Wheat Harvest Starting

Wheat harvest in Bailey County will start about June 15, says Texas Employment Commission's June 1 bulletin, and the crop on irrigated acres "is normal for this time of the year."

The report said however, that recent rains in the Muleshoe area came "too late to benefit dry land acreage."

The bulletin said harvest is just getting under way in the Muleshoe, Tulia, Lockney, Floydada and Silvertown region, adding that yield rains were too late to benefit. Irrigated acreage is maturing fast and harvest should be good on irrigated land in those areas.

The report from the northwest part of the Panhandle read: Recent rains received too late to be of much benefit to dry land acreage, and yields are expected to be very poor from the acreage that has not been abandoned. Yields from irrigated acreage expected to be from fair to good when harvest gets underway about June 15.

Of the region farther east (Pampa to Shamrock) the June 1 TEC report said: Recent rains received too late to be of much benefit to dry land acreage, and yields are expected to be from average to below average when harvest begins this week. Irrigated acreage continues to look good with average yields expected.

Winners Are Named Here

Winners of the Annual Muleshoe Country Club Flag Tournament were announced this week. According to Skinny Carter, club pro, first place was won by Carroll McDonald.

Others placing in the annual event in order of their scores were Russell Haberer, Russell Bryant, T. R. White, Fluff Myers, Sam Damron and Gill Wolard.

Fires

The Muleshoe area suffered a total of 17 fires during May.

So far this month the volunteer fire department has made four calls. Together these figures bring this year's fire total to 88.

There were four fires this week: B&W Garage, trash fire; Ray Precure farm, tractor fire; Williams and Marrison, wiring fire and a small brush fire at the Lubbock water shed. All were small and caused little property damage, according to Chief Earl Ladd.

4TH OF JULY — Frank Ellis, chairman of the 4th Annual Muleshoe Area 4th of July Celebration pauses for breath while running about town organizing details for the area-wide extravaganza.

7 Local Boy Scouts To Attend Jamboree

Six Muleshoe area Boy Scouts are chomping at the bit while waiting impatiently for July 7th and the annual Boy Scout National Jamboree to roll around.

The Jamboree will include a three weeks trip to Canada, Niagara Falls, the New York Worlds Fair and finally the Jamboree itself at Valley Forge, Pa.

At Valley Forge they will join 50,000 other Scouts from all the 50 states for a week-long encampment that will be the Sixth National Jamboree of the BSA, and the event of a lifetime for Boy Scouts attending. There will be 900 Scouts also representing 60 other countries.

The Scouts attending from this area will be Tommy Jones, Billy Kelly, Jerry Haskins, Logan Puckett and David Gupton. All are members of Muleshoe Troop 620.

Paul Lenau of Troop 634 will also attend as will Scout Master Owen Jones, who will assist in carrying the boys during the trip. Big project in the next month for the Jamboree - bound Scouts will be the gathering of trading material for the encampment.

The exchange of items native to their home areas is a big activity for Scouts in the national gathering. Texans have done well in years past with items like horned toads, small cactus plants and native seeds, as for blue bonnets.

But this season the state of Pennsylvania has banned Scouts from bringing seeds, plants or animals to the gathering. Valley Forge was the site of an international Jamboree several years back and apparently the state animals to the gathering. Valley Forge was the site of an international Jamboree several years back and apparently the state reaped a number of strange animals and plants as a result.

The Scouts will go up through the midwest to Canada, with overnight camp sites established ahead. One visit will be the Greenwich Village, the Ford model antique city near Detroit, then the caravan will enter Canada. (See SCOUTS, Page 7)

Final Details Being Worked Out For Huge Annual Celebration

Casey Resigns School

Quinn W. Casey, superintendent at Bula Independent School for the past four years, resigned last week at a meeting of the board. His resignation will become effective August first. He left Monday for Austin where he will be attending The University of Texas for nine weeks on a National Science Foundation stipend in Physics.

Reason for his resignation was not made public.

During his superintendency at Bula, the school plant has been completely remodeled, two new classroom units and other facilities added, and the school restored to full accreditation standing.

Just prior to coming to Bula, Casey had taught driver education in the Lubbock Public School. (See CASEY, Page 7)

Golfing Coaches To Play Here

Every year about this time, much to the amusement of real golfers and much to the horror of greenskeepers, Texas Tech's coaches — at the gentle prodding of Leete Jackson, Red Raider Club executive vice-president — hit the trail in pursuit of golf and fellowship. (They score high in both categories.)

New Agent Assumes Farm Bureau Duties

A member of the Farm Bureau's "Million Dollar" Roundtable for life insurance sales has taken over as agent-manager of the Bailey County Farm Bureau.

The new agent, Ben Cockrell, headed the Hail County Farm Bureau office for five years. Prior to that the 34-year-old insurance man spent two years in the Air Force from which he was discharged as a 1st lieutenant.

He is married and the father of four children, Dana, 11; Jenifer, 9; Cathy, 5 and Joe Ben, 2.

The family are members of the Methodist Church.

Muleshoe Area Chamber of Commerce is today completing last minute details for the 4th Annual Muleshoe Area 4th of July Celebration.

Feature of the area wide celebration of the nation's birthday will be a specially designed "American West" fireworks display. Costing over $700, the colorful conglomeration of pyrotechnics will highlight the area's sky's for about 45 minutes.

Second feature of the gigantic ceremonial will be the Muleshoe All-Area Talent Show featuring amateur performers from Muleshoe and neighboring towns.

