DISTRICT COURT CONVENES MONDAY

HOME TOWN GOSSIP

A couple of local jesters are giving this department the razz this week for being "slipping up", on, concerning the marriage Saturday night of Doris Placke and Ivan Hill.

In defense of our reputation it seems advisable to state that we told you early last Autumn that the Hill-Placke affair was approaching a culmination and not to be surprised in the event the duo strolled arm in arm up to Hyman's altar of wedlock.

Yes suh, a good newspaperman always has an alibi and we can at least measure up to the qualifications of a "good scribe" in that respect.

Here's the proverbial blessing of this column to the newly married couple. May the old skipper Happiness ever guide their martial ship upon tranquil seas.

The Arthur Carmichael-Lucille Burkett marriage is to take place the twenty seventh of this month, if they don't change the date just to make us look foolish (more so than usual, if possible).

Davis Owen, the local cowboy with the big vocabulary, is being drafted into editorial service to pen this column the latter part of this month, when we take our annual three day vacation. In the parlance of the range, Davis is reputed to be quite talented in "tossing the bull". So, his offering—if printable—should be most interesting.

Philpeco country club's third annual invitation golf tournament gets underway today. The field is expected to be crowded with highly routed shot makers, yet without a moment's hesitation we pick J. T. Hammett to cop the laurels.

Ed Neeb and Russell McGowen are seriously afflicted with practical joking. But Wednesday afternoon they played a prank on the pastor of these phrases and a local groceryman that was really enjoyable.

The triumvirate of McGowen Neeb and J. C. Perry prepared a false telegram for us worded as follows: "Will you accept $3,500 for your ticket on Irish Sweep Stakes. Deal must be made immediately. Wire at once."

Needless to say the thrill of that first instant after reading the false message was envigorating but upon further examination of the telegram blank it was most noticeable that it was not filled out according to Hoyle, making the hoax as vivid as the noon day sun.

"May I print a kiss upon your lips?" he asked. She nodded her sweet permission. So they went to press, and I rather guess they printed a large edition.

Another wedding of interest, especially here and at Burkett, was that of Miss Jewell McMillan and Acie Martin, Saturday night. Incidentally, there have been so many inter Burkett-Cross Plains marriages within the past year that the two places should certainly be bound together with as strong as a bond of mutual good feeling as ever existed between two communities.

To Mr. and Mrs. Acie Martin this column offers every good wish and a toast of many years of marital happiness.

Hulan Barr has subsidized this column by offering a free game of golf to us for saying something good about his miniature course (Continued on back page)

Annual Golf Tourney Will Open Friday

PHILPECO WILL BE HOST TO SECTION'S BEST SHOT-MAKERS

Philpeco country club's third annual invitation golf tournament will be officially opened Friday afternoon with a Brownwood match between J. Dixon White and Port Budworth, of Brownwood, paired against Carnes Wilson, of Abilene, and J. T. Hammett, of the local club.

The calcutta poll is carded Friday night at the club house and match play will begin Saturday morning and continue through the day. Finals are to be played Sunday afternoon.

Interest in this year's tourney is keener than ever before, according to members of the club who have visited in other localities and talked with golfers, many of whom will be seen in the "heat of the fray".

Excellent condition of the entire course, attractive array of prizes and ample publicity have contributed toward the sale of entry tickets and advance reports are that this year's sale exceeds by 100 percent the advance sale of an equal time a year ago.

A few highlights on the shot makers, who are to participate in the exhibition match, according to M. S. Sellers, general chairman of the tournament follow:

Bludworth was runner-up at Philpeco in 1933 and was winner of the Brownwood invitation last year. White has for several years been one of the leading young golfers of West Texas, while located at Dublin. He now makes his home at Brownwood and is a member of the Brownwood Country Club. Wilson was champion of the West Texas Golf Association the past year. "Shanty" Hogan, another Abilene star, is also expected to compete.

LOCAL GIRL IS WED TO BURKETT MAN IN CEREMONY SATURDAY

Culminating an extended romance Miss Jewell McMillan, of this place, and Acie Martin, of near Burkett, were married Saturday night by Rev. Harvey Miller, Burkett pastor. The ceremony was solemnized in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin and Era Mae and J. W. Martin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McMillan and is well known here having attended Cross Plains schools. The groom is the son of Mrs. S. A. Martin, of Burkett.

The couple are making their home near Burkett, where the groom is engaged in farming. A dinner honoring the newly married couple was given Sunday with 45 guests in attendance.

ORATORY SCHOOL IS FINISHED THURSDAY BY SARAH COLLINS

Thursday evening at the annual senior graduation recital of the Central Texas School of Oratory at Brownwood, Miss Sara Collins, daughter of the Rev and Mrs. S. P. Collins of this city, finished her work in that school.

