

"AS I SEE IT"

By Jack McCarty

With this edition of the paper, the Review is embarking on its 44th year of continuous publication in Cross Plains and while this writer has steered it through only two years of this time, we are proud of the record the paper has made in the past in promoting the various worthwhile causes of this fine community, and we are looking forward to giving our best efforts in guiding the Review through its next 43 years. You think we're kidding, don't you? Well, we would be less than 100 years of age and come from an Irish Clan known for its longevity and it's just possible that we might be here 43 years from today. Our thanks to all who have helped us in any way.

So much for self publicity . . . now for a short snort on the weather subject. It is our opinion that one local citizen hereabouts in the person of H. V. Falkner, should stick to preaching and butchering. He is the latest weather prognosticator to go down swinging. Last month he made the prediction that this country would be soaking wet with all the rivers, creeks and tanks running bank full by the last day of March. All he managed to produce in the last days was a Texas "five-inch" rain . . . by that we mean the shower that fell here early Tuesday morning with drops about five inches apart. As far as this department is concerned, Falkner is just another false prophet and has been placed in the class with some other unmentionables here.

Saturday is election day and all qualified voters are urged to go to the polls at the city hall and ballot in the school trustee elections. While the incumbents on the local board are running without opposition, voters have a choice between two candidates for the place of County Trustee-at-Large. Let's show these men that we are interested in our free public school system by exercising our free American privilege of balloting in a free American election. On Tuesday of next week, city voters will name three aldermen to the city council from a list of seven candidates and a large turnout of voters is expected. All seven candidates for aldermen are fine men with unimpeachable characters and all are thoroughly qualified to render a real service to our city. Let's show them we are interested in our city government by voting for the men of our choice.

Saturday, April 11, will be a big day in Cross Plains . . . this is the date for the district school band meet. Representatives with their directors from 16 schools in this district will be here for the contests, clinic and big concert and the town will be full of gay colored uniforms. Let's roll out the welcome mat and make the visiting musicians feel at home. Mark the date on your calendar and be present at the high school gym for the big free concert that night when approximately 130 students "the cream of the crop" will give out with their very best music.

Are you having trouble with your mother-in-law? If so, here's one way to get rid of her legally:

There was a sad accident one day in the heart of the Ozark Mountains. A farmer's mule kicked his mother-in-law to death. A tremendous crowd turned out for the funeral, but it was made up almost entirely of men. The minister commented, "This old lady must have been mighty popular because so

District High School Band Meet To Be Staged Here On Saturday, April 11 th.

W. D. (Bill) King, director of the Buffalo School Band here, announced this week that plans were virtually complete for staging the District Band Meet here on Saturday, April 11, with 16 bands taking part in the competition.

The meet will be an all-day affair with student musicians attending a band clinic and vying for places in the concert band during the day. In the evening a concert will be given with about 130 pieces taking part. Musicians playing in the concert will be the "cream of the crop" from the 16 schools taking part in the meet. This will be a real treat for music lovers of this area and will be a very colorful affair since each band member will be attired in the uniform of his or her school.

The concert will be given in the school gymnasium and will be free to the public and it is hoped that a large crowd will be present.

School bands already signed up for the meet include: Brady, Breckenridge, Cisco, Coleman, Comanche, Cross Plains, De Leon, Dublin, Eastland, Hamilton, Ranger, Rising Star, San Saba, Santa Anna, Stephenville and Winters.

This is the first time a district band meet has been held here, so make a date now to attend the big concert on Saturday night, April 11!

THE BAYOU PHILOSOPHER SAYS CONGRESSMAN WANTING STRONGER WORDS TO CALL RUSSIA IS DATED

Editor's note: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou may know a little something about what he's talking about this week, as it involves words, and he seems to have plenty of that commodity.

Dear editor:

I was out here the other afternoon watchin' my cattle graze, there's nothin' more satisfyin' than watchin' your own cattle graze on your own land, although I'll admit it was a little more satisfyin' this time last year, about 40 per cent more satisfyin', to be exact, as that's how much the price of the things has dropped, and I stumbled onto a copy of a newspaper which was several days old but readin' an out-of-date newspaper is a lot more interestin' than dozens of things I can think of to do around this place and I took it to the shade and read where a Congressman in Washington was demandin' that a resolution denouncin' Russia for enslavin' people be worded a lot stronger.

