CROSS PLAINS, CALLAHAN COUNTY, TEXAS

3,000 Present At Pioneers Reunion

More than 3,000 people attended the annual reunion of Callahan County pioneers Friday of last week at Deep Creek, between Putnam and Baird. Only about 350 pioneers registered, however, attended the reunion, and the number of their sons and daughters who attended the number to nearly double that figure.

R. M. Pyeatt, prominent Clyde merchant, was elected president, succeeding Earl Hayes. Mrs. L. L. Blackburn and Mrs. V. E. Hill, both of Baird, were re-elected first and second vice-presidents, respectively. Mrs. B. L. Boydston was re-elected treasurer. Sidney Harvell, Baird, was elected a new vice president. The next reunion place will be selected by a committee yet to be named. Only five ex-students of old Belle Plain College, a flourishing Methodist College back in the 1880's, answered roll call Friday. They were B. F. Austin, Abilene; Mrs. George B. Scott, Cross Plains; Mrs. Kate Young, Tullia; Mrs. Beulah Lucas, Cross Plains; and Mrs. Willie Barnhill, Baird. Austin continues as president.

General Monday For Mrs. Willis Brown Who Died Saturday

Funeral services were held from the First Methodist Church here Monday afternoon at three o'clock for Mrs. Willis J. Brown, 49, who died at her home in Cross Plains Saturday night shortly after nine o'clock after an extended illness. Burial was made in the Cross Plains cemetery.

D. L. Barnes, former Cross Plains Methodist pastor who is now at Midlothian, conducted the services, assisted by Rev. J. W. Ingram and Rev. Robert Walker, Methodist pastors respectively.

The deceased, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Westerman, was the earliest permanent settler in this section of Texas, was born August 17, 1900, and was at the time of her death 49 years, 10 months and 26 days of age.

Westerman was born near Cross Plains and spent her entire childhood here. She was affiliated with the Methodist church in girlhood and was a devoted Christian. She was married to Willis J. Brown, March 1927, who survives. Other survivors are two brothers, L. W. and D. Westerman, both of Cross Plains; four sisters, Mrs. Adolphus Cross Cut, Mrs. Gus Hart, Mrs. Spring, Mrs. Joe Pierce, Baird, and Mrs. Dee Barr, Abilene.

Mrs. Brown had been in failing health for more than three years. Her friends and members of the family say that she remained cheerful throughout the long ordeal.

Friends crowded the Methodist church auditorium to capacity Monday afternoon, attesting the regard in which the deceased and her bereaved husband were held by people of this section.

Funeral services were held by W. R. Wagner, W. Wright, Chester Glover, Albert Lovell, Lewis Placke and Jack Scott.

The flower escort was composed of Mrs. Jeff Clark, Miss Hazel Kelly, Mrs. Exa McMillan, Miss Marjorie Falkner, Mrs. S. C. Teague and Mrs. Chester Glover.

Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. M. M. Botham, Cross Plains.

Increase In School Tax Rate To Be Balloted On Here August 26

Citizens of the Cross Plains school district will vote August 26 on a proposed raise of the tax rate from $1.00 not to exceed $1.50. A plurality is necessary for carriage of the measure.

Newell O'Dell, Cross Plains school superintendent, yesterday declared the raise is necessary to adequately carry on the various functions of a modern school system and at the same time comply with specifications set forth in the Gilmer-Alken law.

"It is the plan of the local board of trustees to eliminate the 20 per cent increase in valuations which was added last year, if the raise in tax rate is approved by voters at the polls August 26", O'Dell said.

It is pointed out that the board of trustees has given positive assurance that the rate will not be levied above $1.00 any more than is necessary to operate the school under state requirements.

Voting on this issue will take place at the City Hall in Cross Plains and all qualified electors, residing anywhere within the confines of the local school district, will be qualified to cast ballots here. O. B. Edmondson, high school vocational agriculture instructor, will serve as presiding judge.