For the past three years, Miss Collins has taken public speaking from J. Fred McGaughey, director of the C.T.S.O., attending this year on a scholarship won the preceding year. Her work in that institution was done in conjunction with the high school and college curricula.

With the awarding of her Post-Graduate Diploma, Miss Collins was granted a license to teach public speaking in any of the National Forensic League Chapter in the United States.

Mrs. Henry McGowen has as her guests this week her brother of Clyde.

Harlon Lacy, Juanita Vestal, Eddie Henderson and Miss Lilac Smedley of Rowden were Cisco visitors Sunday.

Brothers Parted 41 Years Meet On Streets Tuesday

Brothers who had not seen each other in 41 years met on the streets of Cross Plains Tuesday.

R. M. Paschall, of this place, was visiting with friends on the streets Tuesday afternoon, when his brother D. P. Paschall, of Olney, and a "stranger" walked up.

The Olney and Cross Plains brothers shook hands and exchanged greetings, before particular attention was paid the "stranger." Instead of introducing his companion the Olney man asked his brother here if he knew the other man. "No, I don't believe I do", was the reply.

"Have't you ever seen him?" "No, I guess not", the Cross Plains man responded.

"This is Benjamin, your younger brother, whom you have't seen since leaving Milam county in 1894."

The two brothers—parted for nearly a half century—began a rapid fire conversation which lasted most of three hours before Benjamin Paschall was forced to depart for his home at Ardmore, Oklahoma.

Benjamin, who was a young boy, when his brother left Milam county, now has grand children.

The Cross Plains man has another brother and a sister that he has not seen in 41 years. They also reside at Ardmore. He is planning to visit them this Summer, he told the Review Wednesday morning.

Lamar, who two weeks ago were signally honored by the chapter on the occasion of their twentieth wedding anniversary and the conclusion of their terms in the highest chairs within the gift of the lodge. Mrs. Lamar, who was Worthy Matron, was presented a beautiful gift as a memento of the occasion and in appreciation of her services. Mr. Lamar, who served with his wife as Worthy Patron and has again been elected to that place, was also awarded an attractive remembrance.

The couple have moved to near Burkett, where they will make their home.

The properties in the West field formerly known as L. G. Bradstreet lease, consisting of 27 producers, were sold the first of the month to T. S. Holden, of this place, and W. E. Tyler, of Rising Star. The lease is to be operated under the firm name of Holden and Tyler.

Offices were opened in the Farmers National Bank building this week, where all business of the firm will be transacted. C. F. Hemphill will have charge of the office.

Ray Jones has moved from Cross Cut to the lease and will have charge of the production.

Several new wells will probably be drilled on the property and a few plugged, the Review was told yesterday by T. S. Holden.

Miss Doris Placke, of this place, and Ivan Hill, of near Grosvenor, were united in marriage at Burkett, Saturday evening, with Minister J. P. Salyer, pastor of the Burkett Church of Christ, officiating. News of the wedding came as a surprise to the many friends of the couple at this particular time, although the courtship has been over an extended period of time.

The bride, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Placke, is a graduate of Cross Plains high school having finished with the class of 1929. She has been prominent in the activities of the younger set here for several years.

The groom, is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Les Hill, who have resided five miles South of Burkett in the Grosvenor area for a number of years. He is associated with his father in farming enterprises.

The couple have moved to near Burkett, where they will make their home.

On the shoulders of the youthful J. T. Hammett rests hopes of the Philpeco country club to cop first place honors in the third invitation golf tournament which gets underway on the local links Friday morning. Hammett, the defending champion, has qualified with a 66, six strokes short of par.

BUDDIE PRUITT HAS SERIOUS ACCIDENT SATURDAY MORNING

Buddie Pruitt, who was seriously injured in a mishap at a pump station on the Sinclair-Prairie lease near Cross Cut, Saturday morning, is reported "greatly improved" and was to be returned home from a Cisco hospital Thursday afternoon.

The injury occurred when Buddie—alone on the lease—went into the power house in his regular line of duty. A bolt had apparently worked loose from the pump and the clutch is believed to have slipped and hit him in the face. He was knocked against the concrete floor, where it is believed that his most serious injury occurred, causing temporary concussion. No one being aware of the accident, Buddie lost quite a bit of blood before "coming to" and walking to a nearby house for assistance.

He was brought here for medical examination and taken to the Graham Sanatorium, at Cisco. He is reported to be "greatly improved now."

The Woman's Angle

Regulations for graduating dresses in the best of finishing schools are, high necks, long sleeves, seven inches from the floor. But regardless, graduating dresses can be so designed that they may be used the whole summer long. White gowns, sheer and long are still the graduating classics.

Candlewick maslin is being made into beach pajama costumes this year, with Mexican-like bolero jackets, tufted all over, bedspread fashion.