Is I understand it, the Congressman wanted to re-write the resolution and put in some words at least four times as strong as the ones under consideration, but I'm afraid he's up against an impossible situation. What would he do with the words after he put em together?

If I tried right hard I could think up some words a lot stronger to call Russia, but you wouldn't print em and I wouldn't blame you. Nobody on the radio could use em, either.

Moreover, I don't believe there are any words, printable or unprintable, which we could get hold of which would have any effect on Russia. Anybody who's figurin' on settin' up a bunch of scientists on a research project to invent stronger words to call Russia, is sure barkin' up the wrong rain spout. In an atomic age, a word bombardment is about as effective as a barrage of arrows against the 12-foot-thick walls of the Kremlin. The pen may be mightier than the sword, but it ain't mightier than a jet bomber loaded with an atom bomb. The man who could fell a thousand with a phrase, ought to see what they're doin' now with jellied gasoline. Congress may be able to solve domestic problems with words and there's no recognizable shortage of ammunition in that department, but oratory is a mighty poor weapon to throw against a tank.

I've heard of people who could annihilate an enemy with a word, but there's just not many of them people left, or else they're just not makin' words as strong these days.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

LOCAL MAN WINS PLACE IN ABILENE AUTO RACE MEET

Your Senator Reports

(Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, writing from Washington, gives a weekly report on happenings in the National Capitol as they affect Texas and Texans.)

I am writing this before it happened, but I was scheduled to have the honor Tuesday of this week of being host at a luncheon for Col. Royal N. Baker of McKinney, who returned recently from Korea after Senator Johnson shooting down more Communist MIGs than any other man in the world. Colonel Baker is a great Texan, a fine example of the men who stand ready to fight for our freedom.

Other guests who accepted invitations to the luncheon included Senator Price Daniel and Texas members of the House of Representatives; our fellow-Texans, Federal Security Administrator Oveta Culp Hobby and Navy Secretary Bob Anderson; Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbot, Air Force Chief of Staff Hoyt Vandenberg, Senator Dick Russell of Georgia, and Senator W. Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Thirty representatives of the Brazos River Electric Co-operative were here last Wednesday for a luncheon with Senator Daniel and me, members of the House from districts in the area served by the Co-op, and REA officials. These men, who have done so much hard work to bring the benefit of electric power to the farms and rural areas of Texas, are concerned about the future of the REA. They were disturbed by the recent forced resignation of Claude E. Wickard, well and favorably known in Texas, as REA Administrator. They fear a crippling of the REA program.

As my friends know, I have fought for the REA ever since I came to Congress, and I told these men I have not changed by mind about the necessity and value of its work.

Attended a luncheon Thursday at the White House that the President gave for French Government officials, here to discuss the Western European Army and other matters. Another Texan, Former Speak-

Best book on baby care I've seen is one published by the Department of Agriculture. I will be glad to send a copy free to anyone writing to my office and requesting it. . . . Secretary of State Dulles said Charles E. Bohlen is the best qualified man to be our Ambassador to Russia, and President Eisenhower said he wanted Mr. Bohlen in that position. All 15 Committee members who heard the testimony voted to confirm his appointment and I approve.

Senator Price Daniel, known for his able leadership in the fight to get back our tidelands, decided last week that the most effective course of action would be to separate the tidelands legislation as such from the question of ownership of the continental shelf. He suggested I do what I could to help bring this about. I talked with Senator Taft, Senate majority leader, and Senator Knowland, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, and they agreed to help get the Holland Bill out of committee. This is the bill that would restore to Texas clear title to the submerged lands out 10 1/2 miles from the shoreline.

We Democrats did a good job in getting Senator Daniel on the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, which is handling this legislation, and he is certainly doing a good job on the Committee.

Ernest Williams of San Angelo, secretary of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, and R. W. Hodge, Del Rio, accompanied by officials of the National Sheepmen's Association, were in my office to discuss problems of the wool growers. I want to help them any way I can, as wool prices are an important matter to Texans.

