The Last Honor Of The Year

By CAROL ATCHLEY

Before another school year is officially complete, the high school students at Cross Plains have to make one more decision. Choosing from the members of the Senior Class, the entire high school student body must decide which two Senior students best represent Cross Plains for the honored title of Mr. and Miss C.P.H.S.

The election was held on Wednesday, May 20, and the two winners were recognized and received certificates during the graduation exercises on Friday, May 22.

Selected this year as Mr. and Miss C.P.H.S. were Justin Whitsitt and Courtney Kirkham.

Courtney is the daughter of Cliff and Connie Kirkham of Cross Plains. After 4 years of being very active in a variety of activities in high school, including FFA, FHA, athletics, band, One-Act Play, cheerleading, and being selected Homecoming Queen, Band Sweetheart, etc., Courtney plans to attend McMurry University in the fall.

SIGNING WITH HOWARD PAYNE UNIVERSITY — Thomas Bomar (sitting) signs as an athletic

Thomas Bomar Commits His Next 4 Years

By CAROL ATCHLEY

For the third time this year, a graduating student from Cross Plains has signed a commitment to a university through the athletic program. On Tuesday, May 19, Thomas Bomar, son of Robert and Lauretta Bomar of Cross Plains, signed an agreement with Howard Payne University in Brownwood to attend their school and work in the athletic department as a trainer.

Thomas is well qualified for the opportunity, in that he has been involved in athletics since junior high and has been helping the coaches at Cross Plains for years. He was always ready to lend a hand and would do whatever was asked of him.

The school celebrated the occasion by having a "signing party" in the high school library after school. Along with Thomas' parents, brother and sisters, many of Thomas' teachers, fellow athletes, classmates, and other friends attended and enjoyed the celebration, visiting and refreshments.

Thomas has been active in a number of activities while at Cross Plains, ranging from FFA, FHA, Football, Track, Basketball, Weight Lifting, and in his Senior year he received Honorable Mention All-District Guard. Thomas plans to take advantage of this opportunity at Howard Payne and work towards a degree in Physical Education. Congratulations, Thomas!!!

MINUTE MUSINGS

By ESTHLOY S. DICKSON

This Monday morning is windy, cool, and typically spring weather. I'm glad to see the sunshine. It is still very wet out there, but we don't knock the rains, do we? My 'weeds' are thriving, and really need mowing. My pasture (east of the house) is a solid mass of blossoms — wild flowers or 'blooming' weeds — take your choice. I've plucked some blossoms out of my front yard.

I talked to my one son one day — maybe it was Saturday. That is about the busiest family I know. Karen is working on a Master's Degree. Lisa Dawn went with a group from Harding University (Arkansas) to Colorado. He told me a lot of news, but I don't have it all written down. He and Karen are planning to celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary soon.

I talked to Sally Roady at the church on Sunday. She recently fell and injured a hip. She has been handicapped in many ways. However, she was her sweet, cheerful self this morning. They talked with their son, George, on the telephone one day. Cindy, Jim, and Charlie called in from Missouri one day. N.A. and Getti Roady of Baird, also Billie and H.A. Freeman visited with them this week.

Betty and J.T. Beggs went to Temple on Thursday of last week and visited with Rusty and Reba Beggs. J.T. went to his doctor for a checkup, and received a good report. On Sunday, J.T. and Rex Lee attended the funeral of Mrs. E.B. Conner at Rising Star.

On Saturday, Betty and Julene Franke were in a Sunday School class party at the City Park — they were third grade class members.

Helen Tillotson sounded 'chipper' this morning. She didn't have any special news — said they were enjoying the nice weather.

Mrs. Norman Lee didn't have any special news this morning, but I appreciate their friendship. They are all okay and keeping busy.

Art Class Begins On July 11

An art class in oil painting will be held this summer at the Multi-Purpose Center, beginning July 11. Call Betty Beggs for further information, (817) 725-7235.

Mormons: What Do They Really Believe?

By MICHAEL HALE

Starting on Sunday evening, May 31, there will be an opportunity to learn more about Mormons. Better known as the "Church of Jesus Christ Latter-day Saints," This will be taught at the First Baptist Church here in Cross Plains. The first two Sunday evenings we will view two videos that have been professionally done on the Mormon Church. The first is called "The Temple of God," then on the 7th of June we will see "The God Makers." This will be taught at 6 p.m. on each Sunday.

On the 14th we will have a study led by a man who spent ten years of his life as a Mormon Elder and Missionary President. During those ten years he began to raise a great deal of questions about what was being taught and some things that he saw. He was told just to accept The Word or the Mormon Prophet and everything else by faith. But the fact that he had in years past accepted Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour made him aware that there were some things that just did not add up. I want to encourage youth and adults to come to this very informative study.