Volunteer Workers To Paint Football Stadium On Friday

Members of the newly-organized Quarterback Club are sponsoring a movement to paint the grandstands at Cross Plains high school football field. The work is to be done by volunteers Friday, and Claude Mayes, president of the organization, urges everyone interested in the success of this year's grid team to turn out and contribute a few hours work.

Paint to do the job is being contributed by supporters of the local school system. The list worked up by Mayes shows these gifts: Dave Lee three gallons, Citizens State Bank two gallons, Baldwin Lumber Co. one gallon, Higginbotham's one, S. C. Teague one, and Jack Scott one.

Plans are to repaint the more than 800 seats which were built last year, and then to repair and paint seating accommodations for visiting teams on the opposite side of the gridiron.

Never in the recollection of local people has the football field had as fine a carpet of grass as now. The turf is solid and uniform. To preserve it, coach Frank Rundell plans to work out his athletes on the grass no more than is absolutely necessary.

PEANUT HARVEST GAINS MOMENTUM

New crop peanut harvest increased gradually in South Texas this week, reports the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Central and North Texas crops were in excellent condition, but some late fields in South Texas suffered from lack of moisture.

Prices for farmers' stock peanuts were not as high as a week ago. Most offerings brought $220 a ton for stock with 70 per cent sound kernels. Prices compared favorably with support price announced by USDA this week. Based on 90 per cent of parity, support level of 10.8¢ per pound or about $216 per ton applies to farmers' stock quota peanuts which are eligible for price support under the 1950 crop marketing quota program.

Resales of all type old crop peanuts made up the bulk of trading this week as new crop supplies for prompt shipment met light demand. Southwest shellers quoted No. 1 Spanish peanuts for

How To Figure Your Draft Status

For those wondering how they fit in the present draft picture, Selective Service Headquarters has supplied the following information:

Students—High school students will be allowed to graduate, unless they reach the age of 20 first. College students will be permitted to complete any academic year they have started. If a college student is slated for induction five days prior to his senior year, that year will probably have to wait.

Special Students—Men studying for the ministry automatically are exempted, while men studying to be doctors, dentists or veterinarians will be considered in essential occupations because of their scarcity. Students in physics and a few other special sciences might also be exempted, according to recommendations by their university to a draft board.

Married Men—Automatically exempted; also persons with the proper dependants. Men in 1-A classification who get married now or between the time of an approved physical and induction may or may not be drafted, at the discretion of the board and the manner in which it interprets circumstances surrounding the marriage.

Veterans—Exempted under the present law, including men who served more than 90 days in World War II, and those who served a total of a year between September 20, 1940, and June 24, 1949.

Copy Of 1905 Paper Proves Interesting

The Review recently received a copy of a newspaper called "The New Era", printed in Baird in July 1905. The particular edition is number seven of volume two, indicating that the publication was in its second year at the time the copy was issued.

The old paper was handed to the Review by Miss Hazel Ogilvy, who got it from Mrs. S. C. Teague. The paper shows to have been addressed to a man named J. E. W. Lane, however, neither Miss Ogilvy or Mrs. Teague know the man. Mrs. Teague says that she recently found the old paper among things which belonged to her parents.

Hereunder are a few excerpts from the paper:
"Is it money you need, or is it an abstract, or is it insurance? L. L. Blackburn can fix you in either

Members of the Reserve or National Guard—Exempted as long as they are in good standing, but subject to call at the discretion of the president. The Reservist who has been accepting drill pay may be mobilized. Inactive Reservists also could be called up, however. Non-veterans in the National Guard or Reserves who joined prior to June 24, 1948, and who still are guardsmen or Reservists, will be exempted from the draft. Also men who join the National Guard before they are 18 years and six months old, regardless of the year, are exempted.

The Selective Service law also exempts conscientious objectors, and ministers. Nevertheless all young men must register with a Selective Service board on reaching the age of 18.

Protective Measures Against A Possible A-Bomb Attack

The government told civil defense planners to get set for four different kinds of atomic attack launched separately or in combination.

