

"AS I SEE IT"

Good news to the school students here this week will, no doubt, be the announcement made by Supt. Paul Whitton, stating that the date for opening of school has been postponed one day, so that local citizens may observe the Labor Day holiday Monday. He states that everything is in readiness for school opening and that he anticipates a very successful school year. Band rehearsals have been scheduled Thursday and Friday nights of this week and the Buffalo football squad will open their fall training at the football field Monday. Classes will be carried out all day Tuesday and the school lunch room will be in operation, it was stated.

For the second consecutive year, a large majority of the business firms of the city have voted to close for Labor Day next Monday, in order that the owners and employees may have an opportunity to take advantage of the long holiday week end. Many plan to make trips to visit relatives and friends and a large number state that they will go fishing, while others say they will use the week end to rest and try to beat the heat.

While we had little faith in his prediction of rain last week, will have to give our friend, I. N. Riley, operator of the Piggly Wiggly Grocery here, credit for calling his first shot right. In his advertisement in last week's edition of the here Friday afternoon saved him many false prophets hereabouts. However, we are not signing him on as a "Rain Man" yet, because we are not sure that this first successful prediction is not an accident. Let's hear from you again,

Speaking of weather forecasting, our discarded prophet, one known locally as S. F. That, however, is an impossibility, but I am happy to say to you that I am quite sure that we are very near the end of this unhappy condition. Soon we will be having copious rains and crops for '53 in this section will be so far above average that we will all be very happy. We will fill our barns and get our bank balances on the cheerful side of the ledger. "Thank you for your letter and firms of the city here this week showed that a large majority of the businessmen of the city favored closing all day next Monday, September 1, in observance of Labor Day, a national holiday.

City Will Observe Labor Day Holiday

Virtually all businesses with the exception of service stations and restaurants will observe the holiday, in order to allow their employees an opportunity to enjoy the long holiday week end before school starts.

School Supt. Paul Whitton has postponed the opening of school, originally set for Monday, until Tuesday, September 2, in order that citizens with school-age children might have an opportunity to enjoy the week end.

This is the second consecutive year for Labor Day to be observed as a holiday here.

Saturday's Primary Draws Little Interest

A total of 37 voters turned out here last Saturday to cast their ballots in the second Democratic Primary election, for one of the lightest, if not the lightest vote ever to be recorded here.

Lack of interest in the election is attributed to the fact that no run-off races were on the ballot on a precinct and county level and local voters had only one race in which a choice could be made, that being the race between Frank P. Culver of Fort Worth and Spurgeon Bell of Houston for a place on the State Supreme Court. Culver lead in the state and received 32 of the 37 votes cast

In the other races listed on the county ballot, Martin Dies received 36 votes for congressman-at-large and Omar Burkett polled 37 votes for State Representative of the 76th District.

High school registration has school students are urged to days, in order that classes can be started promptly on opening day.

A limited number of underage students will be accepted, Whitton announced last week and parents desiring to enter under-age children will be charged a fee of $20. Only children whose sixth birthdays occur on or before October 31, 1952, will be accepted, he said. Each child under age must bring his or her birth certificate.

A full day's schedule will be carried out, according to Supt. Whitton and the school lunch room will be in operation at noon. Dismissal time will be the same time to be followed through the school term.

Supt. Whitton stated that school lunches would be sold for 20 cents a plate with milk for awhile, at least, until it proved impossible to do. He pointed out that the program has been subsidized seven cents per lunch by the government in the past and that this had been cut to five cents per plate this year. The lunch room is a non-profit set-up and Whitton stated that the price of lunches would not be increased until it was absolutely necessary to do so. Parents are urged to have their children eat at the lunch room and are assured of the fact that the children will receive a well balanced meal everyday. Meat is served three times a week and milk is served with the lunches every-

A very successful school term is anticipated by Supt. Whitton who stated that an excellent faculty has been chosen, grounds are in good shape and buildings have been put in fine condition to lend all angles.

Callahan Included In Heart of Texas Exhibits At State Fair of Texas

An outstanding committee of agricultural leaders from Extension District 8 is cooperating with the State Fair of Texas in working out the colorful "Heart of Texas" exhibit of the fair's 1952 Story Book of Texas Agriculture.

