THE BAYOU PHILOSOPHER SAYS NOT EVERYTHING COMING OUT OF WASHINGTON THESE DAYS IS BAD

Editor's note: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou has a queer idea which he won't get anywhere with, his letter this week reveals.

Everybody cusses Washington these days, it's sort of a national pasttime, a man who has something good to say about the place, he's sort of brought under suspicion at once, about the only platform a lot of candidates feel they need these days is opposition to Washington, but I think the thing has gone too far. There's enough sense to recognize it and follow the lead. For example, I was out here the other day huntin for signs of Fall, I haven't got any objection to Summer but I'm always glad when it's over, it's like a vacation trip, it sounds like a good idea at the start but before it's over it wears pretty thin, and I stumbled on a copy of a newspaper and since I had just about as soon sit down in one place as an-

a lot of good in Washington, if the people just had other I sat down right there and read where a man who owed the government $800,000 in back income taxes had settled for 050,000, another owing $100,000 had settled for $15,000, etc. The government said that was good business as the delinquent tax payers didn't have as much cash as they owed and their earning capacity had diminished and it was better to get something than nothin.

Now that's an example of what I'm talkin about. Why can't private business follow the lead of Washington in this matter? Say I owe the grocery store $60 and am five or six months delinquent about it. Why can't the store get up on the Washington level and settle for $5? I can meet the same terms as them $800,000 tax payers, I don't have as much cash as I owe either and my earnin capacity has diminished too. Instead of sittin around lambastin what's goin on in Washington, business would be better off, my business anyway, if it caught on to these newer methods of handlin ticklish situations. But of course, business has got to know which Washington method to follow and which to ignore. I read the other day where a man who was behind $800 on a $1200 income tax debt was sent to jail for 18 months. I wouldn't be interested in business followin that trend. Hunters Show ast Increase tary of the Texas Game & Fish Commission said the number of hunters and fishermen in the state has more than doubled since World War II.

He made the announcement in a speech before the International Association of Game Commissioners

The Executive Secretary added: "It cannot be said that the wildlife population has improved to meet this demand. So far it has been met by lower bag limits and shorter harvest periods. There is an end to how far such curtailment can go and yet be satisfactory.

"The problem of the ever increasing number of sportsmen who go afield and cause an additional pressure on the wild life resources has as yet no answer. Everyone is encouraged to go hunting and fishing who will. It is the job of the professional conservationists to find ways and means and furnish leadership for maintaining the highest possible harvest so as to accomodate the maximum number of sportsmen."

The Executive Secretary noted that "it would not be well to say that wildlife work in Texas is poorly financed, but never has it been financially strong enough to accomplish more progressive management practices that those closer to the problems would like to see done." He went on to observe that the work of wildlife conservation is as well financed as the people of the state want it to be and will be improved at such time as public sentiment sees the need for it, and this without pleading from the Commission itself."

Girls, Boys Will Compete At '53 Fort Worth Show

be the Junior Livestock Show and Week of Prayer. not the Boys' Livestock Show at guests. Also in the receiving line the 1953 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, January 30-February 8-in other words, girls and boys will take part in the same competition. Previously, the only way a girl's livestock entry could compete was in the open classes, which (as the name implies) are open to the world and therefore the girl's entry was showing against the entries of adult contestants. This has been the situation for many years. However, back in the late 1920's, the entries of girls and boys were in the same department.

The Stock Show directors, in changing the Boys' Show to the Junior Show, feel that is is only fair that a girl who raises an animal under axactly the same conditions that a boy does should be allowed to show the animal in junior competition, said President-Manager W. R. Watt. The change meets with the approval of the officials of the State Extension Ser-

Rheunatic Fever Worst Disabler Of School Children

Rheumatic fever and its complication, rheumatic heart disease, probably disable more school age children than any other cause except accidents, declared Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Rheumatic fever is a well known enemy of children, still physicians do not know exactly what causes it. It usually appears about two weeks after an infection caused by germs of the streptococcus such as tonsillitis, scarlet fever or sore throat. Some children appear more susceptible than others and this trait seems to run in families. Rheumatic fever can occur in any surroundings, but it is most common among children living in poor and crowded homes, and among children who do not get enough of what is called the protective foods such as milk, eggs, meat, butter, fresh fruits, vegetables and the Rheumatic fever actually has no symptoms that are all its own. A few of the group of symptoms the doctor looks for are: persistent fever, poor appetite, tiredness, failure to gain weight, paleness, repeated nosebleed and especially pain and inflammation that moves from joint to joint.

Rheumatic fever is a disease that may affect any part of the body-skin, joints_ blood vessels, heart or brain-but usually it is the heart that is most seriously affected. Unless they are prevented by good management, the acute attacks have a tendency to come back again and again. When this happens, the valves of the heart are usually affected: Sometimes so slightly that the child is not handicapped: sometimes so seriously that the child dies. The present day treatment of rheumatic fever is directed at two things. First, reducing the risk of heart damage from an accute attack by bed rest and appropriate treatment with drugs. Second, doing everything possigle to prevent another attack atfer recovery from the first.
