

Rains Measure 1.75 Here

Rain, which started here about 9:30 Thursday night and continued to fall intermittently through the week end, ending with a hard down-pour Sunday evening, were gauged at 1.75 inches by S. F. (Fos) Bond, on the U. S. Weather Bureau gauge.

The fine rains were greatly appreciated by grain farmers and ranchers, but local cotton and peanut farmers were in hopes that they could have about two more weeks of dry weather so that harvest operations could be completed.

Early birds in this area report that frost covered the countryside hereabouts on Tuesday morning, however it was so wet that little or no damage was done to growing crops and grasses.

Farmers report that they are being severely hampered in their harvest operations because of the heavy dews falling nightly. They state that the day is almost gone before peanuts are dry enough to thresh.

Buffs Lose To Cisco 38-0

The Cross Plains Buffaloes floundered on a soggy field in Cisco last Friday night and lost the non-conference encounter to the flashy Cisco Lobos by a lop-sided score of 38-0.

Partially responsible for the one-sided affair was the fact that the Buffaloes mainstay, Kenneth Beeler, suffered a very painful shoulder injury in the opening minutes of the game and was hospitalized while doctors examined him to determine the extent of the injury.

While it is conceded that the Buffs would have lost anyway, it is also agreed that had Beeler been in action during the whole game, the Lobos would have seen a tougher foe facing them.

Tommy Reynolds, Lobo, quarterback, was the big offensive gun in the game, scoring three touchdowns and passing for another.

Play DeLeon Friday

The Buffaloes will journey to DeLeon next Friday night for a conference game with the strong DeLeon squad and while they will be playing without the services of Beeler, fans can expect to see a good game. The band will accompany the squad to the game and it is hoped that a large crowd of fans will journey to the host city to cheer for the Buffs.

City Farmers Raises 20 Pounds of Yams in Hill

Jay Gould, well-known citizen of this community, who takes pride in his gardening activities, was in the Review office on Monday of this week displaying a sack of sweet potatoes which he stated weighed 20 pounds and were dug from one hill in his backyard garden.

Jay stated that he was experimenting when he planted the yam hill. Instead of planting the potato slip as he has in the past, he dug a hole two feet deep with a post hole digger and filled the hole half full of barnyard manure and after mixing this with some top soil he dropped in a whole yam and covered it.

He said that he had about given up hope on the experiment, thinking that the potato had rotted in the hill before sprouting, but that it finally came up and grew rapidly and while he did not weigh it, he believes the vine would have weighed 50 pounds.

After digging the yams he took them to S. F. Bond's grocery to weigh them before witnesses. Ordinarily we would not have doubted his word about the crop as we believe him to be an honest man, but the fact that he sought out Fos Bond for his witness makes us just a bit hesitant to vouch for him on this project. However, after giving the matter a great deal of thought, we have decided that Jay just did not think about what he was doing, thereby making an honest mistake, so we are going to back him in his claim and only ask that he be more careful in securing witnesses for any large claims he has to make in the future.

Bayou Philosopher Wants Man To Develop Chemical to Make Weeds Taste Good to Cows

Editor's note: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou has a passably good idea this week, but we don't look for anything to come of it.

Dear editor:

I know that scientists are pretty busy these days, one set workin on makin the hydrogen bomb more deadly, another set workin on makin it less; others workin on higher octane gasoline to make cars run faster, others workin on ways of slowin motorists down; one group workin on better bomb-proof shelters, another on guided missiles that'll penetrate the same shelters; but I was wonderin why some scientists don't spend a little more time workin on a problem I have in mind.

I have about given up hopes of the experts workin out a breed of cattle that can thrive on weeds and thistles, but I have not given up the weeds and thistles.

It doesn't seem to make any difference how dry it gets, weeds and thistles keep right on growin. They seem to have a secret of bein at home on this earth, regardless of the weather, and I would like to see some scientist get to work on them.

What I want that scientist to do is figure out a chemical you can spray on weeds and thistles to make them taste good to a cow.

