Awards Day At C. P. Elementary

By VANDA KING
Editor

Last Thursday was a big day for Cross Plains Elementary students kindergarten through sixth grade. It was officially "Awards Day" and every youngster was anticipating their special recognition. Each student was sighted for at least one award and many received several.

The Beginner Band, consisting of fifth graders, opened the program with several selections under the direction of Randy Taylor.

Mr. Ray Womack, elementary principal, greeted the children in his special way. He has a flair for communicating with the students that expresses his deep feelings for them.

First on the agenda was the presentation of Perfect Attendance Certificates. There was only an elite group who maintained the record. Womack stated that the amount of absentees due to illness was high this year.

Then the sixty-five participants in various U.I.L. events were recognized and given certificates. Mr. Womack expressed his respect for Rigoberto Rodriguez, who could not speak any English when he first came to Cross Plains Elementary. He entered U.I.L. spelling this year, which demonstrated his wonderful progress. The student body, teachers, and parents showed their admiration with a warm applause.

The next segment was dedicated to participants in the American Heart Association Jump-A-Thon. Dianna Stover presented Mr. Womack with a plaque from the American Heart Association expressing their appreciation to the school for having the second annual Jump Rope for Heart. Michael McClure was designated the top winner, receiving a trophy, t-shirt, sweat shirt, and a camera. Students raising the most funds for the benefit determined the winners. Many children won t-shirts, sweat shirts, ropes, and pins as prizes. The group collecting the most funds was Misti Abernathy, Rickie Jo Potter, Karen Dunn, Andrea Hamer, and DeAnna Horn.

Now it was time for the Olympic Awards! Mrs. Stover called each class to the stage and presented every child with an envelope stating the place they won in each event entered, plus the appropriate ribbons. Each student could enter a maximum of seven events including the long jump, softball throw, sit-ups, 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 1/2 lap, and the three-legged race.

The names and places won were too numerous to mention in the newspaper, but we congratulate them all as winners.

There were lots of smiling faces after all the attention, and the fact that school would be out for the summer the very next day.

See photos from Awards Day on the school page.

Crime Stoppers Program Advancing

By VANDA KING
Editor

The Cross Plains Crime Stoppers members held a luncheon meeting at Billie's Restaurant on Tuesday, May 24. David Cobos, a representative of the Governor's Office in Austin, was the guest speaker.

Cobos spoke to the group concerning all the details of organizing, maintaining, and succeeding. He was very complimentary of the progress made locally.

He noted that Cross Plains is the 185th Crime Stoppers group in Texas.

He also verified the fact that the program has been extremely effective in all communities where it has been established. Approximately 50 percent of all calls result in arrests.

The availability of grants for training, equipment, and travel were presented by Mr. Cobos. He also provided several suggestions for publicity and fund raisers.

Brad Harris reported that the by-laws and articles were prepared, and the next major step was to obtain a tax-free number. Fund raisers can begin when the application is submitted.

Before adjourning, the length of term for each board of director was determined by a drawing. W.G. McCoy, Tom Stephenson, Margaret McNeel, and Jim Cook will serve three year terms; Debbie Gosnell, Betty Lewis, and Vanda King two year terms; and Joe McWilliams, Gene Greenwood, and Susan Schaefer one year terms. The staggered terms will allow more residents to participate in Crime Stoppers operations.

Crime Stoppers has already received one call before officially beginning, and Beta Sigma Phi has donated $100 and the Justice of the Peace Office $50 to the program. These acts indicate a definite interest in its progress.

Everyone attending displayed continued enthusiasm in Crime Stoppers becoming active promptly. The cooperation and participation of the entire community will be necessary to succeed, but that is a quality that Cross Plains has long been noted for.

'Know Before You Go' Is Message Of Texas Safe Boating Week June 5-11

As hundreds of thousands of Texans make their summer vacation plans, those contemplating going on the water are being urged to 'Know Before You Go' during Safe Boating Week, June 5-11. This message, which is being promoted nationwide by the National Safe Boating Council and in Texas by the Boating Trades Association of Texas (BTAT), is aimed at reminding non-traditional boaters of the need to understand basic rules of boating safety.

Non-traditional boaters are those who use boats for sports activities such as fishing, waterskiing or hunting. The National Safe Boating Council reports that even though these people may not consider themselves boaters, they make up 90 percent of the boating population.