Rules this year have been changed. This year there are two categories: under 18-years of age and over 18-years of age. In addition, entries will be allowed only by persons living within a 50 mile radius of Muleshoe, according to Frank Ellis, chairman of the affair.

Prizes amounting to a total of $426 will be awarded by judges from throughout the 50-mile radius area. First prize in each category will be $100, second, $60; third, $35 and fourth $15, according to Roger Albertson, talent chairman.

Both the fire works and talent show will be held at the high school football field. It is expected the festivities will begin about 5 p.m. and continue to about 10 p.m.

The Chamber of Commerce, whose members sponsor the $14,000 show each year as a gesture of appreciation to the people of the Muleshoe area, have invited all to bring picnic lunches to the field to enjoy during the shows.

Last year about 6,000 attended the fete. A like number is expected this year, according to Mrs. T. R. White, talent show director.

Some problems arose last year with the sound distribution system. Persons sitting in what are termed "sound dead" areas were unable to hear clearly. It is believed the problem will be licked this year through the use of more and more powerful speakers spaced around the field, stated Bill McDonald, chairman of the sound committee.

Lighting of the area will be under the direction of Owen Jones, stage manager.

Early arrivals will be entertained by a musical group, which will probably be an area combo.

The formal program will open with a presentation of the colors by members of the Texas Tech ROTC. The Old Mule Skinner, Gil Lamb will act as master of ceremonies.

A special surprise feature is being planned to entertain those attending, according to Roy Davis, local Chamber manager.

Mann Picked To Head Muleshoe Area Fair

Franklin Mann of the Muleshoe Jaycees has been named as General Chairman of the Muleshoe Area Community Fair, to be held here about July 13-19, according to club officials.

Plans are now under way for the five-day event which is being sponsored by the Jaycees, in cooperation with several other local, civic and charitable organizations. The event will provide five days of enjoyable and interesting features for the whole family.

There will be scores of commercial and industrial exhibits, a queen contest, nightly entertainment, contests and many prizes, plus a giant fun packed midway of rides and games.

Game concessions at the fair will be operated by local, civic and charitable organizations who also sponsor candidates for Queen of the Community Fair.

Hayride

The Youth Center's Thursday hayride was called-off due to inclement weather, according to Youth Center officials.

It has been rescheduled for the same time (6:30 p.m.) next Thursday.

BUILDING BETTER WIVES: Most mothers (and some fathers) tell their sons "never consider marrying a girl who can't cook or sew." The sons invariably ignore the advice. But, whoever catches these three lovelies will get a bonus, for Ruth Ann Duckworth, Marcy Baker and Kathy Baker are busily preparing for future homemaking at the 4-H Club's meeting of its sewing group each week.

them and certainly has not been advertised by the person most directly concerned or her family.

But here in Littlefield, Lamb County, Texas, there is a personal situation that may be an indication of the problems Negro people face when they make a determined effort to improve themselves. It is one of the cruelest and meaningless attitudes of all, to proclaim righteousness that we are "ready to help the Negro, when he first helps himself," without even understanding the size of this pledge.

This situation here is not an NAACP example; is not, the odds are great, even known to their investment in underground water, as the water in the underground formation is exhausted.

While the case directly involves only the Shurbets, the results of the case will set guide lines for all water users of the Muleshoe area, and will, in large part, determine for all similar water users their right to a depletion allowance.

For this reason the appeal in Houston will be watched with great interest by area water users as a significant step toward depletion allowance.

This might be a clear case for the Fair Employment Practices Commission, by our own admission, but we think not. We could have hired the first Negro soci-er faithfully, with good effort and patience, to no result. A FEPC representative outlined her case a few days back to a small business gathering and received expressions of sympathy, but no job offer.

And understandably here in Littlefield, with a record of being one of the South's first schools to integrate in 1956, we do not hire Negro bookkeepers, or receptionists — or society writers.

That last is our own personal conclusion. I interviewed this young woman several months back when we had two job openings in a prospect. One of them was for a reporter — society writer. The other job would have required daily contact with many of the people our business serves.

Hers was by far the best of the written applications we had, and her interview produced evidence of good ability and attitude, but it was an empty formality. We knew it would avail nothing and felt that the intelligent young woman to whom we were talking to knew the same thing.

This might be a clear case for the Fair Employment Practices Commission, by our own admission, but we think not. We could have hired the first Negro soci-

Water Depletion Case Opens In Court

Another chapter in the Marvin Shurbet "water depletion" case, (Marvin Shurbet vs. United States) is unfolding this week, when the government appeal of the case will be heard before the Federal Fifth Circuit Court in Houston.

In 1963, the Shurbet case was tried in Federal District Court and resulted in a judgment for the Shurbets. The District Court held that in determining their income tax, the Shurbets were entitled to a "water depletion allowance", thus enabling them to regroup a percentage of their investment in underground water, as the water in the underground formation is exhausted.

While the case directly involves only the Shurbets, the results of the case will set guide lines for all water users of the Muleshoe area, and will, in large part, determine for all similar water users their right to a depletion allowance.

A Six Flags musician gets an inspection of its weird attire by glamorous Donna Douglas (better known as television's Ely May Clampett) during a premier showing of the newest Six Flags ride... The Spee-lunker Cave. The Spee-lunkers have already taken over the operation of the Park's newest creation, which was coincident with Six Flags' beginning of its daily operation on June 1.

THE SPEE-LUNKERS CAVE READY FOR SIX FLAGS SUMMER SEASON

Six Flags Over Texas newest project, "The Spee-lunkers Cave" will be open to visitors on June 1, the day the Park officially commences its summer daily operation schedule.