I was talkin to a cattelman the other day and he said he at least had the satisfaction of knowin his cows were paid for, but another one ruined his day by pointin out a paid-for cow can be a liability the same as a mortgaged one, on account of they won't last more than a few days without something to eat. With a cow worth 6 cents a pound, and hay I cent a pound, anybody can figure how small a haystack she has to eat before she's eaten her worth in feed, and two days after she finishes she'll still be as hungry as she was when she started.

So instead of scientists workin on a chemical you can spray on weeds to kill em, I'd like to have one you can spray on, on the same principle of salad dressin on lettuce, and the cows will go for em.

I don't know what the nutrition count on a weed is, but it gets the same sunshine and grows out of the same earth cultivated plants do and I notice cattle will eat em when they're young and tender. Seems to me there ought to be a chemical maybe left over as a by-product from an atom bomb or a nylon dress which scientists could use to spray on weeds and make them come out as desirable as a green salad. People are always talkin about findin new grasses, but I'd rather figure out a way to use the stuff we already got.

I just noticed one of my cows finishin off 15 cents worth of hay.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

Two Burkett Men Kill Grown Alligator In Pecan Bayou North Of Burkett Thursday

A full grown alligator, measuring six feet long, caused no small amount of excitement in our neighboring town of Burkett last Thursday.

The two Burkett men who bagged him, C. C. Burns and Bill Strickland, didn't know how he got into a Pecan Bayou pond, a mile north of Burkett, but they pulled him out of there early Thursday morning after shooting him with a 30-30 rifle.

The two men saw him, thought it was an alligator they saw, about a month ago while hunting coons one night on Burns' place. They saw him again a time or two in a pond on the Bayou in which he apparently was making his home.

Last week they set out to catch him, baiting giant hooks with liver for several days. The wily amphibian failed to bite, and they decided to shoot him. After several attempts to locate him out of the water, Strickland spotted him Thursday morning with just his snout poking up on the edge of the pond. A single shot from the rifle killed him.

The fair-sized alligator, that measured six feet and two inches and weighed about 65 pounds, must have been in the water for some time, the men speculated, but how he got there is as much a mystery to them, they said, as it was to dozens of onlookers who grouped around the animal when he was displayed.

Some of the onlookers recalled stories of alligators in the county, one of having them reported in Lake Scarborough, north of Coleman. But the Burkett trophy was the first one anyone recalled seeing killed or captured.

A second mystery is how the medium-sized alligator survived severe cold weather of several years back. Burns and Strickland estimated that the alligator was five or six years old.

Rev. J. W. Chaman, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, announced early this week that the Women's Missionary Unions of the Callahan County Baptist Association will meet at the local church today (Thursday).

This quarterly meeting will be an all-day affair with a full program scheduled to be carried out. A covered dish luncheon will be enjoyed by the ladies in the basement of the church at noon, it was said.

All ladies are urged to be present for this meeting, pastor Chapman stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Elliott and sons of Abilene visited Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Smith, Sunday.

J. N. Laughlin returned to Cross Plains Friday night of last week after spending a week in Missouri attending to business matters.

HEALTH NOTES

Austin—Note to hunters: Deer season opens November 16.

That gives you eighteen days to resolve to take it easy this year with the 30-30 or the shotgun. Look before you shoot, and shoot where you look.

Sate Health Officer Geo. W. Cox checked statistical tables today and announced that shooting accidents had claimed the lives of 187 people last year. That's more death than was dealt out by typhoid, scarlet fever, smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, measles, typhus, malaria, pellagra, and encephalitis combined for the same period of time.

"It's getting so that hunting seasons are almost as hard on the hunters as they are on the game," the health official commented.

How many of those 187 deaths occurred during the hunting season he didn't say. But with thousands of nimrods taking to pastures for deer and turkey, it's safe to bet the number was needlessly high.

So why not agree with yourself or other members of your hunting party that this year you will:

Never carry a loaded gun in your car.