The Mormon religion is a fast growing cult in America today. No longer are they primarily in Utah but their presence is seen everywhere and our youth need to understand what this cult really believes.

Summer Program At Library

"Discover the new world of Reading" this summer at the Cross Plains Public Library. The program begins on Wednesday, June 17, and will continue on Wednesdays through July 22 from 10 - 11:30 a.m. Students who have been in grades 1-6 are eligible to attend.

Now is the time for registration so that final plans can be made. Those who know they will attend only part of the time because of vacations or Vacation Bible Schools need to register anyway as it is not possible to register on Wednesdays at the time of the program.

A few more volunteers are needed, both as resource persons and as help for the entire program. Resource persons usually prepare material for one or two sessions, but ideas, themes, suggestions are available. Others help each Wednesday with checking and shelving books and serving refreshments. Those wishing to volunteer may come by the library afternoons or call Billie Loving.

The theme this year is "Discovery." Join the fun for singing, contests, crafts, activities, and surprises!

SHARING — Vic and Maureen Smith of Stotfold, Herts, England speak to students and teachers at Cross Plains High School about their homeland.

England Couple Express Appreciation To Local Community

My husband Vic and I had the pleasure of staying in Cross Plains with Jack and Wanda Martin for over a month, just after Christmas. Wanda was very like a mother to me, as I lost mine in 1977, and Jack, to say the least, was like a very irate father (always taking the micky out of me). We met up with them in Laguna Beach, California.

We were due to leave from Los Angeles on January 16, but on the 11th, Jack and Wanda decided to go back to Texas, and with very little persuading, we joined them and travelled three days right across the States. What a beautiful experience!

While we were in Cross Plains, we went to two basketball games, a sorority meeting, and we also visited the school and had a talk with all the wonderful kids there. We were lucky enough to go to the school because Nora and Dora (Nora being Wanda's neighbor) are teachers there.

We had such a marvellous time there, and the people were all so lovely and friendly that I would like to be able to thank everyone of them for their hospitality and warmth. English people do not tend to be that open and friendly. We returned home due to the birth of our first grandchild, Holly, and her Christening.

We are very much hoping to return again, but who knows? Our thanks go out especially to Jack and Wanda, but also to Nora Odom and Rodney, Dora Smith and Brandon, Dale, Myrna, Justin, and Mindy Mitchell, and to all the teachers and pupils at the school. I am enclosing a negative of Vic and me with Holly. All the kids will recognize us, I don't know if you do this sort of thing over there, but I am hoping.

If you do print, please sign us as Vic and Potato Mo, because we were renowned for having potatoes with at least one meal a day (English tradition) and we were regularly laughed at.

Lots of love to everybody in Cross Plains, not forgetting Brandy (Jack's dog) and Ginger (my adopted dog while I was there).

Thanks very much.

ASCS & SCS To Move Into New Offices By July 13

Work began a couple of weeks ago on a new 3,600 square foot building in Baird which will house the offices of the Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service (ASCS) and Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

The new building, which is located on Arch and Fourth Street (Highway 80) in Baird, is being constructed by Benton Construction Inc. of Abilene. The ASCS and SCS office building is located southwest of the Callahan County Courthouse in Baird.

Darrell Benton of Baird, owner of the construction firm in charge of the project, said the masonry and steel constructed building will have a brick veneer finish. The building will be handicapped accessible according to American Disabilities Act guidelines. Entrance into the building will be from the north. A paved parking lot in front will accommodate 30 vehicles.

Benton said the building is projected to be completed by mid-June.

Benton Construction Inc., a three-year-old firm, specializes in school building construction. The construction company is contractor on a classroom enlargement going on at Baird High School. Benton Construction Inc. will also be constructing several new buildings for Abilene ISD.

Benton and Benton Pruett of Baird are co-owners of the building. The ASCS and SCS will have a five-year lease on the building. Benton Pruett is also building an office onto the new building.

Scott Odom, county executive director of the ASCS, said he hopes the ASCS will occupy the new building by July 13.