Costing $300,000 the unique creation is the brainchild of Six Flags art director Randall Duell. Construction on the 600 foot man-made cave has been underway for eight months and some 60 engineers, artists, electricians and special effects technicians will wind up their efforts next week.

The Cave has been termed "a marvel of man's imagination, engineering and animation" by newsmen who inspected the three-quarter finished project last week. Miss Donna Douglas, star of the Beverly Hillbillies TV show was also present for the tour and saw first hand the strange 30-inch high animated Spee-lunkers who inhabit the cave.

"Visitors will journey through the Cave," explained Mr. Duell, "aboard round Indian Bull boats. Inside the Cave it's completely dark save for the special fluorescent lights and paint which bring about a fascinating display of the secrets to be witnessed by the visiting 'explorers.' The boats are propelled 3 1/2 feet per second by the force of the water through the use of two centrifugal pumps which are rated at 1,800 gallons per minute.

"A colony of 28 Spee-lunkers operate the Cave and being most talented little people, they are able to play instruments, do the 'Twist,' make rock candy from cave crystals, play cards, engage in turtle racing and absorb nourishment from cave air by osmosis through their oversized ears.

"Also inhabiting the cave are huge lobsters, flying bats, trees that dance the 'Twist' and a broken hull of a sunken ship whose crew still carries on some of the skylarking activities that most sailors engage in at one time or another.

"The ride culminates in a terrific storm at sea in the cave where the wind hits 35 knots per hour and the water is turned into a froth. Lightning flashes across the Cave and visitors are subjected to all of the feelings and anxieties of a storm at sea.

The entire project was built on the premises at Six Flags and the extraordinary talents of man in creating fantasy are brought into full focus by the Spee-lunkers Cave.

Today's Meditation

HAD YOU THOUGHT!

Had you thought just why obituaries are read at funerals? I do not know who originated the idea, but the custom has become deep seated in the South land. What good purpose does it serve? Why should the practice of reading obituaries at funerals be continued? In most sections of America an obituary is not read at the funeral. In the North and mid-west the practice of this custom is fast disappearing.

Let us consider why the reading of obituaries should be discontinued:

1. All members of the family of a deceased person know all about the life-history of the loved one who has passed in death.
2. The close friends know as much about the deceased as a friend should know.
3. The public as a whole do not know and do not need to know. Many of them have a passing concern about the matter.
4. There are times when the reading of an obituary is embarrassing to the members of the family and to the minister who directs the service.
5. The intimate knowledge of members of the deceased do not need to be reminded of the statements in an obituary.
6. The family is a very sacred institution and this sacredness is not to be violated with the reading of an obituary.
7. The fact that a person is being buried is information enough to the general public.
8. The public as a whole is more curious than interested in knowing the secrets of another's life.

Farewell Tea Given In Honor Of Branson Family

Rev. and Mrs. David Branson, J. L. and Eric were guests of honor at a Sunday afternoon tea given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. White.

Rev. Branson has been pastor of the First Christian Church here for the past two years. The family has moved to Edinburg where he has accepted the pastorate of the First Christian Church.

The refreshment table was laid with a white nylon cloth over red and centered with an arrangement of white candles entwined with miniature red roses.

Host couples were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Haley, Mr. and Mrs. John Young, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pat Wagon and Mr. and Mrs. White.

Guests calling between the hours of 3 and 5 p.m. presented the family with gifts of remembrance and expressed appreciation for their service to the church and community and success in their new church.

BATHTUB BUCCANEER

In every family with youngsters, there's sure to be at least one "balky bather." Usually he, or she, is a boy or girl who knows very well that keeping clean is just a silly grown-up notion, and bathing is a mean trick played on small children by big adults.

Is there one in your house? Then you know that you can lead this reluctant sprite to that nice tubful of soapy water — but making the occasion a happy one without yells of protest is quite another story.

What to do? Taking a mother's-eye view of this familiar mud and tears situation, one manufacturer of specially soaps offers hope, and a fun-filled solution. Reasoning that all small-try, even those who hate to bathe, love bubbles and boats, this company has developed a new combination of the two that's designed to make that daily bath a welcome event!

The happy result comes as a dual package: Matey Fun Bath, a soap product for children that bubbles when it's poured in the bath, plus a brightly colored pirate ship of plastic that floats merrily on the water while splashing and scrubbing are in progress. There's a whole series of these miniature ships, in color-tested hues of red, green, blue and orange, sporting a variety of sails with "really frilly" buccaneer symbols — a skull and crossbones, a dragon, pirate stripes, even a rampant lion. All of the masts, hulls and sails are interchangeable and youngsters will be able to build up a mighty multi-colored armada in a very short time.

Fast on the heels of the pirate fleet will soon be appearing more Matey tub-time ships. Already scheduled are a man-o'-war and a Viking barque, with other famous sea-going types to follow. For busy mothers weary of listening to tearful laments about bathing, these gay little ships are the newest way to transform the family's howling balky bathers into happy bathtub buccaneers.

Trinity WMS Meets At Church

W. M. S. of the Trinity Baptist Church met Thursday.

The opening song, "Living for Jesus," was led by Ruth Walker accompanied by Pat Walker on the piano. Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Odessa Sladen.

There was a short business meeting presided over by President Daisy Conwell. It was voted to change their meeting time for the summer from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Thursday. Another vote will be called for when school starts again, to see if another time should be set.

FOLLOW SIMPLE RULES IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Vacation time is here. Soon millions of people will be driving about the country, and automobile accidents will occur with increasing frequency. What should a person do when involved in an accident?