Lyndon A. Keele, my first namesake, now a fine 25-year-old man living in San Angelo, was a welcome visitor at the office. He was named for me back in 1928 before I entered politics. His father and I went to school together.

Since then, a lot of Texas boys have been named for me. I am proud of every one of them and have the autographed pictures of a number hanging in my office. I feel that they are "my boys" and that I have a strong responsibility to conduct myself in such a way that they will never have cause to wish they hadn't been named for me.

What's This About Alcoholics?

I DRINK IS TOO MAN—
1,000 NOT ENOUGH

BY AN ALCOHOLIC
(No. 1 of a Series)

There is no such person as a happy alcoholic, and there can be no happiness for any person whose life is closely related to an alcoholic. Alcoholism is a problem which is not confined to the alcoholic alone. Ask the family, friends, neighbors, or employers of alcoholics if there is anything happy, normal, minor or simple in their association with them. The answer will be that misery and trouble follow the alcoholic wherever he moves.

There are over 4,000,000 known problem drinkers in this country out of some 65,000,000 users of alcohol. If each victim has only four members in his immediate family, then, at least 16,000,000 more people are affected directly and seriously.

But, this is not all. Each alcoholic causes, at one time or another some injury or loss to fellow employees, employer, friends and even strangers. The figure mounts at every turn. In industry alone, it is known that alcoholism costs in excess of a billion dollars a year.

Normal, temperate people avoid giving much thought to alcoholism unless it is brought home to them sharply by the addition of someone near to them. But when one stops to realize that one in every 16 drinkers is an alcoholic, it would seem wise to have some understanding about this affliction. Prevention must begin with understanding—not only for alcoholism, but for anything else.

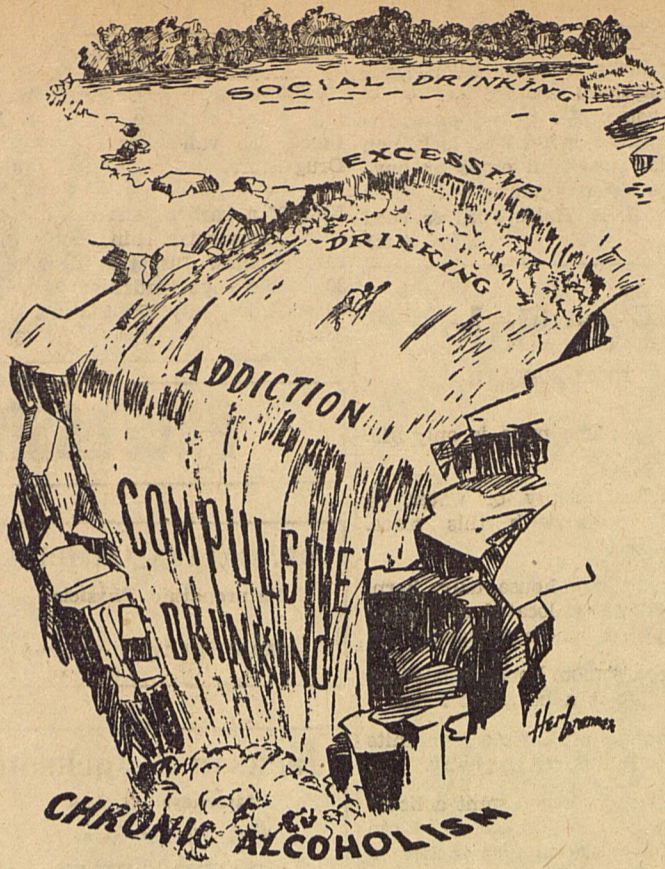

The plea for understanding of alcoholism too often goes begging in vain. Then when the affliction hits home, the blow is staggering, the suffering great. How could it have happened? Why did it have to happen? What can be done? These and many more questions run riot through the minds of the panic-stricken family.

And usually, the family adds fuel to the fire by saying and doing the wrong things, making a bad case worse. Understanding costs nothing and may save much.

The medical profession views alcoholism as an illness. Whatever one wants to label it, however, one thing is certain—the alcoholic is anything but a normal person. He is completely out of step with the world. His troubles (and there are many) are products of inner conflicts.