The committee includes R. G. Burwell, co-chairman, Stephenville; Annie L. Lane, co-chairman, Stephenville; Dudley Everett; Stephenville; J. C. Patterson, Wavo; W. D. Seals, Belton; Anita Rungee, Belton; Mrs. Elsie P Short, Stephenville; George Logan, Waco; and Mrs. Vera M. Cargill,

The "Heart of Texas" exhibit honors Bell, Bosque, Brown, Burnet, Callahan, Comanche, Coryell, Eastland, Erath, Falls, Hamilton, Hill, Hood, Lampasas, Limestone, McLennan, Milam, Mills, Somervell and Williamson counties.

In the exhibit, an old-fashioned scarecrow, with his ever-present companion, a "talking" crow, perched on his shoulder, will be discussing the latest new-fangled farm developments. They will be flanked by new home freezers. Illustrative of the methods used by Central Texas farmers to restore their soil by legumes, a diagram will show how nitrogen is put back into the soil. An enlarged color photograph, depicting a typical farm home scene of the area, will form the background.

The "Heart of Texas" area will be honored with a special day at the fair Friday, October 10.

The Story Book of Texas Agriculture includes animated, "show window" type exhibits for all 12 agricultural extension districts of Texas. It is one of the fair's most colorful and interesting exhibits. Dates of the fair are October 4 through 19.

Seventh Inning Stretch . . . Every Body Does It, No One Knows Why

Veterans? Box

Q-I am a World War II veteran, and I just received notice from VA that my GI term insurance policy will expire soon. Must I take some action before that date-either to renew or convert-or will I have a grace period afterwards, to do something about

A-That expiration date is final date, and there is no grace period. If you want to continue your insurance, you must send VA your application for renewal or conversion, along with the proper premium for the new policy.

Q-I am a World War II veteran, and I've just passed my 65th birthday. Am I entitled to a VA pension based on my age alone? I've never been sick, and I'm not disable-but I do need the money.

A-You would not be entitled to a VA pension based on age alone. Pensions are paid to veterans who are permanently and totally disabled for reason not connected with their service, and whose yearly incomes fall below certain levels. However, age is considered in establishing eligibility in relation to employability and the degree of disability.

Q-I recently was discharged from the WAC and would like to take a full-time course in school under the Korean GI Bill. I am married, and my husband has a full-time job. We have no children. Would I be entitled to the $135a-month allowance paid to a veteran with one dependent? A-No. Under the law, a woman veteran would be entitled to the $135-a-month rate only if her husband were "in fact" dependent on

Q-Before I reentered service over a year ago after having served in World War II, I bought a home with a GI loan, which was guaranteed for $7,500, the top amount. Under the Korean GI Bill, will I be entitled to another GI loan, based on my service after Korea?

A-No. Since you have used up all your entitlement under the World War II GI Bill, you will not be eligible for another GI loan under the new law.

How did the seventh inning stretch originate in baseball? It's not of any great consequence and the world will go on without the answer, but for those who deal in 'how it began" it's an intriguing question. Even the baseball powers do not know exactly.

Commissioner Ford Frick's office says the generally accepted origin is that the late President Howard Taft, while attending a big league game, got up to stretch his legs in the seventh inning. Everybody else followed suit.

Dave Grote, manager of the National League service bureau, gives two versions.

Two Versions

1. During a game between Providence and Boston in 1884-on 1886-for some unknown reason, the fans decided to rise and stretch at that particular point of the contest. The newspapers commented on it and it grew to be a habit in Providence and was picked up from there.

2. A newspaper clipping says the seventh inning stretch originated during a game in Pittsburgh (the year not mentioned) when President Taft decided to take a stretch. The clipping says: "Thinking the chief executive was about stood out of respect. Then, when opening. it was discovered that Taft was only stretching, baseball fans took up the idea and since that time after visiting several weeks in it has been customary for the spectators to rise and stretch before the home team goes to bat in the seventh inning." But this clipping said other accounts differed as to the origin of the stretch. That's as close as can be gotten on why you rise and take a stretch in the middle of the seventh inning. But like the Texas Leaguer and other terms and customs in baseball, it just goes on and on without anybody knowing the origin. For that matter, nobody worries about it.