At such times it is hard to keep your wits about you and know just what to do. It is therefore a good idea to plan in advance just what you would do in event of a smash-up. Here are a few simple rules that every driver should commit to memory:

1. Stop! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.
2. Render Aid. If anyone is injured: (1) Render first aid. (2) Stop bleeding. (3) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. (4) Do not move an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.
3. Protect the Scene from Further Damage. You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers, unless they are properly warned. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlight beams on the wrecked vehicles.
4. Call an Officer. Policemen, Highway Patrolmen, Sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.
5. Gather Information. Write It Down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess — be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver and he must do the same.
6. Be Careful What you Say. Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no discussion. You may learn later that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted. Whatever you say, make it factual.
7. See Your Doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.
8. Consult Your Lawyer Immediately. The soon your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to investigators or adjusters for the other side.
9. Inform Your Insurance Company Promptly. Failure to do so may void your policy.
10. Report the Accident to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury or death, or if total damages exceed $25.00.

An Official accident report form may be procured from the Police, Sheriff's Dept., Highway Patrol, or State Dept. of Public Safety.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the state Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Localites Attend Law Graduation

Donald Nix, son of Evelyn Nix Simpson, Hobbs, N. M. and the brother of Mrs. Byron Gunter of Muleshoe, was graduated from the Law School of SMU, Dallas, in commencement exercises Monday. Nix received his Bachelor of Law degree.

Attending the graduation exercises were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Simpson, Hobbs; Mr. and Mrs. Byron Gunter and Terry and Lizan Gunter, Muleshoe, and Nix's grandmothers, Mrs. L. B. Rice, Shallowater, and Mrs. E. C. Nix, Seminole.

Nix plans to be in Paris, France, for six weeks after taking his Texas Bar Examination next month. He will then go to London, England, for one year's association with an English law firm there.

As a student of International Living he was in India last year. He will be in France for a similar exchange program this summer. The employment with the English law firm was granted Nix upon his graduation by the SMU law faculty. He was chosen as the one representative from his law class to be so honored.

Sure to Please: Curry and Rice

Like fingerprints, tastes in curry seem to vary with the individual. The cook of India makes her own curry powder, and may pulverize from five to fifty different ingredients to obtain just the precise flavor she wants for a particular dish. In other countries such precision is not required; prepared curry powder will do the trick. But the foods to be curried, the amount of spice used and the accompaniments are subject to wide variation. Two facts do not seem to change, however: curries are popular, and are always accompanied by rice.

The reason for the latter fact is simple. Whether the curry is hair-curling hot or subtle as a hint, the bland flavor of rice sets it off ideally. Rice adds to the attraction of the dish, too, with its contrasting texture and compatible color — snowy white or delicate yellow as in the Saffron Rice below.

Lamb Curry With Bananas is a Caribbean version of the classic Indian curry. Bananas as the single accompaniment and saffron rice (yellow rice) give it the island touch.

- Lamb Curry With Bananas
- 1 cup thinly sliced onion
  - 3/4 cup chopped green pepper
  - 1 small clove garlic, minced
  - 3 tablespoons olive oil, butter or margarine
  - 2 tablespoons flour
  - 2 cups meat stock or bouillon
  - 1/2 cup tomato sauce
  - 2 tablespoons minced parsley
  - 1 tablespoon curry powder
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
  - 1 large bay leaf
  - 1 pinch thyme
- Saffron Rice:
- 1 cup uncooked rice
  - 2 cups water
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon saffron
  - 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- Cook onion, green pepper, and garlic in 2 tablespoons oil until golden. Sprinkle on flour, stir until well blended. Add meat stock, simmer until thick and smooth. Add tomato sauce, parsley and seasonings; simmer about 15 minutes. Stir in the meat and let stand in the sauce — preferably overnight but at least an hour. Shortly before serving, cook banana slices in remaining oil. Cook Saffron Rice and garnish with the sautéed banana slices. To prepare Saffron Rice, combine ingredients in a saucepan. Heat to boiling. Stir, cover, and cook over low heat until rice is tender, about 15 minutes, 6 servings.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health

AUSTIN — Your eyes are your window to the world. But, even if you are able to read this, your vision may still be defective.

Chances are slightly more than one out of two that something is wrong with your eyes, on the basis of statistics.

Close to 80 million Americans wear glasses. At least two million of these have inadequate vision even with glasses. About one million persons are blind. Another 30,000 Americans become blind each year.

Unfortunately, many misconceptions and myths about eyes exist.

Take eye strain, for example. Ophthalmologists — physicians who specialize in eyes care — usually agree that there is no such thing as eye strain. Those pains and discomforts that sometimes follow long hours of watching a jumpy television screen actually are due to eye fatigue. Your eyes need to rest, too.

Children do not outgrow crossed eyes, and this condition should be treated as early as possible. Otherwise, some loss of sight could result.

Good vision is important to safe driving of an auto, but perfect vision is by no means required. The driver who has a few drinks under his belt is much more dangerous than the near-sighted driver whose defect is reasonably well corrected with glasses.

You've probably heard that eating plenty of carrots is good for your eyes. Eating carrots, however, does not necessarily improve vision. Carrots do contain vitamin A, but only a very small amount of it is needed. And it is found in many of the foods we eat, as well as carrots.

Glaucoma — the most common of the serious eye diseases — cannot be cured. But it can usually be arrested by treatment.