To help spread the message in Texas, Governor Bill Clements has proclaimed the June 5-11 period as Texas Safe Boating Week. Officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department also are using this week to kick off a new educational campaign among the state's more than 600,000 registered boat owners. In cooperation with BTAT, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is publishing a listing of "Boating Commandments" which it will distribute to each boat owner along with registration renewals. These guidelines will serve as reminders about procedures all boaters need to follow to ensure a safe and enjoyable trip.

"We are proud to be working with the state to provide some basic education to all our boaters," said Jimmie Vititow, BTAT president. "It is much easier to prevent a problem by knowing and heeding boating basics than it is to get out of trouble once a problem has occurred."

Rules of the road for boaters are available from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in a pocket guide entitled "Boating in Texas." The department also offers a free boating course, "Texas Boating Basics." To receive the pocket guide or to inquire about the "Texas Boating Basics" course, call toll-free 1-800-792-1112. Boating courses also are available through the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, the U.S. Power Squadrons, and the American Red Cross.

The Boating Trades Association of Texas is a statewide organization of boat dealers, manufacturers, distributors and others in the industry. BTAT works at the state and national level to enhance the pleasure and safety of recreational boating.

Ranch Rodeo Is Saturday

The Callahan County Sheriff's posse will present its 1st Annual Ranch Rodeo Scramble this Saturday, June 4th from 6 to 9 p.m. in conjunction with Baird's 15th Annual Trade's Fair.

The entire day promises to be full of fantastic frivolous fun for all.

The Trade's Fair activities will begin at 9 a.m. featuring arts and crafts booths, games for the children, lots of food, races and demonstrations by the Baird volunteer fire department, bluegrass music on the courthouse lawn by "The Bluegrass Kinfolk" and a delicious barbeque brisket lunch with all the trimmings offered by the Baird Chamber of Commerce. These activities will be going on throughout the day in downtown Baird. Then at 6 p.m. the action will move to the Baird rodeo arena, east of town, for the First Annual Ranch Rodeo Scramble.

It's called a scramble because all of the approximately ten teams will be drawn. Admission to the rodeo is $3.00 for adults and $1.00 for children under 12, when accompanied by an adult.

Don't forget the chamber's street dance, downtown immediately following the rodeo featuring the tunes of the Tim Bosley Band, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. So, be in Baird Saturday June 4th. All for fun and fun for all. Be there!

Back Care: Bending And Lifting

Doctors tell us that most back pain results from having bad "back habits."

So what can you do for a healthy back? One important bad "back habit" to correct is improper bending and lifting.

When bending or lifting or even just reaching down for that matter, follow these rules:

—Face the object you'll be picking up; don't twist your body.

—Bend from your knees and hips — not from your waist. And bend down as far as necessary to reach the object you'll be picking up.

—Then tuck under your buttocks and pull in your abdominal muscles. This helps reduce swayback by flattening the lower back.

—Pick up the object and hold it close to your body.

—Then lift with your legs, using the large muscles of the thighs, not the small of your back.

—A general guideline to follow is to lift a heavy object no higher than the waist, lift a light object no higher than the shoulders — greater height tends to sway the back.

—To turn with an object in your hand, turn your entire body as a unit. Do not twist to turn or to set the object down.

—And when setting the object down be sure to follow the same steps you used in lifting the object. Hold the object close to your body, and bend down from your knees and hips, not from your waist.

One last caution — don't be a hero with a heavy load or one that is especially large or awkward so that it can't be held close to the body. Get help!

MINUTE MUSINGS

By ESTHLOY S. DICKSON

In the Life-Style section of Sunday's paper on "Step-Families" amused me. My family situation was much like that. "Yours, Mine and Ours."

I had Joanie when I married C.V. Sr. He had three sons by his first marriage — then we had C.V. Jr. Fortunately, we had very few serious problems.

C.V. Jr. called me Sunday evening — made my day! I talked to my sister in Cisco on Saturday. Her son is improving daily. He is "chomping at the bit" — wanting to go back to work. He has about a dozen fine horses; he has had them for years — now he has to sell them to pay the huge doctor and hospital bills they have — makes me sad!

Tim Dillard and his sweet family came out one evening and picked up my "carload" of newspapers. I was glad to be rid of them. I don't think I'll save anymore.

My next door neighbors, David and Sherryl Goble, have had a great weekend. Sherryl's parents are here (from Missouri, I believe). I couldn't get them on the 'phone.