Never lay a gun aside unless you personally unload it.

Never carry your gun with the safety catch off.

Never let your finger rest on the trigger, or even inside the trigger guard until you take aim at the target.

Never point the gun at anything you don't intend to shoot.

Never mix fire water with fire-power.

Never drag a gun through a fence. Put it over before you climb through.

Never shoot a gun without first checking to see if the bore is clear of obstructions.

Remember, too, that guns can become toys of death for inquisitive youngsters. Unload yours before you get home.

The strong arm of the law visited our little city last Saturday evening with several shining fire arms. They were in search of two negroes who had allegedly hijacked the vegetable stand east of Pioneer about four miles. As yet no arrests have been made.

Mrs. Eula Fore returned home from Dallas recently where she had been with her brother, John Hart, who underwent an operation. He will remain in Dallas and will undergo another major operation as soon as he is able.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Shoemaker on last Sunday were Rev. Quint Farley and family.

The weatherman turned on the rain again this week and we received about two and a half inches.

Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Marshall visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cade in the Burkett community one day last week.

Our village groceryman, Lonnie Gray, is having a closing out sale of his stock. He says he will get him a white trailer with a shoulder strap and take to the cotton patch. Really, he has not quoted himself as to the vocation he will enter after he has disposed of the present business.

Mrs. C. B. Hester and Bonnie spent the week end in Odessa visiting with Bonnie's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Tonne and children of San Angelo are spending a few days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Gray, this week.

Mrs. Junior Key of Odessa and Mrs. Lester King of Cross Plains are spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Shirley. Mr. King is on a hunting trip in the mountains of Colorado. He brought in a big fat bear last year, but this year he hopes to bring home an elk. We are all thinking that he will find it rather cold in that part of the north region as the snow has begun to fall, but we hope for him the best of luck.

We are aware of the fact that Berry Bell was awarded a new hat several years, but we have an award for keeping the old one in use for of a hat for a different cause. One Joe Bryson of our community has gotten a replacement of his old flop hat provided he would keep his policy in force. He paid and he was wearing a new hat with a grin from ear to ear and said the lady paid off

BIBLE
Question

QUESTION: Where did the Bible come from?

ANSWER: The Bible, being the word of God, came from God. However He did not write it out in English and hand it down to us as we have it today. For many years after the creation of the world there was no Bible at all. During this period which lasted about 2500 years God spoke directly to man. Then about 1500 years before the birth of Christ God gave the ten commandments on old Mt. Sinai. That was the first written law ever given by God. Soon after this Moses completed the first five books in the Old Testament and during the next 1000 years various of the books of the Old Testament were written from time to time as occasion demanded. As these books were written and recognized as inspired of God they were collected into the recognized canon of the Bible.

With the coming of the Christ the Old Testament, as a binding law, was done away. For a short time following the ascension of Christ the will of Christ was taught orally by the Apostles, but as time went on various books of the New Testament were written. These were gradually gathered into one volume and with the end of the Apostolic age, the age in which the people had the living Apostles who were guided by the Holy Spirit so as to guide the church, they were complete and had by that time been gathered into one volume. At a very early age various translations were made out of the original Greek in which the Bible was written into several of the common languages of the people of that time. Many of these are still extant. Down through the years the Bible was copied by very careful scribes, but with the coming of printing its circulation was greatly increased.

Washington

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington—A standing joke in Washington when the head of some foreign government visits here is to remark, "Wonder how much this will cost us?" In other words, when the President, the Prime Minister, or a King visits us, we usually wonder how much money they are asking for their governments.

The "gag" of how much it will cost us for the visit is usually not too far from the truth. However, there are exceptions, and one of them is the present visit of the King and Queen of Greece.

It is true that many American dollars went into Greece to assist that Government in combating the Communists soon after the close of the last war. Not only was there a civil war taking place in Greece, but they were actually invaded from the North by Albanian and Bulgarian Communists. The Greeks did a marvelous job in ridding their country of Communists within their own ranks, as well as repelling the invasion from the North. They did so with American arms, and under the direction of American military officers. Turkey, likewise, rebuilt itself to a point of considerable strength, with assistance from the United States.