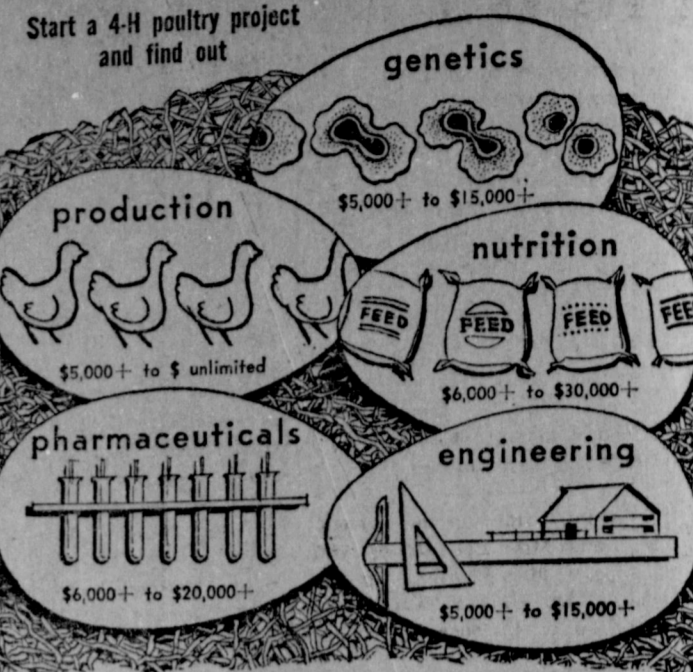

and further loss of vision can be prevented. Regular checkups for glaucoma are most important, particularly to those past 40.

Children should have their first medical eye examination at the age of three or four, and should be re-examined each year. The small child may have grossly defective vision and not know it.

What can you do to protect your eyes and vision? Make sure that you and everyone in your family — especially the children — have regular eye checkups. Any noticeable change in vision is a definite tip-off that an examination is needed.

The main reading room of the Library of Congress was opened on Nov. 1, 1897.

Will Your Chicken Lay a Golden Egg?

Shown here are starting salaries and potential earnings in five of the poultry sciences

The 4-H Club members enrolled in a poultry program soon learn that to raise even a small flock successfully requires some knowledge of the poultry sciences related to feeds, breeds, disease control and production.

They get this information through extension poultry bulletins, from the local 4-H Club leader and from the extension worker. And applying what they learn often produces the "golden egg" that discloses a future career.

Project Determines Career

High school students say that experience gained in tending a flock of birds determined their choice of college courses to prepare them for a career in the poultry industry.

The $6 billion industry in the United States involves scores of specialized fields such as engineering, genetics, nutrition, pharmaceuticals, and large-scale production. And, according to a recent survey made by the Western Poultry Congress, there is a shortage of college trained young people to fill these jobs.

Among 500 commercial firms surveyed recently, the lowest starting salary for college graduates was $5,000 (see illustration above) and potential earnings over $30,000.

Jobs Go Begging

What's more, the survey reveals that in one year less than 100 students were graduated with a bachelor's degree in poultry science. There were more than 250 jobs waiting to be filled.

One prospective employer, Heisdorf & Nelson Farms, Inc., helps to get 4-H'ers started in a poultry project, and offers incentive awards along the way.

Through arrangements made with the National 4-H Service Committee and the Cooperative Extension Service, the firm annually provides six national $500 college scholarships, educational trips to the National 4-H Club Congress and medals for high ranking poultry members in the county.

Statistics forecast that many boys and girls will leave the farm to earn a living elsewhere. There appears to be a golden egg in the poultry industry.

Lanes Home From New York Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Verge Lane, owners of Lane Furniture Store, have returned from a trip to New York City and the World's Fair. Lane said the most outstanding feature of the five-day trip was their visit to the showing of the new Philco products held at Radio City and the Ford Pavilion at the World's Fair. At these places they saw fabulous creations that will be on the market, many of them in the near future and some in the more distant future.

On a tour of New York, they saw China Town, the Empire State building and "skid row" with plenty of the city's drunks sleeping on the streets drawing an actual picture for West Texans on what skid row really means.

The couple attended the play "What Makes Sammy Run" which they said they enjoyed very much.

Asked what Mrs. Lane was most impressed with on the trip, Mr. Lane replied "Everything there!"

FRANKLY SPEAKING

By J. Frank Poery

TIME ON MY HANDS

It is your life and you must live it. You must finally make the decisions and live with the consequences. With the coming of summer, longer daylight hours, and vacation time, many decisions will be made in relationship to time, especially leisure time.

One of the problems in thinking about leisure activities is the development of a descriptive vocabulary. Some persons distinguish between individual and group activities. Others feel that the distinction between passive and active participant is the distinction. The line is other times drawn between less premeditated leisure activities.

How then can we look at leisure time? One way to look at recreational or leisure activities is to analyze the skills which seem to be required. Even skills divide themselves: body skills, manipulative skills, and appreciative skills. In the realm of body skills, we think of walking. Some people get great joy out of walking; yet, how often we walk in slovenly ways and in ways which give us no real pleasure. Most sports and athletic activities involve body skills. While objects such as balls, poles, rackets, and 16-lb. shots are involved, the primary skill is in the use of the body. In the field of manipulative skills, man has become the developer and user of tools. In a very real way, this potentiality of man is symbolized by the ability of man to touch his thumb with his fingers. From this potentiality follows a host of recreational and leisure-time pursuits. The most obvious of these are various craft activities. The graphic arts, sculpture and architecture involve manipulative skills. A friend of mine would make a good case for gardening and cooking as such skills. Appreciative skills take on a different aspect. There are numerous leisure pursuits in which I do not do something as much as something is done to me. Something creeps into my awareness that brings awe, wonder and appreciation. A bird watcher discovers a new species; a music lover listens to a symphony; the artist looks with joy on a multi-colored sunset; a child becomes a real live character in a good book that has captured his imagination. Frankly Speaking — It is your life and you must live it. For the more abundant life, et involved in leisure — time skills that keep the body healthy, that manipulate the hands and mind, that draw you into the realm of awe and appreciation.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill's Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm comes up with a hard question to answer this week.