Marquisette with large dots is being shown in semi-tailored fashions for town wear at inexpensive prices.

At last we of the great majority, those of us who don't have figures that imitate the string bean—are being recognized by one of the Paris stylists—Chanel. An evening gown in white crepe romaine. Round neck edged with a row of gardenias which continue as shoulder straps, cross over the bare back and end at the waistline. The skirt hugs the figure almost to the knees. Then swirls out in graceful fullness to the floor.

The wisest women study themselves and their own personalities in relation to the clothes they wear, the make-up they use, and by no means least, the kinds of scent they use. How fatal, for example, are vivid colors or strong scents for the Dresden china, fragile type of woman! So, too, with the light blonde! Subordinate everything to the light glints of that hair!—Only the brunette can use strong colors—and only the tall brunette, stately and regal, can use much of it!—By all means, let your own personality have a chance in competing with the brilliance of the things you wear!

For coffee jelly, soak 2 table-spoons granulated gelatin in cold water, add three and a half cups fresh hot coffee (strong) and one-half cup of sugar. Stir until dissolved. Pour into molds to set.

Neige Creme is a timely dessert. Beat whites or two eggs until stiff. Add a quarter cup of sugar one cup of crushed and slightly sweetened strawberries, and fold in one cup of cream, whipped. Chill in refrigerator and serve in sherbet glasses.

Life Enjoyable

It seems to me, that the aim in life should be to create things about us so that the journey should be pleasant and enjoyable. Too many people spend so many hours at hard toil that they never have time to look about and enjoy the beautiful things that God has created for his people to enjoy on this earth. Day after day I find men coming into the office and relating some pathetic story of hard luck and add that they never have time to see a show or go to a picnic. Not long ago a man said they had a picnic and dinner near his farm but he had rather stay at home and work, and he did, rather than go out and mingle with his friends and neighbors for a little and thus spice his life with some of the less serious moments and see a gladdening coming of his fellowman.

Life in our nation today has changed so much from a few years ago that we rightfully can call it a "New Era." Right in this connection and in line with my thought I wish to quote a portion of an address made by Secretary of Agriculture, Henry A. Wallace. He said, "We have worked too hard in this country—we have made a virtue of intemperate greed and effort. Toil was holy. It was wrong to sit in the shade and dream."

"We have believed that leisure is wrong—I believe that now we are turning our minds around and discovering that overwork does not pay, neither in money nor in any sense, we will not continue to make a fetish of overwork. We shall learn as individuals to value and improve ourselves. The thought of organizing another man's or woman's private and personal existence is repugnant to me. But I think that all men and women should have a chance to do and think and dream as they please part of the time, not for money, not for fame, but simply because they want to; and I believe that most of us, once the opportunity is afforded, will discover within ourselves a wide variety of stimulating and pleasant things to do."

There is a vast difference between leisure and idleness. The thing that is most repugnant to the person who wishes to make a fair and home at living is to locate that type of individual who contends that the world (or in every day parlance, the government) owes him a living and spends the time, not actually required in getting that living, in criticizing those who are in positions of authority to administer the dictates of the majority of society.

I believe that farmers should plan their work so as to have time to take the family out to a picnic, to a fishing party or to a deer hunt, and also find time to go listen to learned men deliver addresses on something other than merely trying to eke out an existence.

I deliberately chose the life profession that I now pursue in order that I might help lighten the burden of the people for whom I work and of which I was reared. My farming brethren do not enjoy life in the main as much as they could and should. My work here should not require as many hours to complete it as it does, but I give the time gladly in hopes that the people I serve will enjoy life a little more fully. Some day the rush of our present emergency program will work into a permanent plan and then perhaps the time will come when dreams may be made and life enjoyable may be the reward. Al lwork and no play is not profitable nor enjoyable, so let's work a while, dream a while, and play a while.

AA COMMENT

The Annals (of the American Academy of Political and Social Science) devoted the May issue to agriculture and an article was carried written by Clifford V. Gregory, editor of the "Prairie Farmer" in which he has this to say about the AAA. "In 1934, and to some extent in 1933, the Agricultural Adjustment Program was complicated by the drought. The drought did not save the AAA, as did some of its critics say, but the AAA saved the country from the worst effects of the drought. The drought overid reduction of production; farm income in 1934 would have been larger with normal weather and much better distributed. But the drought emphasized the importance of an agricultural adjustment agency which can act quickly in emergencies. Removal of acreage from grain production and use of those acres for emergency and other hay crops added six million tons to the hay supply—The Agricultural Adjustment Act has been successful in taking surplus acres out of cultivation, and by so doing has contributed materially to the advance in farm prices. It was written and passed as an emergency act. The problem which now faces farmers, farm organizations, and government officials is to use the experience gained to write a more permanent measure, one which will make possible reasonable stability of farm production and prices, and at the same time encourage better methods of farm and soil management.