It gave them the stark official facts on the ruin and death we could expect in such attacks. And also practical advice and assurance that much can be done "to reduce both the casualties and the physical damage."

Within limits, that is. Nothing will help much if you are within half a mile of an atomic target center.

Outside that deadly circle to a distance of eight miles—the A-bomb's damage limit—protection is "practical." But it will require "very comprehensive and detailed planning."

To make such planning possible, the government armed federal, state and local civil defense officials with a fact-crammed, 456-page handbook called "The Effects of Atomic Weapons." It contains the most authoritative and complete information yet published on what A-bombs do, and what can—and can't—be done about them.

For individuals caught away from shelters by a sneak atomic air burst the government had this advice:

Hit the dirt or floor, instantly. You'll know a bomb has gone off by the "sudden increase of the general illumination." Don't look at the light; it can scorch your skin. Roll into a ball for protection against it. Do what you do quickly; a split second can be the margin between life and death. Stay put 10 seconds: the worst is then over. If you can avoid fatal injury for another minute you've survived.

The effects of atomic weapons" was prepared under the direction of the Los Alamos, N. M., A-bomb laboratory and published by the defense department and the Atomic Energy Commission.

It supplies the basic facts defense planners must have to cope with atomic blast, heat, and radiation. It assumes for practical purposes that the attack weapon is a "normal" atomic bomb of the sort, equivalent to 20,000 tons of TNT, which knocked Japan out of World War II.

But it provides, for the first time, "scaling laws" which will permit planners to calculate the effects of more powerful weapons. It supplies a chart of these effects for bombs up to 10 times more powerful than "normal."

Officials said the scaling laws also could be used to obtain a "good guess" at the effects of hydrogen bombs, if they prove feasible. Some scientists think H-bombs might be 1,000 times as powerful as A-bombs, but others believe that figure is greatly exaggerated.)

Practicality is the book's key note. It suggests only measures that can be carried out with "reasonable" amounts of time, money, and effort. It says, "extreme" undertakings, such as dispersion of cities and construction of vast underground facilities, is beyond its scope.

The National Security Resources Board, the agency responsible for civil defense planning, will follow up this book with a country-wide blueprint which will be handed to the Council of State Governments in Chicago September 8.

Another NSRB report will be issued in the fall, possibly in October, on protection for the individual citizen. It also will be based on the handbook issued today.

In telling planners to gear for several different kinds of atomic attack, the book tactfully assumes enemy bombers can get past our air defense. Military experience shows that even under the best defense conditions, at least 25 per cent of the enemy's attacking planes will get through.

That being the case, "The Effects of Atomic Weapons" tells American cities what to expect from:

1. An A-bomb bursting about 2,000 feet in the air. The air burst is the most effective all-purpose atomic destroyer and so the most likely to be used. It destroys practically everything within half a mile of "Ground Zero," the point directly under the burst. In Japan it killed 90 per cent of the people within that deadly circle. It emits deadly radiation for a few seconds but leaves practically no radioactive aftermath.

2. An A-bomb bursting several feet underwater. It destroys at only slightly more than half the distance of the air burst. But it also produces a "base surge" of intensely radioactive mist which poisons and makes deadly whatever it touches. This surge may spread three and one-half miles or farther downwind and could make an area dangerous for two months. The underwater burst also kicks up high waves which could flood a port area if the explosion was near the shore.

3. A penetration A-bomb bursting 40 to feet underground. This also might produce a cloud of dust or mud particles. In addition it would blast out a crater 800 feet across and 100 feet deep, totally destroying everything in the area and contaminating it with lasting radioactivity. This would be so intense that the fastest vehicle could not safely transport human beings through it immediately after the burst. The penetration A-bomb would unleash earthquake-like seismic shocks. These would be particularly destructive to massive structures—like the Kremlin, say—and to nearby underground facilities like New York's subways, tunnels, skyscraper foundations, sewers, and gas, water, and electric mains or lines.

