LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK

BY TED GOULDY

Fort Worth—The swine plague—vesicular exanthema—has struck in Texas! Positive diagnosis of a case of the disease was made at Fort Worth early this week from a "sick pig" discovered in the stockyards last Thursday.

Vesicular Exanthema has been rampant in the Midwest for some months and originated in California, where it has been common for many years. Called "VE" for short, the symptoms are identical with the dread foot-and-mouth disease.

For this reason careful tests were made at Fort Worth and calves, lambs and a horse were inoculated with serum from the feet of the infected hogs to be sure of the diagnosis. On Monday, Dr. C. F. Layton, veterinary inspector for the Bureau of Animal Industry of the USDA, sent word to this writer that the VE diagnosis had been proven.

This poses a very serious problem to hog producers, hog buyers and markets where hogs are handled. Producers certainly are concerned deeply about avoiding a start of the disease in their herds.

Buyers are fearful of tremendous losses if a sick animal is found in their plant. Losses of $5,000 and $10,000 have resulted when VE pigs have been found in packing plants. The loss is caused by the fact that much pork must be destroyed and a thorough cleanup of the facilities and premises must be made.

In fact the virus is believed by many to be spread as much from pork scraps in garbage cans as from contact or otherwise. One hog feeder called this writer at Fort Worth Sunday night and suggested that all dining car garbage should be either cooked or destroyed and not fed to hogs. It was his theory, and shared by many others, that dining car garbage was probably responsible for the rapid cross-country spread of the disease.

The Eastern Meat Packers Ass'n last month passed a resolution demanding that garbage feeding of hogs be stopped by law. It is the considered opinion of a majority of observers in the matter that the trouble does seem to center around feeding operations where raw garbage is fed.

Texas faces a big job. It is fortunate that the disease was discovered early and speaks well for the alert inspectors for the Texas Livestock Sanitary Commission and the Bureau of Animal Industry of the USDA on the Fort Worth Livestock market.

Efforts are being made to trace the origin of all the hogs found to have the disease here.

No hogs or sheep were unloaded at Fort Worth Monday due to the embargo brought about by the finding of some hogs infected with vesicular exanthema on the yards late last week. It is expected that sheep shipments to the market may be resumed late this week.

Cattle and calf trade on Monday at Fort Worth was a slow affair again in view of the heavy rains that appeared around the major marketing circle. The 152,000 cattle and 27,000 calves reported at 12 major markets Monday totaled 12,000 more than a week ago and were 69,000 above the same date a year ago.

Most high quality stockers and high grade killing cattle and calves ruled steady at Fort Worth and the plain and medium sorts were steady to heavier.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings sold for $23 to $31, two loads of 1,129-pound fed steers from Addington, Oklahoma, from Price & Short, topped at $31. Other slaughter steers and yearlings of cutter, common and medium sorts sold from $10 to $22.

Fat cows cashed at $12.50 to $16.50, and among cow shippers were Millard & Scharbauer Eidson, Lea County, New Mexico, with a load of 932-pound cows at $13; Newt Redmon, Swisher County, had 56

Texas Democrats want TEXAS-BORN IKE

"RESOLVED . . . that it is the recommendation of the Convention that every Democrat in Texas vote and work for the election of Dwight D. Eisenhower for President and Richard Nixon for Vice-President . . ."

TEXAS STATE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION
AMARILLO, TEXAS  SEPTEMBER 9, 1952

A MAN OF PRINCIPLE WHO THINKS AS WE DO

You can be a Democrat without being a Trumanite. Your party's state convention in Amarillo on September 9 passed the resolution quoted above. Texans who believe in the time-tried Jeffersonian principles of the Democratic Party are going to vote for Dwight D. Eisenhower on November 4. If you are tired of Trumanism and want to help elect Eisenhower, send in the coupon. Be a Texan—not a Trumanite—vote Ike.

Poor Eyesight Retards Child's School Progress

Poor eyesight can make a child "slow" in school. Uncorrected visual defects can cause a normally bright youngster to dislike school, fall behind in his class and become self-conscious about playing sports and games, says Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

A child will rarely complain about poor vision. It may be blurred, he may see double, yet in three cases out of four, he will not tell anyone because he does not know how well he should see. That is why it is so important for parents and teachers to know the symptoms of eye trouble. An intelligent child may be victimized by poor vision both at school and with his playmates.

Too often a youngsters' eyes are neglected because no one knows that they will need care, Dr. Cox points out. For this reason, visual tests should be continued throughout the child's school career.

Some of the symptoms which may mean that a youngster has eye trouble are:

1. Rubs eyes often—attempts to brush away blur.
2. Becomes irritable when doing close work.
3. Blinks more than usual, stumbles or trips over small objects.
4. Is over-sensitive to light; can't play games requiring distance vision.
5. Red-rimmed, encrusted or swollen eye lids.

When any of these symptoms are present, those responsible for the child's condition should have his eyes examined at once. Early correction will save many days of unpleasantness and possibly blindness.