Red or Harvest Ants

With gardens and field crops showing green everywhere it is easy to locate the ever troublesome red ant. The county agent found a preparation last year that really exterminates them and has had many requests for more. Mrs. Will McCoy, County Treasurer, said she mixed some of the poison with meal and also killed out her mice. It contains a mixture of thallium sulphate which is one of the most deadly poisons known and one of the highest in price. This exterminator is kept in the office for those so bothered and also a formula for making a good bait will be furnished any person so desiring to make it.

County Corn-Hog Officials Complimented

In a letter from State Corn-Hog Agent, E. M. Regenbrecht, last week the officials were given a fine compliment in that he stated that their organization was checked and found correct in every detail. When a government at official makes such a statement it is news.

The officials are H. N. Ebert, president; E. J. Kendrick, vice-president; Roy Armor, member of allotment committee; and George Clifton also member of allotment committee. Mrs. R. C. Corn is Secretary—Treasurer and Greer Holmes has been corresponding secretary for the past two months. He is to be in school for the next few weeks and his duties will be taken over by the secretary, Mrs. Corn.

Corn-Hog and Wheat Compliance Being Completed

The corn-hog allotment committee met in extra session the past week and elected a county supervisor and five assistants to check corn yields and to complete compliance so as to rush the rental payments. George Clifton of Cross Plains was elected supervisor with J. E. Faircloth, Midway; W. B. Everett, Cross Plains; D. R. Ingram, Cross Plains; Claude M. Morse, Oplin; and R. G. Looney, Oplin as helpers.

Mrs. R. C. Corn, Sheila Jones, Mrs. Bill Gilliland, and Lula Mae Hart were selected as computers; that is, they take the measurements found by the supervisor in the field and reduce them to acres.

Wheat

Mr. Norrel Long of Cross Plains and Mr. W. R. Williams of Denton will finish compliance forms for wheat the coming week.

They are especially concerned that each wheat grower understand that all grain or forage crop grown on the rented acres must be cut before the crop reaches maturity. If such is not done the 1935 payment will not be made by the wheat section. Clip the small grain crops for hay and cut the row stuff for bundle fodder. This is a most important requirement.

Mrs. J. E. Pittman and daughter Zelah left Saturday for Commerce where Mrs. Pittman will teach in the school there and Zelah will enter school.

Mr. and Mrs. Odie Cannon had as their guests Sunday Mrs. Cannon parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Tittle of Abilene.

Cross Plains Schools Praised By Department Of Education

Following an official visit by a supervisor from the state department of education, Superintendent Nat Williams and E. I. Vestal, president of the board of trustees, received four page letters the past week complimenting the "excellent condition of Cross Plains school system."

Only minor changes were recommended and each of them was an improvement that is already under advisement by the board.

Due to the fact that state supervisors are considered so critical and the report to the local superintendent and school board head was so congratulatory, it is deemed of sufficient news interest to publish hereunder. The report follows:

"The work of classifying and accrediting the public schools of Texas is under the direction of the State Committee composed of fifteen members representing the high schools and colleges of the State. This Committee, by establishing educational standards, determines the conditions upon which high schools are classified and accredited and is interested in encouraging schools to attain these standards and in certifying those that have attained them so as to facilitate the transfer of students to any other school or college.

The regulations as prescribed by this Committee are administered by the State Department of Education through high school supervisors. In the visit of the supervisors and in their reports to school authorities, recommendations are offered in the spirit of co-operation and helpful suggestion, with the earnest desire that all school authorities will join with the State Department of Education in their efforts to maintain standards of secondary education in Texas.

In order that the schools may be properly certified it is essential that minimum requirements be met. To that end the supervisor who recently visited your school makes the following recommendations:

1. That improvement on the grounds be continued as soon as possible.

2. That the libraries in both schools be increased as soon as the income will permit. It is urged that the pupils in grades four to seven, inclusive, be encouraged to work for the reading certificates next year.

3. That maps be purchased for each history taught in high school.

4. That the plan to employ a teacher to care for an opportunity room be highly commended and continued if the enrollment will justify such an addition. There is a definite need in this school for special instructions for the irregular, under-privileged, and defective children. It is believed that such an arrangement would be beneficial not only to the children served but also to the average or normal children.

5. That commendation be expressed for the evidence of progress as indicated in the following items:

- a. Rock retaining wall built around ground.
- b. Teacher corps increased.
- c. High school advantages given to more rural boys and girls.
- d. Curriculum broadened to include public speaking and commercial arithmetic.

6. That further commendation be given for the following noteworthy features:

- a. Excellent discipline and responsive student body.
- b. Cooperative and efficient faculty.
- c. Attractive and well-kept buildings.
- d. Stress given to music and writing.
- e. Active parent and study clubs.
- f. Well organized system.

