Jones Faces Trial At Baird Monday

A special venire of 150 men has morning when officers came to school at Clyde, states he saw no mg a reaction to confess to something that he had not done.

Jones says that he was in the Field Artillery from 1942 until 1945, fighting in the Battle of the Bulge, and on the Rhine River in France and Germany. He was until later transferred to the Quarterwith materials and came out a T/5.

Up until that time, they said, he had told them "what amounted to nothing."

Jones seems cool and collected in spite of the charges he is facing His trial will come up Monday in 47nd district court. The state in 47nd district court. The state expects to put some 10 witnesses on the stand, according to Wiley Caffey, district attorney. Caffey said Monday that he will be assisted by Felix Mitchell, Callahan County attorney, in pros-

Callahan County crude has always had a good refining record, however, the new platforming process, for which ground was recently broken at Fort Worth for a huge new plant, the quality is expected to be even further improved.
Platforming is a process that reforms gasoline already produced from crude oil. Initially, this gasoline is obtained through a process of distillation, which is a method to boiling it out of the crude oil.
Generally there is an excess amount of gasoline which is known as straight run, and refiners have found it difficult to find suitable markets for the low octane products. Other reforming processes markets for the low octane pro-ducts. Other reforming processes have been in operation but pre-vious to the discovery of plat-forming no process had been found completely satisfactory.

The heart of the platforming process is a specially developed catalyst containing percentages of platinum. For Premier it will mean

Multiple birth in cattle is re-garded as extremely unusual.

A protracted drouth is beginning to cause concern among farmers and stockmen.

Parmers can't plant winter legumes because the soil is too dry to sprout the seed, which will not keep in the ground like grain. Most farmers have "dusted in" their winter grain crops.

The drouth has baked the soil so hard in many areas that it can hardly be plowed.

Stockmen are fortunate in having no winter feed shortage staring them in the face in event the drouth requires heavy feeding. There has been no winter grass growth yet, but the summer grass