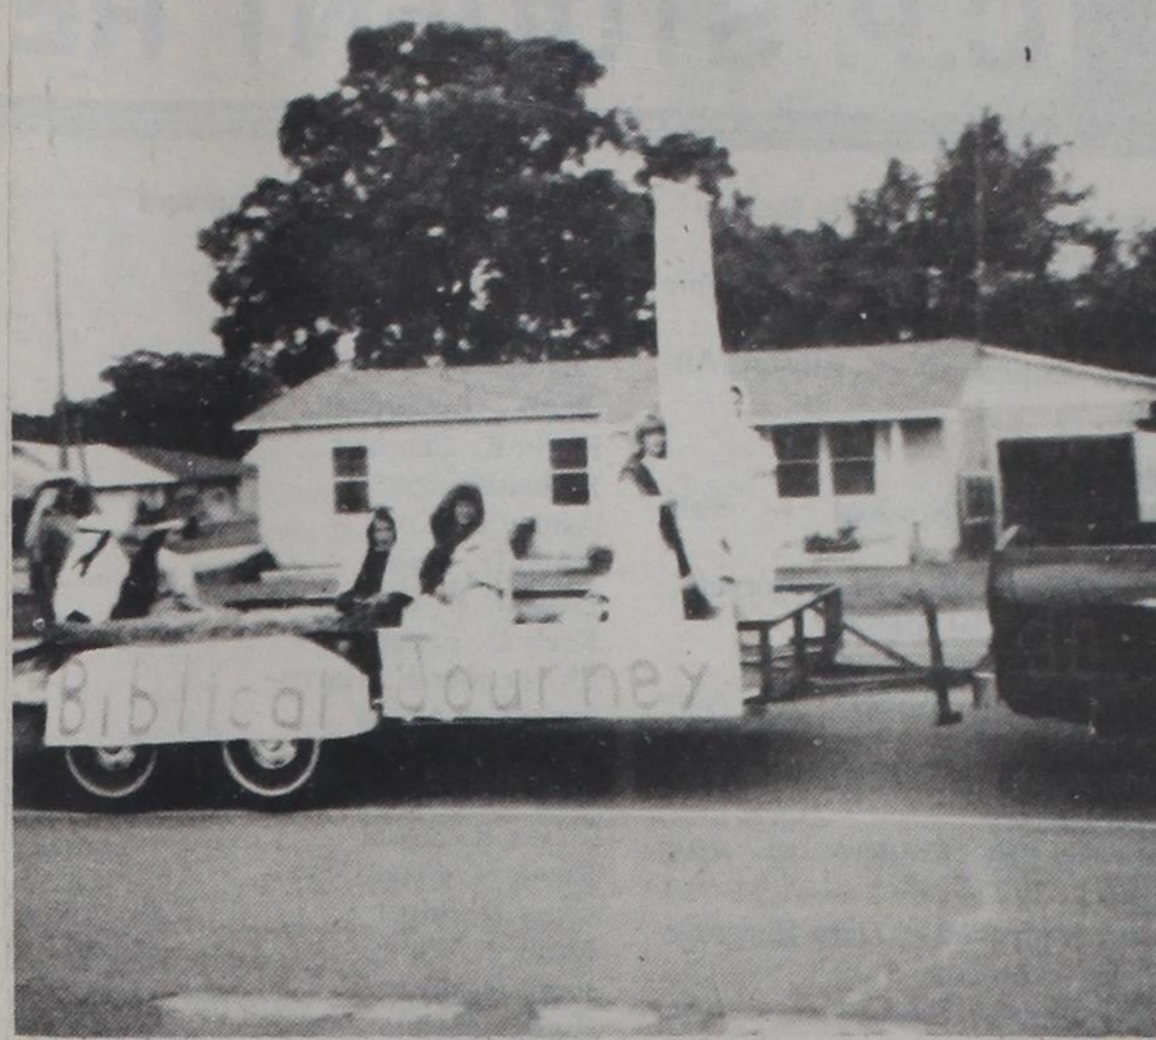

Odom said the new building is being constructed to provide easy access to county producers and the handicap to the service of the ASCS.

The Callahan County ASCS, which employs four people, is currently located on the second floor of the courthouse in Baird. The Soil Conservation Service currently has an office on the third floor of the county courthouse. Greg Gergross, Callahan County Extension Service Agent, will re-locate his office into the ASCS office on the second floor of the county courthouse.

The new ASCS office building will also provide customers a one-stop service between the ASCS and SCS. The concept of providing ASCS and SCS services outside the county courthouse building is not new. Odom noted that several new buildings were being built for the ASCS in Brownwood, San Saba, Comanche, and Taylor County.

The ASCS director stated Callahan County's ASCS was one of three ASCS offices in the state still located in the county courthouse.

Callahan County ASCS serves 1,700 producers in the county. The ASCS administers the wheat, peanut, cotton, grain, and disaster programs in the county.

Time To Spray For Pecan Casebears

Commercial pecan producers and homeowners are reminded that the date for casebearer control in Callahan County is approaching, says Greg Germgross, County Extension Agent. Our current prediction for casebearer spray timing is May 28-31.

Producers should base spray dates on egg count. At least 200 nut clusters should be inspected for eggs in an orchard. The economic threshold for casebearers based on eggs in 1-2 percent of the clusters infested with eggs. Eggs hatch in 4-5 days. When eggs are found, the tree should be tagged and inspected daily until they hatch. When 1-2 percent of the nut clusters are entered by casebearer larvae, it is time to spray on that date. A second insecticide application may be required where eggs are found and nut damage continues 7 to 10 days after the first application.

