STREETS NOW PAVED, BIG IMPROVEMENT

Seven block of street in the business section have been paved and about half has already been opened to traffic. There is some finishing up work on the curbs and some cleaning up to be done yet, but "it won't be long now" until all the new paving will be ready for use. It sure looks good, too, and everybody seems to be pleased.

When all the work has been finished, it is planned to have a big celebration or jubilee as a fitting climax to the big improvement program, which will in all probability be held on the streets. The City Council will gravel several streets, connecting with the pavement, as far as available funds will permit, including about ten blocks of the most important streets.

Watch Cross Plains grow.

BIG ATHLETIC PROGRAM THURSDAY NIGHT

Kid Nelson and Joe Manning will be the principals in the wrestling bout scheduled for tonight (Thursday) at the American Legion Stadium. It will be a good bout, as both are fast and furious. Another big event will be 8 round boxing bout between Dick Yarbrough and Sailor Todd. Other good preliminaries are also on program.

Last Thursday night Joe Manning beat Teddy Waters in a fast bout taking two falls out of three. The semi-final between the "Masked Marvel" and Paul Bruce went one round. It was a slow affair and the decision went to the "Marvel". Dick Yarbrough and Ode Davidson fought 4 fast rounds to a draw.

The Review suffered a breakdown with our Linotype this week and we are having our type set at Rising Star until new parts arrive from the factory. We all have our troubles—don't we? Yet the world keeps moving.

James Love is building a modern six room bungalow in Highland Park addition one block west of school buildings. Mr. Love is one of our most substantial citizens and he believes in Cross Plains.

Ross Wagner has returned from Paris, France, where he attended the American Legion Convention. He was gone 57 days and had a great trip. France welcomed the Legionnaires with open arms, and entertained them royally. There were about 30,000 Legionnaires from U. S. A. who took part in the grand parade. The next Convention will be at San Antonio next year.

Sam Sipes just recently purchased the Edwin Neeb property just North west of the Baptist Church.

A. J. Gensley has returned from Mayo Hospital in Rochester, and is happy to be back home. He lost his right lower limb, but states that he is feeling better than he has felt for years. He had Berger's disease and it became necessary to remove his right leg. We all sympathize with him in the loss of his limb but we are glad to have him back in good health and in good spirits.

Mrs. Rosa Essaler of Scotland, Texas is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hanke.

Little I. B. Loving, age nine, while playing with a candy stick (all day sucker) in his mouth, fell Wednesday, and the stick penetrated just back of his jaw. It was a serious injury, but he is doing nicely at this writing and we are pleased to state.

Supt. T. R. Haggard, and E. S. Murphy, coach, will attend County teachers Institute at Baird Saturday.

Wilfred Haggard of Simmons University spent Saturday here with the home folks.

Dr. and Mrs. Hoover and Dr. and Mrs. Thomason, were Abilene visitors, Sunday.

CLYDE BULL DOGS 27—CROSS PLAINS 0

C. L. Browning, Sport Editor

On Friday, Oct. 28 the Buffaloes met the Clyde Bull Dogs in Clyde. The boys seemed to have been over confident and on the other hand the Bull Dogs were determined to win. No scoring was done in the first half but Clyde kept the ball in Cross Plains territory most of the time. In the third and fourth quarters Clyde did all of their scoring. During the intermission between halves Coach Murphy tried to arouse the boys fighting spirit. The Buffaloes seemed really determined to win when they went back on the field but when Clyde scored a touchdown and kicked goal this took all of the boys fighting spirit.

Clyde's number of first downs were 13, to the Buffaloes 8.

Substitutions for Cross Plains were Robertson for B. W. Adams; S. Carmichael for McDermitt; S. Carmichael for Smith; Maddox for S. Carmichael; Gross for McDermitt; Harlow for Webb; Maye for C. Adams; A. Carmichael for Davis.

Starting lineup for Cross Plains: Ends, C. Adams, Webb; tackles, Carroll, Smith; guards, Clark, McDermitt; quarter, Poole; halves, Davis; B. Adams; full, Bennett.