Dear editor: I was glancing through a newspaper last night and ran across a picture of President Nasser of Egypt giving Premier Khrushchev of Russia a bear hug and a continental kiss on the cheek in appreciation for half a billion dollars in aid and my reaction was, some people will do nearly anything for half a billion dollars, but then I read the article accompanying the picture.

According to it, Russia has spent half a billion dollars building a big dam for Egypt, and Mr. Khrushchev was in Egypt to get the proper credit for it.

On the other hand, the United States has spent nearly a billion and a half, three times as much, on aid to Egypt, on the theory I guess that avoiding a kiss from Nasser comes high. Surely we could have found somebody who would have volunteered, just to save the country a billion dollars.

I don't know anything about this guy Nasser, but I'd like to. I'd like to learn more about his system of getting money from the United States to keep from going communist and money from Russia to keep from going capitalist.

You reckon he's working now on getting money from the Democrats to keep from going Republican and from the Republicans to keep from going Democratic? Has he thought of working Red China against Formosa? How about De Gaulle against England? Bailey County against Lamb County?

If he can keep the system going, it won't be long before the desert sands of Egypt will flourish and it's possible we can apply to him for aid to keep from going Castro.

Speaking of Castro, I have a notion he'll go down in history as the man who lost his country's cigar trade with the United States right when cigarettes were given a bad name.

As for Nasser, we ought to study his methods a little closer. If I could just get two banks competing with each other to see which could lend me the most money . . . .

There are some types of news that sort of jump out at you from a newspaper and then continue to stare you in the face throughout the day.

A sample is the news I read in a newspaper yesterday morning before I began my day's work. Some farmers fill up their tractor with oil and gas and then take off, but I always figure I ought to fuel up my mind too and consequently like to look over a newspaper before starting out so my brain will have something to operate on also. Sometimes you don't find much, but then sometimes it doesn't take much for a brain to run on. If you will adapt your brain to whatever

KNOW YOUR INSECT ENEMY BIG AND SMALL BOLLWORMS

Cotton farmers must always be on the lookout for an invasion! There are a great number of insects that invade fields and take a "bite" out of cotton plants. But when growers see signs of bollworms, large or small, they know there is big trouble.

A generation of bollworms may be completed in 20 days during warm weather, with 4 to 6 generations occurring annually. Farmers should watch for small, pearly-white, dome-shaped eggs on growing tips, squares and bolls. Eggs indicate a potential infestation, and the field should be surveyed again in 3 to 5 days. The color of developing worms varies from pink to green to almost black. Full-grown worms enter the ground and become mahogany-brown pupae, from which adult moths emerge.

A bollworm infestation is indicated by feeding marks on new leaves in the plant terminals or by holes in squares and small bolls. Newly-hatched worms feed on leaf buds and small squares, and later attack larger squares. Injured squares often turn yellow, flare and either drop to the ground or are easily swept from the plant. Large worms feed on bolls and pollen in open flowers. Greatest damage is caused by tunneling into and destroying bolls. In severe infestations, the worms may "top" the plant by eating terminals.

The heaviest worm population may be expected on plants that are in good growing condition. Many experts feel that the ideal treatment time is before the bollworms reach one-half inch in length, because they are much easier to kill and have done little damage. Most agree that it is practical to treat for larger worms when heavy infestations are found, but control is relatively poor compared with treatment for small worms.

Studies indicate that timing of application is the most important aspect of bollworm control. Best results are obtained when the larvae are small and located in the terminal growth. It is usually more difficult to control the larger worms, lower on the plant.

Many growers are finding that a newer, safer carbamate insecticide, called Sevin, gives excellent control of big and small bollworms. Cotton farmers who accurately time their applications of Sevin when worms are small get more effective control. With heavy infestations of older worms, they make applications at 4 to 6-day intervals. Because conditions vary in different regions of the cotton belt, it is a good practice to check local and state recommendations for timing and rate of application.

provided he would go for one year without buying anything else on credit. In effect, this man was sentenced to stop using the time-ment plan, and this is what I'm talking about.

Now this particular man may knuckle under, but if the judge keeps on handing down such sentences, some bird is going to appear, and if it gets to the Supreme Court and those nine fellows search the Constitution and come up with a paragraph which to their notion clearly states that the Founding Fathers said it was unlawful for a man to buy a television set on time, the balloon will be busted. All you know-what will break loose. The economy will be wrecked, two-thirds of the cars will go back to the finance companies, half the houses will be locked up and abandoned, engagement rings will be pouring back into the jewelry stores, speedboats will be docked, vacation trips will end in midflight, warehouses will be overflowing with illegal-bought dollar-down-dollar-a-week lawn furniture, manufacturing plants will grind to a halt, advertising will disappear, well, the picture is too grim to go on.