Homeowners choices for chemical control are 50% WP Sevin and 50% Malathion EC. Zinc sulfate, NZN or other zinc mixtures added to the spray solution will decrease rosette problems in pecan trees and allow them to produce higher quality nuts.

For more information, contact the County Extension office at 854-1518.

Disabilities from neurologic impairments affect millions of Americans each year. Head injury, such as from a car crash or fall, accounts for more than two million injured individuals annually. Stroke, anoxia and infections such as encephalitis push the numbers much higher. Unfortunately, many individuals with neurologic impairments are unable to receive the rehabilitation they need to overcome their disabilities.

Since 1986, the New Medico Neurologic Rehabilitation System has offered scholarships to individuals who have sustained neurologic injuries and cannot afford rehabilitation. This year, 28 scholarships, which total more than $2 million in free care, are available nationwide. Each scholarship is for up to six months of intensive rehabilitation at one of 15 New Medico post-acute neurologic rehabilitation programs across the country.

"Unlike other injuries, an injury to the brain can disrupt everything we do—how we think, how we control our behavior and how we feel," said James Wasco, MD, New Medico's director of medical affairs. "People with neurologic impairments often need help to re-learn abilities that most of us take for granted."

Candidates interested in applying for the scholarship program must submit an application by July 15, 1992. To receive an application, call New Medico toll-free at 1-800-743-6847.

New Medico scholarships are intended for individuals with neurologic injury who need post-acute rehabilitation services to re-enter their community. Applicants should be medically stable. Recipients are selected on the basis of need and potential for progress in rehabilitation.

"We want this program to demonstrate that neurologic injury does not have to mean a life of dependence," said Dr. Wasco.

"We want this program to demonstrate that neurologic injury does not have to mean a life of dependence," said Dr. Wasco.

'Abilene's Finest,' Absolutely

By SCOTT KIRK
Staff Writer
Abilene Reporter-News

Robert Gooch is almost as proud of what's not in his picante sauce as what is in it.

In Absolutely Picante, made in Abilene, you will not find water, tomato paste, preservatives, or, heaven forbid, vinegar. In the salsa, all you'll find are tomatoes (vine-ripened from California), jalapeno peppers, onions, salt, olive oil and, of course, secret spices.

In addition, Gooch doesn't just pick a peck of peppers — he picks a peck of phenomenal peppers. While the tomatoes come from California, the peppers are liable to come from anywhere Gooch can find top-grade jalapenos. The heat of the pepper will vary from region to region, he said.

"Even with that, you can take one pepper from the same field, and it wouldn't be as hot as the next," Gooch said. "It's like eating one grape that's sweet and the next has a sour taste. You may take one jar of the picante that's medium heat and just love it, but the next jar, you'll say, 'That didn't seem as hot.' That very well may be the case."

Gooch got the germ of the idea for Absolutely Picante several years ago when he was at a restaurant and was eating the chips and picante. An aficionado of picante sauces, Gooch was particularly taken by this one.

"It was the best I had ever tasted," he said. "My friends tried it, and they thought so, too. I started pursuing it then."

It turned out that the picante was the creation of Patsy Teague, a professional cook who worked throughout Texas and New Mexico. Gooch negotiated the rights from Teague and Gooch began to improve on it. The product hit the shelves in the past couple of months and it gained the seal of approval from Mrs. Teague before she died about a month ago.

It isn't just the ingredients that make the salsa exceptional, Gooch said. One of the company secrets is to grind the tomatoes, which Gooch believes better releases the flavor. Mike Williams is vice president of the company that makes the picante, World Class Foods. He was an engineer for Gooch when he ran Gooch Packing Company.

Williams went to food processing school at Texas A&M to be certified to oversee the preparation of the product and his experience helped him set up an assembly for a most unusual group of employees — the residents of Disability Resources Inc., a non-profit organization that provides a home for the mentally disabled who are unable to live at home or independently.

Gooch contracted the packing of the picante to DRI, working through DRI official Buzzy Address. The setup has been beneficial to both parties.

"We have about triple the staff we would normally have," Williams said. "But these people are great. You don't have any of the bickering you do with normal people. They're so happy it's pitiful. And, in all the time we've been doing this, they haven't broken more than three or four jars."

Indeed, the happy crew was working flawlessly Thursday afternoon as a batch of hot Absolutely Picante was being made by World Class Foods and then packaged by DRI.

Right now, Gooch is instituting some packaging changes. The mild picante will have a green lid, the medium a yellow lid, and the hot a red lid. Be warned, said Gooch, that the hot salsa will have "smoke coming out your ears."