Not so many years ago, tuberculosis and cancer were hush-hush diseases. Once they were removed from the darkness of secrecy, progress in prevention and treatment was spectacular.

Alcoholics, too, once considered beyond all hope, have been helped back to sobriety, contentment, and usefulness through understanding treatment. Alcoholics Anonymous proved to a doubting world that this affliction requires no more nor less than is needed in treating other illnesses—intelligent attitude, kindness, and proper treatment. Punishment for the alcoholic shuts the door to recovery.

Alcoholism, according to medical opinion, is a condition which develops over a somewhat lengthy period and grows steadily worse in the victim. It is recognized by what is called compulsive drinking. Compulsion is a medical term referring to a form of mental disorder in which a person is driven to do things against his will or judgment.

It has been said that alcohol alone will not make the alcoholic. This seems reasonable, for not every user of alcohol is an alcoholic—only a certain percentage. There must be something else along with alcohol necessary to cause alcoholism if the majority of drinkers do not become alcoholics.

Too many people believe an alcoholic is such only when drinking. Even when not drinking he is suffering from intense inner conflicts which make his life a miserable burden. He cannot adjust himself to people or trying situations. When he can no longer stand the pain of his tensions and anxieties, the explosion takes place and he seeks relief in drinking. The alcoholic has stopped drinking from time to time a thousand times in his wild drinking career, but he must be able to control his inner conflicts through correct thinking, as other normal people do, if he is to stop permanently.

That the alcoholic does not stop drinking in spite of the painful things which happen to him every time he takes a drink should be proof that some disorder or compulsion is driving him to drink.

No mentally healthy person does anything which will cause him to suffer, provided, of course, he is able to know in advance that suffering will result from a particular action. Yet, this is exactly what the alcoholic does. He knows from sad experience what will happen once he takes that first drink—holistic once felt that alcoholism was something which happened to the other fellow only.

In any event, the tell-tale sign of loss of control over alcohol soon makes themselves evident. To spot these symptoms early and do something constructive about the drinking problem is the only way to prevent alcoholism.

BURKETT NEWS

By Mrs. T. C. Strickland

Plans are being completed for the basketball banquet to be held Friday night, April 3. All are planning to have an enjoyable time.

Week end services will be held at some of the Burkett churches leading to Easter Sunday.

Week end visitors in the M. A. Walker home were Mr. and Mrs. Gray and children of Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walker of San Angelo and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wallace and daughter of San Angelo and Lynn Wood of Coleman.

Mrs. E. E. Fielder attended the Y. W. A. house party at Howard Payne College, Brownwood, for District 16, over the week end.

Mrs. Delbert Boyle was called to the bedside of her little granddaughter, Sandra Boyle, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boyle of Bonham. She returned home Friday accompanied by Elaine and Jerry Boyle, who will spend sometime here with their grandparents.

Mrs. C. D. Baker has been on the sick list for several days and has been receiving treatment in the Santa Anna hospital since Sunday.

Drilling has been started on the well located on the Hattie Adams farm south of Burkett. It will be drilled to the Caddo Sand.

A. W. Booth, who has been stationed at Fort Bliss for sometime, is spending this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Booth. He will leave Monday for Seattle, Washington where he will leave for overseas duty.

State Baptists To Hold S. School Convention

Dallas.—An estimated 6,000 Texas Baptists representing 3,400 churches will gather in Dallas April 13-15 for the twenty-fifth annual Sunday School Convention of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. Headquarters will be the Gaston Avenue Baptist Church, Dallas.

A record number of conferences, 28, will give workers with various age groups an opportunity to discuss mutual problems, goals, and activities and hear the advice of experts in their fields. Conference leaders will include many Southern Baptist Convention leaders from Nashville, Tenn.

A highlight of the program, which begins Monday afternoon and closes Wednesday noon, will be a youth rally Monday evening. The rally, according to Andrew Q. Allen, state Sunday School Secretary, will be for Intermediates and Young People with conferences for other age groups meeting at the same time. Charles Wellborn, pastor of Waco's Seventh and James Baptist Church, will address the youth on "You Serve Today and Lead Tomorrow." Dick Baker, music director of the Bircham Avenue Baptist Church, Fort Worth, will lead the singing.

