with the Wildcats at a meeting of the district committee in Cisco Monday night.

Gibson's eligibility at Rising Star had been questioned in view of the fact that his home district of Pioneer was recently consolidated with Cross Plains by an overwhelming vote in both communities, however, the matter was definitely settled Monday night when the executive committee interpreted rules as making him eligible at Rising Star.

Ray Nunnally, Rising Star coach, elected to have Gibson's eligibility definitely settled before embarking upon a conference schedule. Nunnally's team is regarded as one of the strongest contenders for district honors this year.

Gin Won't Run Here This Cotton Season And Now Something New In Rain Making

Due to the fact that so few acres are planted to cotton in the Cross Plains area this year, Planters Gin Company will not operate their gin here this season. Most local cotton will be ginned at Coleman, Abilene and Baird, declare producers. This will be the third consecutive season that the Cross Plains gin has not operated.

A new sign of rain was being told in Cross Plains this week. For some unknown reason whirlwinds in this section of Texas generally move in a northeasterly direction, and anytime one is seen traveling southwest the chances for rain are reportedly very good. Farmers and ranchmen may be interested to know that rain-promising whirlwinds have been observed near Cross Plains this week.

Inspection Made At Brownwood Lake For An Elaborate Project

Lake Brownwood's dam and spillway were being examined this week by government engineers, subject to a huge flood control project. M. A. Dillingham, of the plans and reports section of the Galveston office, telegraphed Brown County Water Improvement District No. 1 officials this morning of the impending visit. The telegram was sent from Temple. Herman Bettis, district manager, said he did not know in advance the purpose of the visit, but a report embodying the multi-million-dollar Lake Brownwood flood control project was last reported in process of being submitted to the office of the Chief of Engineers in Washington via the divisional office at Dallas out of the district office in Galveston. Plans so far announced have included a new dam below the present one and installation of spillway gates to increase flood control facilities at the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Yarbrough visited in the home of their daughter and family at Sweetwater this week.

Water Consumption Lower Here After New Meters Are Installed

Water consumption in Cross Plains which soared over 150,000 gallons daily in the peak of Summer, is reported to have begun a consistent decline as new meters were installed over the city and continues to grow less. Still more new meters will likely be added within the near future, the Review was told. Present plans call for the installation of operative meters at every connection.

Another Deep Test Expected To Start At Cross Cut Soon

Another deep oil test to explore the Cuddo lime is expected to start south of Cross Cut within the near future. Location had not been made Wednesday, according to best information available to the Review, however, plans were known to be in the winding-up stage. If the McCurdy Brothers test on the Pope place turns out as good as is believed an extensive drilling campaign is forecast for the Cross Cut locality.

$161,250 Comes Here Through Peanut Sales Believe Local Buyers

Estimates yesterday were that the current peanut crop has brought $161,250.00 to local producers already this season, despite the fact that yields are seriously curtailed because of dry weather. Average price being paid here is around $215 per ton, or $3.20 a bushel. In calculating the cash brought in by movement of the peanut crop, no estimate was made of the returns from hay. Demand for the hay is said to be strong with prices ranging around $22.50 per ton. Cross Plains has three peanut buyers. They are B. D. Montgomery, Dan Johnston and Ira Hall.