The picante business has just about been cornered by Pace, the San Antonio-based company, said Gooch, but he has no pretensions about supplanting the picante powerhouse. In fact, Absolutely Picante isn't priced to compete on a wide scale with other picantes. With its fresh ingredients, Gooch is going after a niche that is smaller but is wild about salsa, addicted to the stuff as it were.

"We're not out to compete with Pace or Old El Paso or Piada," he said. "We think there's a market out there that we can reach."

Currently, Absolutely Picante is available at all Abilene supermarkets, except for Albertson's, where Gooch is still waiting for the go-ahead. Regardless of what happens to the picante, Gooch has had fun.

"I've had a ball," he said. "We're making a quality product and being able to help some people at the same time."

There's an old business adage that you can't be the biggest and be the best, that to become the biggest you have to make some compromises in quality along the way. World Class Foods has no regrets that it took the route to attempt at being the best.

Williams was asked if, in his slightly biased opinion, Absolutely Picante was the highest-quality picante around. Williams took the opening like an all-America halfback running to daylight.

"Absolutely," he laughed. "That's a word we like to use a lot around here."

WEEKLY Health Tip
CHOLESTEROL TESTING

When should I have it done? Consider it if you are over the age of 20. It's a new barometer of health, warning you in advance that you may be a candidate for an early stroke or heart attack. Where should I have it done? At your doctor's office, perhaps during a routine checkup. Don't eat for at least two hours before the test is done, and try to stay calm. Levels can rise 5% to 10% with stress. Be sure to tell your doctor if you're taking any drugs — several can influence cholesterol levels in the blood one way or another.

Your better health is our concern.

Heartworms Are Being Diagnosed In This Area

Dogs with heartworms are being diagnosed on a regular basis in our area. Thirteen cases have been diagnosed since the first of the year and more cases are sure to be found as summer nears. In 1990, 25 cases were diagnosed and in 1991, 23 cases were diagnosed. Many of these cases would not have been found until clinical signs of heart disease were evident, but increased awareness of the problem has increased the testing for heartworms. Our area was once thought to be a low incidence area, but with the rapid increase in the numbers of heartworm cases we must take a more aggressive approach to the problem.

Heartworms are on the increase: Mild winters with increased rainfall resulting in more mosquitoes and year around exposure; Owners traveling with their dogs either to or from areas with severe heartworm problems; Owners more aware of the problem which results in more testing of infected dogs. Heartworm checks and preventatives must be initiated to decrease the incidence of the disease.

This is such a deadly disease that it is well worth reminding owners of certain facts:

--The net result of heartworm disease is the serious mechanical damage it causes to a dog's heart, lungs, liver and kidneys. But while it is stopping up kidneys and blood flow, there are few outward signs of all of the internal damage being caused until the disease is very far along.

--Mosquitoes are key carriers of heartworm disease. When an infected dog is bitten by a mosquito, blood is carried away which may include tiny, immature forms of heartworms called microfilaria.

--It takes about three months for these larvae to travel through the tissues of the body to enter the heart.

Dozens of these larvae (some of which can actually become up to .14 inches long) become adults within another three months. By that time, much of the mechanical damage just mentioned has become fact.

Thanks to research and modern preventative medicine, there is a lot you can do to avoid heartworms in the first place or see that it is successfully treated if it hasn't progressed too far:

--A blood test is the only way to detect heartworm disease in its early stages.

--Since it's possible for an infected dog to have adult heartworms without microfilaria, an X-ray examination and other lab tests may be needed to confirm heartworm infection.

--After the disease has progressed, symptoms can include frequent coughing, sluggishness, rapid tiring and finally, labored breathing.

--If caught in time, a series of injections of an organic arsenical drug can be used to kill heartworms. Then another drug can be used to get rid of the microfilaria.

--No vaccine is available for heartworm disease, but we can give you regular doses of a drug which can prevent infective larvae from developing into adult heartworms. This can be in the form of a daily tablet or a once a month tablet.

5th Annual Ranch Rodeo Sat., June 6

The Callahan County Sheriff's Posse will host their fifth annual Ranch Rodeo, Saturday, June 6th, beginning at 6 p.m. in the Baird Rodeo Arena.

An ice cream supper will be held this Saturday, May 23rd, beginning at 6 p.m. at the Baird Rodeo Arena for all the cowboy contestants and their families.

This gives the contestants an opportunity to get together, go over the rodeo rules, confirm they are going to be in the rodeo and pay their entry fee.

The contestants have all been contacted by phone or in person, but we'd like to take this opportunity to invite them to the ice cream supper.

The average depth of the Atlantic ocean is 11,370 feet.