CROSS PLAINS vs DUBLIN, NOV. 4
The Buffaloes meet Dublin on the local gridiron Friday, 4th. These two teams met the first of the season and battled to a scoreless tie. This will be a hard fought game and we expect a large crowd to be present.

The banquet given at the Baptist Church Thursday evening to the foot ball team, the pep squad, the board members and wives, and the teachers of the school was a success and very much enjoyed by all present and we wish to thank each and all who contributed their services, food or decorations.

This banquet showed that the town and all the religious denominations of the town are behind the school and are supporting it to the fullest extent.

Signed

T. R. Haggard, Supt.

B. B. Jones of Cottonwood was in town Monday with his ten year old son, who tips the scales at 137 pounds—a fine boy.

Miss Audra Gwin leaves Friday for a visit in Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Poley Williams were Ballinger visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Nichols visited relatives at Dublin, Sunday.

R. O. West and Olan Adams attended a foot ball game at Eastland, Saturday.

W. A. McGowen was a Fort Worth visitor Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mathis left Saturday for different points on the southern border.

Mrs. R. M. Harvey of Corsicana is visiting her brother, R. O. Hamilton and family.

Mrs. Monroe McDaniel is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Ellic Baum, who moved from here to Plainview last week.

200 Rattlesnakes Killed by Charge of Dynamite

Hot Springs, S. D.—Guy Keyes, a forest ranger whose station is near Keystone, in Harney national forest, forty miles from Hot Springs saw a rattlesnake glide along ahead of him as he rode over his range and disappear in a crevice of boulders a short distance away.

He followed in order to fill the reptile. On coming close to the rock he saw a great mass of slowly writhing snakes in a crevice in the boulders.

Realizing that he could not cope with such numbers, Keyes rode to his station and secured dynamite, which he used to blow up both rocks and snakes. As accurate a count as could be made afterward showed that there were about 200 snakes killed.

OIL OPERATIONS GO STEADILY ON HERE

West of town in the new field, L. G. Bradstreet is drilling in on his Waller No. 2 and it looks like a 100 barrel well. He is drilling at 1575 on No. 3.

Mook Texas Co. is drilling at 500 feet on T. E. Baum No. 2. P. O. & G. on No. 2 Ida Webb are drilling at 820 feet, and at 760 on No. 3. Shaw & Rathke on Miller No. 8 are drilling at 1360. Other wells, not reported this week.

E. M. Nance and family of Rising Star have moved to Cross Plains, and Mr. Nance and son, M. M. Nance, will be associated with the Dodson Chevrolet Co. We are glad to have this splendid family cast their lot with us.

Miss Hazelle Dorr has returned from a visit with friends in Eastland and Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harder of Putnam spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Marion Harvey.

CIRCUS POSTERS URGE FARMERS TO COME HERE

Zellmar Bros.' Greater Combined Trained Wild Animal Shows' advance crews are now scouring the country and neighboring towns with posters and other advertising matter for their date at Cross Plains on Friday, Nov. 11. One of the new things the Zellmar Bros. have placed on all advertising that goes to the country and neighboring towns is that the merchants in Cross Plains will offer exceptional bargains on everything on show day. Zellmar Bros. say the merchants should take advantage of the crowd that will be brought here by the show, by advertising their bargains for that day through the local newspapers.

The Post Service Station has been remodeled with new and attractive front. That's fine.

We are pleased to state that Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Howell of Coleman, have moved to our city, to take charge of the Ideal Theatre. Glad to have them.

COTTONWOOD NEWS

The peanut threshing in this community has been progressing nicely. Those on the western part are through.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Arvin entertained the young folks last Sunday night with a singing, it was well attended and had lots of fine singing.

Mrs. Hubert Brock of Baird spent last week with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brock.

Some of the ladies of this community gave a "hen party" last Saturday night. They met down on the creek and just as supper was spread an awful accident happened. Mrs. T. A. Coppinger fell off of a ten foot bluff into the creek, which was four feet in water. She would have drowned if it had not been for her son, R. G.

Mr. and Mrs. Q. J. Bowen and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hight and son of Santa Anna spent the week end with relatives here.

Last Monday, as we all know, was Hallowe'en, so we had a Hallowe'en party at the school house that night and there were a pretty large crowd present.