We might ask ourselves, "Why be so concerned about these countries lying between the European and Asiatic worlds?" For centuries, Turkey and Greece have been buffer states between the great Middle East and Eastern Europe. The Middle East and Africa have valuable stores of natural resources, as well as teeming millions of people. The only thing between Russia and the vast oil supplies in Iran, Iraq, and Saudi-Arabia is Turkey and Greece. These countries have proved their opposition to the Communists and are friends of this country.

The King and Queen of Greece are just like you and me. They both speak English and are as easy to talk with as any individual you might meet in this country. They want the same freedom and liberties which we want in this country, and are great admirers of the United States.

King Paul and Queen Frederika are now in Washington on an official visit. I have had occasion to meet them and the opportunity of talking with them briefly on two occasions. It is surprising how much they know about the United States. They are friendly, and although they are a king and queen, they apparently can be as common as an old shoe. They are interested in Texas, and Texas being a favorite subject of mine, they heard considerable about it.

The drought situation is common to many parts of the country. Here in Washington, and in the East generally, it is very dry. One of the biggest problems is fire. Thousands of acres of dry timber have been destroyed in Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia in the last several weeks. Warnings are constantly given the public against carelessness, but somehow fires start and spread rapidly in the dry vegetation.

This time of the year is always very beautiful with the autumn leaves of many colors, but this year it is less so because of the dry

Methodist Churches To Hold District Conference

The annual meeting of the Cisco District Conference of the Methodist Church will be held in First Methodist Church of Cisco Wednesday evening, November 4, and all day Thursday, November 5, according to an announcement from the district superintendent, Rev. Leslie W. Seymour.

The program will begin with a men's banquet at 6:30 on Wednesday evening with the Rev. J. Daniel Barron of Wichita Falls as the speaker. Following the banquet there will be a service of worship in the sanctuary featuring a massed choir in a thirty minute period of hymn singing and then a sermon by Dr. Mm. C. Finch, president of Southwestern University at Georgetown.

The business session of the conference will begin at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. At 11 o'clock Dr. E. F. Bohmfalk, Fort Worth district superintendent, will preach.

There will be a meeting of the women of the district at 1:30, in charge of the district president of the W. S. C. S., Mrs. Vernon DeFebach, of Ranger.

Two young men, Dan and Don Jobe of Scranton, twin brothers, have applied for license to preach and it is expected that the district conference will grant the license.

Matters of business will include reports from the pastors as well as from the various committees and boards. Plans will be announced for the campaign to secure $100,000.00 for Texas Wesleyan College at Fort Worth and Southwestern University at Georgetown, both schools within the bounds of the Central Texas Conference.

Mrs. T. Y. Woody and Mrs. Doyle Cowan and children were in San Antonio Thursday to see Mrs. Pete Barbar, who had suffered a heart attack. Mrs. Barbar and children returned home with them for a visit and she is feeling much better and hopes to be able to return to her home in Houston in a few days. Mrs. Barbar will be remembered as the former Marie Woody.

It was highly interesting to attend a conference with Secretary of State Dulles in connection with his talks with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Bidault of France regarding top-level conferences with Russia. Also included in the discussion was the dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia over Trieste, and the big question of doing something about Japan, in order that she may eventually be able to defend herself.

M-Sgt. Grady W. Ramey Keeps Aircraft Flying In Far East Operations

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thompson of this city have received the following clipping from the Grady W. Ramey family, who are living in Japan while M-Sgt. Ramey is stationed there.