The outstanding quality of the school is the emphasis given to a high standard of work. This is without a doubt due in a large measure to the retention of capable teachers from year to year. All the teachers were re-elected this year and thirteen of the eighteen hold degrees.

The cooperation given the Department of Education and the many courtesies extended the visiting supervisor are truly appreciated."

KELLY PETILLO ON MAY 30, WON THE 500-MILE Indianapolis Race on Firestone Tires, breaking the track record and driving the entire distance at a rate of 106.24 miles per hour.

This record is an astounding demonstration of tire efficiency. To go 500 miles in less than five hours on this rough and bumpy 26-year-old brick track demonstrates the strength and blowout protection that Firestone builds into their Gum-Dipped Tires.

AB JENKINS ALSO RECENTLY DEMONSTRATED the stamina, efficiency, and blowout protection built into Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. He drove his 5000 pound car over the hot salt beds at Lake Bonneville, Utah, 3000 miles in 23 1/2 hours. This was an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, and although temperatures were as high as 120°, he had no blowouts or tire trouble of any kind.

These records are made possible by special construction features built into Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

Take no chances—protect your life and the lives of others by letting us equip your car with Firestone Tires.

Before you buy new tires ask yourself these three questions

- 1—"Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"
- 2—"Are they built to give me the greatest blowout protection?"
- 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

Answer No. 1—University tests show Firestone Tires stop your car 15% quicker than best tires.

Answer No. 2—Unequaled performance records prove that Gum-Dipping gives the greatest blowout protection known.

Answer No. 3—Car owners report unequalled mileage records of the longer wear and greater economy of Firestone Tires.

1 University tests show Firestone Tires stop cars 15 to 25% quicker

2 Gum-Dipped cords give greater blowout protection. Gum-Dipping is not used in other tires

3 Wider, flatter tread gives more than 50% longer non-skid wear

SLUMBERING GOLD
By Aubrey Boyd
AUTOCASTER SERV.

Final Installment

"There was a light-fingered, person on the ship," Rose said, "who had come North to dip for gold in miners' pockets. I suggested that he try Owens', and so I obtained Dalton's own letter.

"Where is the letter now?" the Judge asked, when the hum caused by this strange admission subsided. "I still have it."

Judge Dugas tugged meditatively at the white linen neckpiece under his chin.

Rose continued carefully. She had resolved to outplay Fallon for the gold. If Owens had been dependable, she might have told him the truth about Fallon and planned the counter-move with him. As it was, she laid her own plans.

She knew—Owens did not—that while Fallon could threaten the rancher with exposure of the Nevada crime, he couldn't carry the bluff through without exposing himself as Reeves.

When Speed and his partner arrived at Skagway, she chose them on sight as the kind of men she needed, and made them a blind proposition to do a trailing job for her—persisting in the intention after they refused.

Her account of what followed explained several questions that had puzzled them. She ascribed Owens' death to fear. The drunken rancher had crumpled under Fallon's threat, told everything he knew, and then between fear of judgment and more drink to drown his fear, had drowned himself.

With Owens gone, Fallon had tried to hold Pete, believing she might know more than he had learned from Owens, and realizing that she herself was a very desirable, unclaimed prize. These points Rose conveyed by suggestion rather than direct statement, but they were none the less clear. She described the peculiar trail that had thrown Speed and Maitland into a clash of their own with Fallon on the trail, allowing Pete to win free over the pass. The first idea she drew from this was that Pete had taken them into her confidence, but—as she now reminded Wade and the court—if they had been interested in the gold at that time, they could have killed Fallon without incurring blame, and with a big saving of trouble to themselves.

On their return to Skagway for their horses and outfit, she had been all the more determined to use them because of their feud with Fallon, and had tried to interest them in the gold. Her warning about the shell-dealer was due to a tip she received from Lefty, who had shadowed the man for her. Remembering how the stranger had been killed in Carson, she suspected Fallon of having prompted this ambush.

Secretary of State.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe White have returned home after a few months stay in Odessa.

It was only two weeks ago," she explained, "that I heard of their being held here for the murder of a Siwash on Lake Lebarge last November. I knew they were innocent; knew it, among other reasons, because I had Dalton's letter to Owens' and a readable proof of who was guilty. There was a joker in the game."

Wade stirred in his chair. The crowd murmured, fearing another objection.

"Part of Dalton's letter read," Rose quoted evenly, "You wouldn't recognize me on sight. I've been living native style, to keep the prospect and so on covered. Wait at the head of Lake Lebarge till the trail's clear after the freeze-up. If we miss connections on the lakes camp there till spring, and if you don't hear from me before then, float the outfit down to the creek the drawing shows."