4. Radiological warfare (RW) in which highly radioactive materials from atomic piles are dusted or sprayed over a city to make it uninhabitable. The military and the Atomic Energy Commission are studying RW but are a long way from perfecting it. RW cannot deal out death in a hurry, but it could force temporary evacuation or only part-time occupancy of a large area. Its chief value would be its "psychological effect as a mystery weapon." The defense department considers it "an intriguing sideline" rather than a practical weapon. But any enemy might use it —so "it is very necessary to understand and be prepared for it."

5. Combinations of these general kinds of attack—an air burst plus an underwater explosion, for example—plus variations of them, including low air bursts, surface explosions, and deep underwater blasts.

The handbook says bluntly that what happened to Hiroshima and Nagasaki—where some 106,000 Japanese were killed and 110,000 injured could happen to American cities unprepared for atomic attack.

American houses could stand up no better against the A-bomb than did Japanese houses. Many American buildings would flare worse than the Japanese structures built to resist earthquakes.

But the book also makes some hopeful points:

The bomb's power, though great, falls off rapidly with distance. Bomb-proof shelters can be built.

New buildings can be made A-bomb "resistant" if not A-bomb "proof." In Japan, quake-resistant buildings can be strengthened by adding "blast walls," and increasing the number of interior bracings. For full protection of personnel at half-mile distance two feet of reinforced concrete would be required.

Thousands of persons who get potentially deadly doses of radiation can be saved with medical techniques already developed and being improved. The dangers of radiation have been "exaggerated"—it accounts for only five to 15 per cent of the Japanese A-bomb fatalities. The book forecasts "important advances" in treatment of radiation sickness.

Although the bomb releases one-third of its energy in three seconds a flash heat equal to 6.7 trillion calories, protection against it is easy if you move and think fast. Any near shelter will suffice. Loose white clothing—if you happen to be wearing it at the time—will protect you except at points close to the explosion. But flash heat remains one of the bomb's worst dangers. It accounted for 20 to 30 per cent of the fatalities in Japan where prompt medical treatment was lacking. It causes painful burns at two miles on unprotected skin.

Cities can prepare effective emergency control measures—including widely spaced and well protected fire stations, stockpiles of blood plasma and other medical supplies, and duplicate water, power and communications. The books leaves it planners to decide what bombs more powerful "nominal." Since the country has made at least six times more of the Japanese model. Working on a hydrogen suming it can be made it would be 1,000 times as the "nominal" scaling laws indicate radius of total destruction would be five miles. It would vere damage for 10 miles and if the nominal bomb severe flash burns at a mile, the H-bomb fllet them at 20 miles.

Such a bomb would o to wiping out a city Chicago, but defense bombs, like dispersion of beyond the scope of this

MESQUITE CONTROL

Ranchers in this area might be interested in hearing of some of the results of experiments on mesquite control. Mr. C. E. Fisher from the Spur experiment station supervised the spraying of 300 acres of mesquite on the Scaling Ranch and 160 acres of mesquite on the Mack McClellan ranch. This was done on June 4, 5, 6 in Taylor County. Different amounts of diesel oil and water and various amounts of chemicals were used. Chemicals used were 2.4.5-T E and 2.4.5-TA and BK 64 and H 984. This spraying was preceded by an inch of rain and then there was one to two inches of rain each 10 to 12 days through June. The leaves began to drop off around the 20th of June; by the last of June all leaves had disappeared on two tracts (40 acres) and the remaining plots were dotted with a few trees still holding nearly a full crop of leaves. This, of course, has attracted a lot of attention in Taylor County.

In Donley County 640 acres of mesquite were sprayed by airplane in the JA Ranch on June. The same type of chemicals as above were used. On June 28 the entire area had shed all the leaves and the limbs were turning brown.

Other experiments of this type have been run in other counties and the results look very promising. The total cost of chemicals and application by airplane only runs 3.50 per acre. Some work has also been done by putting 2.4.5-T around the base of the trees. In Wichita County experiments show that one cup of 2.4.5-T mixed with five gallons of diesel oil was sprayed around the base of a tree and it caused the leaves to wilt within three days. The leaves began to drop in a week and were all gone in three weeks after treatment.