J.T. Beggs and L.W. Mitchell went to Eastland on business on Saturday. Rex and Edith Beggs and children are "celebrating" since school is out. They and Phyllis and Jack Pancake all gathered at the Dennis Franke home for a fish fry supper. They had a small "scare" — some of the children ate some "treated" peanuts. Fortunately, they were not harmed; but Betty warns others about having such things around.

Ms. Jewel Foster's visitors were Ms. Jean Fore and her sister, Ms. Bessie McDaniel; also Wanda Montgomery and her mother, Ms. Horton.

Sara and David McGowen's guests this week were his uncle, Truman and Norma McGowen. Also, Milton and Fredra Montgomery from New Braunfels came in on Monday — will spend a few days.

Sally and Bobby Roady took her mother, Ms. Nettie, to Coleman for a checkup. She is doing fairly well. They visit her several times each week. They talk to Joe on the 'phone often.

It is cloudy and windy this morning. I just pray that we will have some rain soon. But, wasn't that moon beautiful last night! I was so glad the clouds let it through. Also, my Easter lilies are gorgeous now. Some six or seven huge "trumpet-shaped" blossoms out there — such a joy on this cloudy day.

By C.A.

Tuesday, May 24, a reception was held for Marie Stambaugh and Barbara Swinney. Both were presented a beautiful silver tray commemorating their years of service.

Almost every faculty member attended the reception which was held in the high school library.

Cake and punch was served and everyone had a chance to relax and visit for a while, which was nice at this hectic time of year.

Everyone wished them the best of luck upon their retirement.

Callahan County ACS Held Monthly Session

The Callahan County Unit of the American Cancer Society met May 10 at Olney Savings in Clyde. Mrs. Louise Mercer, president, presided.

Lavada Poindexter, treasurer, reported $190 received for memorials since March 8. Mrs. Mercer, Public Education Chairman, said the unit lacked reaching 300 adults to meet the goal for this year. She reported film and literature has been distributed to schools. The "Send a Mouse to College" program has been completed in Clyde and Hamby. Baird is to complete it in the near future. Mercer expressed her thanks to the schools for participating in the program. Judge Mack Kniffen, Service/Rehabilitation Chairman, reported 9 patients served with a value of $1,815. Aubrey Loper reported the results of the 1988 Crusade.

Bill Bailey, field representative told the unit to stress that any assistance given cancer patients is confidential. No service is refused because of lack of funds raised by the county.

Summer camps are available for children who have cancer. These camps are funded or partially funded by ACS. Anyone who knows of a child with cancer should contact the Abilene office or Mack Kniffen.

The unit voted to have an ice cream social for board members and guests August 9 at the Putnam Community Center.

Rev. Knox Waggoner was welcomed as a new board member. Others attending were: Bea Craig, Fern Lee, Rosie Holden, Nila Toler, Maurine Marr, Ruby Weathermon, and Floy McMullen.

Audrey Loper, County Chairman for the 1988 American Cancer Society Crusade, reported the campaign is nearing completion. The results of the Crusade are as follows:

Clyde	$2,111.03
Baird	1,120.95
Cross Plains	2,435.40
Putnam	87.50

Loper stated that the response has been tremendous at a time when dollars are tight. To date, the donations have exceeded the 1988 goal set by the unit.

The American Cancer Society provides a wide variety of services to the people of Callahan County.

The only thing a kid should be getting in school is smarter.

Unfortunately, what too many of them are getting, instead is drugs. With your help, it doesn't have to be this way.

There is a program called "Schools Without Drugs: The Challenge" that can help you deal with the drug problem in your community or school.

Find out about it. The smarter you are about what works against drugs, the better chance our kids will understand how dumb it is to take them.

ROWDEN NEWS

By MRS. N.V. GIBBS

Today, Saturday, has been cloudy and we are hoping for rain clouds to come over this area. Last week's rain has greened up the vegetation.

To start the week off, this writer visited Corrie Lou Darby in Baird on Monday. Then that afternoon former Rowden resident, Mona Vallance and her son, Troy Bartley of Gallipolis, Ohio, came for a visit. Mona is the daughter of the late Tom and Nora McCoy, who raised their children in the community. Mona graduated from Bayou School in 1943 and was also back for the Rowden-Bayou School Reunion in 1983.

Mona and her son are interested in plants and rocks. On Tuesday morning, the two of them came back and the three of us went rock hunting. From there they drove to the Lizzie Burks place to look for another type of rock. Mona and Troy were visiting her sister, Tommie Jo and her husband, Garland Wells of Baird.