Principal addresses during the three-day meeting will be given by Dr. E. H. Westmoreland, pastor, South Main Baptist Church, Houston; Dr. T. L. Holcomb, secretary, Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville; Dr. Charles McKay, Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville, and Dr. W. Douglas Hudgins, pastor, First Baptist Church, Jackson, Miss.

Dr. Homer L. Grice and Sibley C. Burnett, both with the S. B. C. Sunday School Board at Nashville, will conduct conferences Tuesday and Wednesday morning for workers in Vacation Bible Schools. Last year 3,014 church Bible Schools reported an enrollment of 325,512 pupils to state Sunday School Secretary Allen.

The six thousand workers who will attend the state meeting are a part of more than 890,000 Sunday School pupils enrolled in Texas Baptist Sunday Schools.

Pvt. and Mrs. Charles Dillard left Friday for Fort Eustis, Virginia, where he is stationed, after spending a two weeks leave here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dillard, and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Culwell, in Rising Star. This was Dillard's second visit home since he entered the service in April, 1952.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.—This is about the time when it seems that the Legislature is all bogged down in so many different bills that it will never get anywhere.

But the truth is that the lawmakers are making very good progress and may finish their business in the prescribed 120 days.

What clouds the picture is the variety of subjects before both houses. First and foremost, there's the appropriations bill. Then there are the subjects of four-year terms for county and district officials, water conservation, stream pollution preferential primaries, modernization of colleges, and so on at great length.

Let's not forget taxes. It seems that economy forces are in control of both houses, and that they will keep the appropriations bill down to the amount of revenue the state can expect to receive during the next two years.

The House and Senate differ on the amount that should be appropriated. The House said $160 million, while the Senate put the figure at $166 million.

The bill approved by the senate would include pay raises for state employees and college teachers.

When House and Senate failed to agree, the appropriations bill went to a conference committee, composed of economy-minded members representing both houses.

Hope for a quick stack of blue chips faded when three pipeline companies appealed to the State Supreme Court their case against the gathering tax on natural gas.

The tax was passed by the last legislature and has been in the courts ever since. The Third Court of Civil Appeals ruled last month that the tax is valid.

If the supreme court rules against the pipeline companies, it is expected that they will carry the case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Governor Allan Shivers and others had urged the companies to drop the suit and thereby permit the state to use the tax money already paid under protest, as well as the million dollars plus that is being collected monthly.

If the pipeline tax should be declared invalid, the Legislature will doubtless pass another one, inasmuch as it has already demonstrated its intention of levying this kind of tax.

Meanwhile, a "committee for a fair pipeline tax" has been organized with County Judge Jim Sewell of Corsicana as chairman. Sewell said here that the members of his committee object to any shifting of the tax burden to the local communities.

Money is needed for many state purposes. For example, state employees are leaving their jobs because of low pay.

Ninety-seven engineers have left the highway department during the last two years. At Austin State Hospital, 477 of 528 new employees hired last year have resigned.

W. P. Watts, executive director of the Texas Public Employees Association, gave these and other figures to show that higher pay is needed to keep state workers on their jobs.

Requirements for highways, teachers, and water conservation have been frequently emphasized. It was hoped that the natural gas tax would stop the gap, or help to.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill providing for a presidential preferential primary in Texas.

The bill requires party delegates to cast their first ballot at the convention for the presidential and vice presidential candidates according to the choices expressed by the voters. On all ballots, the delegates would be bound to vote as a unit.

Senator Jimmy Phillips, author of the bill, said it is aimed at the elimination of boss rule and rump political conventions.

Senator Dorsey Hardeman opposed the bill, saying it would not achieve its purpose, but would only create confusion. He urged the senate to wait and see what Congress might do about preferential primaries.

Both houses shoved along toward passage a bill that would give four-year terms to county and district officials, and the house added an amendment that would include state representatives.

Opponents said that only those officials who would benefit from the change are for it, and legislators are being browbeaten by county officials to favor it.