"That's how I know the accused men are innocent. My motive in explaining this is to turn the Laws vengeance where it belongs, on a man who has taken human life, the man who shot the U.S. Marshall in the train hold-up. I mean Fallon. My motive is to see him ride into his own deadfall and laugh in his face!"

Her eyes flashed at Fallon's clenched hand. "If it takes proof to open—" the low, vibrant tone of the words seemed to fill the room—"it's in his hand. The lucky clover-leaf nugget. He was afraid of Malone's interest in that piece of gold. It disappeared from the marshal's safe when he left Skagway. A telltale bit of evidence he couldn't leave at large. But a fascinating keepsake he wouldn't destroy. He's trying to shift it now! The luck piece—the proof that outplays and hangs him! Do I win?" Her voice lifted with an indescribable taunting challenge.

Fallon was on his feet—savage, hate-maddened, yet somehow still commanding himself and the mute attention of the Court. "You'll hear my answer now!" he said, in a hoarse, rasping shout. "If I hang I don't swing alone. That man—" "was the partner of the stranger who rode the bay. I've figured his trail. He thought to be drowned, off the George E. Starr. He calls himself 'Speed Malone.' Since we're talkin' of right names, that man is Buck Tracy, sometimes known as Buck Solo—the most notorious desperado and gunman that ever come out of the Northwest!"

While his hearers stiffened under the shock of the announcement he fung at them, he wheeled on Rose with a movement as swift as light.

"As for you, you b——" he yelled—

Only one pair of eyes caught the lightning gleam of the drawn gun. There was a stunning double report. Fallon's gun went out of his hand as if he had thrown it away. With a blankly staring look he sagged in a crumpling fall, dropped by a bullet in the brain from a gun which Speed had jerked from the holster of the belated police guard.

It seemed that his body was still falling when Speed jumped the courtroom floor and leaped for the open window.

The fractional margin of another instant or of one wild shot might have carried him through. Then, with the river before him and a long shore-line of wharves and docked barges, there is no telling what the Mounted Police might have had to write on their flawless man-getting record.

But the odds were too steep. A gun crashed as his boot-touched the sill, and Speed fell backward into the courtroom.

For an instant the court stood dazed in the swirling smoke.

The bar of the prisoner's dock broke in splinters; Maitland was struggling in the hold of two police guards, to reach his partner.

Yet even in that frozen moment the wheel of Justice turned. Judge Dugas looked down on the fallen outlaw with a curious stillness, and then at Wade, whose response, though to the police guards, "Release the prisoner."

Half-lifting Speed out of a widening pool of blood, Maitland had a blurred awareness of Pete on his other side. The outlaw leaned against their supporting arms, deeply breathing the cool breeze from snowy peaks that came through the open window.

"A doctor—" Maitland tried to say, but his heart strangled the words in his throat, and tears rained on his partners' reddened shirt.

Speed looked up at him mistily and shook his head. "I don't ask for no better—run of luck than this, Bud. Always figured I'd fall in some mountain pass alone—and here—" He paused at something beyond his power to say. "We both got what we looked for—and more—only not where we was lookin'."

His eyes rested on the sun-burned gold of Pete's hair, and strayed back to his partner with a ghost of his old-time ruminating smile. "Gold is where you find it, like—Steiner said."

The strength seemed to ebb from him, he looked dimly at the wavering pools of light and shadow at a bright glory of cloud floating across the far azure glimpse that showed through the window opening. It was as if a mirage had had crossed his eyes in their last gleam of life.

But something of that same tenacity of will which had held Dalton against the cliff brought him back for a moment, and Maitland heard him say, as he drifted out on that last trail, "Give Rose a hand, Bud—she run a great bluff for ye. Tell her—I was plumb wrong—about women. Tell her—how much—I liked the singin'."

THE END

LIBERTY TO SHOW "IT HAPPENED IN NEW YORK"

One of the most charming and swiftly delightful screen dramas of the year comes to the Liberty starting Sunday according to Manager W. A. Beavers. "It Happened in New York," a Universal production featuring Lyle Talbot, Gertrude Michael, Heathre Angel and Hugh O'Connell.

The amusing adventures of a highly temperamental movie star who comes to New York for the first time and becomes involved with a rough and ready taxi driver, forms the intriguing basis of this story. Its swift moving pace, brilliant dialogue and hilarious comedy situations, make this one of the most outstanding pictures of the year.

Alan Crosland, one of Hollywood's "ace" directors and with a long list of screen triumphs to his credit directed this film.

Thoughtful parents, who have observed and experienced the wisdom of thrift in recent years, now realize that it is very important to direct children's thoughts in constructive channels. Most important of all is the appreciation of the rewards of thrift. To teach the child the value of material thrift, there is no better method than establishing a saving account for him, his to direct, control and build.