Mr. Molly Murray and son, L. V. motored to Cisco Sunday to see her brother and family.

Little Edna Hutchens of Atwell spent last week with her aunt, Mrs. S. E. Archer.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Ray are the proud parents of a fine boy.

We failed to have school one day last week on account of the funeral of an infant baby of Mr. and Mrs. Phelix Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Ellis have moved to the Lee Coats place where they aim to live this next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Carpenter are moving back to their old home in Bell county.

Mr. Earnest Carpenter and family who have been off picking cotton have come in. But are going back, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Froeland have their new house painted.

ENTERS CONTEST

Porter J. Davis has entered a pen of hens at John Tarleton and A. & M. in egg laying contest, which will be on for a year. He has a good chance to win, with his fine blooded hens.

At Wilson's Cafe you can get nice fat oysters.

Lindsey Tyson went to Temple Monday to undergo an operation. He was accompanied by Dr. Tyson, his father.

THE METHODIST CHURCH John Witt Hendrix, Pastor

Sunday School at 10 a. m. There is a class for every one; there is a class for you.

This is the last Sunday in the conference year. The Pastor leaves for conference next Tuesday. The Annual conference convenes in Big Spring Wednesday, Nov. 9th, Bishop John M. Moore, Dallas, presiding.

At 10:50 a. m., or 10 minutes before the regular service, next Sunday morning the pastor will baptise any babies whom parents will bring to the altar.

This will not keep the mother waiting for the end of the morning service.

At both services the doors of the church will be opened for any who care to join by letter or profession of faith. At the morning hour holy communion will be administered.

The pastor will preach both morning and evening. But remember the chief emphasis Sunday will be, Church Membership.

Engene Pinney of Borger, came in Monday evening to be with his mother, Miss Minnie-Pinney. He started his school work this week.

Mesdames Geo. B. Scott and W. A. Williams were Brownwood visitors last Friday.

THE RAW MATERIAL

THE FACTORY

GETTING eggs narrow down to making eggs. You have the feed as the raw material, the hen as the finished product. The number of eggs you get is determined by the quantity and the proper balance of the egg-making materials you furnish in what you give the hen to eat and drink.

PROTEINS, which a hen gets from Chicken Chowder, goes to make up the white of an egg. Fat, supplied by Purina Hen Chow, makes the yolk. The minerals, part of which is furnished in oyster shell and grit, make the shell. Chowder also provides the life-giving vitamins so essential in eggs for hatching and food purposes.

You'll never know how many eggs your hens are capable of laying until you feed them Purina Poultry Chows. Put Purina to the test and find out the easiest way to get eggs when you want them at a lower cost of production.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Little Dick Huntington had his tonsils removed at local hospital Monday.

Mrs. J. M. Hensen who has been in hospital has returned home.

Mrs. Dee Little underwent a major operation at local hospital Tuesday, and is doing nicely at this writing.

Mrs. Griffin, wife of Dr. Griffin of Cisco, was in car wreck here last Saturday, she was given first aid at local sanitarium before being carried to Cisco in ambulance.

This is turkey season, and Will Fortson who resides west of town sold $500 worth to the Neeb Produce this week. The local market is 25c per pound.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the assistance rendered during the recent illness of our husband and father, and for the kind words of sympathy and the beautiful floral offering made when he passed from this life. God is good and will reward.

CORRECTION

The Review stated last week that Mr. and Mrs. Dee Barr's baby girl had won first honors in a baby show at Baird recently. We should have said that Mr. and Mrs. Olan Barr's baby girl had won. We are glad to make proper correction.

At the invitation of Mrs. Molendick, president of the Cisco's Mothers Club, five of the members of the local club attended the Flower Show and acted as judges in baby show contest Saturday, at Cisco. They were royally entertained at the noon hour also.

Those who attended were: Mesdames Hockel, Boyer, Charley Childs, Settle, and Carl Childs.

The old reliable Chili that's Red, at Wilson's Cafe.

Miss Virginia Payne was entertained with a Halloween party Monday night. Games, contests, and other forms of entertainment were enjoyed. The house was decorated for the occasion with spooks and accessories of the season. Refreshments were served to 16 guests.