Backers of the bill said that county and district officials ordinarily serve two two-year terms anyway, and elections every two years cost money and interfere with the officials' work.

Recommended to the Legislature is a two-year study of state colleges.

The study, to cost $200,000, was urged by a committee of college officials, to whom an inquiry had been addressed by the Legislature on recommendation of Governor Shivers.

Dr. J. C. Matthews, president of North Texas State College, replied for the committee. Suggested was a 41-member commission, which would complete the study in time to prepare a bill for the Legislature which convenes in 1955.

Along with this report, Dr. Matthews sent a bill which would appropriate the $200,000 and freeze the curricula at all state colleges.

The study would bring out ways of avoiding duplication of courses at the various colleges. Also given would be an evaluation of the number and location of present colleges and a plan for future expansion.

Austin engineers asked the Legislature to pass a law curbing stream pollution.

Unless that is done, the engineers said, expansion of industry will have to stop in some sections of the state, or a system of re-use of water must be installed.

The engineers gave as an example of their meaning the fact that Dallas badly needs the 25 million gallons of water that flows daily through the West Fork of the Trinity River, but the water is so polluted that it is useless unless it is purified.

Legislators took time out to give an official welcome to Colonel Royal N. Baker, jet ace from McKinney, who came home from Korea after knocking 12 MIGs out of the sky.

"So long as there are Americans, the world will remain free," the colonel said in his talk at the capitol. The governor and the members of both houses stood and cheered.

SHORT SNORTS: An attendant at the Confederate Home was charged with aggravated assault for slapping a 75-year-old invalid. Two other former employees of the home face similar charges. . . . A Senate committee approved a bill which would deny unemployment benefits to Texas workers off the job because of work stoppage caused by out-of-state labor disputes. . . . Charles H. Tennyson, executive secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association, and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson are new article contributors to the state's press. Governor Shivers' series, begun some time ago, is still going strong. . . . The House passed and sent to the Senate a constitutional amendment to extend homestead exemptions to single persons.

Congenial farmers who like to work together may also find it profitable to buy their heavy equipment together. Large investments are shared by several farmers and the cost to each is not great. Financial arrangements can often be made with several farmers to buy their harvesting equipment. Bring in your friends and let's talk it over.

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

The questionnaire which I yearly submit to the people of my Congressional District is now going out. Each year since I have been in Congress, I have sought the opinions of those whom I represent in order that I may reflect as best I can their wishes and desires.

This year I am submitting eleven questions on which the Congress may take action during this Session. Of course, there are many more issues which could be listed, and those who receive them are certainly not limited to these eleven.

The questions submitted are those which can more nearly be answered with a yes or a no, although qualifying comments are requested, if the voter feels it to be required to express his views.

It should be remembered that a Bill, in the complicated process of being considered in the Congress, can be amended in many ways before its final passage. In some cases, a Bill can be changed beyond recognition between its start and its finish. This is the reason why it is many times difficult to say whether you are for or against a measure when it is introduced, but we can express ourselves on its intents and purposes.

There are several reasons for my submitting the questionnaire. First, I like to have the thinking of the people whom I represent. Second, it makes us aware and acquaints us with some of the more prominent problems to be faced by the Congress. Third, it provokes thought in matters of Government, and I hope creates a greater interest on the part of everyone. It is every citizen's responsibility to be interested in the affairs of his Government, and this is one way to give everyone a more direct voice in what is done.

It is my hope that everyone receiving my questionnaires will fill it out and return it to me. As they are received, I will study each one personally and have the results tabulated. The results will be given to this newspaper. Let me assure everyone that your views will be valued and respected in the discharge of my responsibility in the Congress of the United States.

It is impossible to place the questionnaires in the hands of each individual, and I am bound to miss someone. It is not intentional, and for those who do not receive one, I shall ask this newspaper to retain several copies for the use of those who may wish to call for one.

In the same discussion, we were reminded of the old boy who said that if Patrick Henry got so riled up about "taxation without representation," how would he have felt about the taxation we have "with representation."

It is the present plan for Congress to recess for 10 days beginning on the third of April. If I find that I can spend as much as two weeks visiting in my District during this period, without missing important legislation, it is my intent to do so.