Property Values Rising

In spite of all of the declarations from Washington that there is to be no inflation, it seems to us as if the processes of inflation, in the broad sense, are already in operation. We do not mean by that the country is in any danger of a flood of unbacked printing press money such as brought ruin to all creditors in and of Germany in 1920-21; but it is definitely inflation when the price of commodities keeps going up and the value of money keeps going down.

There have been a number of books issued recently by intelligent observers of financial and economic conditions, all pointing out that the inflationary movement is under way. It is not likely to burst upon us all of a sudden, and a great many people will not recognize its approach, these commentators say, until it is too late for them to protect themselves against its effects. We hear of many wealthy people who have brought and are buying farm lands, city real estate and stocks in the expectation that when the full swing of inflation gets under way they will be able to sell these things for several times as many dollars as they paid for them.

We do not quite see the full advantage of that sort of hedging against the future, if the dollar is to continue to go down. When a beefsteak cost a billion marks in a German restaurant, as it did in 1921, it was not much satisfaction to the man who had made a billion marks profit on the sale of his house, if he had to spend it all for one meal. Yet that was an extreme case and we think most folk who have any property would do well to hold on to it for higher price and if they have loose dollars, to put those into property for which they are pretty sure to get more dollars than they invested, in the course of the next few years.

Work Relief Wages

Now that the first excitement over the wage scales that have been announced for the work relief projects has died away, we can sit back and do a little wondering as to just how many folk who are now on relief will feel like going to work. We hope that the government will be able to find enough work to put every able-bodied man and woman on a job. Assuming that there are enough projects to take up most of the slack, it seems to us that the only way the whole plan can be made effective is to take everybody off direct relief who refuses to go on work relief.

The work relief wages for unskilled workers range from $19 to $40 a month, and for skilled workers from $75 to $94 a month. These are not high enough to keep anybody who really wants to work from taking private employment when that is available. But they are not so much higher than the sums which are being currently paid as direct relief, as to form much of an inducement to the lazy and the slackers to exercise their muscles, so long as they can loaf at public expense. The unskilled worker who is drawing $30 or so a month, as many are in many regions, is apt to figure that if he goes on work relief a $40 a month he is really getting $10 a month for working. We have heard of such cases.

Therefore, it seems to us of the highest importance that nobody who refuses to take this work relief when it is offered should be permitted to stay on any relief roll at all. We have no real expectation that any such policy will be adopted, because we cannot imagine a nationwide set-up of relief administration, work-relief or direct relief, that is not in the hands of politicians, and we have seldom heard of politicians, willing to alienate voters by telling them that if they want to eat they must work.

Sunday School Lesson

By Rev. Charles E. Dunn,
The Holy Spirit,
Lesson for June 9th, John 16:7-11
Golden Text: Romans 8:14
John assigns several functions to the Holy Spirit. First of all, he refers to it as an agent of remembrance, bringing to mind what Jesus taught. "The Holy Spirit will bring to your memories all that I have said to you." (Chap. 14: 26). In the next place, the Spirit testifies to the claim of Jesus. "The Spirit of Truth will be a witness concerning me." (Chap. 15: 26).

Thirdly the Spirit convinces the world of righteousness and judgment. "And He, when He comes, will convict the world in respect of sin, of righteousness, and of judgment." (Chap. 16:8). Again, the Spirit leads to all truth. He has come—the Spirit of Truth. He will guide you into all the truth. And He will make known the future to you." (Chap. 16:13).

Finally, the Spirit, after the disappearance of Jesus, will act in his place and speak for him. "He will glorify me, because He will take of what is mine and will make it known to you." (Chap. 16:14.)

In all this John presents the Spirit as the Revealer. There are two kinds of knowledge. The first is that which comes by careful thinking in accord with the established technique of analysis, classification, and logical deduction. The second is what flows, by a mystical, supernatural process, from that divine broadcasting system of spiritual power we call God.

It is this latter type of knowledge John associates with the Spirit. The Spirit, in his mind, illumines the believer with truth that cannot be discovered by any human process of thought.

Such truth is new, bringing with it a thrill of joyous surprise. But it also protects and perpetuates the old. Thus the message of the Spirit is an abiding one. While it has the freshness of tomorrow it possesses also the familiar touch of yesterday.

Heart Warnings

give you hints that may be of value to you. If you have grown very fat, from over-eating, or, possibly under-exercise, such as makes you short of breath on climbing stairs or other ordinary exertion,

Heart diseases are evidently still on the increase. You read the newspaper and learn of the death of of maybe a bosom friend from "heart disease." You catch yourself saying: "I wonder if I have any form of heart disease?" It is the purpose of this letter, to better see your doctor and get posted on the matter.