Oldtime Beds Rigidly

Excluded Fresh Air

A study of the evolution of the bed from the time of the Norman conquest of England to the present proves interesting.

The old bed of northern Europe from which our own evolved, was a large wooden affair entirely inclosed in panels. It had a roof and was like a small room within a room. When the occupants, several in number, crawled into it and closed the sliding panels, they were completely protected from the night air.

The panels later were replaced with curtains, but the back panels and the top were kept. These were curved beds of Queen Elizabeth's time. Then in 1700 the back and the roof went, leaving the four posts which supported a wooden cornice from which curtains hung.

These beds were still ponderous, and were wide enough so that the children as well as the parents could share the warmth of the curtains and billowy feather bedding. The fireplace and the bed were the only warm spots in the house, and the best sprinter got the best place. By 1750 the wooden cornice was replaced by a valance.

It was at this time that the four-poster reached its finest expression. The draperies, no longer a necessity, were hung to enhance the beauty of the bed. By 1800 the draperies were gone. Then the four posts were cut down shorter and shorter until at last they disappeared and the headboards and footboards came back.—Kansas City Star.

"Sleep and Grow Thin"

Is New Prescription

One of the quickest ways of getting thin is to go without sleep two nights in succession. This method is not popular, and most people would rather fast for two weeks. Enforced sleeplessness, however, causes flesh to disappear more than twice as rapidly as rigid starvation, even though the non-sleeper is on full diet.

A doctor who was treating a man for obesity by the usual diet and exercise method was recently surprised by an amazing discovery. The course of the treatment was unavoidably held up by the patient breaking his leg, and it was feared that the enforced rest would seriously retard the loss of weight, even though the strict diet was kept up.

When, at last, the man, who had had little sleep, was able to get to the scales again, it was found that the rate at which he had lost weight was almost exactly double the rate at which he had lost it while taking active exercise.

An Armistice Day Message

FRIENDSHIP

1918 10th ANNIVERSARY 1928

S E R V I C E

H E A L T H

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

IT IS peculiarly appropriate that the annual membership roll call of the American National Red Cross
should begin on Armistice day, November 11. For there is no other organization in the world which better exemplifies the essential spirit of Armistice day than that which knows no race nor creed nor color

—nothing but the need of suffering humanity. So when the Red Cross invites Americans to join while it is holding its eleventh annual roll call from Armistice day through Thanksgiving, November 11 to 24, we can all do so with the knowledge that there can be no more fitting observance of this solemn anniversary than by aiding in the work of the Red Cross—
"the greatest mother of the world."

In the sense that Armistice day
means the end of fighting, there is no Armistice day for the Red Cross. For in peace as in war it carries on its fight against disease and hunger and destitution. If "hence hath its victories no less renowned than war" then some of the peace-time victories of the American Red Cross, won when tornado or hurricane or flood or fire swept over some ill-fated community, are more to be remembered than are some of its victories won on the battlefield.

There is still another service of the Red Cross which is perhaps but little known in comparison to its other services and it may yet prove to be of a future importance which cannot now be estimated. That is the organization of the Junior Red Cross, which has for its three watchwords "Service,"
"Friendship" and "Health," and which will begin celebrating its tenth anniversary next year. On its scroll it written these words, "Let Youth help Shape the World While the Vision Splendid is Still Before Its Eyes."

If indeed youth begins to "shape the world while the vision splendid is still before its eyes," then there may be the time when there will be no more wars, for the Junior Red Cross

Siamese Temple Cats

To the most beautiful of tame cats says the Illustrated Zeitung, belonging to the Chinese household with its short, smooth hair, which on the body is cream-colored with blue on the legs, ears and face it is dark brown.
The Siamese cat, as in all Far Eastern countries, is a temple animal, and accordingly highly prized and treated with religious care. That its white is a characteristic bearing and tastes.

ARMISTICE

Ours, ours they are—
Those dear, dead knights who won
the Golden Star;
On far French hills, here in our
churchyards living,
Or in war's wildest wreckage—still unfound
In these torn, piteous fields which they in dying,
Have for us all forever sanctified.
We cannot hallow more that holy ground;
All glory we would give them pales
beside
The eternal splendor of these men,
who thought
But of the sacred cause for which they fought.