GUY EVANS
...certified paramedic

Guy Evans Certified As Paramedic

Guy Evans has recently been certified as an Emergency Medical Technician Paramedic by the State of Texas, graduating top in his class at Texas State Technical College at Sweetwater with a grade point average of 3.98 on a 4 point system.

For three quarters he was named to the Presidential Honor Roll at TSTC and the Dean's List for one quarter. He was also voted "Most Ambitious" by his peers.

A graduate of Eastern Hills High School in Fort Worth, he received his Emergency Medical Technician training at Ranger Junior College.

Evans' Paramedic training course upgraded him from an EMT. The course consisted of 210 hospital hours at Hendrick Medical Center and Humana at Abilene; 150 hours mobile intensive care unit hours with the Abilene Emergency Medical Service and Lubbock Emergency Medical Service; and 16 hours with the Aerocare Program in Lubbock, which involved airlifting critically ill patients from one hospital to another. He remarked that the airlifting was his favorite experience.

Other certifications include Basic Cardiac Life Support, Advanced Cardiac Life Support, Basic Trauma Life Support, and Electrocardiogram and EKG interpretations.

He also participated in a seminar and workshop for Handling Hazardous Materials Emergencies, and attended training which earned him a patch in Vertical Rescue.

Two years experience on the Cross Plains Emergency Medical Service sparked his first interest in the paramedical field.

Evans has resided in Cross Plains for the past seven years and is the son of Jean Vaughn.

ILLEGAL BILLBOARDS THREATEN HIGHWAY FUNDS

Billboard owners who mess with Texas risk costing the state up to $105 million in highway funds.

That's because the new federal transportation bill is cracking down on illegal signs along Interstates and certain other federal highways. Texas has more than 1,300 such signs.

Illegal signs are those erected by owners without a license and permit, usually because the location of the sign does not meet the requirements of the state Litter Abatement Act. Violators face fines of up to $200 per day.

Owners must remove the signs by June 18, 1992, or the federal government could withhold some of its funds for Texas highways.

"Texas has some of the most attractive roadsides in the country. The state has a law to protect them," said Arnold Oliver, executive director. "The new federal bill mandates that we enforce these laws or lose funding."

Another new provision of the bill is that no new sign, with few exceptions, be erected along a designated scenic byway. In addition, some 7,500 non-conforming signs — those erected either prior to control under the antilitter law or under certain outdated rules — will eventually have to come down.

The Litter Abatement Act, enacted in 1972, prohibits most billboards outside commercial or industrial areas. Among the exceptions are signs advertising only the business conducted on the property where the sign is located, signs advertising the property is for sale, certain signs advertising meetings for religious and service groups, and warning signs for public safety.

Billboard owners must have an outdoor advertising license, which costs $125 the first year, $60 each year thereafter. In addition, they must post a surety bond. Each billboard requires a permit, which costs $96 the first year and $40 to renew.

DPS Celebrates Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month With New Education Campaign

AUSTIN — Governor Ann Richards has proclaimed May as Motorcycle Safety and Awareness Month. Governor Richards talked of the success of the state's efforts to encourage motorcycle safety. "In 1991, we saw a 31 percent decrease in motorcycle accident fatalities. But we do not intend to settle for the success we have had."

In response, Henry Palma, Sr., Manager of the Motorcycle Safety Bureau of the Texas Department of Public Safety today announced the debut of a new public awareness campaign for its state-wide education program, The Course for Motorcycle Riders.

The new campaign includes television, radio, and newspaper public service announcements. It also includes posters and brochures to be placed in schools and motorcycle shops throughout the state. The new campaign theme line is, "In Texas, the thrills begin with skills."

The campaign explains the benefits the course would be and experienced motorcycle riders. The campaign also uses a spokesperson: Doug Polen, the 1991 World Superbike Champion.

The Course for Motorcycle Riders teaches riding skills to help riders avoid accidents and enjoy the road. Offered in two levels, basic and advanced, the course is challenging and fun for riders of all skills levels.

In the basic course, beginning riders learn proper techniques for turning, braking, emergency maneuvers, and street survival. In only one weekend or over the course of a few evenings, riders develop skills comparable to those of someone with two years of riding experience. Motorcycles and helmets are provided.

The advanced course is for experienced riders only. The curriculum includes high-speed maneuvering, emergency braking, braking on curves, avoidance techniques, and other riding skills. Due to the challenging nature of the advanced course, students are required to use their own motorcycles.

Both courses involve some classroom training. However, the majority of each class takes place on the riding range. This enables participants to practice each new technique as the course progresses.

Courses are offered in over thirty locations around the state. There is also a DPS Mobile Training Program which travels to areas without established training centers. Additional information about The Course for Motorcycle Riders is available by calling 1-800-292-5787.

THE PIONEER PATCHWORK

By IRMA MILLER

The Quilting Club finished the Log Cabin and worked on the Grandmother's Flower Garden on Tuesday. They put up a Little House Log Cabin into the frames.