Palpitation of the heart: this will be noticed, perhaps, quite often. Remember the family doctor. Watch the amount of food you are taking, especially for supper. If you are unable to lie on the left side for any period of time better hunt up the doctor and set yourself right.

Pain in either right or left chest, running down the left arm may be a heart symptom: always rely on the doctor.

But the surest sign of weak heart it, painless swelling of the feet. Go to your doctor and take him a bottle of fresh, morning urine.

It is up to you to be examined carefully from time to time. Nearly all heart diseases can be corrected if taken in time by competent guidance. Many patients neglect themselves until serious disease has become established. One can not be too careful in caring for the heart.

... the first line of which reads, "The Holy Bible," and which contains Four Great Treasures

by BRUCE BARTON
Mary Stands Firm

DOUBTLESS the family had to practise self-denial in order that Jesus might have time for study. Doubtless his mother, Mary, was often disturbed by His dreamy absorption in ideas, His apparent lack of interest in what they should eat, what they should drink and wherewithal eat, what they should drink and wherewithal they should be clothed, though after Joseph's death He took up the burden of family support and carried it nobly until the younger children were old enough to stand alone. It was not merely as the "carpenter's son" out as "the carpenter" that He was known.

There were times when she was troubled about Him times when she wondered whether He could be quite right in His mind; Times, like that awful day of His visit to Nazareth, when her spirit must have been rent asunder by fear of the forces which were arrayed against Him and a tragic premonition of what these would finally accomplish against her beloved Son. Yet troubled, and even doubting, she did not surrender. Of those who stood firm at the end, a large proportion were women, and she leads them all. Hanging there in agony upon the cross, He gave His last thought to her future safety and comfort.

How there stood by the cross of Jesus, his mother. When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loved, he saith unto his mother, Woman behold thy son!

Then saith he to the disciple, Behold thy mother! And from that hour that disciple (John) took her into his own home.

We are not given the record of her later years, but they must have been beautiful in faith and self-sacrifice, for the devotion of those members of the early church grew constantly more tender and their reverence more exalted. Only a beautiful spirit could have inspired such adoration. She is nobler, beyond comparison, than any of the other women of the Bible, and the women on the whole stand higher in the splendor of their faith than the men. Not one unworthy woman appears in the tragedy of the crucifixion.

Christone Lanier finds Nervine best nerve medicine she ever used.

Miss Redman takes Dr. Miles Nervine when ever she feels restless.

Don't allow yourself to become nervous. Take Dr. Miles Nervine. It will relax your tense nerves and let you get a good night's sleep.

Irritability, Restlessness, Sleeplessness, often lead to Nervous Headache, Nervous Indigestion, Hysteria—sometimes to a nervous breakdown and organic trouble.

Some of the people, whose letters are printed below, were as nervous as you are—possibly more so—yet they have found relief.

Three years ago I was so nervous I could not bear to go out in company and could not sleep nights. A friend recommended Dr. Miles Nervine. I now enjoy myself thoroughly and sleep every night. Miss Juliette Currier, New Market, N. H.

I have used Dr. Miles Nervine in liquid form and find it the best medicine for the nerves I have ever used. Christone Lanier, Middleton, Tennessee

Whenever I have over-indulged and feel restless I take one or two Nervine Tablets just before I retire. In the morning when I awake I feel like a new person and can go about my work as usual. Dr. Miles Nervine Tablets quiet your nerves, brace you up and are the simplest, most convenient tablets to take I have ever found. Miss Grace Redman, St. James, Minn.

Before using your Nervine I was very nervous and irritable. Since I have started to take it I feel so much better that my family notice the difference. I still take it from time to time and the good result is wonderful. J. H. Redding, 1027 18th Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

For a More Abundant Life

"WE HAVE IT" . . . for homes, for farms, for towns and cities, for industries.

ELECTRIC POWER!

West Texas is abundantly supplied with power resources. The West Texas Utilities Company's 2,600 miles of transmission lines are linked with modern, strategically located generating stations, bringing power to you wherever it is needed.

"Let's Have Cheap Power! We Have That, Too."

Power is a commodity which grows cheaper the more it is used. The power from this company's lines, available every hour in the day or night for a variety of uses, can be purchased cheaper than it can be manufactured by the individual city, or the individual industry, farm or homes.

"Let's Have Abundant Power, for a More Abundant Life." We Have That in West Texas, Too.

You may recall, many years ago, when some neighbor was able to boast of his electric lights through cords hanging from the ceiling. Light was expensive then, only the well-to-do could buy this service. Today, everybody uses electric service, for the electric dollar buys now an abundant amount, about three times as much electric service as it did before the World War. Electric service is delivered to you now so cheap that its daily cost can be counted in pennies.

The area served by the West Texas Utilities Company has ample power facilities to meet the demands of this growing and progressive "Land of Opportunity," West Texas.