This thing has got to be stopped before it goes one step further, even if it means hiring the best lawyers in the nation, on time, of course.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Jeweled Treasure Bars

Yo-Ho-Ho and a house full of fun—at a Captain Kid children's party! The pirates treat is "Jeweled Treasure Bars" served with milk or soft drinks. The easy to bake cookie bars are made from crisp saltine crackers and the hidden treasure jewels are yummy gumdrops in colors of emeralds, rubies, diamonds and other precious gems. So easy for Mama, such fun for the young ones. Here's how to make this new treat:

"Jeweled Treasure Bars"
 2 1/4 cups very fine Krispy Saltine Cracker crumbs
 1 cup finely chopped, grated or ground unblanched almonds
 2 cups tiny, colored gumdrops
 1 egg, well beaten
 1/2 cup dark corn syrup
 1/2 cup light cream
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon almond extract
 Crush crackers, between waxed paper, with rolling pin into very fine crumbs (or crush in electric blender). Mix with almonds and gumdrops; set aside. Mix egg, syrup, cream, sugar and almond extract together; add to crumb mixture and blend well. Gently pack into greased 9"x9"x2" pan. Add a few more gumdrops to top if desired. Bake in moderate oven (350°F) for about 35 minutes, or until lightly browned and firm to touch. Cool a bit in pan and cut while still warm into 20 bars (3 cuts one way, 4 the other). Yield: 20 bars.
 *This is easy in an electric blender.
 **If not available, snip large gumdrops into tiny pieces.

Easy Way To Bake A Cake

One of the best cakes ever developed in the Nucoa kitchens is the Mock Pound Cake. A far cry from the old recipes calling for a pound of this and a pound of that. My how expensive they were! This one uses only 3 eggs and 1/2 cup of margarine. The 8 ounces of cream cheese give a distinctive texture and flavor.

Mock Pound Cake
 3 cups sifted cake flour
 3/4 teaspoon baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup Nucoa margarine
 1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 3 eggs, beaten
 1/2 cup milk
 1 teaspoon vanilla

Lightly grease and flour 1 (10 x 4 inch) tube pan. Sift cake flour, baking powder and salt together; set aside. Cream margarine and cream cheese. Gradually add sugar; beat until fluffy. Blend in beaten eggs. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, blending well after each addition. Stir in vanilla. Pour into prepared pan. Bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven about one hour or until cake tests done.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER
 FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER
 Committee Banking and Currency Labor and Public Welfare

I am sorry to have to report that, for all practical purposes, it now appears there will be no legislation passed this Session to aid our domestic beef industry.

There is a great deal of scurrying around now, by many people, in an effort to make it appear that progress is being made in this regard. But the end result is likely to be no legislation this Session that would limit or restrict the flood of foreign beef, veal, lamb and mutton that has driven farm prices down, and has resulted in the loss of millions of dollars to Texas farmers and ranchers.

The history of our efforts to reduce the flood of foreign beef imports is this:

On January 28, 1963, more than 1 year ago, a bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Simpson of Wyoming, and co-sponsored by myself, that would have rolled back the amount of beef that could be imported in any one year to an amount equal to the average of the previous five years. You will note that this was more than a year ago. The Administration, and the Administration's leaders in Congress, opposed this bill bitterly. Department of Agriculture spokesmen appeared before the Committee and said it was not needed, that the falling prices were not caused by beef imports. The Administration was working, it was said, on a voluntary agreement that would solve everything.

They were successful in blocking Senate consideration of our bill, S. 557.

Later, when terms of the so-called voluntary agreement with New Zealand and Australia were announced, it was evident that the situation would get worse, not better. The agreement did nothing to guarantee that the already intolerable level of meat imports would remain intolerable.

In an effort to counteract the obvious displeasure of American farmers and ranchers over the agreement, and the opposition of the Administration to legislative attempts at curtailing imports, the Administration announced a program of beef buying, in an attempt to bolster prices. It was obvious that this would not be successful. It would amount to no more than a drop in the bucket as far as the real effect on prices is concerned.

The Senate then began consideration of the farm bill. It was obvious that the only way we could get consideration of beef bill was to place an amendment on the farm bill, for after the farm bill was to come the Civil Rights, bill, and everyone knew exactly what that meant.

Senator Roman Hruska of Nebraska drew an amendment, which I supported, for the farm bill that was essentially the same as the Simpson bill which the Johnson Administration would not let out of committee. The Administration, and its leaders in the Senate, beat the Hruska amendment by a vote of only 46 to 44. If we could have changed only one vote, we could have tied the score at 45-45. If we could have then gotten one more vote we would have won.

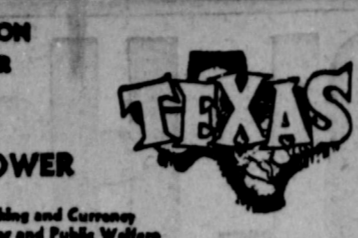

One of the strange aspects of this matter, to the average citizen, but not to the knowledgeable politician, was the move by some who had opposed beef legislation to introduce bills of their own at this stage of the game. All this was utterly useless.

The Senate minority leader, in debate on the Hruska amendment said this: "If Senators want some action and want to do something for the cattle producers... they had better do it now, because they will not have another opportunity." But, as I said earlier, we failed to sway enough votes. The amendment lost by a hairline margin.

With that vote it became apparent that there was not much chance for success this session. At this late date if we are unsuccessful in getting a bill through the Senate, it will in all probability die in the House of Representatives. There is just not enough time for anything else. It is anticipated that even if such a bill were passed by both the Senate and House, the President would veto it.

The key to success of failure was the Hruska amendment. The latest reports are that Australia and New Zealand are voluntarily cutting back their exports to the United States. While we can be grateful for small favors, this is small comfort to those who plan their herds on the basis of anticipated markets in this country. For if meat imports into this country have no stability, if they go up and down like a yo-yo, our own farmers and ranchers will be forced to depend upon the caprice of world-market conditions and the decisions of foreign governments, for the price they ultimately receive for their cattle and sheep in this country.