The story follows:

FEAMCON AIR STATION—The Specialized Shops Branch of the 6400th Aircraft Repair Squadron located here on Feamcon Air Base has perhaps one of the most unique missions of the Far East Air Logistic Forces. The branch, which is only one of the three branches which compose the Aircraft Repair Section, has ten sub-units which play a vital role in the Logistic support of the 6400th Air Depot Wing. The Aircraft Storage Unit, the Engine Build-up Unit, the Line Electrical Unit, the Line Hydraulic Unit, the Reclamation Unit, the Wash Rack Unit, and the Fighter Wing Build Up, all function as a smooth maintenance team to provide field and depot maintenance to all aircraft under FEAF priority control, as well as reclamation services for aircraft, engines and associated equipment; storage services, and engine preservation services in support of the depot supply activity and various technical order compliances relative to aircraft maintenance.

The Branch, supervised by Captain Vernon B. Rich, Gary, Ind., and Master Sergeant Grady W. Ramey, Cross Plains, Texas, is adding greatly to the mission of the Air Logistic Force.

Motorists Urged To Have Autos Inspected

Automobile Safety inspection stations in this area are going to be jammed unless motorists begin having their vehicles inspected within the next few weeks.

This warning was issued this week in Austin by G. C. Morris, executive director of the Highway Safety Council. He said a cross-section survey of inspection stations, including those in this area, indicated only four cars of every hundred had been inspected.

The inspection period, under the new law, began Sept. 15 and will end April 15.

There are more than 3,000,000 vehicles to be inspected, and during the first 30 days of the seven-month period only a fraction of that number, roughly 125,000, were checked, Morris said. The proportion of cars inspected in this area is about the same as state wide, he said.

"There is almost certain to be a last-minute rush unless there is a speed-up in inspections," he said, urging motorists in this section to avoid the rush by having their cars examined now.

Morris said there was also the safety precaution to be considered. "Most cars have not been inspected in more than a year and may have developed some mechanical defect," he said.

"You may be gambling with your life if you are operating a mechanically unsound vehicle. Accident figures show that one traffic death in every ten in Texas is caused by faulty mechanism."

The new law, Morris said, calls for the inspection of brakes, lighting equipment, horns, rear view mirror and windshield wipers.

He urged motorists, however, to request that steering parts be also included in this inspection.

Fort Worth—The belief that the seasonal peak of cattle movement had passed was further enhanced by the lighter runs of cattle and calves around the major marketing circle Monday.

This factor, coupled with rains over much of the Southwest, was enough to spring a stirring rally in prices that wreathed the faces of cowmen with smiles all over the Stockyards here.

While the advance was uneven and some sales showed more climb than others, the general picture was one of climbing prices. Sales 50 cents to $1 per hundred above last week's close were the rule.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings sold from $17 to $22, and common and medium sorts sold from $10 to $16, some shelly kinds below $10. Fat cows drew $9.50 to $12, and canners and cutters sold from $6 to $9.50. Bulls sold from $7 to $13.

Good and choice fat calves sold from $13 to $17, with some outstanding fancy heavies of around 600 pounds to $18 to $20. Common and medium slaughter calves drew $9 to $13, with culls at $7 to $8.

Good and choice stocker calves sold mostly from $14 to $18, with a few lightweights to $20. Stocker cows drew $7 to $12.50. Stocker and feeder steers and yearlings sold from $10 to $16.

Good and choice butcher hogs sold at $22 to $22.25 on weights of 190 to 240 pounds and other good hogs sold from $20 to $21.75. Some sows cashed at $19 to $21.

Good and choice slaughter lambs cashed at $15.50 to $17, and good shorn lambs sold at $16.50 down. Stocker and feeder lambs cashed at $10 to $13. Medium and lower grade lambs cashed at $8 to $15.

Old ewes sold from $5 to $6.75, some solid-mouth ewes to $6.50. Yearling muttons sold from $10 to $14, old wethers drew $6 to $8. Old bucks sold at $2 to $2.50.

While stockmen in general are jubilant over the rains and the improved market, we'll bet that none of them breathe a bigger sigh of relief than Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Some observers feel that Benson will either have to back down from his previous opposition to high supports or resign in short order. Some Washington observers feel like his tenure of office has only a matter of weeks to run.