Some of the Pioneer residents participated with other churches Saturday in the March for Jesus in Cross Plains, for a mile down Main Street. They sang gospel songs and had an enjoyable fellowship with Christians of other churches. Also, some of our residents attended the City Hall Flaggpole prayer meeting in Cross Plains on May 7, the National Day of Prayer, which was an opportunity for Christian fellowship with the various churches.

Jean Fore's visitors, Grasson and Myrtle Harlow and Myrtle's mother, Velma Morrow, all of Arlington, returned Jean to her home last week after a ten day visit. Paul and Juanita and Vi Harlow, all of Lovington, New Mexico, came Thursday and left Friday. All of Jean's visitors spent the week or part of the week. Jesse Dale and Gerry Storts, Jean's nephew and niece of Ardmore, Oklahoma, came Thursday and visited with all of them. Jean's other guests during the week were May Jones, Ruby Daniel and her sister of Artesia, New Mexico, and Irma Miller and Frankie Smith.

Frankie and Oliver Smith and Jean Fore went to the Friday night musical at Rising Star. Saturday the three visited Frankie's daddy in Ranger, and Saturday night attended Laura Rankin's voice recital in Cisco. Laura is the granddaughter of Frankie and Oliver.

Lottie Sooter made a two-day trip to Lubbock last week to visit with relatives.

Laverne and Cowan Hutton attended a funeral for Cowan's cousin in Colleyville on Saturday. They made a business trip to Abilene Thursday.

Visiting Nell and Joe Fleming on Thursday was Sam Fleming of Cross Plains, who also stayed and had lunch with them.

State Bar Offers Toll-Free Number

AUSTIN — A new toll-free phone number (1-800-932-1900) is now available to persons wanting to know how to file a complaint against a Texas attorney. The service is designed to provide the public with information about how to file a grievance and what to expect from the attorney disciplinary system.

The toll-free phone number is part of an overhaul of the State Bar's grievance system. New disciplinary rules were adopted by a statewide referendum of the Bar's membership in late 1990 and will be implemented in May to clarify the ways that complaints against lawyers will be handled.

"Offering a toll-free telephone number is among the steps both the State Bar and the Texas Legislature felt would better inform the public and expedite the complaint process," said Lonny D. Morrison, a Wichita Falls attorney who chairs the Texas Commission for Lawyer Discipline. The group includes six attorney members and six public, non-attorney members who oversee the attorney discipline system in Texas and who were instrumental in writing the new procedures.

"The Commission's obligation is to make sure that the public knows about help available from the State Bar if a member of the Bar has violated one of the rules governing the legal profession," said Morrison. Persons who have a complaint should call the toll-free number for assistance.

"Not every complaint against a lawyer in Texas will prove to be a violation of the specific rules of professional conduct," said Virginia Bowers of Dallas, a public, non-lawyer member of the Commission. "But our goal is increased public awareness that there are written ethical rules for attorneys and that attorneys who violate the rules will be prosecuted through the grievance system."

Callers to the toll-free number will receive information about how the grievance process works. If more information is requested, callers will be sent a complaint form and written materials explaining the complaint procedures.

Morrison said specific questions about whether or not the caller's particular complaint involves a violation of the attorney ethics rules cannot be adequately dealt with by phone, but General Counsel staff members will attempt to guide callers through the initial steps of filing a complaint. Forms may be returned to the offices of the State Bar's General Counsel in Austin, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, or San Antonio.

For more information, contact: Lonny D. Morrison, at 817/322-2929 in Wichita Falls, or Jim McCormack, General Counsel, State Bar of Texas at (512) 463-1381 in Austin.

Andrews County News

Doc says when a man won't listen to his conscience, it's usually because he doesn't take advice from a total stranger.

Memories will weigh on his shoulders like a midnight fog this weekend during the state track meet in Austin.

Forest C. Scott, retired middle school principal, plans to be in the stands at Memorial Stadium this weekend as the annual state track meet gets underway.

Fifty years ago things were a little different. Then, Forest was a participant rather than a spectator.

Forest represented the high school at Cross Plains and raced in the 440-yard dash.

A half century ago, priorities were a little different than they are now. Forest won the dash event at the county meet at Baird and went on to take first at the regional event in Abilene.

Back then, there were no classifications. Tracksters raced against all comers from all size schools.

The disaster at Pearl Harbor occurred the previous December and throughout the agricultural sections of the state, school was held on Saturdays in order to free up youngsters for spring plowing.

And how did the young Forest Scott train for the state finals? He walked behind a turning plow throughout daylight hours and after the chores were done at the end of the day, put on cleated track shoes and raced up and down a dirt country road.