In Regan County three one acre plots of mesquite sprouts, (regrowth from one to three years old), was sprayed with Esteron 245 at the rate of one quart to 50 gallons of water. In five days the leaves began to turn lighter in color, in two weeks there was an 85 per cent kill, and in three weeks a 90 per cent kill. This spraying was done with ground equipment and some sprouts were missed as complete coverage is difficult from the ground. This type of spraying requires approximately 50 gallons of spray solution per acre which contains one quart or one pound acid per acre.

Experiments run at the Spur experiment station during the past several years show that you can get about a 25 per cent kill and 95 per cent top kill by using the 2.4.5-T chemicals. Any one desiring to get more detailed information on these experiments or on the use of 2.4.5-T may contact the county agent.

Owners Will Move To Homes In Edgewood Addition Next Week

Workmen are this week completing all utility connections at the recently completed homes in the Edgewood addition to the city of Cross Plains. George Steakley, president of Key City Builders, the firm doing the developing, told the Review yesterday that the houses would be ready for occupancy by the new owners by the middle of next week. Three of the houses have already been sold, a fourth is nearing completion, and two more are to start in the near future. A farm lad who had took a job in the big city returned home a few months later to report he was flat broke in spite of the big pay. He said, "Most of my money I spent on women and whiskey. The rest I just wasted." An optimist is one who sees only the down payment.

Orris Lee Story is a very popular figure in Wichita fight circles. His gameness and hard punching ability have won him the acclaim of sport writers and fight fans throughout Kansas. And it's most interesting indeed to hear this young boxer's comments about the great HADACOL everyone is talking about. Here is Orris Lee Story's witnessed statement: "Last year I was just another run-of-the-mill flyweight fighter. My coach couldn't put his finger on just what my trouble was. My best punch was a hard right cross, but try as I would it was falling inches short of my opponent. "Also the last rounds of a fight usually found me completely washed out, my arms feeling like lead. Then last October I had a talk with an Arkansas fighter to whom I had dropped a decision. I told him I couldn't tag him with my right because of a painful stiffness across my shoulders that caused me to pull up short of my full reach. He said it was probably an aching due to neuritis and he recommended HADACOL. I tried it with a lot of doubt in my mind. But there is no doubt today. Today I hold a state boxing title. I exchanged that neuritis pain and 'all-gone' feeling for pep, stamina and a whole of a swat—thanks to HADACOL!"

P-TA Picnic Set For Monday, August 28

Mrs. J. P. McCord announces that a picnic for members of the Parent-Teachers Association and teachers of the local school system will be held at Brownwood lake the evening of August 28. The group will gather at the high school building at six o'clock. Everyone is invited to come and bring a well filled basket.

Fish Pond Study Will Soon Begin

AUSTIN—The chief aquatic biologist of the Game, Fish & Oyster Commission has ordered a study of farm fish ponds in Texas to pave the way for even better angling conditions. He pointed out that the more than 125,000 ponds, on private lands, ranging in size from one-quarter acre to 15 acres, comprise a substantial part of Texas fishing facilities. Future management procedure will be determined on the basis of data obtained from the new survey. Possible enhancement of the knowledge gained is expected through an exchange of information at a seminar on stocking fish ponds at the American Fisheries society convention in Memphis, Tenn., in September.

The chief aquatic biologist explained that a vital part of the material for the Texas undertaking will come from the San Marcos state fish hatchery. Experimental ponds there have been stocked with various ratios of fish. The San Marcos studies will be blended into observations of the farm ponds, most of which are stocked by the state game and fish department. One important phase will center around the fact that water levels in the experimental hatchery tanks have been kept stationary while the water levels in the uncontrolled farm ponds generally fluctuate according to the local rainfall. Importance of the farm pond system, according to the biologist, cannot be over emphasized. "Every farm pond is a potential fish hatchery," he said. "If the fish stocks in the farm ponds are properly balanced and productive, other areas benefit. This is because in times of high waters, many of the fish in the farm ponds find their ways into rivers and on into reservoirs and lakes."