Joyce and Sterling Odom accompanied Nancy Palmer and Michael Palmer of Clyde to Snyder where they visited in the Ralph Trevey home for sandwiches, cake, and ice cream before all attended the Snyder High School Graduation Exercises. David Trevey was among the 150 graduates. While there the group met up with Irene and Willie Masters for a short visit.

On Saturday, the 21st, Lottie Sooter went to Lubbock to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Grace Griffin. Loretta and Wylie Baker of Missoula, Montana spent last Monday night with Lottie.

Laverne and Cowan Hutton went to Lubbock Thursday and visited Mrs. J.T. Hutton, Cowan's mother. Laverne's mother, Mrs. Ella Dean of Cross Plains, came and visited Laverne and Cowan Monday afternoon.

Over the weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Nance and twin boys, Scott and Joey of Cedar Creek, were here to visit Oliver and Frankie Smith, maternal grandparents of the twins.

Mary Sayre of Breckenridge spent one night this week with Edna Dye. Edna reported a lot of yard work that kept her busy this week.

Census Bureau To Survey Households

Local representatives of the U.S. Census Bureau will revisit selected area households beginning June 1 to conduct its Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP), John E. Bell, director of the bureau's Dallas Regional Office, announced today.

SIPP is a major nationwide continuing survey introduced in the fall of 1983. It is one of the nation's largest surveys, with about 36,000 households participating.

The Census Bureau publishes periodic reports providing information from the survey. Subjects covered include the following:

- Jobs and earnings
- The economic effects of unemployment, disability, and retirement

- How taxes affect personal spending
- Participation in programs such as Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid, and food stamps.

Information from SIPP helps policy makers and administrators determine how well government programs are serving the public and how changes in programs and policies will affect the public.

Here are some facts based on SIPP interviews during 1984 on pension plans (the sample size limits accurate reporting to national figures only):

- Two thirds of the nation's wage and salary workers age 25 and over, some 52.7 million, were covered by employer-sponsored public and private pensions in 1984.

- Coverage, excluding Social Security, extended to 70 percent of men and 64 percent of women. Social Security covered about 92 percent of all civilian workers.

- About 90 percent of workers in firms with 1,000 or more employees were covered by pension plans, compared with one-quarter of those in firms with fewer than 25 employees.

- Pension coverage ranged from only 38 percent of workers with monthly earnings under $500, to 84 percent of those earning $2,000 or more.

- About one-fifth of wage and salary workers age 25 and over, some 16.3 million, had individual retirement accounts in 1984. Three out of four IRA participants were also covered by a pension plan at work (IRAs were established in 1974 to cover those not under a pension plan, but the program was extended to all workers in 1982).

Information collected in SIPP is confidential by law. Interviewers have credentials identifying them as U.S. Census Bureau employees.

DENTAL PROGRESS

FACTS FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF DENTAL RESEARCH
Survey Of Adult Dental Health

The tooth loss picture is looking brighter these days, a national survey reveals.

It's official: Americans are keeping their teeth longer today than just a decade ago. Toothlessness has been almost eliminated in middle-aged adults, and tooth decay is on the decline—at least in people under age 35. That's according to a new national survey just released by the National Institute of Dental Research, one of the National Institutes of Health, now celebrating its 40th anniversary of working for improved dental health.

The most comprehensive study of its kind ever done, the National Survey of Oral Health of United States Adults offers much news to smile about:

- Only four percent of working adults had lost all their teeth, a substantial decrease in toothlessness over the last ten years.

- Eighty percent of the employed adults and 76 percent of the seniors surveyed had visited a dentist within the past two years.

- By keeping their teeth, Americans saved close to $5.5 billion on false teeth alone from 1974 to 1981.

Less encouraging is the fact that nearly half the population had inflammation of the gums (gingivitis). However, for 77 percent of employed adults aged 18 to 65 and 95 percent of seniors who had some loss of supporting tissue around the teeth, only three to four percent were classified as having advanced periodontal disease.

Good oral hygiene helps prevent periodontal disease, say experts. Masses of bacteria adhere to teeth and gums in a sticky film called dental plaque, which must be removed on a regular basis. Brushing is an important step in plaque removal. Flossing removes bacteria from between the teeth where pockets begin. Done at least daily, careful cleaning can help protect your teeth and gums from bacterial diseases.

To The Businessman . . .

YOUR HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER IS HIS DIRECT LINE OF

In the newspaper, the businessman can show you in detail what he sells, why you need his product, or services, how much it costs, and where to come to buy it.