And now, the battles done,
They who gave all, tis they alone
who won.
In their great faith there was no
dark misgiving;
They saw no base self-seekers don
the mask
Of high ideals, to batten on the living
Their vision was a world secure and just Won by their victory—their only task
To crush one hideous foe; and in that trust
They sped with eager feet, and
paid the price,
Unstinting, of the last great sacrifice.

That faith they hold,
The peace for which they battled
was pure gold,
And in their splendid zeal they died
unshaken.
Knowing such sacred beauty fills
their sleep,
Shall we yet mourn, or wish they might awaken
To find the golden peace so far de-based?
Should we not rather pray that they may keep Their shining vision spotless, unde-
faced,
Until the world repentant and re-
deemed,
Grow to the measure of the one they
dreamed?
So let them rest,
They gave for us their dearest and
their best,
They keep the holiest. Yet for their giving
Our fittest tribute is not grief and tears,
But the same ardent vision in our living
As that which shone, compelling, in their eyes
Unconquered by Death and all his dreadful fears.
Then, when at last these glorious
dreamers rise,
The world we keep for them might almost seem
The living substances of their lofty dream.

—Charles Buxton Going.

is literally a "League of Good Will and Better Understanding." Today it numbers more than 5,600,000 school children in the United States. Italy has a million children who are enthusiastic members and the Junior movement has taken hold strongly in other European countries. Japan has more than 200,000 children enrolled in the league.

movement would be important for its instruction of the children in the rudiments of home hygiene, first aid and the fundamentals of American citizenship if for no other reason, it is this international aspect of its work that gives added emphasis to the relation between the spirit of the Red Cross and the spirit of Armistice day. Out of the faith of the millions of children in every nation of the world, enrolled in the Junior Red Cross for the service of humanity, may yet come the realization of the vision held by the men whose memory is honored on Armistice day, as voiced by the poet

when he said:

Their vision was a world secure and just Won by their victory—their only task
To crush one hideous foe; and in that trust
They sped with eager feet and paid
the price,
Unstinting, of the last great sacrifice.

So history may yet write down the fact that it was these children who kept

Their shining vision spotless, unde-
faced
Until the world, repentant and re-
deemed,
Grow to the measure of the one they
dreamed.

For it has been proved that the domestic cats in all Asia as well as in Europe were not developed by taming
the wild animals of the same regions, but that they are descendants of the yellowish cats first domesticated in Egypt and that they have spread from thence over the world.—Exchange.

Electrical Switches

The bureau of standards say that a
"two-way switch," also called a
"three-way switch," is electrically a single-pole, double-throw switch. Using two of them, a light can be controlled from two planes, such as upstairs and downstairs in the case of hall lights. A related switch, called a "four-way" switch, is electrically a double-pole reversing switch. Any number of four-way switches may be used with two three-way switches to control a light from any number of points.

Selective breeding applied to forest
trees would produce fast-growing,
vigorous varieties, experiments show.

A Wife's Transformation

The Story of the Comeback
of a Woman Gone to Seed
By Mary Culbertson Miller

INSTALLMENT II

Helen Sees Herself as Others See
Her.

RIGHT on the job, came that old rag . . . Jealousy. As a magnet attracts steel, so was Helen's gaze held by the perfection of the young woman opposite her. Propinquity—yes—propinquity was love's alter ego, she reminded herself. And here was something to be feared—something subtle, of a sort strange to her.

Paramount was the paralyzing certainty that her husband was ashamed of her.

Her mind geared into her own disadvantages. It gave her a jar that sent a cold wave of fear through her.
An avalanche of doubts assailed her.
For a moment, in her eyes, there was an expression of hopeless and tragic defeat. Loneliness came down on her like a pall. One thing she decided, she wouldn't resort to sarcasm. That in Bob's eyes would be the last straw.
Then, quite suddenly, her eyes changed to a crystal brightness. It was the ignition of sub-conscious thought fanned into flame. There was something magnificent about Helen's nature when aroused, but the trouble was it took something in the nature of a bomb to arouse her.