How To Get Your S. S. Card Faster

E. Glen McNatt, field representative of the Abilene office of the Social Security Administration, will be at the Chamber of Commerce in Cisco at 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, August 24. Persons wishing assistance with retirement claims or death claims under the Social Security Act, or needing information about their social security accounts, should call at that time for necessary help and information. "Every day a number of persons needlessly write letters to the Abilene office for applications for social security cards," stated McNatt. "These persons evidently do not know that an application blank can be obtained right from their home town post office. The post offices, as a service to the people, carry these blanks and are ready and willing to hand them out to all who ask for them." Texas Employment Commission offices in this area also have the deliver more horsepower at the clutch

The world's most popular engine
More trucks use Chevrolet than any other make! And one important reason is Valve-in-Head engine design. For 38 years Chevrolet has been the largest producer of world famous Valve-in-Head engines.

Blue-Flame combustion
Chevrolet's Valve-in-Head design makes possible the smooth, even burning of the fuel—blue-flame combustion. Combustion chambers are scientifically shaped to wring more power from every drop of gasoline.

Lower cost per mile!
Chevrolet's Valve-in-Head engine with greater horsepower at the clutch offers important advantages to truckers. It means greater efficiency—It means bigger pay loads at lower cost per mile!

PLUS-Chevrolet Advance-Design Truck Features!

TWO GREAT VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINES • NEW POWER-JET CARBURETOR • DIAPHRAGM SPRING CLUTCH • SYNCHRO-MESH TRANSMISSIONS • HYPOID REAR AXLES • DOUBLE-ARTICULATED BRAKES • WIDE-BASE WHEELS • ADVANCE-DESIGN STYLING • BALL-TYPE STEERING • UNIT-DESIGN BODIES

Net horsepower... the power you use, the power delivered at the clutch... is the true measuring stick of a truck's ability to haul payloads. And for net horsepower, Chevrolet heavy-duty trucks with Loadmaster engine have no equal among the five most popular standard equipped makes in their weight class—13,000 to 16,000 lbs. G.V.W. Chevrolet heavy-duty trucks lead them all! Compare the facts! Check the serial plates for proof. And remember—it's the power at the clutch that counts! Peach Trees Need Looking After Now

COLLEGE STATION, August 15 —The peach season is just about over in most sections of the state but there are jobs in the orchard that need attention right now. According to John Hutchison, associate extension horticulturist of Texas A&M College, one of those jobs is checking each tree for San Jose scale.

He says San Jose scale often spreads throughout the orchard during the late summer and fall. The tiny sucking insect is carried from one tree to another by the wind or on the feet of birds or by insects as they move from tree to tree. It soon becomes established and may do serious damage to the trees. It is first seen as a gray ashy surface over the bark of the tree.

If you find San Jose scale in your orchard, Hutchison says you should take steps to bring it under control or at least check its spread until effective control measures can be applied. He recommends the use of a solution made by mixing one pound of dry lime sulphur in three gallons of water. Apply the solution with an old paint brush to the trunk and framework branches of the tree. Do not, he cautions, allow the solution to come in contact with the foliage for it will burn the leaves.

This is only a stop-gap remedy, Hutchison points out. Effective control can be obtained by spraying the trees with a three per cent dormant oil spray during the winter when the trees are dormant.

Don't neglect the summer cultivation job for trees need all the moisture and plant food that is available, particularly during the late summer, says Hutchison. During this period the fruit buds that will be responsible for next year's crop are being differentiated. Plant food is being stored in the tissues of the plant which will keep the trees healthy and help to insure a good fruit crop next year.

Summer cultivation is especially important this year, because many peach trees are still suffering from the effects of delayed foliation. The trees are especially low in vigor and must be given the best possible care if they are to live and set fruit buds for next year's crop. Hutchison says should not be neglected because the fruit season productive life of the well depend upon the and care you give the late summer and