Want To Buy Or Sell Use The Classified Ads | THE BAYOU PHILOSOPHER SAYS DELEGATES AND VOTERS SOMETIMES MAKE WILD PROMISES THEMSELVES

Editor's note: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou still has politics on his mind, his letter this week re-

Dear editar:

It's hard to realisze, but some times national candidates don't display any more political insight into human nature than the county candidates. They can be taken in by promises the same as the voters. Take Senator Taft, now. A pretty smart man, good legal mind, but somebody sure did impose on him. If you recall, his managers wired all the Republican delegates ahead of the convention askin them for their support and they got back enough favorable telegrams to put him over, and Taft pointed to that stack of wires and said it was in the bag, but somebody must have been kiddin somebody, as he lost,

It reminds me of a situation over in another county a few years back. Fellow by the name of Arthur Jones was runnin for re-election as county clerk. He was down in a community in one end of the county one day

Wade's store, since Jake was sort of the king pin in that area. "Why, Arthur, what are you doin campaignin around here?" Jake asked. "It's not necessary. Everybody around here is gonna vote for you anyway. Go on back to the court house and save your money. "Well, thanks Jake," Arthur said, with a pleased look. "I felt that way about it all along, but I'm sure glad to hear you say it," and he put his campaign cards back in his pocket and went on back to

on an electioneerin trip and before he got started he headed for Jake

On election night, Arthur was bowled over when the election returns came in. He lost two to one, and in Jake's community he lost four to one. He was also flabbergasted to learn Jake had been his children than polio-is being opponent's campaign manager in that area, in fact Jake's wife was hampered by lack of personnel to his opponent's first cousin. We learned long ago out here in politics you just don't take nothin six times more dysentery and for granted, but apparently this information ain't trickled up to the national level yet.

Candidates ain't the only people who make wild promises. Some times the delegates and the voters do a little of it too. It's just one of the hard facts of life.

Yours faithfully,

Perhaps the first major victory will be won in the Rio Grande Valley August 31, when cotton stalks in four southern-most Texas counties will be turned underground. This action will help dethe Pink Bollworm. Three weeks later 12 counties farther north will follow suit, as will the remaining 45 counties in subsequent weeks. By October 20, all counties under planting and plow-up controls of the Texas Department of Agriculture will have done their bit to reduce the Pink Bollworm popula-ing the winter, the cotton debris destructive insect.

THE BATTLE FOR COTTON | will rot—and victory will be near-

Due to a comparatively mild and dry winter last year, and to delayed plow-ups brought on by an acute shortage of labor, the Pink Actual counts in four counties than in 1951. Representative sample bushels of gin trash from Cameron County had a count of 15,000 worms per bushel as comyear; Hidalgo had 3,000 as comcompared to 13, and Starr, 6,000

The insect multiplies so rapidly insect wins—then cotton can no as the season progresses that it can wipe out a whole crop of late cotton within two weeks. The importance of late planting and early plow-ups in infested areas cannot be overestimated. But it is not the problem of the South Texas farmer alone. Every Texas farmer should clean his fields and ditches stroy the winter breeding place of as soon as the cotton crop is gathered. For as the breeding grounds are destroyed in the south, there is little to prevent the insect from moving farther north in a serach for winter quarters.

The government of Mexico is combating the Pink Bollworm with similar measures. With the cooperation of every farmer in the infested areas and over the rest The next step will be up to na- of the state, we can look forward ture. With adequate moisture dur- to crops comparatively free of the

COLLEGE

Approved by the State Department of Education and Association of Texas Colleges as a Junior College of First Rating.

Member of the American Association of Junior Colleges, the Texas Association of Colleges, and Southern Association of Junior Colleges.

Courses leading up to JUNIOR STANDING in a four-year college or university:

ENGLISH - MATHEMATICS - SCIENCE - LANGUAGE HISTORY - ECONOMICS - SOCIOLOGY - JOURNALISM SHORTHAND - TYPING - ACCOUNTING - BUSINESS LAW - PHYSICAL EDUCATION - BIBLE - GOVERNMENT SPEECH - MUSIC

Member of Texas Junior College Athletic Conference and National Junior College Athletic Association.

The Junior College offers two years of standard college work under a well-trained faculty.

The classes are small enough for individual training and guidance. The advantages of staying at home and attending college are obvious. The tuition is very low, making the cost to the student negligible. Cisco Junior College offers courses designed to meet the needs of those desiring to extend their general cultural education above the High School level; those who plan to pursue their education to degrees in Senior Colleges; those who plan in their higher education to specialize after two years of pre-professional work, and those who expect at the end of two years in college to enter their chosen field in business, vocation, or profession.