Between the regional event in Abilene and the state meet, he conversed with his coach one time.

In the state finals, the tall, 150-pound gangling kid from Cross Plains, made the 440-yard oval in a time of 51.3 — and was nosed out by a runner from San Antonio who completed the trip in 51.2. Twern't bad on a dirt track before the age of starting blocks, cinder tracks, and spiked track shoes.

This year, the best qualifying time in the state has been turned in by Chris Jones of Wilmer-Hutchins with a time of 47.26.

In comparison, Andrews' legendary Ted Nelson, in his senior year, ran the 440 at regional in Odessa in 46.5 and at state, won the event with a time of 47.3

Placing second at state didn't cut much ice with Forest's father.

One day the two were finishing chores at the farm near Cross Plains and a black automobile pulled into the front yard.

"Who is that?" replied Forest.

The visitor was a scout from Rice University who had watched Forest run in the state finals. The upshot of the visit with father and son was that the runner was invited to visit the campus in Houston.

"Not 'till he's finished plowing!" declared the elder Scott.

Later the father placed his son on a train in Abilene for an overnight trip to Houston. The train arrived before dawn and Forest grabbed a couple of hours sleep in the depot before calling the coach at the university.

The coach told Forest to grab a cab and come to the campus. Later, the coach told Forest to grab a nap on a couch in the office. Late in the afternoon, the Cross Plains product worked out and was given a scholarship to Rice. The coach gave Forest a $20.00 bill for his cab fare and train ride home.

He attended Rice in the fall, passed his mid-term exams, came home and took his physical for the draft — and was drafted in April, 1943 and his wartime service began.

As we said at the beginning, memories will weigh heavily on Forest this weekend in Austin as he watches the unfolding of the state track finals in Austin.

And some of those memories will recall those words of his father: "Not 'till he's finished plowing!"

Antidepressants May Bring Relief From MS Pain

HOUSTON — Normal pain killers do not help the nerve pain associated with multiple sclerosis (MS), but researchers at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston hope a drug commonly prescribed for depression will bring relief.

"About 30 percent of MS patients suffer severe pain," said Dr. Loren Rolak, associate professor of clinical neurology at Baylor. "The nerves that carry pain are damaged and become extremely sensitive."

This damage results in pain often described as an intense feeling of heat, burning or electricity.

Rolak and his colleagues are investigating the effectiveness of Amitriptyline and Fluoxetine (sold as Prozac) for treating MS pain. The drugs are antidepressants, and both raise the level of serotonin in the body, a chemical that helps control nerve pain.

"Serotonin helps control pain by shutting off the nerves carrying the pain," Rolak said.

Amitriptyline is currently the standard drug prescribed for MS pain.

"Several years ago it was found to help treat diabetic nerve pain, so physicians began using it for MS as well," Rolak said.

Prozac, commonly used for treating depression, increases serotonin levels well. Rolak added that, on paper, Prozac looks like it should out-perform Amitriptyline.

But the 30 patients in the study will be the ones who really put the drugs to the test.

"The patients receive a different drug each month and rate their pain at the start and finish of the month," Rolak said. "One month they receive a placebo, pills that have no effect at all."

"To make sure there is no personal bias involved, the drugs are given in random order and identified only as #1, #2, and #3. Patients and doctors are both blind as to which drug is which."

"Some patients are reporting a dramatic improvement with one of the drugs," Rolak said. When the last patient finishes the study, researchers will crack the code and determine if there is a clear-cut winner in the Amitriptyline/Prozac comparison.

"I hope we find a new alternative for patients suffering from this pain," Rolak said. "It will not be the first time a drug has turned out to be useful for more than one problem."

Savings Bonds Semiannual Rate Set At 5.58 Percent Effective May Through October

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The semiannual market based rate for United States Savings Bonds, in effect from May through October 1992, has been set at 5.58%, the Treasury Department announced today.

Catalina V. Villalpando, Treasurer of the United States and National Director of the Savings Bonds program stated: "Today's guaranteed minimum rate is 6 percent. Today's purchaser is protected by this guaranteed minimum rate. Savings Bonds continue to be an outstanding instrument for a safe, protected investment."

The Savings Bonds interest rate is the greater of 85 percent of the average market yield on five-year Treasury marketable securities during the preceding six months or the guaranteed minimum of 6%. When bonds are held for five years or more, yields at redemption are the average of semiannual interest rates during the time held, or the guaranteed minimum rate, whichever is higher.

"The market-based program, introduced in 1982, has contributed to high bond sales — over four billion dollars worth of bonds have been sold already this year," the Treasurer stated.

Savings Bonds semiannual rates are set each May 1 and November 1. As of March 31, the total value of Savings Bonds held by the public was $142.014 billion. For information on current rates call 1-800-4US Bond.