A breath taking sense of grand adventure oozed out of her not-over-clean finger tips. She'd fight this issue with this woman's own weapons, and thereby save her romance from the matrimonial rocks. No intention had Helen, of feeding a fresh and vital husband to the fire this office siren had lighted. She was impatient for her husband to finish with her—she wanted to be off.

Salon of Facial Aesthetics.

Flying wasn't fast enough to keep up with Helen's desire to talk with this creator of feminine beauty she had read of, who longed for human faces to manipulate into lovely human art.

Her eyes grew round with amazement as she looked about the salon.
Gorgeous hangings, walls of dull silver paneling, and doors of the fashionable shade called Russian green, made a beautiful setting for the dainty Louis XVI furniture with its upholstery in happy tones of yellow, rose and blue.

Into Helen's confusion came the nicely modulated voice of Miss Whyte, the beauty genius. "Queer soul!" she thought, looking at the incongruous and untidy person. Then she became absorbed in the woman's vital yearn-ings. Hers was cornered desperation.
She begged Miss Whyte to take her in hand unreservedly. Miss Whyte was making a mental note of the flabby skin, relaxed muscles, excess avoidu-pois, when Helen asked shyly: "Is it possible for me to be attractive again?
Miss Whyte. Oh—so much depends upon it!"

Wandering husband, the beauty
genius felt sure of that, but she explained soberly. "Beauty must be worked for like everything else, Mrs.
Crane. Modern women have now the inestimable help of science, but science can't do the work alone. The greatest instruments lie in you—yourself—your perseverance, intelligence, and taking an unselfish interest in life.

"Then, too, beauty isn't fundamentally a matter of perfection of feature. It is what we think and feel that affects our outward selves. In the face there is sometimes an illumination of what one would call the spirit."

"Take such thoughts as impatience,
jealousy, anger, selfishness—in fact,
all negative thoughts leave their mark
upon the face. Circulation slows up, the body becomes sluggish, vitality
becomes lowered, appetite departs, sleep elusive. So if you fully agree to work with the mind and body together we can get twice the results, because they are so perfectly co-ordinated.
You want to be made over in six weeks, is that it?"

"Indeed I do, if such a thing is possible." Great hazel eyes raised be-seechingly.

"I think so, if my eye to work at once."

See Doctor, First Step.

"Shall we take the skin first?" ventured the prospective client.

"We'll consult a physician first, Mrs. Crane. That will put us on the safe side. He will tell us what you have too much of in your system, and what is needed in its place, and prescribe a diet. It is very unwise to overdiet or overexercise to reduce.
That method is sure to show its effects on the face."

Before the session was over that first day the beauty course was tentatively worked out. "And after that shall I be able to go on alone?" Helen questioned. There was an emphatic nod to that. "No question of it," the beauty genius smiled.

"Report to me as soon as you finish
with your Doctor Johnston tomorrow morning. Ask him please . . . to state your disturbances in writing. He will put you on a diet, too. And oh, yes . . . stop in at a photo studio on your way home. I know you'll find it intensely interesting to watch your development." These were the parting words of Miss Whyte on that red-letter day.

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill. Prefur-ness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste.
It's delicious! Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic; constipation;
diarrhea; or need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Just one warning: it is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs,
but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

Improved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for November 6

AMOS PLEADS FOR JUSTICE

LESSON TEXT—Amos 5:1-27. GOLDEN TEXT—Let judgment run down as waters and righteousness as a mighty stream.

I. Israel's Desolation Predicted (vv. 1-3). Amos lamented over the doom which was to overtake the nation.

II. The Call to Return to God. God through the prophet says, 'seek ye me and ye shall live.'

If they would not come to Him for life He would be their destroyer. 'Our God is a consuming fire.'

III. The Sins Committed by the Wicked Nation (vv. 10-13). 1. They hated the judge who condemned their wicked practices.

2. They trampled upon the poor (v. 11). The rich built magnificent houses out of the proceeds extorted from the poor.

4. They afflicted the just (v. 12). This they did by taking a bribe. 5. They turned aside the poor in the gate (v. 12).

IV. The Conduct of the Righteous (vv. 14, 15). No condition in the world, religious, social or political can become so difficult that the righteous are shut off from help.