However, personal friends say that Benson is not the type to become dismayed and quit under fire. Certainly right now he is getting the test of a lifetime.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM your State CAPITOL

Austin—Thirty of the conservative Democratic leaders held a private meeting here and laid plans to retain control of the party in Texas through the precinct, county, and state conventions next year.

Among those present were Wallace Savage of Dallas, state democratic committee chairman; George Sandlin of Austin, secretary; and Claud Gilmer of Rocksprings, chairman of the Texas Democrats for Eisenhower campaign in 1952.

This session came three months after organizers had begun their work, looking to next year's struggle with the liberal Democrats.

Governor Shivers was present, but according to reports coming out of the meeting, he gave no indication as to whether he would be a political candidate, and if so, in which race.

— t p a —
Texas Young Democrats have become a new focal point in the old political feud.

Dormant since 1947, the organization is being built up again, says Boyd Taylor, a University of Texas student.

Taylor reports that according to the rules, state organizations must get a new permit every two years from the National Young Demos and pay a $100 fee.

This requirement has been carried out by his group, Taylor says. As evidence, he shows a telegram from John F. McCarthy of Bridgeport, Conn., treasurer of the national organization.

Taylor's associates are the Adlai Stevenson type of Democrats, as opposed to the Shivers type.

Several young Texans met with Stephen Mitchell, chairman of the National Democratic Executive Committee, when he was here last July, says Taylor, at that time Mitchell suggested that the young Texans get a charter.

Now let's get to the other side of the argument.

George Sandlin of Austin, secretary of the Texas Democratic Executive committee, says he never officially heard of Boyd Taylor.

According to Sandlin, Taylor's group failed to follow the prescribed procedure, which is to be certified by the state democratic chairman, the national committeeman and committeewoman.

"None of these had certified Taylor's group," Sandlin said.

As far as the State Democratic Executive committee is concerned, the present head of the Texas Young Demos is Max Triplett of Hillsboro, who occupied that position in 1947, and for whom no successor has officially been chosen.

— t p a —
So—here we go again, the so-called liberal democrats versus the so-called conservative Democrats.

Boyd Taylor and his Young Demos, on the liberal side, plan a state convention in San Antonio Friday and Saturday (October 30-31).

Among the speakers will be Ralph Yarborough of Austin, who lost to Shivers in the race for governor last year; and Byron Skelton of Temple, who has opposed Shivers' party leadership.

— t p a —
Texas Republicans, meanwhile,

were carrying forward their own election plans for 1954.

But Senator Price Daniel, in a speech at San Antonio, said he does not think they have much chance.

"Texas is a Democratic state," the senator said. "I don't think the Republicans are going to win any (statewide) offices next year."

Eisenhower's victory in Texas in 1952 was not a Republican triumph, but a personal victory for Ike, in Daniel's view.

— t p a —
There will be no special session of the legislature on drought relief at this time, the governor has announced.

In an official memorandum, Attorney General John Ben Shepperd ruled that the governor can use his $200,000 deficiency appropriation to finance a state-federal hay program.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, in Shepperd's opinion, is empowered to administer the program for Texas.

The governor's deficiency appropriation is the Legislature's authority to the chief executive to spend that may be unforeseen while money for any necessary purpose routine appropriations of state moneys are being made.

With $200,000, the governor estimates, the drought relief program can be carried along for a couple of months. After that time, the situation can be re-studied.

— t p a —
Texas oil production was reduced again, for the third straight month, by the Railroad Commission. November's quota is 2,803,528 barrels daily, 360,374 barrels less than the figure for July, when the downward trend began.

From the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association came cries of protest at the drop in production.

Association spokesman protested that the reduction in Texas oil production comes about by virtue of the importation of foreign oil.

"We have merely forfeited more of our domestic market to foreign oil," said M. D. Bryant of San Angelo, president of the association.

Imports of foreign oil amounted to 869,125 barrels daily in September, according to reports received by the Railroad Commission.