This is not a plea for a completely protected market, with tariff walls so high that no one can send their produce to us. We send a good bit of our products overseas, and we must be willing to trade. But we can at least ask that some degree of stability be given to our trade, so that our producers can plan and act accordingly.

 city writer on a white paper in the South, and we would have gone without a lot of readership that is the lifeblood of a newspaper.

Here is one of those situations that prevail not only in the South, and for which there is no answer today. It is one of injustice, of one disappointment—on another for this young woman, to whom this bit of writing may be an embarrassment and unfair to her.

Why, then, write it? Why put into words a frustrating circumstance for which there is no answer at hand, and without exhorting us all to do better? You may conclude rightly that most of us have enough troubles even here in pleasant West Texas without airing them purposelessly, like a cheap soap opera. We think there is a purpose, a point. It is that someday soon we must SEE the Negro as a human being who lives close at hand and who is neither a faceless black mass nor a frothing fanatic on your television screen screaming NOW! and dying senselessly beneath the tracks of a bulldozer.

The NOW! will not happen in Lamb county, Texas, nor most of the country. Its practical purposes can and must be reached by the at-hand recognition of the Negro's rights, to develop as a profitable citizen through greater opportunity when he, or she, has earned it, and through an awareness of the human dignity due him, as it is due every person in this country. This is a two-way street where the openings are sometimes narrow, but the way will be found.

Naturally, this varies from place to place. All the coaches don't make all the trips. Some-one has to stay home to run the store. The lineup will also depend upon vacation schedules. But you can get the general idea in case the memory has mercifully disappeared.

Moore County Suit For Redistricting Taken To High Court

Editor's Note: The Journal is reprinting the following story from the Moore County News because it directly follows a similar problem in Bailey County where the commissioner's court is controlled in a similar manner.

The second step in appealing a 69th District Court decision regarding the redistricting of Moore County was taken Tuesday as County Commissioner Dan Hatter filed a $250 cost bond with the District Clerk.

Signing the bond as sureties were Larry Meek and Cecil Hudson, both of Dumas.

The machinery for appeal of the decision by Judge Harry Schultz in the redistricting case began when the court's decision was rendered on May 5. Hatter and his attorney, C. D. Bourne, gave notice of appeal.

The bond filed with the district clerk removes the case from the jurisdiction of 69th District Court and places it under the jurisdiction of the Seventh Supreme District Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo.

Next step in appellate proce-to order a transcript of the trial to be submitted to the appeal court. However, no request for trial documents has as yet been made.

The bond filed here Tuesday is termed as a "cost" bond and guarantees that the Hatter and the 14 other plaintiffs in the case will pay "all costs in the trial court and cost of the statement of facts and transcript."

A civil case asking a court order on redistricting of the county was filed by Commissioner Hatter and 14 others when several motions by the commissioner failed to get a second in meetings.

The case was filed here in April, 1963. In a summary on May 5 Judge Schultz ruled that "the administrative powers of the Commissioners Court had not been exhausted."

The original petition of the plaintiffs alleges that representation on the Commissioners Court is so unequal that "... voting power of many citizens is diluted" and called for the county's first reapportionment since its formation in 1892.

K.M.P. Lake Pump Made At Earth

A widely-known South Plains pioneer farmer and his son have perfected a revolutionary new lake pump which water conservationists of the area proclaim as a great step toward further preservation of our underground water supply.

Gus Parish, who moved to Earth, Texas, in 1923, is the inventor of the K.M.P. Lake Pump which he and his son Doug are now manufacturing in a plant located on the Parish farm, one mile south of Earth.

The pump eliminates time-consuming priming and will not clog under normal lake conditions. It was designed to allow farmers to quickly and economically pump water from the thousands of lakes which form throughout the South Plains each year.

The elder Parish, one of the first to use a turbine type irrigation well back in 1936, is a veteran leader in water conservation of this area, having served on many committees and boards, including the High Plains Water Conservation District.

The K.M.P. saves money and time, Parish points out, "because it eliminates priming of the supply pipe that goes into the lake."

Another big advantage to the K.M.P. Lake Pump is that it will pump in water 18 inches to 15 feet without losing prime. If the pump sucks air along with water, it continues to pump as much water as is available, without losing suction.

Parish explained that lake water is "by far better for crops than underground water because it's warmer and it contains many more nutrients, accumulated as the water runs into the lake."

"You can see the difference in a cotton crop irrigated with lake water," he said. And with the abundance of lake and tail water in this Plains area Parish's development of K.M.P. Lake Pump has been encouraged by farmers and water conservationists alike.

The pump is currently selling at about $650.00 Parish said. It can be bought complete with trailer and motor for a total cost of about $1600.00 at the Plant.

Doug Parish, manager of the K.M.P. plant, said current production has reached five complete pumping units per week. Orders are increasing daily, he said, as information about the pump circulates.

The K.M.P. Pump unit mounted on a trailer is easy to move to the proper location. The pump is quickly backed into the water and connected to the delivery pipe which distributes the water.

With a small engine running about 1200 R. P. M., the K.M.P. Lake Pump with deliver about 1200 gallons per minute. Easy-to-motor speeds make the pumping range 600 to 1900 Gallons-Per-Minute.

Sufficient water pressure is maintained for operating sprinklers, Parish added.

The K.M.P. Lake Pump is made only in the 8 inch size presently but plans are on the drawing board for a smaller 4 inch pump which may be available by next season, the elder Parish declared.