V. The Judgment to Fall (vv. 16-20). There is coming a day of retribution. Justice and right shall be vindicated.

VI. Worship Without Holiness of Life an Abomination to God (vv. 21-27). Sacrifices, observance of fast days and singing, when the heart is out of fellowship with God, is most displeasing to Him.

Two Different Things. The love of God and the world are two different things. If the love of this world dwell in thee, the love of God forsakes thee.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE NEW DRESS

Hazel had never had a new dress. She had seldom had anything that was new.

Not that all her things were shabby. No indeed. Often they were in the very best condition.

Hazel had had that brown dress for three years now and it would do for picnics for a fourth season.

It was trimmed with great huge wide white trimmings all over the front, and it was of some material that just wouldn't wear out.

'Dear, Dear Dress,' she would say, give you clothes before they wear out, and you see they can afford good materials such as we never could.'

"Dear, Dear Dress," She Would Say.

All of that was very true, and of course Hazel was grateful, and yet how often she wished that she had just two dresses instead of the five or six she was given—just two, or even one dress of her own.

It wasn't that she was vain. She knew she wasn't a pretty child. But she knew she could look better in some colors than others.

Then pale lavender with lots of frills was a favorite party color of the cousins and that was unbecoming to her, very, very unbecoming.

Her hats were given to her, her coats were given to her, everything was given to her, and while she knew the cousins were kind—still she wished they didn't keep saying all the time that they gave her things while they were still in good condition.

And once, the only pretty thing they ever had given her had not been in good condition when they had sent it.

It had been a silver gray dress—it looked like gleaming silver and it was a party dress, but it just ripped every time she moved in it, and even her mother said that it was worn out.

But at last, at last she was going to have a new dress. It had been decided in school that all the children should dress in dark blue middie suits with white ties and white yokes.

Her dress was made. It was made of the cheapest material. But oh, how she loved it. She looked like the others. She felt it was becoming to her.

But Hazel loved it. It was a new dress, and it seemed entirely to be long to her.

And every night when she took off the dress she would speak to it, and sometimes even pat it.

HISTORY OF TRIBES CARVED ON BLUFFS

Records Found on Sides of Guadalupe.

Carlsbad, N. M.—Pictographs of an aboriginal race that antedates all known southwestern tribes are mingled in the Guadalupe mountains near here with the more recent sketches and paintings of the Apache warriors who hid with the wily Geronimo, and with the initials of the pursuing soldiers under Gen. Nelson A. Miles.

The Guadalupe range is perhaps as little known as any in the United States, much of it never having been explored by white men. But the little that has been examined promises a field of archeological investigation for many years.

Carvings on Sides of Bluffs.

The hieroglyphics of the ancient tribe are carved and scratched on the bluffs and in the caves they inhabited in the mountains, and no attempt has been made to decipher their meaning. Unlike most Indian carvings and paintings the pictographs bear no resemblance to animal forms, but are in almost every case arrangements of geometric figures in friezes or panels, reaching in places to a height of eight feet. The friezes stretch to lengths of 100 feet or more horizontally until marred or broken up by the decay of rock strata into which they were cut.

In contrast to the maze of markings etched by the stone tools of the ancient race are the large, gaudy drawings fashioned by the Indians during the last 150 years. One particularly brilliant painting is above a ledge high in the hills where, tradition has it, one of Geronimo's warriors fortified himself for a lone stand against the white troopers in the early eighties.

Many Soldiers' Names.

The painting depicts a warrior pointing up the canyon. The faint outline of a horse is close beside him. The picture is translated as a warning to his tribesmen that mounted enemies are approaching through the canyon.

Indications of the passage of white soldiers through the mountains are plentiful. In many places initials and names of soldiers serving under General Miles are carved in the rock.

In a cave in a remote section is carved the name of W. M. Honney, better known as "Billy the Kid."

Incites "War" to Kill

Pests Among Insects

Seattle, Wash.—Important to humans, although almost unnoticed by the general public, a war of extinction between mortal enemies in the insect world has been going on in the Pacific Northwest for four years and the end is not yet in sight.

The warfare was inaugurated by Prof. Trevor Kincaid, professor of biology at the University of Washington, in an attempt to control a serious infestation known as the earwig, a species of harmful insect by importing parasitical tachinid flies from Europe.

The tachinid flies are natural enemies of the earwig. Both came from Europe originally.

When poison bait and other weapons failed to check the encroachments of the earwig, the flies were pitted against them, first in a laboratory arena, where the earwig was victorious, and then in the fields at large. An omnivorous eater of all growing things, the earwig also ensconces itself snugly in clothing or shipments of goods and does considerable damage.

Offer Students Prizes

for Best Safety Essays

New York.—In 1923, there were 5,921 highway grade-crossing accidents in which 2,492 persons were killed and 6,981 injured. In 1925, there were 5,479 accidents in which 2,203 persons were killed and 6,553 injured.

In an effort to interest the public and especially the younger generation, in preventing grade-crossing accidents, the railroad, through the American Railway association, have announced an offer of three prizes in a nationwide contest to be awarded to school and college students. The prizes are to be $250 each, one for the best essay prepared by a grammar school student, one for the best, by a high school student, and one for the best, by a college student. The subject in all cases is to be "Cross Crossings Cautiously," and each essay must be not more than 250 words in length. Detailed plans for the contest have been arranged by J. C. Caviston, secretary of the safety section of the association, with headquarters at 30 Vesdy street, New York. The contest closes on June 1.

Modern Snap Judgment

It is a vice of the present day to air our judgments founded on a minimum of knowledge or no knowledge at all. We go about with cut and dried opinions of our fellow men and women and are very hearty in our judgments of their lives and conduct. Our public men are easy marks for our critical shafts, the classic writers, artists, poets, statesmen, be they who they may, are treated to a summary condemnation with a gusto worthy of a better cause. And our tone implies that we haven't much use for them. In this there lies a sad truth. We dismiss them with a phrase because we don't understand them. If we once stopped to try to understand them we would find much in them to appreciate and sympathize with, if not openly to admire.—Exchange.

Odd Note in Ruler's

Compliment to Liszt

In "Table Talk" James Dilly tells these yarns:

The late emperor of Austria, when Liszt played before him, went up to compliment him. "I have heard Heitz and Thalberg and Chopin," he said, "but I have never seen anyone persepire like you."

Dilly was invited to an affair in Paris to meet Cherubini. It was hoped that the great maestro would entertain with his wonderful talent. On arriving, Cherubini's first words were, "Now place me where I shan't hear a note of music the whole evening." And so he was placed, and he played cards the whole night.

While Coleridge was traveling with an aristocratic friend through York they met a nobleman.

"I'll get up behind," said the poet, "and he'll take me for a servant."

"By no means," said the other; "that would be worse again. I am quite content to have you as a friend, but you'd disgrace me as a servant."

Cheerfulness a Factor

in Symphony of Life

Cheerfulness is more precious than great riches. If I were founding a new religion its first commandment should be: "Thou shalt be cheerful."

If I were instituting a new school of medicine its fundamental principle would be: "Cheerfulness on the part of the doctor, and for the patient good cheer."

For in the symphony of life much gold without cheerfulness is as sounding brass and tinkling cymbal. Religion without cheerfulness is a mockery. Success in the cure of most maladies depends upon faith and hope and cheerfulness.

The optimist is cheerfulness personified; the pessimist, a walking grutch.

The cheerful optimist makes the progress of humanity; the growing pessimist would turn back the wheel of time. Avas with pessimism! Let cheerfulness reign supreme.—Exchange.

Kiss Under Indictment

While you are explaining to the chaperone that the kiss is an exorcism of civilization, add that the Greeks who built the Parthenon and burnt the temples towers of Hinn have also the oldest records of any kisses on the European continent. All the evidence goes to show that when Paris wooed Helen he couldn't have learned a thing from any of us. An ancient manuscript quotes Socrates as warning one of his disciples:

"If you kissed a pretty face, would you not at that very instant lose your freedom and become a slave? Would you not have to spend much money on amusements? Hercules defend us from the dreadful effects a poor kiss can have!"
